SKETCH

When you started high school, you had only a faint idea of who you were; only a quick sketch of yourself, not a full-fledged portrait. As you grew and took new and different courses, you learned more about yourself. Slowly your "sketch" and identity sharpened and the real you came into focus. By the time you graduated, you had a better idea about who you were; it was a much clearer picture than when you began. The sketch was complete.

1st SEMESTER AT OXFORD HIGH SCHOOL

August

- aug 6: First day of school
- aug 12: Yearbooks distributed
- aug 20: Blue and Gold Day and first football game
- aug 28: Girls swim team wins first place at their first meet
- aug 31: Blood drive

BRIGHT AND EARLY. The band practices during 1st period to avoid the hot humid weather in August. They started practicing two weeks before school began.

HOT HOT HOT. Chorus students practice in the auditorium when the chorus room is over heated. This year Oxford reached record high temperatures.

TODAY IS THE DAY. Students pick up and sign their yearbooks when the yearbooks arrive. The yearbooks come out the first week of August.

IN THE DARK. A power outage at the school doesn't stop teacher Nicolette Pringle. Her students finished their projects by candlelight when the power went out.

September

- sept 3: Crosstown Classic
- sept 8: Anchor Club first meeting
- sept 14: Power outage at school
- sept 21: MSPA annual journalism conference on the Ole Miss campus
- sept 22: Bowling alley burns down

MINI CAMP. Varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders, like junior Avery Harris, spend a week out of every year hanging out with Bramlett kids across the street. The youngsters learned about cheerleading and cheered at a game.

CAMPUS VISIT. Freshmen Allison Abel, Pittman Phillips and Grace Gillespie take a lunch break at the Union after their morning sessions. The School of Journalism at Ole Miss held a conference for journalism students in the fall and spring.

BLOOD BROTHERS. Senior Mason Shivers plays the role of an adorable little kid in the production of "Blood Brothers." His role was one of two brothers who were separated at birth.

GLEE? Senior choir students Joseph Kelly, Jordan Smith, Sara Brooks Weems and Katie Top rehearse before a performance. This was the first time chorus took an overnight field trip in years.

WORTH IT. Bill Clinton gives a speech to Ole Miss students in the Grove. Several students checked out of class that afternoon to attend his speech.

ALL THE BOYS. During the Homecoming pep rally, the football players show their support for their teammates on the Homecoming court. There were two football players on court this year: senior Avery Norris and sophomore J.P. Bruscatto.

October

- oct 10: New cell phone rules enforced
- oct 11: Fall Break
- oct 14: Bill Clinton speaks at Ole Miss
- oct 23: Class Wars began
- oct 23: Homecoming week begins
- oct 26: Bond issues passes for new school
- oct 29: Homecoming night

December

- dec 1: Powerlifting meeting
- dec 6-7: Musical try-outs
- dec 9-10: Yearbooks on sale
- dec 14-17: Semester exams
- dec 17-jan 4: Winter Break
- dec 25: Snow on Christmas

November

- nov 4, 6, 7: "She Stoops to Conquer"
- nov 10-11: Girls track try-outs
- nov 22-26: Thanksgiving Break
- nov 15: Beauty Review first meeting
- nov 30: Holiday choir concert

KICKIN'. Sophomore Jessica Pearson takes the ball away during a soccer match. Most of the soccer games were played away this season.

Couquered. Sophomores Jake Robinson and Casey Quinn act out a scene during the production, "She Stoops to Conquer." On Broadway this play won several awards.

UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT. This year's chorus concert is different from previous year's concerts. It began new traditions, however, which might last the next thirty-three years.

QUITE A JUGGLE. Each semester teacher Joe Sabatier shares his talent of juggling with his classes. He explained this lesson as a metaphor for juggling the three branches of government to senior Cameron Hilliard.

JUST IN REACH. Senior Kimberly Waller tries to open her locker on the first day of school. Students got their locker numbers and schedules.

Week One

New Year Brings Change

So much happens during the first week of school with clubs, sports and, for the freshmen, a whole new school. Students juggle locker combinations, lunch numbers and new teachers. They also find new faces. This is especially true for new students, those who have just moved to Oxford. While most students move here because their parents get a new job or they moved from across town, some come from across the world. This year, five foreign exchange students came to OHS to learn about life in the US. These students were Raphael Schoenball, Anna Brehm, Linda Bardha, Gabrielle Bartoseviciute, and Mariya Kryuchkova.

By: Nicole Robinson

FOOT WORK. Morning practices for band are during first period. Sophomore Julie Shaw and Senior Kaiesha Smith work on foot work and patterns during practice.

HEY AGAIN! Some teachers you never forget. Senior Taylor Burton greets U.S. History teacher John Mistillis on the first day of school.

WHERE AM I? At the end of the first week of school students got their copy of last year's yearbook. Junior Sallie Barrow Fisher and seniors Virgin Mayo and Mary Darby Matthews multi-task during lunch by eating and looking at the yearbook.

GETTING THE RIGHT NUMBERS. Making sure everyone has the right combination, Coach Chris Baughman and Coach Steven Gill open all the lockers right before school starts.

FIRST DAY SCHEDULES. Freshmen have lots to figure out on the first day of school. Connor Goggans had a copy of his schedule handy to get him through the day.

STUDYING. The first week of school can be stressful and a lot of kids get piled with homework. Freshman Mykail Clark works on his math homework during activity period.

FURRY FRIENDS. At the beginning of the year the school had many new additions, including guinea pigs. English teacher Kim Austin grades papers with the help of one of her guinea pigs.

Students end up in Oxford from across the globe. Some have been here for years, others have just made the journey this year. Here are some of the countries we've come from.

SWERVING. Senior Mac Banner rides through the Rocky terrain of the Whistler Mountain biking course in British Columbia. Banner finished the course after hours of effort.

