The Peterson & Myers, P.A. and Paul Family Endowed Fund for Critical Writing

The Peterson & Myers, P.A. and Paul Family Endowed Fund for Critical Writing was established by a generous gift through the Boundless Campaign from the firm of Peterson & Myers, P.A. with Elizabeth and Blake Paul, parents of Harrison '17, William '19, and Andrew '21, along with matching funds from an anonymous donor. The fund was created to provide increased resources and recognition for faculty and students who excel in the area of the written art form and is designed to reward student and teacher excellence while also helping to attract and retain outstanding educators and students to the school. This fund will provide an annual award to one faculty member who has demonstrated particular dedication to and/or innovative techniques in developing critical writing skills in All Saints' students and a current All Saints Academy Senior who has demonstrated a distinct aptitude for critical and persuasive writing. It is the intent of the donor that the Faculty award be used for professional development opportunities or materials that will support the student learning experience. The Student award will be given as a college scholarship. Faculty members and students who are interested in receiving the award are to self-nominate by submitting the application. The Faculty Award will be $1,000 for professional development while the Student Award will be a scholarship award of $2,500 for a combined maximum total of $3,500.
