

Holiday Season Filled with Sweet Music

Our exceptionally talented music students of all ages gave gifts of beautiful melodies to audiences who attended the vocal, orchestral, and band concerts during the holiday season.

Special thanks go to our music department for their splendid direction.

FROM THE SAYVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT

Fiscally Responsible

Long-range fiscal strategies effectively utilized district resources

According to this year's report provided by the independent auditors, Sayville School District is in good financial health. The auditors attribute the District's good standing to:

- The leadership of the District's Board of Education,
- The Board of Education's and Administration's oversight of District finances,
- Positive financial performance due to conservative financial management and careful expenditure control, and
- Long-range fiscal strategies that have effectively utilized the District's available resources, and the use of reserve and surplus funds.

(See District Website, and go to the Business Office link for the full pdf report.)

Other Business Office Updates

Two more examples of how Sayville School District aggressively pursues cost-saving measures that help us achieve fiscal responsibility are listed below. The sale of the old Library and Refinancing Debt resulted in significant savings and allowed us to continue to support the many excellent educational opportunities we provide for our students.

SALE OF THE OLD LIBRARY: With the sale of the District-owned property that had been on the site of the old Sayville Library, the District has fulfilled one of our originally planned goals. Sayville sold the property at fair market value for $1,390,000. These funds have been set up in a tax-reduction reserve that can be used over a period of 10 years to help fund our existing debt-service expenses, thus taking the burden off the tax levy!

REFINANCING OF DEBT: Due to our excellent credit rating, Sayville School District refinanced a portion of our existing debt service. After carefully evaluating the current market and opportunities to refinance, the District refinanced approximately $11.1 million of debt, allowing us to reduce the interest rate from 4.87% down to the lower rate of 1.18%, which will yield a potential saving of approximately $746,000.

PLEASE NOTE: The 2013-2014 Sayville School budget process has begun. Sayville School District and the Board of Education encourage the community's feedback and participation during this five-month process. We especially invite you to both review the online Budget Calendar and plan on attending the Board of Education Meetings which are open to the public and where discussions will take place.

SETTING THE TAX RATE

Last spring, the projected tax-rate increase of 2.33% in the Sayville Proposed School Budget was well under the new, calculated Tax Levy Cap required by New York State.

However, when setting the tax rate each year, the Town of Islip determines the taxable assessment or "Assessed Valuation" of all properties in Sayville and also provides the "Base Allocation" figure that represents the percentage of Homestead (Residential) and Non-homestead (Business) properties within the District. These values change annually based upon such things as the number of homes sold, new homes built, developed properties throughout the year, and Tax CERTs (adjustments to home owners' taxable values). School districts receive this information in late August.

Based upon the final Assessed Evaluations and Base Allocations as provided by the Town of Islip this year, the Board of Education has set the final homestead tax rate at 3.22%. This tax-rate increase on a Sayville home assessed at 40K equals an increase of $244/year or $18.59/month before any S.T.A.R. exemptions. Sayville School District wants to assure the community that, even though this is slightly higher than the tax rate increase projected last May at budget time, it is still below the calculated Tax Levy Cap of 3.59%.

Tax Rate Gives Needed Relief To Downtown Sayville Businesses

HOMESTEAD VS NON-HOMESTEAD

The very good news is that, for the first time in several years, the shift in Base Allocations and Assessed Evaluations, as determined by the Town of Islip, will offer the necessary relief from the double-digit tax-rate increase which Downtown Sayville Business properties (non-homestead) have endured for the last two years.

This 2012-2013 year, their increase is 0.26%. We are hopeful that this will give our local merchants a well-deserved boost to maintain their businesses and keep our hometown viable.

AT THE DEC. 6TH BOARD MEETING

BOE APPRECIATION Delayed by the Superstorm: (right)

NYSSBA designated the week of Oct. 29 - Nov. 2, 2012 as School Board Recognition Week. Superstorm Sandy notwithstanding, Superintendent Schartner offered belated expressions of appreciation to the Sayville Board of Education members at the December Meeting..

This fall, the Sayville Players presented Neil Simon's classic comedy
HOTEL SUITES

Neil Simon's comedy Hotel Suites offers a collection of vignettes about Americans on vacations in such cities as London, Chicago, and New York. In these plays, all the "action" takes place within the "four walls" of the hotel suites.