Summer Adventures

Banner Bikes In Canada

"It's what I want to do, now," says senior Mac Banner after his mountain biking trip to British Columbia, Canada. This was Banner's second year to attend the camp. For the last two years, he said, the "gravity camp" was his favorite part. When Banner went the previous summer he broke his collar bone. The camp allowed Banner to enjoy riding in exciting locations. During his second week this summer, for example, Banner and his friends rode at Whistler, a part of the Rockies.

"Whistler is like the bike Mecca," Banner said. The course they rode took a full day to ride. Although the trip was challenging, Banner says it was worth the effort.

Victoria Bullard

WORLD TRAVELER. "It was such a great experience seeing so many places all in one trip," senior Victoria Bullard said after her trip to Venice, Florence, Pisa, Paris, Cambridge, London, Edinburgh, and Amsterdam.

RELAXING. In Edinburgh, Scotland on the mountain Arthur's Seat, senior Bullard and her brother and sister enjoy their vacation in Europe.

IN ITALY. The Bullards visited The Gates of Paradise made by Ghiberti on the Baptistry in Florence, Italy. OFF THE RIALTO BRIDGE IN VENICE, ITALY. Bullard and her brother, Sadler, stand in front of the canals.

RECOLLECTING. "It was a great experience, especially with the people who went," junior Kristen Dickerson said about her trip to Prague, Germany and Paris with five other students who went with history teacher John Mistilis. REACHING HIGH. Dickerson signs the Berlin Wall in Germany. Her name is now written on the wall with many others.

IN FRONT OF THE BERLIN WALL. Graduate Hannah Spears, seniors Molly Neff, Virginia Mayo, Kaylee Saunders, Dickerson and senior Hannah Threadgill stop to let a chaperone take their picture. The girls found abundant photo ops on their trip. WALKING THROUGH PARIS. Kristen enjoys the streets of Paris. She said she did a lot of walking.

SCHOOL SPIRIT. To help sophomore Noel Walsh have school spirit, his classmates, sophomore Dora Chen and senior Peshani Herath, paint blue and gold on his face in 5th period newspaper. On his face they painted the Oxford O and lightening bolt.

RAPID RABBIT REPRODUCTION. In Nicole Roberson's Biology class, freshmen Mary Randall Ivy and Sophie Semmes quickly calculate the number of paper rabbits and add them back to the pile. This in class activity helped the classes learn about reproduction.

YEAH, I READ HISTORY. Sophomore Forrest Murphy completes an assignment in Joe Sabatier's class. Sabatier only taught one sophomore class in 2011.

TALK IT OUT. Discussing literature, sophomores Baxter Elliott, Alexander Drummond and Adhi Ravishankar have a round table discussion in Sommer Husband's Pre AP English II class. Round table discussions helped students understand the piece of literature they read.

HOW LONG CAN YOU GO? Megan Murphy, Sarah Gaines Gardner, Nicole Gannaway, Virginia Mayo and Emily Schultz drop to the floor during their wall sit activity in Statistics. Seniors Katie Top, Scott McLaughlin, Mason Shivers, Joseph Kelly, and Rebekah Turner were able to sit longer.

WORK WORK WORK. Completing their French exercises in class, sophomores Ann Houston, Rebecca Leake and Tiara Burt work quickly. Using their time wisely allowed them to finish the work in class and have no homework.

DISCUSSION TIME. Academics is not always boring. In English teacher Sommer Husbans class, sophomores Conner Vinson, Casey Quinn and Sarah Wilson get into the school year with class discussions.

R.R.R. Rapid Rabbit Reproduction

To help her biology students understand reproduction of animals, Biology teacher Nicole Roberson set up a hands-on project for her Biology classes.

The students worked in groups using cut-out rabbits to complete the project. The students say the activity was successful in getting them to understand the concepts in a fun way.

"It helped me learn because it showed all the predator and prey simulation in a really simple way," freshman Sophie Semmes said. "You would think it would be really complicated, but it actually wasn't."

We Have Spirit, Yes We Do!

Claudia Billups Takes Role Of Charlie The Charger

Claudia Billups took over the role of mascot Charlie the Charger following the legacy of Courtney Claire Little. As a sophomore, Billups stayed busy performing as Charlie along with all her other school activities. While some students saw Charlie only on game day, Charlie the Charger did much more than just entertain the crowd at football games. He promoted school spirit both at school and in the community. One favorite activity for Charlie was performing skits at pep rallies.

"It was awesome," Billups said. "You got to act like a complete fool because you're the mascot. You got to walk up to random people and act crazy, but it's totally cool."

By: Kathy Nguyen

SHOW DOWN AT THE HOEDOWN! Avery Harris, a junior, does the country line dance in honor of the county rivals, the Lafayette Commodores. All the cheerleaders wore silly hats to go along with the line dance.

TRICK CANDLES? In this pep rally game, the cheerleaders wanted to trick one of the players with a trick candle that did not blow out. Unfortunately, they got the wrong candles and the game failed.

WHO'S GONNA RUN THIS TOWN TONIGHT? The theme of the Oxford vs. Lafayette pep rally was "Run This Town." Art teacher Rebecca McKittrick and the art students posted this banner outside the 400 hallway to pump the students up.

RELAY AT THE COUNTY FAIR! Seniors Kaylee Saunders and Sam Kendricks race their way through the relay. They had to dress up in "country" clothing.

PRESENTING THE ENEMY: Sophomore Claudia Billups as Charlie the Charger brings out the Lafayette dummy for the football players to tear up. This is a tradition at OHS.

SHOWIN' SOME LOVE! The students get excited as the football players run through the gym. Jeoffrey Gordan, a sophomore, charges through the crowd as the football players enter the gym.

GET PUMPED UP! Sophomore Rachel Vanlandingham yells out in the crowd. She supported her Chargers by wearing camo to make fun of the county rivals.

DANCE OFF? Sophomore Samuel Hightower surprises the crowd by jumping out on the floor to dance with the mascot. The cheerleaders were surprised, but the crowd loved it.

