

Hear from Our Students in New Video about Inclusivity

“I value the different cultures we have here. We have our friend groups but we can all come together and have a good time, and I like that about us.”

I AM
Pittsford Schools

“I am Pittsford Schools” is the theme of a new video that highlights the diversity of backgrounds and unique stories that make up the student body of Pittsford Schools.

By interviewing students of different ages, races, religions, abilities, gender identities and backgrounds, the video shares, through student voices, what makes Pittsford students both unique and part of a community that strives to be kind and inclusive. “Honoring diversity and inclusivity is paramount to achieving the District’s mission to ‘inspire and prepare our students to be their best, do their best and make a difference in the lives of others,’” said Superintendent Pero. By hearing directly from students, viewers of the video have the opportunity to experience life in Pittsford Schools through the students who are working to achieve respect and equity for all. To view the video, visit the Pittsford Central School District YouTube channel.

Interact Clubs See Record Attendance as Students Demonstrate “Service Above Self”

Mendon and Sutherland high school Interact Clubs experienced record student registrations at this fall’s activity fairs and kick-off meetings. Chartered by Rotary International, Interact Clubs provide opportunities for community service, leadership development, friendship and fun. The Interact Clubs are organized by a group of student leaders in partnership with Rotary Club volunteer Pat Mallory who has offered his leadership to PCSD students since 2002.

“Interact Club members have caring hearts and helping hands. They’re always willing to help others in need and are living examples of Rotary’s motto, ‘service above self,’” said Superintendent Pero.

During the fall, Interact Club students demonstrated their commitment to community service through many volunteer activities, including helping out at a food drive, saluting Honor Flight Mission veterans, entertaining elementary students with carnival games at a school’s “Welcome Back” picnic, volunteering at an event for epilepsy awareness, and picking up trash and planting flower bulbs along the Erie Canal walking path.

PCSD is First District in NYS to Offer Best Buddies in All Schools

Pittsford Central School District has been participating in Best Buddies since 2016. Now, it is the first school district in New York State to offer this student activity in every one of its schools. Best Buddies is an international nonprofit dedicated to creating opportunities for meaningful one-to-one friendships and inclusive living for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD).

“We have had a couple of disrupted years so we are excited to bring this club to all nine schools this year to promote inclusion and friendships!” said Elizabeth Woods, Director of Special Education.

For those with IDD, Best Buddies helps create an inclusive school environment for students early on in their educational journey, and carries on into high school at a time of heightened social and emotional development that can be difficult even for teenagers without IDD. This program also helps grow leadership skills, a better understanding of people with IDD, and helps break through social barriers during an important time in a young person’s life. Last year, students at PCSD participated in Best Buddies through activities such as Unified Basketball and Bowling, Friendship Walk, and the Spread the Word to End the Word Campaign.

Academic Rigor and Achievement at Pittsford Schools

The Pittsford Schools community continuously strives to provide academic rigor and high levels of achievement to best prepare students for the future. The District values the intellectual growth and academic achievement of each student as well as their personal and social development. Academic rigor is seen in coursework and classrooms, and the results of that rigor is demonstrated in the District’s nearly 100 percent graduation rate and the many national, state and local academic accolades PCSD receives annually. Excellence in the classroom and beyond is a hallmark of Pittsford Schools. Year after year, the District is nationally recognized as one of the best communities for music education, and its athletic teams are consistently named NYS Public High School Athletic Association Scholar Athlete teams, with 700 scholar-athlete recognitions during the 2021-2022 school year. Achievement is also reflected in the numerous Scholastic Art and Writing awards students win, as well as by those who earn the coveted National Merit Scholarships.

A variety of unique offerings, accelerated courses and Advanced Placement college-level courses are available to students and help them to follow their interests and reach their goals.

Through these activities and many more service-related initiatives and events, Pittsford’s Interact Clubs rise up to meet one of the District’s mission tenets to “make a difference in the lives of others.” One of the most notable partnerships has been with the Special Olympics. Students regularly work as event volunteers for athletic competitions and participate in the Special Olympics “Freezin’ for a Reason” Polar Plunge fundraiser, for which Pittsford’s Interact Clubs have raised more than $20,000 for Special Olympics over the past several years.

Interact Club students have also demonstrated their commitment to inclusivity through involvement with the Pittsford Panthers’ Unified Basketball and Bowling teams and the lead role they have taken in offering support and creating visibility for these teams.