Finding the right balance between the human comedy and hilarity in Simon's plays may seem a challenge for high school actors, but not so for the Sayville Players. With energy and enthusiasm that grew with each performance, the Players so convincingly shaped and developed their characters, that they not only succeeded in entertaining, but made audiences laugh out loud.

Two Art Students WIN Scholarships

Eight Sayville AP Art Seniors in Mr. Evan Hammer's AP Studio Art class participated in the 25th Nita Elder Student Scholarship Exhibit, South Bay Art Association and TWO claimed scholarship prizes and awards.

Sayville's two big winners were Lorelei Olk (below), who won over $1,000 scholarship money including the Women-Sharing-Art Award and Anna Corso (above), who won a $50 scholarship.

Congratulations to our winners, and kudos to Sayville students Kaleigh Acevedo, Samantha Bishop, Jackie Christensen, Pam Haas, Meagan Mulry, and Rachel Wachter, who also participated. Each participant was required to submit three works to the Exhibit.

Science Accolades

(photo left) Congratulations to Sayville High School Senior Rebecca Monastero who has been named a Top 10 Finalist in the Neuroscience Research Prize by the American Academy of Neurology for the research she conducted this past summer as a Simons Fellow at Stony Brook University under the mentorship of Dr. Jaymie Meliker.

(photo left) Congratulations to Sayville High School Junior Emily Nowlan, who had been accepted into Brookhaven National Laboratory's High School Science Research Program this past summer. Emily was provided samples to study the unique and rare haplotypes of the southern flying squirrel as evidence of island biogeography. As a result of her research, Emily's findings were presented at various scientific venues.

Learning to Live On Their Own At the Middle School

A presentation on money-management was given by representatives from Teachers Federal Credit Union. This session prepared the Middle School students in Mrs. Cheryl Scantlebury's Family and Consumer Science classes for an Authentic Real-Life Activity simulation called On Your Own.

As part of the three-month class simulation, the students would be required to interview for a job, complete a monthly budget based on wages received, open a savings and checking account, choose an apartment, purchase or lease a car, all before "living" on their own.

Awakening Scientific Curiosity At the Middle School

High School Science

Research Teacher Maria Brown offered "choices" during her recent visit with the Middle School Seventh-grade students in Tracy Toth's Enrichment classes. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Toth were encouraging the students to participate in the Long Island Science and Engineering Fair in March by helping them launch a scientific project.

After Mrs. Brown outlined various experimental projects and explained the basics of the scientific process, she shared her joyful curiosity about all things science: "It's okay if you have to reject your hypotheses because what you thought was going to happen didn't happen. That's the cool thing about science. You never know how it's going to end up."

Later, with the assistance of some of Mrs. Brown's High School research students along with months of legitimate research, several Middle School students may be able to present their research at the L.I.S.E. fair in the spring.

A Recipe for Success MUSICAL AT THE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Take ambition, guile, and romance; mix vigorously with satire, humor and upbeat music, and you have a recipe for a successful musical, but it needs that extra dash of talent to rise.

Talent definitely rose to the occasion in the Sayville Middle School musical production of HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING, thanks to the proper blending of ingredients: a cast of strong actors, great music, comic timing, hardworking stage crew, and visually entertaining staging (including amusing elevator scenes, which as a bonus, had audiences in suspense over the “sliding” doors.)

Set in the mid 1960s, the musical opens with J. Pierpont Finch aspiring to rise on the corporate ladder of the World Wide Wicket Company from his lowly job as a window washer. Throughout the musical, Finch follows a HOW TO BOOK about corporate politics, and the audience follows Finch's rise and fall in the corporate world.

Performing musical numbers that included How To, Coffee Break, Been a Long Day, A Secretary is Not a Toy, Grand Old Ivy, Paris Original, Rosemary, I Believe in You, and The Brotherhood of Man, the cast and supporting ensemble were a colorful variety of “suits” and “skirts” who animated each scene.

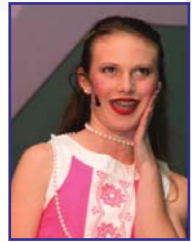

Kudos to Producer/Director Jeff Hoffman; Musical Director Fred Diekmann and the fabulous orchestra; along with Sound: Andrew Giammalvo; Lighting: Steve Hailey; Artwork: Cora Sparwasser; Set Construction: Ken VanEssendelft; Costumes: Denise Baio; Props: Leona Dushnick; Sayville High School volunteers as Assistant to the Directors: Meghan Gunther, Katya Sparwasser, Alex Sneddon; and the amazing crew who despite the double-punch interruptions of Superstorm Sandy and a Nor'easter, proved that the show can succeed with everyone really trying.