Meals On Wheels Lunch Cart Brought Joy To Daily Lunchlife

From the beginning of freshman year, Katherine Fowlkes ate food from "Newk's" almost every day without ever leaving school. The rolling lunch cart allowed parents to bring food to their children at school and drop it off on the lunch cart. The lunch cart was parked near the front entrance until 11:30 a.m.

Assistant Principal Bradley Roberson or Principal Mike Martin then rolled the cart to the cafeteria. Katherine says her mother was usually busy in the morning and didn't have the time to prepare her lunch. So she just bought something at "Newk's" and dropped it off at the school during her lunch break.

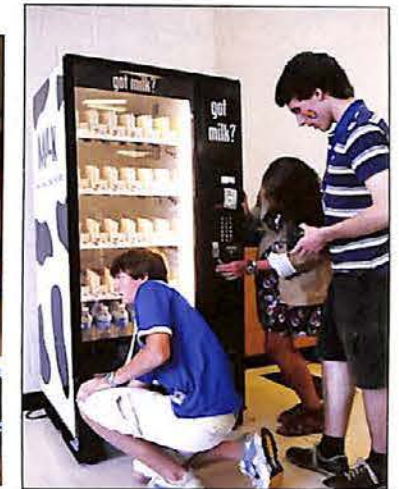

By: Anna Brehm

MEALS ON WHEELS. Freshman Katherine Fowlkes picks up her lunch off the lunchcart during third lunch. Her mom brought her lunch from Newk's almost every day.

TALKING TIME. Juniors Lucy Abruscato, Cari Hansen, Maggie Mitchell, Emily Meadows, and sophomores Hannah Gurley and Zoe Fitch enjoy their lunch time together. Lunch was the most important time to chat with friends, according to most students.

GOT MILK? Juniors Lucian Duchaine and Lizzy Leary help sophomore Raphael Schoenball buy milk during lunch. Students could buy milk or water for $1.

THE ROLLING FOOD. Assistant Principal Bradley Roberson pushes the lunch cart to the cafeteria before first lunch. Parents brought in plenty of lunches to fill up their children and the lunch cart.

HUNGRY? Sophomore Drake Harris sits between his friends, juniors Jake Hurdle and John Graeber, and rips open his lunchbag with his teeth. For most students lunch was their favorite time of the day.

TOO MUCH ENERGY! Senior Marquis Townsend does push-ups during lunch. Josh Townsend, the ISS teacher, made Townsend do this exercise for "goofing off."

LUNCH LINE. Sophomore Steven Lee walks out of the lunchline with his food tray. He enjoyed his lunch after English every day.

EATING, EATING, EATING. Students eat in the cafeteria during second lunch. With over 900 students to feed every day, students attended one of three different lunch sections.

WHAT'S FOR LUNCH TODAY? Katherine Fowlkes checks what her mom got her from Newk's. Newk's is one of the most popular restaurants for lunch.

Sketch-

Students Defined By Their Surroundings

Everyone has heard the phrase, "Everyone is special." But what is it that makes us special? It is the little quirks, pet peeves and habits we have, and it presents itself in the things we wear and the places we go.

Baxter Elliott is a sophomore who loves his Ole Miss sports. Looking at his TV room with the blue and red couches, old stadium seats from Tad Smith Coliseum, it's easy to see that his room is a "sketch" of his interests.

Gerardo Sanchez wears a bracelet that a childhood crush gave him when he was only 6 years old. The senior's bracelet has Psalm 23:1 on it which reads, "El senior es mi pastor nada me faltara," which translates to "The LORD is my shepherd, I lack nothing." He still wears it often. "I found it special since it's about God, and I go to church and everything. It reminds me of my childhood," Gerardo said.

Senior Norma Barksdale is a gifted senior whose organizational skills have not caught up with her academics. In her locker are copious French textbooks for her AP French course, tissue paper for the senior chicken wire, and other supplies for every day. "It varies, I'll go two weeks super-organized, then go a month of extreme disorganization. It's a cycle," Barksdale said.

By: Eloise Tyner

LOUNGING AROUND, Baxter Elliott watches TV after school. The sophomore decorated this room with old Tad Smith Coliseum seats that were in his attic three years ago when the family redid their upstairs. The Elliott's favorite college team was the Ole Miss Rebels.

BRACELET BRIEFS, Gerardo Sanchez holds his bracelet and reminisces. Sanchez spent the majority of his childhood in California and Mexico before he moved to Mississippi.

3-4 TIMES A DAY, 5 TIMES A WEEK, Norma Barksdale opens her locker, locker #1. Eventually, lots of knick-knacks pile up in the 34" by 10" box of metal.

Whose locker?

"My favorite thing is probably the air freshener but then also I have these little magnets that I've had since forever that reminds me of when we still had snack time and recess."

FIRE!

Who: Gary Churchill, owner

What: The Lanes Bowling Alley
burns down

When: September 21, 2010
at 3:53 a.m.

Where: 1608 East Jackson Avenue

Why: Undeterminable

SPLASH! A firefighter sprays water at the end portion of The Lanes Bowling Alley. The cause of the fire was considered undeterminable.

STEAMING HOT. Sun rays stream into the front room of the bowling alley where everything is burned to a crisp. The fire damaged the building beyond repair and had to be completely leveled.

RIGHT: Two Oxford firefighters work for hours to make sure that all of the fire inside The Lanes is put out.

DO NOT ENTER! Entering the back of the building, firefighters go in to check the damage. The building was close to collapsing after the fire was put out.

SOAKED TO THE CORE. Collapsing after the fire, the back wall of The Lanes gets doused with water.

CONSTRUCTION ZONE. Sitting in front of the damaged bowling alley, a bulldozer waits to remove rubble from the crumbling building.

SCORCHED BLACK. The entrance to The Lanes is one of the only spots of the building still left standing after the fire was put out. Later, this entrance was bull-dozed with the remaining ruins.