Pittsford Interact Club goals are to have 100 active members at each school who complete a combined total of 1,500 service hours during the school year. Over the past 20 years, approximately 2,000 Pittsford high school students have shared in the Interact experience, logging more than 22,000 combined hours of community service.

Pittsford Students Participate in Rochester’s 3rd Annual Summit to End Hate

Members of the Superintendent’s Student Advisory Council attended “Brave Spaces 2022: Rochester’s Third Annual Summit to End Hate” on Friday, October 21, at the Memorial Art Gallery. Students participated in breakout sessions on “Bullying and Mental Unwellness: Bullying as a Hate Based Practice,” and “Implicit Bias and Microaggressions.”

The Jewish Federation of Greater Rochester’s Levine Center to End Hate hosted the summit which was structured as a half-day, in-person immersive learning experience with multiple speakers and breakout sessions providing a comprehensive look at hate in all its forms and how to find solutions in the Rochester community.

Sources of Strength

Pittsford Mendon and Sutherland high school students and staff members participated in Sources of Strength training this fall to learn how they can be a “source of strength” to others and help connect students to supports they may need. The Sources of Strength program helps to provide a network of caring, connected staff and peers.

High School Courses

At the high school level, a number of courses have been added which reflect student interest as well as relevant and expanding career fields. Some of these courses include Animation, Introduction to Game Development, Cybersecurity, Data Driven Business Analysis, AP Computer Science A and AP Computer Science Principles. Additionally, PCSD offers 18 Business Program courses (including NYS-approved Career and Technical Education certification, and dual credit courses with colleges/universities), 18 art courses, and 17 Technology Program courses including Project Lead the Way engineering courses, automotive coursework, construction, production and manufacturing courses.

- 23 Advanced Placement courses, including courses in the fields of math, science, English, history, world languages, art and music.
- Advanced Math course offerings include AP Calculus AB, AP Calculus BC, Multi-variable Calculus, AP Statistics, AP Computer Science Principles, AP Computer Science A. In addition, students who have successfully completed Multi-variable Calculus can enroll in Linear Algebra at the University of Rochester at a reduced tuition rate.
- Advanced Science course offerings include College Physics (dual credit), AP Biology, AP Chemistry, AP Physics C, and AP Environmental Science. In addition, students can explore their interests in the sciences by taking one of our many science electives including Criminalistics, Human and Animal Behavior, Human Anatomy and Physiology, Genetics, Microbiology, Oceanography, and Astronomy.
- English 12 provides a variety of course choices that provide students the chance to select an area of interest to focus on in their senior year, including Critical Mass Media, Creative Writing, Film Analysis and Theory, Visibility, British Literature, and AP Literature, among other offerings.

Middle School Courses

- Double Accelerated Math: Students are considered for the double accelerated math program by using a criterion-based recommendation into the program. These students participate in a compacted math experience in 6th grade that sets them up for success in Algebra as 7th graders followed by Geometry in 8th grade.
- Project Lead The Way (PLTW) Gateway Technology instruction provides a strong foundation for further STEM learning in high school and beyond. Through topics like coding and robotics, flight and space, middle school students engage their natural curiosity and imagination in creative problem solving.

- Middle School Science: The curriculum was recently revised to align with the NYS P-12 Science Learning Standards. Units are launched through the introduction of a particular phenomenon that students investigate over time. Every unit is framed by cross-cutting scientific concepts and interweaves disciplinary core content with science and engineering practices.
- High School Credits: Students can receive up to three high school credits through their studies of World Language, Math and Science