Delightfully devilish as the boss's conniving nephew Bud Frump, Luke Rosario was entertaining and hilarious.

The talented Jamie Baio embodied the ambitious Finch with engaging charm, comic timing, and great voice.

Sweet Kate Donohue perfectly personified the smitten heroine, Rosemary.

Great praise for Jonathan Nolan, who conveyed jaw-dropping character and great song in big style.

BIG boss Jasper Biggley was dynamically portrayed in grandiose style by the booming, yet equally crooning voice of Dylan Finder. Although his bullying annihilates all who disagree with him, Biggley has a soft spot for knitting, his alma mater Old Ivy, and a certain lady named Hedy LeRue, who was magnificently played with charisma, allure, and cigarette girl “finesse” by a gifted singer and actress in Emily Llewellyn.

As the spunky Smitty and Rosemary's true friend, Dara Scolnick balanced great acting with wonderful singing.

(right) Stepping last minute into the role of the new advertising manager, Musical Director Mr. Fred Diekmann brought humor and laughter to the part.

(above) Dan Palma, Chloe Dymek, Alex Pittari, Dea Ahlgrim, James Velazquez (in the two parts), Sam LoGrippe, and Harrison Bench were great as the “suits” Gatch, Matthews, Jenkins, Tackaberry, Johnson/Wally Womper, Peterson, Chairman of the Board Wally Womper, and especially the “agreeable” personnel manager Mr. Bert Bratt; while among the “skirts,” the hierarchy of power began at the top with Biggley's influential secretary Miss Jones, Moira Mahoney, assisted by Miss Krumholtz, Emily Osterloh, and the other ladies in the office comprised of the ensemble chorus and dancers.

These 54 dresses were donated to Mrs. Betty Lou Fahie who reused the fabric to make pillows as gifts for the Breast Cancer Coalition.

During the "Most Wonderful Time of the Year," Sayville students, School District personnel, faculty, staff, and parents, showed remarkable generosity through a variety of districtwide drives that help those less fortunate. Here are just a few...

Cherry Avenue

Traditional Giving Tree & Raising money for THE CHORDOMA FOUNDATION

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree greeted visitors in the lobby with ornamental wishes that represented clothing, books, toys, and more. Cherry Avenue's Student Council assisted in creating the ornaments and Cherry Avenue families helped fulfill the hopes of so many. Everyone at Cherry Avenue looks forward to this annual tradition.

"We are very grateful for the tremendous support we received from the community and staff of Cherry Avenue Elementary school," said Social Worker Noemi Barczak, "for making almost 200 wishes come true."

Recently, the Cherry Avenue community was saddened by the loss of one of their own, Fifth-grader Cameron Riccomini. At the age of five, Cameron, had been diagnosed with Chordoma, a rare form of cancer. Yet, Cameron was a true example of strength and determination for all who knew him.

In his memory, his classmates joined to raise awareness and money to donate to the Chordoma Foundation. Isabella Harris, Jayna Catalina, Rylie Quintana, Gianna Ferrara, Madison Perez and Marissa Dionisio initiated sales of bracelets they made themselves and collected spare change.

In addition, Marissa Dionisio was so moved by Cameron and his fight, she decided to raise money outside of school at her mother's job. Marissa raised $1,000 for the Chordoma Foundation in memory of Cameron Riccomini. The Cherry Avenue family extends a big thank you to all who have contributed to this very worthy cause that is near and dear to our hearts!

Lincoln Avenue

Lincoln Avenue's Student Government President Hailey

Votino saw the tremendous need for canned goods after Superstorm Sandy.

Hailey was assisting her father, an ambulance worker on the south shore of Long Island. She orchestrated a canned-food drive at Lincoln Avenue during a family Zingo fun night. She collected donated cans and made a speech to all that attended, thanking everyone for the 25 boxes of food and cans. It really made a difference to many hard-hit Long Island Communities. Good job, Hailey and the Lincoln Avenue student body!

Mr. Dragotta's Fifth-grade class gather around the donation boxes.