More September Happenings

SEPTEMBER 1, 2010:

Senior Paula Ivy colors a worksheet on colonial government during a particularly relaxing day in Government class.

SEPTEMBER 3, 2010:

Taking statistics of cars in the parking lot, senior Emily Schultz records here data.

SEPTEMBER 14, 2010:

The weather outside was great for figuring out calculations, so seniors Lucas O'Neill, Abdul Hamid, Matthew Nichols and Sam Kendricks work diligently on a Physics project.

SEPTEMBER 15, 2010:

Answering questions out of their literature book, Sommer Husband's first period English class works hard to finish their assignment.

SEPTEMBER 22, 2010:

Acting as Mr. and Mrs. Lyon's from Liverpool, England, Ashley Hewlett and Frank Odom perform in the theater's production of "Blood Brothers."

All In The Family

Family Ties Create Unity

Look around this school and you'll find more than one faculty member with family here. We've got several combinations: mother and son, mother and daughter, husband and wife, and father and son. These family ties help to create a sense of an even larger family: Oxford High School.

Almost everyone knows husband and wife team Bradley and Nicole Roberson. They see the opportunity to work together a positive activity.

"We share the same passion for helping kids. It gives us an opportunity to share thoughts and ideas of how to help students," Bradley Roberson said. Lea Fyfe is the attendance clerk, and her daughter Morgan is a junior. Lea Fyfe says that she loves being in the school setting and being involved in some small way in the lives of students and faculty.

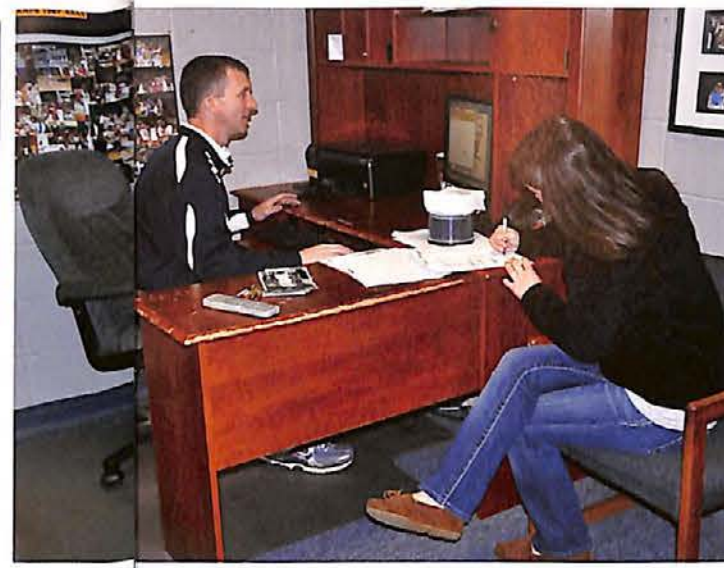

"Being around the students helps me to relate better to the things young people are faced with today versus how things were when I was in high school," Fyfe said.

By: Tory Dixon

TIME FOR PRACTICE. Brothers Tyler and Chase Goolsby end the school day with helping coach baseball practice. While Tyler started this year, Chase began working at OHS last year, and both also work with special education.

FATHER, DAUGHTER TIME. Boys' Basketball Coach and Drivers Ed teacher Drew Tyler spends time talking to his daughter Mary-Madison Tyler, a sophomore, while she does work.

What's it like having family here at OHS?

LOOKING ON. Assistant Principal Kathy Howington and ISS Monitor Tim Howington watch proudly as some of the senior football players sign with colleges. The Howingtons dated for five years before marrying last summer.

CATCHING UP. Mr. and Mrs. Herrington take time to tell each other about the happenings of the day. They have one son and another child on the way.

ATTENTION! During a pep rally, Assistant Principal Bradley Roberson participates in a skit done by the cheerleaders, who his wife, Nicole Roberson, coaches. Both of them did their student teaching here at OHS and have worked here since.

DANCE TO THE MUSIC. The dance off is a fun activity to watch during the carnival. Junior Avery Harris and freshman Katherine Fowlkes had a great time dancing together.

FACE PAINTING. Dressed up on costume day, sophomore Alisha Johnson gets her face painted. Pictures and words were drawn on the faces.

WATCH OUT FOR EGGS! Students on one side toss their eggs to their partners. The students who missed the catch got their hands or clothes stained with egg yolk.

POP, POP, POP! With a green balloon tied to his legs, junior Bryan Arnston tries to stomp on his classmates' balloons. Every member who was involved got a recycled paper bag.

UP TO BAT. Being outside is the best thing for students. Senior Chase Watts got ready to swing as the wiffle ball crossed the plate.

GETTIN' LOW. Surrounded by an audience of cheering onlookers, freshman Demarcus Brown and junior Darius Montgomery participate in the First Annual C-Fair Dance O' English teacher Sommer Husbands was the sponsor of this dance competition this year.

PUCKER UP, PIG! Principal Mike Martin kisses the pig held by librarian Wendy Daughdrill. The senior class raised the most money for United Way and chose Martin as the pig kisser.

Homecoming Carnival

Day In The Sun Provides Relief From Studeies

Homecoming Day, October 29, dawned bright and sunny. With the clear blue skies, students were more "pumped up" than usual about the second annual homecoming carnival. Students got out of classes before lunch, then got a chance to eat in the bleachers. The fun progressed to the practice field where events and booths added to the festive atmosphere. Students played tug-of-war and wiffle ball, tossed eggs, and danced in the Caroline Fair dance-off. At the end of the day, Principal Mike Martin kissed a pig in support of the United Way campaign.

READY TO KICK. Soccer is one of the many organized sports in the carnival. As senior Jason Freeland rolled the ball toward senior Ian Rone, he positioned for his kick.

