Sayville High School Earned NATIONAL BLUE RIBBON

Sayville High School has been designated an Exemplary High-Performing Schools National Blue Ribbon School for 2018 by U. S. Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos. This makes Sayville High School one of 349 schools in the nation, one of twenty schools from New York State and one of four on Long Island to be recognized in 2018.

"This very high honor," Sayville Superintendent Dr. John Stimmel remarked, "reflects the exemplary work of all our teachers, staff and students, not just in our High School, but in our Middle School and elementary schools as well."

Since 1982, the United States government's National Blue Ribbon Schools Program has been honoring public and private K-12 schools that are academically superior in their state due to high levels of student achievements or that demonstrate improvements in closing the achievement gap among student subgroups, this according to the National Blue Ribbon website.

For a school—such as Sayville High School—to be eligible for the high-performing designation, it must first rank in the top 15 percent of all schools on state assessments in both reading and mathematics and must have a graduation rate that ranks in the top 15 percent of all schools in their state.

However, it was not just high ranks that earned Sayville High School the coveted National Blue Ribbon of Distinction. It was in great part due to its dedicated administrators and teachers who ensured high standards of learning for all students along with its accountability in data collection and analysis to determine the efficacy of instruction and assessment. And while the Sayville students have demonstrated academic excellence, Sayville educators have also shown extraordinary commitment by undertaking professional development to stay at the forefront of best practices.

Sayville School district offers congratulations to Principal Ron Hoffer, the entire Sayville High School community of educators, staff and students for this fine achievement.

Sayville Superintendent Dr. John E. Stimmel along with Sayville High School English Department Chairperson Edward Schmieder and High School Principal Ronald Hoffer received a National Blue Ribbon School flag and plaque at the awards luncheon in Washington, D.C.

HOMECOMING 2018 - A TALE OF FOUR CITIES

The Sayville Homecoming Parade slowly rolled down Main Street, led by Sayville Fire Department trucks and followed by members holding banners for the Rotary Club, the Sayville Teachers Association, and the Sayville Middle School. Squads of chanting cheerleaders from the High School and Middle School enlivened the crowds. Youth groups from both football and cheerleading accompanied by their coaches joined the march ahead of the parade's main attraction—the class floats.

As both the culminating activity of High School Spirit Week and the pregame celebration for the Sayville Flashes football game against East Islip on their home field, the Homecoming Parade showcased this year's theme: "Cities." Colorful and ingenious floats, constructed out of wood and tissue-paper, depicted London, UK (Freshmen), Mexico City (Sophomores), and New York City (Juniors). However, the Seniors went for the Big Easy with gusto and showed extra carnival spirit by making three floats for their pick—New Orleans—including one for Jazz musicians playing The Saints Go Marching In and another designed coincidentally as a streetcar named Desire.

FRESHMAN

"Spirit Week went well," said School Government Advisor Kathy Van Dorn. "It was a high-spirited, high-energy week filled with a lot of fun, with the seniors always in the lead."

Each class also chose a favorite charity and raised both awareness and funds during the football game. After an energizing pep rally on Friday, the final tally from School Spirit week was determined by the judges from the Rotary Club during the Homecoming Game. First place went to the Seniors, Second place to the Sophomores, Third to the Juniors, and Fourth to the Freshmen.

The play Peter and the Starcatcher—a prequel for Peter Pan by Rick Elice based on the book by Dave Barry and Ridley Pearson—is rife with witty repartee that relies on the transformative "star-stuff" of its enthusiastic company for its magic. Here we first meet the inchoate characters of Captain Hook, the Lost Boys, and Tink before their destinies give them legendary shape. With great expectation, we watch the orphan without a name become the eternal boy—Peter Pan.

Although it is no easy task to take the very cheeky British humor and deliver it to an American audience for laughs, the Sayville Players (in both casts) had enthusiasm in abundance; the slapstick comedy with undertones of poignancy made for entertaining theater. While the performances by the three unchanging leads: Hunter Caiazzo (Peter), Aidan Deverna (Smee), and Alexander Pittari (Stache) were outstanding, there were no small parts in both praiseworthy supporting casts (for names and more photos Google Tidings Online). Great job!

"THEY CAN SING, THEY CAN DANCE! AFTER ALL, MISS, THIS IS FRANCE!"
Well, maybe not quite France, but the Dr. David M. Jones auditorium at Sayville Middle School served nicely.