Elementary Level Courses

- PCSD elementary school students are engaged in learning that provides a strong foundation for future academic coursework and success.
- The Elementary Science curriculum has undergone significant revisions in the last few years to align with the NYS P-12 Science Learning Standards. Students study life cycles and inherited traits by raising monarchs from the caterpillars to butterflies which they tag and release to follow migration patterns to Mexico. They study the concept of the ecosystem, as well as interactions between animal and human behaviors, by looking at the phenomena of wolves being returned to Yellowstone Park and consider the question of whether they should be returned to the Adirondacks as well. In grades 4 and 5 science continues to be taught by dedicated science teachers (rather than the homeroom teacher) allowing for more extensive, hands-on interaction with the appropriate science materials. Pollinator gardens with connections to at least one science unit at every grade level have recently been planted at every elementary school.
- Foundations (grades K-2) engages students in a multi-sensory, structured approach that makes learning to read fun, while laying the foundation for life-long literacy. Foundations is aligned with the NYS Next Generation E/LA standards and is designed to be used alongside, and as a complement to, a core literature based language arts program of instruction.
- Number Corner Math (grades K-5) is a skill-building program offered in addition to the regular math instructional block. It involves hands-on, spiraled experiences that provide daily practice as well as continual encounters with broader mathematical concepts in 15–20 minutes of engaging instruction.
- K-5 Social Studies inquiries are modeled after the College, Career, and Civics (C3) Inquiry arc. The K-5 Social Studies Inquiries engage students, as young as kindergarten, with compelling and supporting questions, using disciplinary content and skills to have students investigate these questions, evaluate sources they use along the way, and take action with their new knowledge. Several of the Inquiries are interdisciplinary in nature, integrating Social Studies and ELA curriculum along with the Social Justice standards.

Superintendent's Student Advisory Council Seeks to Support Peers and Make a Positive Impact

The energy and excitement of being part of something impactful was palpable as new and returning students of the Superintendent's Student Advisory Council (SSAC) animatedly greeted each other, snacked on pizza and found themselves effortlessly slipping into conversations about how they want to make things better for their fellow students. During the SSAC's first meeting of the year, on October 25, 16 student members from grades 9-12 met with Superintendent Pero and Equity and Inclusivity Coordinator Vincent French to discuss goals for the year, review committee norms and explore how their work ties into the District's mission, vision, and values. Members of the SSAC are a diverse group of high school students from Mendon and Sutherland high schools who share a common goal of helping Pittsford Schools achieve its mission to "...make a difference in the lives of others," and its core value of "providing a supportive environment for all."

"It is an honor to collaborate with these 16 incredible students who are willing to volunteer their time and effort to making the Pittsford School District the best it can be," said Superintendent Pero. "The level of empathy they have for their peers and their eagerness to find actionable ways to support the diversity of experiences, individual goals and overall wellbeing of fellow students is a testament to their character and a beacon of hope for the future," he said.

During this first meeting of the year, students participated in activities to get to know one another and talked about what they hope to accomplish this year. SSAC members who attended the October 21 "Brave Spaces 2022: Rochester's Third Annual Summit to End Hate" also shared what they learned at the summit about embracing differences, not making assumptions based on physical appearances and being an upstander to support those experiencing bullying. The meeting concluded with a student-driven discussion about the importance of increasing the visibility of mental health resources available to students at PCSD and normalizing the action of seeking mental wellness supports in the same way people seek supports for their physical wellbeing.

Members of the 2022-23 Superintendent's Student Advisory Council include:

Returning Members: Amani Abu-Baker (Gr. 10 SHS), Annalise Borrelli (Gr. 12 SHS), Campbell Kazacos (Gr. 10 MHS), LeiLani Hernandez (Gr. 12 MHS), Muhammad Mbowe (Gr. 12 MHS), John Nobrega (Gr. 11 MHS), Maricella Rivera (Gr. 11 SHS), Kassidy Sayres (Gr. 12 SHS), Worni Vimika (Gr. 10 MHS), and Langston Woods (Gr. 11 SHS).

PCSD Earns High Rating from Moody's Investors Service

Fiscal responsibility and stability are top priorities for Pittsford CSD and its commitment to Pittsford taxpayers. The District's ongoing success in maintaining fiscal wellbeing was recognized with an Aa1 credit rating from Moody's Investors Service in October 2022 – a rating PCSD has received for the past 25 years. The Aa1 rating is the second highest rating a school district can attain and reflects strong financial operations supported by conservative budget practices.

Similar to a personal credit rating score, the District's Aa1 rating reflects financial stability and health, and as a result affords the District favorable borrowing terms (including lower interest rates) when PCSD residents vote to approve debt issuance in potential capital projects.

Below are highlights from an October 2022 credit analysis published by Moody's Investors Service:

- The credit position of PCSD is very strong. The Aa1 rating is above the U.S. school district median.
- Key credit factors PCSD demonstrated in order to earn an Aa1 rating included a strong local economy, a healthy reserve position, and very modest fixed costs.