Homecoming 2010

Crabtree Wins

Nerves dominated senior Ann Crabtree's homecoming night. She and her mom stressed over numerous events from getting ready, to praying that her hair didn't mess up during the night. It was also cheerleading's Senior Night, and Crabtree's goal was that she didn't cry before half-time. However nerves didn't keep her from enjoying the evening. "I love high school, and I love everyone I'm in the school with. It means a lot to know that people feel the same towards me," Crabtree said.

Liddell Raises Awareness Through Class Projects

For the past few years Coach Liddell has helped his health classes understand the importance of the fight against breast cancer. His classes made posters and were awarded bonus points on tests for every day they wore pink during the month of October.

This year Oxford held the first annual Pink Dress Run. Liddell encouraged his students to participate. "I want it to continue to grow where it becomes a school wide or even a district wide event."

WORKING ON A POSTER. While thinking of ideas, sophomores John Arlis Williams, Robert Narice and Nolan Parham look through a brochure. Then they made an informative poster.

A photograph showing a group of students in a classroom setting. In the foreground, three students are seated at a wooden table, focused on a large white sheet of paper. The student on the left is wearing a purple shirt, the one in the middle is wearing a white shirt, and the one on the right is wearing a dark green shirt with a '55' logo. They appear to be collaborating on a project. In the background, other students are visible at their desks, some working on laptops. The classroom has a warm, yellowish lighting.

ALL PINK AND POSTERS! On pink day, sophomore Katie Knight hands Coach Liddell a poster drawn in his class for Breast Cancer Awareness Month. In observance of Pink Day Knight wore pink.

While wearing a hot pink tutu, junior Mollie Beth Ott makes a purchase at Private Gallery. Stores on the square offered sales to those who participated in the Pink Dress Run.

SPENDING TIME TOGETHER. Freshmen Allison Abel, Julie Lorenzo, and Kara Rose have dinner at Old Venice after the run. Restaurants offered special discounts to those who participated in the Pink Dress Run..

Creative Cupcakes

Who Says Cupcakes Have To Be Boring?

Think of cupcakes and you think of vanilla or chocolate cake, icing, and some kind of sprinkles, right? Not so in senior Emily Semmes's household. Instead, Emily's family makes alligators, turkeys and other types of wacky creations.

"My aunt gave my mom this cupcake book with interesting cupcake things on Thanksgiving. We decided to make these little turkeys for Thanksgiving," Semmes said.

Semmes started to bring the cupcakes to school her junior year and they were a great success. Emily's friends noticed her hobby. "They were a big hit," senior Megan Murphy said.

"She makes them really fun. They aren't the average cupcakes, they are individualized unique cupcakes."

While most of the cupcakes only take about an hour and a half from start to finish, her friends agree they will leave a lasting impression.

BUSY WORK. Sitting at Highpoint Coffee, seniors Zach Wilder, Meg McCurdy, and Sami Thomason start to work on their group project. Statistics teacher Kathy Barnes let students leave class to work together.

MAKING MONEY. Working at her job at TCBY, senior Holly Grisenger checks out a customer. She has had this job for several years now.

Recipe: Chocolate Chip Cookies
From the kitchen of: Rose Nash

1 cup butter flavored Crisco	1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup brown sugar	1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup white sugar	2 2/3 cups flour
2 eggs	1 (12 ounce) bag chocolate chips
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1. Mix first 3 ingredients together in mixing bowl
2. Blend in eggs
3. Add vanilla, baking soda, and salt. Mix.
4. Fold in flour. After all ingredients are thoroughly blended, fold in chocolate chips.
5. Using an ice cream scoop, scoop dough and compress into scoop with hand. Level and place on greased sheet.
6. Bake at 350 for about 12 minutes. Let cool on cookie sheet for about 8 minutes.

SUGAR RUSH. After school, sophomore Callie Mayo takes a trip to Holli's Sweet Tooth for a quick snack. Mayo often gets snacks after cross country.

A Brief Overview Of The Life Of A Cupcake

1 Preheat your oven to 350 degrees.

2 Measure all the ingredients needed for your cupcakes.

3 Mix the ingredients in the bowl until well blended and smooth.

4 Pour the mixture into a greased cupcake pan or into cupcake pan liners.

5 Place the cupcakes in the oven and wait about 20 minutes.

AHHHH. Enjoying Splash Mountain are seniors Sara Brooks Weems, Sarah Gaines Gardner, and Nicole Gannaway and junior Mary Frances DeVoe. Students enjoyed many rides during the trip to Disney World.

SLEEP THE RIDE AWAY. While riding on the bus back to Oxford, choral director Chris Brown takes a nap. A one way bus trip took around 19 hours.

Check Out My KICKS

Graeber Talks Toms

Regardless of weather, event, time, season or place, one thing used by everyone, everywhere to complete every outfit was our shoes.

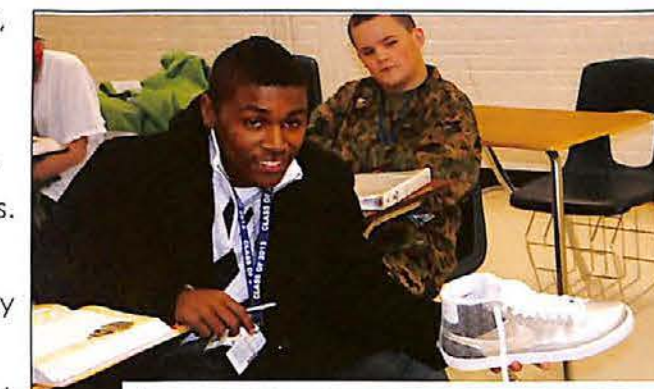

Sophomore Leland Graeber was a die-hard fan of Toms, the latest in trendy shoes. She liked them because she says they were "cute, comfortable, cheap, and they benefit children in need of shoes." Graeber owned eight pairs of Toms. Besides just wearing the shoes, Graeber liked to show her artistic talent by painting them.

"I painted my first pair because they were white and they kept getting dirty," Graeber said.