Beauty and the Beast, with its touching themes about the transformative power of love, has long been a favorite fairytale, made more so by Disney's magical musical animation, theatrical production, and recent release of a live-version adaptation. Embracing this "tale as old as time," the Sayville Middle School students brought their outstanding singing talents to this timeless classic in their recent musical production of Disney Beauty and the Beast, Junior Edition. Each night's performance got better and better at both transforming the Middle School stage into that magical place and transfixing the audience with their enchanting retelling, as "two hearts become one..."

LEFT Maya Guacci (Belle) carried every performance with authentic emotions and sensational singing, including the musical's favorite melodies, Belle, Home, Be Our Guest, and Something There.

RIGHT Ethan Alcantara (Beast) was spine-tinglingly fierce and especially tender in the song If I Can't Love Her.

LEFT Ben Flaumenhaft (Gaston) provided broad comedy and beastly menace while wowing audiences with his powerful singing.

RIGHT Asher DeVerna (Lumiere) lit up the stage as the courtly and kind host who gave Belle a warm welcome with his entertaining signature song: Be Our Guest.

RIGHT Carter White (Cogsworth) like clockwork was quick with comic quips about upsetting the Beast.

L.A.C.E.S. CELEBRATES EL DÍA DE LOS MUERTOS at Sunrise Drive

Enjoying its second year, the L.A.C.E.S. (Language and Culture at the Elementary Schools) Program continues to offer third graders—for a trimester—weekly opportunities to study Spanish. This year, the program expanded to include a trimester of weekly French lessons for fourth graders while fifth graders participate in a before-school Spanish enrichment club. In addition, to make learning language fun and memorable, the lessons also incorporate interactive and engaging activities such as singing, dancing, and crafts.

On the first and second of November, Sunrise Drive third graders were introduced to El Día de los Muertos—the traditional “celebration of love”—by their teacher Señora Kristin Chirichella. With her face painted (thanks to HS art teacher Jen Berotti) in a festive calavera design, she explained the significance of her make-up. The students first learned that El Día de los Muertos is a special time for rejoicing in the memories of those loved ones by restoring happiness to aching hearts. Later, they made their own calavera masks.

After Señora Chirichella successfully concluded her first trimester with the Sunrise Drive students, she continued the next trimester at Cherry Avenue and in the Spring will finish the last trimester at Lincoln Avenue so that each elementary school will benefit from this excellent program.

Hip! Hip! Hooray! Cherry's Fiftieth-Day of K!

Cherry Avenue Kindergarten Classes got a jump on the usual 100th-Day Celebration with a 50th-Day retro theme. “Each class visited our 50s Diner to rock and roll,” Mrs. Jeanette Georges, explained. “Students circulated the room to complete four 50s math stations. They sorted and counted 50 shapes, played rock-and-roll addition, drove a car to number 50, and built a structure of 50 Legos! Students danced to Jailhouse Rock and Twist and Shout! Mrs. Batterberry, Mrs. Gallo, Mrs. Georges, and Mrs. Delaney dressed as the Pink Ladies to support their Boogie Woogie activities!” With the Kindergartners thoroughly schooled on the number 50, it’s likely they will have double the fun on their 100th-Day Celebration!

New York State Regent Roger Tilles Visits Sayville

New York State Regent Roger Tilles visited Sayville Schools and met with the Lincoln Avenue Elementary children in Mrs. Laura Moyer’s second grade for a reading lesson. Regent Tilles recited poems that thoroughly engaged the students and finished by teaching the children a funny, “scary” poem to share with their families.

During Mr. Tilles’ tour of Sayville High School, he met with administrators, mingled with students, browsed the FACD school store, enjoyed a Food-and-Nutrition lunch, and attended a special performance by the award-winning High School Wind Ensemble. His brief visit ended in the RISE/RISE TECH lab where he marveled at the sophisticated research projects.

The name Tilles may ring a bell. As a well-known industrial real-estate developer, the Tilles family has been highly acclaimed for their copious philanthropic works. The two-million dollar renovation of the auditorium for music and dance at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University—now known as the Tilles Center—is one example from the long list of projects and worthy causes.

Mr. Roger Tilles is recognized as a “visionary leader and patron of the arts and education” and received the prestigious Amy and Horace Hagedorn Outstanding Philanthropist Award by the Association of Fundraising Professionals Long Island Chapter in 2017.

On the NYS Board of Regents developing educational policy, Mr. Tilles represents Long Island. His ongoing desire to understand the educational process and to listen to his constituency—a routine he follows for all school districts throughout Long Island—was the purpose for Mr. Tilles’ Sayville visit.

Lincoln Avenue Fifth-grader Ryan Sheehan presented his painting of a sunflower to Mr. Tilles, explaining that the sunflower had special significance at Lincoln Avenue. He also thanked Mr. Tilles on behalf of the school for visiting.
