Teacher of the Month

Cristen Spencer

Congrats to Cristen Spencer, our Grand Home Furnishings teacher of the month for November!

Cristen has been teaching for 22 years, and all of them have been at William Byrd High School. Ever since she was little, Cristen knew she wanted to be a teacher. "I come from a long line of teachers, including my mother, dad, and grandmother." (Her husband is also a teacher, and their daughter is planning on following in her parents' footsteps, too!)

Cristen isn't a high school history teacher by accident. "I feel such a connection to anything of the past. I genuinely, genuinely love history! I get teary-eyed and goosebumpy when I talk about history, stories of the past, linking to the present, and trying to get students to realize how cool history is!"

To Cristen, a great teacher is not only one who is passionate about what he or she is teaching, but also – and even more importantly – about the relationships with his or her students. "I have seen mental health issues and crises increase through the years," she said, "and it's vital to help young kids cope and manage their lives."

"I wish we had more funding to equip schools to deal with mental health issues," she added.

Cristen has been a well-loved and respected teacher for years, even receiving the Frederick Douglass Humanitarian Award in 2015 for the way she taught her students about modern-day human trafficking. She credits her parents for shaping the teacher she is today. "Both of my parents were hands-on with their teaching, supporting students and their families. Both were amazing teachers – and I'm not too biased! I've heard it from their former students and their parents my whole life."

When her students walk out of her classroom, Cristen hopes her students will have learned not only the subject matter but also to be respectful and tolerant. "And if they don't love history," she said, "I hope they understand how important it is to be educated, to use their voices, and to make a difference." That's her focus throughout the year as she teaches civil rights to her students – how crucial it is to be educated and make a difference.

The best thing about being a teacher, said Cristen, is the kids – getting to know them, hearing the ones who have never loved history tell her how much they love class, seeing kids believe in themselves when they do well. "That's the best feeling ever," she said.

The most challenging part of the job is not having more time to do the research and field trips she would like to do. "I tell the kids if I ever win the lottery, I'm going to create the Spencer Adventure Bus, and we will do history as I teach it – go to all the places we talk about, from Jamestown to the civil rights locations and more." Even more than an abundance of time, though, Cristen wishes she had the resources necessary to help kids in mental health crises.

Since she's been teaching at the high school level for so long, Cristen's students would probably be surprised that, at first, she'd wanted to be an elementary school teacher. "But then I got hit with the history bug," she said, "and it's been a passion and love for me since college."

College – Longwood University, to be precise – is where Cristen met her husband. Besides teaching at Read Mountain Middle School, he also coaches girls' soccer there. Their daughter is a senior in high school, and they have a son in eighth grade. The family is completed with three cats and a dog.

If she absolutely could not be a teacher, she said, her job choice would be either to work with the elderly in their last days or rock newborn babies at the hospital. "But in 'Spencer World,' as I like to call it, I'd be recognized as the owner of all things history. I'd be able to touch the Star-Spangled Banner flag and the hat Lincoln wore on that fateful night he died, hold the US Constitution and Frederick Douglass' Bible; you get the picture!"

Favorite quote: For with God nothing shall be impossible. - Luke 1:37

Favorite movie: Pride and Prejudice.

Favorite thing to do on a snow day: Bake and make homemade hot chocolate with the fire on. And get caught up on grading and planning lessons.

The School Nurse could use your help.

On a daily basis Mrs. Hawkins sees many of our students that just need crackers or throat lozenges or bottled water but unfortunately these items are not funded through the school. If you would like to donate any of these items, please bring them to the school or have your child bring them to the school during school hours.

Your thoughtfulness is appreciated.

SENIOR FORMAL PORTRAIT

Attention Seniors:

If you did not get your formal portrait taken at the Prestige studio, photographers will be at the school on Dec 12th. This will be the last opportunity to get a portrait taken for the yearbook.

The studio closed for the year in November and they will not open for students who miss the Dec 12th photo day.

A signup sheet is being passed around in English classes for the Dec 12th date. If you do not have an English class at Byrd, please see Mrs. Acker in room 249 as soon as possible to schedule your appointment.

LOST AND FOUND ITEMS

Almost daily we have someone turn in items to put in the lost and found. Because of the lack of storage space, we will put a sticky note on each item on the day it is turned into the office and will have it available for only two weeks before taking the items to the Goodwill or another charitable organization. Please tell your child that if they are missing an item, please check with the front office to see if it has been turned in. The most common item to be in lost and found are lunch boxes. Please know that after a day in lost and found we will open the container and throw away any perishable item before it spoils and smells.

OUR ART DEPARTMENT NEEDS YOUR HELP!

We need about a zillion plastic bottle caps (any size any color) for an art project. Please save and bring them to the WBHS Office!

Parents of Seniors:

If your student is applying to colleges, please monitor due dates. For deadlines in January, we recommend students complete transcript requests through Parchment (including necessary releases) AT LEAST one week before winter break. Remember to send SAT scores directly from their College Board accounts in that same time frame. Many deadlines are January 1st and January 15th! January weather can be tricky! Students can see counselors for support on applications before December 20th. Guidance Counselors and staff are not in the building during Winter Break so please plan to submit your information prior to December 20th in case you need assistance from the Guidance Department.

Any student interested in attending VWCC (or considering it as a backup) should sign up for the VWCC Advising Day at 9:00 on January 7th at WBHS. Sign up in the College and Career Center. Remember to do your CCAP application also!

Registration for 2020-2021 is underway at WBHS! Teachers have made recommendations and counselors have presented graduation information to students in groups. Most students have made preliminary requests through their Student Vue account. Counselors ask that students have conversations with parents about all their options. Parents are encouraged to view students course requests on Parent Vue or have students show them on Student Vue. Parents let students know what changes you would like to see. Our goal is that before winter break we will have met individually with every student to review and finalize course requests.

Registration for upcoming 9th graders will be in January.