She typically bought her Toms on her own, so to save money after they got rips or holes in them she patched them up on her own.

"They really help me out a lot on days my feet hurt," Graeber said.

Chattin' it up: Students Amos McLeod, Connor Goggans, Holly Robinson, Kara Rose, Shaylon Townsend, Mariya Kryuchkova, Megan Young, and Mitch Clark sit in the Commons carrying on casual conversation. Check out the Toms, the sneakers, the Uggs, the flats and the boots.

TIE IT UP. After almost falling, sophomore Chase Gladden takes to time to tie his shoes.

"One time I was running in cross country and my shoe fell off so I had to run the rest of the race without one shoe, landing me the nickname Shoeless."

John Arlis Williams
10th

"I have cowboy boots with holes in the bottom so I can't wear them in the rain, but I wear them anyway."

Sarah Grace Briscoe

OOPS! Senior Emily Snellgrove takes the time to button up her stylish UGGS. They were too loose for her.

KICKIN' TAKE OVER. With time to spare, sophomores Meredith Brown, Hannah Russell and Ainsley Atkins relax with thier shoes in the air.

November & December

Christmas Parties, Football & Projects Dominate Months

- The football team made it all the way to playoffs. They were defeated in a close game against West Point.
- Math teacher Ed Page reserved an entire week for his students to present projects. Each student researched a different mathematician.
- The chorus goes to Disney World! They practiced one last time by performing a winter concert.
- Art, Spanish, Anchor and other clubs all had Christmas parties. Dirty Santa was a popular Christmas party idea this year.
- Exam week was December 13-17. Exemption policy was stricter than ever with fines and missing books now counting against students.

SITTING PRETTY. Senior Sami Thomason performs in the production "She Stoops To Conquer" as Kate Hardcastle. Kate tried to win the attention of her suitor during the play.

BALANCING ACT. Teacher Joe Sabatier juggles basketballs for his government class. He explained how juggling is like balancing the three branches of government.

SCURRY, SCURRY! Spread on the floor, sophomore Mary Sybil Byars takes notes. Mary Stone's students rushed to make seven column charts.

THE NEXT ROBIN HOOD. A nervous Jeff Margreiter poses as freshmen Sims Cauthers attempts to shoot the cup off his head. The archers-in-training grew tired of hitting the sandbag.

KING ME! Showing off his skills, sophomore Nick Brown plays checkers. His opponent is kinged one more time before he takes Brown's last checker.

GIDDY-UP. Dressed as a knight, senior Sam Kendricks rides his gallant steed at the Medieval Fair. He demonstrated medieval cavalry.

RING AROUND THE MAYPOLE. Senior Jasmine Wilkinson weaves over and under in true merriment tradition. Several other people also loved to dance around the Maypole.

WORKING HARD. Rose Nash's chemistry students, sophomore Karli Gaillard, Jessica Pearson, and Lizzy Barlow, finish their answer sheets in the hallway. The students inside the classroom had the lights out for an experiment on determining spectral line emissions.

FAN THE FLAME. Pumping periodically, senior Tom Kendricks keeps his fire alight. It would not be the same at the Medieval Faire without its trademark scent of smoke.

SWORD FIGHTING. A popular yearly event, juniors Sara Beth Childers and Kevin Davidson practice their sword skills. Sara Beth demonstrated the lunge technique.

Antigone Succeeds

Hard Work Pays Off

Senior Sami Thomason was in for a surprise in September. While student directing the first play of the OHS Theatre season, "Blood Brothers," John Davenport, Theatre teacher, told her that she had been selected to play a role in the theatre competition piece, "Antigone."

"I had no idea I would get picked, and not only was I excited to go to competition but I was excited to be in it," Thomason said. In November, the cast hit the ground running. A week before they began practicing, Thomason found out she would play Eurydice, the wife of Creon, a character who commits suicide.

The cast and crew of "Antigone" won Runner-Up at state, Best Director, and Overall Technical Excellence. Also, three cast members, Joseph Kelly, Emily Schultz, and Colin Schultz won the All Star Cast award. In March, the cast and crew of "Antigone" went to the Southeast Theatre Conference in Atlanta, GA.

Snow Day

Fluffy Stuff Provides Days Off From Class

Snow days are a rare icy treat. Overall, Oxford got ten inches of snow during the month of January resulting in three official snow days. Most Oxonians have never seen this much snow. The snow day was full of fun activities for kids. Some went to the University to sled down the bigger hills. Some meandered around their neighborhoods looking for the steepest bank to slide down and others built snowmen or stayed home and ate snow cream or drank hot chocolate.

Sophomore Austin Carter had some friends over to spend the night and they walked to Avent Park and sledded down the big hill behind the tennis courts. "Being out of school and hanging out with my friends was the best part of our snow day," Carter said.

By: Nicole Robinson

SNOWBALL FUN! Making snowballs, senior Tyler Green plays in the snow during lunch. Even when school started again not all of the snow was gone.

Ballers! Having fun during lunch, seniors Matthew Nichols and Jordan Smith play in the snow outside the cafeteria. Nichols and Smith had the privilege to sit outside during lunch because they are seniors.

ROLLIN IN THE SNOW. Junior Juan Guerra climbs through a giant snowball. He and his friends juniors Sam Sharp, Blake Hembree and Tyler Fortenberry played day and night at Blake's house on the snow day.

What was your favorite thing to do in the snow?

"I like to go sledding at my neighbor's house."

Rustin Raspberry
Sophomore

"Hit cars with snow balls."

Scott Parkin
Junior

"I like to sled down hills with friends and of course have snowball fights."

Austin Super
Junior

SLIDING OVER THE HILL. Junior Max Kim enjoys the snow day sliding down hills on pieces of cardboard. Kim enjoyed the snow the entire day.

ROLLING. Trying to build a giant snowman, junior Haven Harris helps her brother, sophomore Taylor Harris, and, junior Bryan Arnston roll up the body. Snowmen sprang up overnight, it seemed, all over Oxford.