Sunrise Drive

WHERE THE GIVING KEEPS GOING

During the holiday season, giving was ongoing at Sunrise:

- Before Thanksgiving, the Sunrise Drive Student Council members earned money to donate for turkeys, collected food, and prepared Thanksgiving Baskets for several families, as well as made donations to the Sayville Food Pantry;
- At the Annual Giving Tree evening event, Sunrise Drive families chose ornaments that represented either the wishes of children in our school community, toys for the indigent and victims of Hurricane Sandy served by the Lighthouse Mission, or items for the soldiers who are still serving overseas. Even if families couldn't attend the Giving Tree event, they were able to pick ornaments during parent-teacher conferences. Sunrise Drive retirees returned to help sort gifts and spread cheer;

- "We also collected gently used coats" Toni Fabian, Sunrise Drive Social Worker added, "and gave them to Brentwood Schools via Physical Education teacher Reade Sands, whose wife works in Brentwood School District;
- Student Council has ongoing work on other service projects.

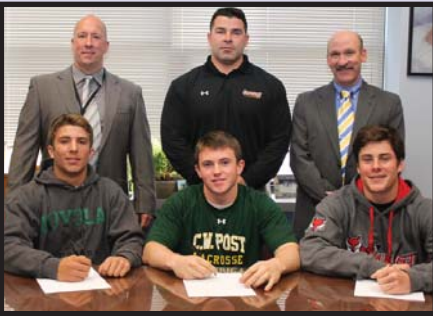

High School

The Seventh Annual Every Child's Dream community dinner, which was hosted for a second time at Sayville High School with the assistance of volunteer students and staff, distributed coats and gifts to those in need.

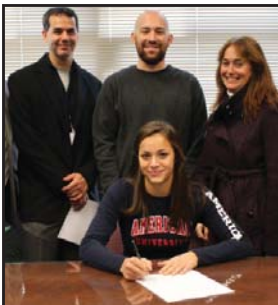

3 LAX Seniors Sign

Boys Lacrosse SENIORS Zack Sirico (Loyola), Andrew Gonzalez (C.W. Post), Conner O'Neill (Marist) have committed and signed with their respective schools for next year. Coach Christian Doller stated that these accomplished Lacrosse team members who will captain this year's 2013 team, "make up for over $350,000 in athletic and academic scholarships and were integral players in the 2012 Suffolk County Championship."

2012 SUFFOLK ZONE WINNERS

This year, James Giattino and Emily Andres are the two Sayville Seniors who demonstrated excellence both in the classroom and on the athletic field and were selected for this annual NYSAPHERAD Award.

Congratulations to Sayville's James Giattino. James is a Senior who has excelled in the classroom and on the athletic field. He has maintained a weighted GPA of 102 and is an AP Scholar with Honors, a Rensselaer Medal Recipient, and member of the National Honor Society. He was also named the News 12 Long Island Scholar Athlete in September.

James is a two-year starter on the varsity football and basketball teams, is a member of the student government and Athletes Helping Others. This young man's compassion, intensity, and commitment to excellence have led to his academic, athletic, and community-service successes.

James plans to attend either Amherst or Middlebury College, where he intends to play football and study Pre Med.

Congratulations to Sayville's Emily Andres. Emily is a Senior who has distinguished herself in the classroom as well as on the athletic field. She has a 97 average in physical education and is a member of the volleyball, winter and spring track teams. While her physical gifts are impressive, it is her spirit that she brings to competition that truly differentiates her in comparison to her peers.

Emily is a member of the National Honor Society, Athletes Helping Others, Interact, SWEEP and SADD.

Next fall, Emily plans on attending Coastal Carolina or Nova Southeastern University, where she will study marine or environmental science. Emily has truly left her mark at Sayville High School.

TWO Capital One/News12 Scholar-Athletes on 2012 Football Team

Recommended by Coach Rob Hoss for their exceptional achievements in the classroom and on the athletic field, both James Giattino and Matt Iovino were selected on two separate occasions as Scholar-Athlete Winners.

Each received certificates and a $1,000 scholarship from Capital One Bank.

MSG VARSITY MAGAZINE featured Sayville Football's John Haggart on the Fall 2012 cover for his outstanding contributions to Sayville Football.

Lisa Farrell, MSG Varsity Regional Manager of High School Partnerships, presented a framed copy of the cover to John and his parents, Lisa and John, as a keepsake. A second framed copy was also given to the school for the athletic department showcase.