Best Songs Played at Winter Formal:

Grenade - Bruno Mars

We R Who We R - Ke$ha

Just A Dream - Nelly

Raise Your Glass - Pink

Firework - Katy Perry

Like a G6 - Far East Movement

What's My Name - Rihanna

Black and Yellow - Wiz Khalifa

YOU SO PRETTY! Winter formal is a favorite dance for many because they get to see their friends outside of school all dressed up. Junior Julia Watt greeted freshman Chynna Knight at the dance.

AND THEY STAY THERE. During everyone's favorite song "All I do is Win" the crowd puts their hands in the air. This song was a favorite everywhere this year.

HOLDING HANDS.

Slow dancing, junior Jack Pinnow asks his girlfriend sophomore Hannah Fye to dance. They danced to "Bottoms Up" throughout the evening.

HANDS IN AIR.

Listening to "Dynamite" senior Kimberly Waller throws her hands up in the air. "Dynamite" was a popular dance song this year.

GET LOW. Juniors Emily Donke and Lizzy Leary and sophomore Megan Young dance the night away. The girls danced to "Like A G6."

TWIRL. Sophomores Katie Knight and Rachel Valandingham dance.

SLIDE. Doing the Cha Cha with friends, seniors Tyler Green and Kendria Huggis slide to the right.

He Said... She Said Winter Formal Gets Mixed Reviews

What did you think of Winter Formal?

Joey Walden, 9th:

"It was fun, but it was kind of boring because the lights were on, but just being able to dance was cool."

Kara Rose, 9th:

"Yeah, it was fun, but needed better music, and the lights were on."

Wade Costley, 12th:

"The teachers were paying too much attention to us, and there were too many lights on; there was not enough dancing."

Chynna Knight, 9th:

"It was lame; the lights were on, teachers were watching, and it seemed like we were surrounded."

DANCING. Having a good time, juniors Allison Lyon and Franklin Tatum laugh at each other's dance moves. Franklin wore a sweater vest to Winter Formal just to make Allison laugh.

The Wizard Of Oz

Crew Plays Silent, Crucial Role In Musical

Not every student can dance, sing or act. But most want to be involved with the musical in some way or another. Which is why we have: crew. Everyone knows actors for the musical work diligently on stage. What the audience doesn't see or sometimes recognize is all the kids backstage who put in just as much work as the actors. There are quick costume changes between scenes, and the scenery on stage needs to be changed after ever scene.

"The crew is always the back bone of the operation. Without the diligence of the crew the performance could not function," director John Davenport said.

The crews are hair, makeup, stage, lights, sound, costume, and props. There is a head of each crew, a stage manager, an assistant director, and two assistant stage managers.

By: Margeaux Miller

MUTI-TASKING. Before the show sophomore Leland Graeber puts Dorothy's hair into braids, and junior Ellie DeVoe put's on Dorothy's microphone before the final sound check.

SETTING UP. Before the show junior junior Katie Krouse is very precise where she puts Dorothy's toys. In this play adaptation the other characters in the story are her toys who come to life.

NO NO NO. Assistant Director Mary Frances DeVoe and Stage Manager Meredith Brown hope for the best in discussing the potential snow storm heading for Oxford.

MAKEUP! It's not hard for makeup crew members juniors Sara Be Childers and Rowan Graeber to make munchkins junior Lauren McAnally and junior Linda Bardah look beautiful.

GET READY. It's opening night for the Wizard of Oz, and junior Aleah Vinson and senior Mary Bryan Barksdale are spending a lot of time and effort curling senior Joseph Kelly's normally perfectly straight hair.

SO TIME. Dorothy (Maia Cotel) enters Munchkinland and is welcomed by the Lollipop Guild (Jake Robinson, Chase Gladden, and Chad Knight). While traveling to the Emerald City, Dorothy meets the Lion (Joseph Kelly) and he decides to tag along. However disaster strikes when they were attacked by Jitterbugs (Tal Toole and Kaylee Saunders).

GO GET THEM. The Wicked Witch of the West (Emily Snellgrove) instructs her monkey minion (Jake Robinson) to bring Dorothy, Lion, Tin Man, Scarecrow and Toto to her immediately. She wants the ruby slippers that Dorothy magically received after the house fell on the Wicked Witch of the East.

HEAR THAT? The Tin Man (Raphael Schoenball) encourages Dorothy (Maia Cotel) and Scarecrow to listen to his empty chest. The tinsmith forgot to give him a heart because he ran out of tin, so he decided to go with Dorothy and Scarecrow to see the Wizard in the Emerald City.

TRY IT ON. Glinda (Lakyn Collier) the Witch of the North jokingly puts her crown on one of the munchkin's heads. She was explaining to Dorothy that the little people were Munchkins and they live in Munchkinland.

SINCERELY DEAD. The Coroner (Chester Shivers) thoroughly examines the Wicked Witch of the East (Sarah Gaines Gardner) and proclaims that the wicked witch is dead!

IN THE END. Dorothy makes it home safe and sound. Her friends and family were all there when she woke up and discovered that it was all just a dream. When she woke up, she had a new appreciation for her family and friends.

WHAT TO CHOOSE. Gifts lined the Walmart shelves as people prepared to buy gifts for Valentine's day. OHS students, however, did not really participate in Valentine's Day.

TWINS IN STRIPES. Sophomore Quinn Jones stops in the hallways to talk to his girlfriend, senior Jeanne LeBlanc. On Valentine's Day, they both wore similar shirts.

LOVE. Looking at the gifts, freshman Emma Pittman smiles at what she has received. Stuffed bears and flowers were popular this year.

Public Display of Affection

PDA Rule Is Strictly Enforced

"EW! It's a girl! "Boys have cooties." Remember these sayings on the playground at recess? My, how times have changed. Now it's common to see boys and girls holding hands, hugging, or sometimes kissing in the hallway. These are all forms of PDA, public display of affection, which is against school policy. While the policy has always been here, it was never strictly enforced until the spring semester. Teachers requested that Principal Mike Martin address the issue at one of the faculty meetings, so he did.

"The policy is like any other...springtime seems to increase the importance of enforcement," Martin said.

So far no students have been sent to the office for violating the policy, and there seems to be less PDA in the hallways according to Martin.

Lock Down, Lock Down! School Goes On Lockdown

It was a normal day until Assistant Principal Bradley Roberson ran into the cafeteria yelling "Lock-down! This is not a drill!" The seniors eating outside ran inside and teachers in the lunchroom calmed the nervous students and held them into the corners of the cafeteria. The room was crowded with the 300 students.

An intruder had entered the JROTC room after wrecking a stolen truck and escaping from police. Students were shocked when they saw him, blood on his face from the wreck. The man, who was closely followed by a US Marshall, was in the building just seconds before he ran out another door in the JROTC room. A manhunt for the violator began on the school campus, and all students in the school had to remain on lockdown for almost two hours.

Assistant Principal Kathy Howington said the front office received over 200 calls in one hour from parents who were worried about their kids.

A lot of fear was caused by students who posted false reports on Facebook. Even PE teacher Rose Hickey's husband called after seeing reports on Facebook.

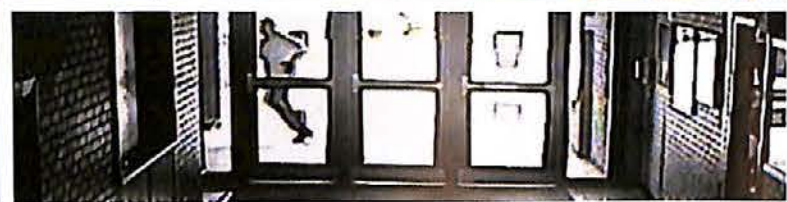

"There is no way we could ever predict an incident like this, but we did more right than we did wrong. The students behaved well and took it seriously," Howington said.

By: Anna Brehm

WHAT A STORY! Freshman Alan Gastellum reads the article about the Lockdown in the Oxford Eagle. It caught attention on all local news channels.

"I freaked out and then I cried like a baby."
-Coach Kuzg

Locked Down

The first thing I wanted to do was to call my mom; I was terrified, and everybody else was very quiet, too.

Torian Carothers
12th Grade

I didn't take the incident serious at first but when I saw Mr. Roberson I knew it was real. I was in the cafeteria during the Lockdown and didn't even get to eat my lunch because it was cold after the two hours of waiting.

Vanessa Kariuki
11th Grade

I got serious this time because it was a REAL lockdown, there was no playing around. Everybody got into a huddle and said they loved each other. I was shocked there was actually some one IN the school.

Kevin Whitney
9th Grade

I really wasn't nervous at all; I was just hoping that nobody would come into the building. One girl was crying where I was which made it way more serious.

William Elliott
10th Grade

The first thing I thought was: I hope I don't die. I sat under the microwave table in the cafeteria and me and Mary-Bryan Barksdale sang gospel songs to keep the mood up.

Talley Diggs
11th grade

WHAT NEXT? Mike Martin and Bradley Roberson stand in front of the office and plan their next steps. Both of them kept their cool and knew that they were prepared for the situation; as long as they knew the students were safe they were fine.

THAT'S THE STORY. Assistant Principal Kathy Howington talks about the incident the next day. For everybody in the administration it was quite a shock, but everything was handled well.

IMMA CATCH HIM! Police officer Phillip Zampella runs through the hallways during the Lockdown. Together, the police and the school administration secured a safe outcome.

LOOK OUT! After clearing the campus, the police patrols the rest of Oxford. They caught the violator in the evening at Avenet Park.

WHAT HAPPENED? A team of reporters and journalists came together in front of the office to interview Mike Martin. There was also a helicopter and a TV team from Channel 5 at the school.

Spring Break Duchaines take overseas trip

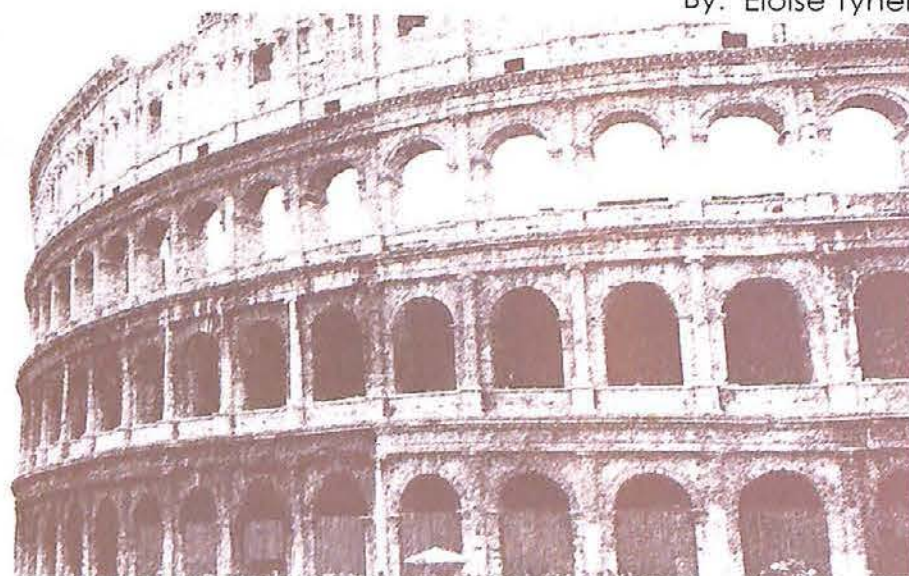

After a decade of vacations, you could say the Duchaines have seen it all. Belize. Costa Rica. Peru. Every Christmas, Lucian Duchaine's grandparents have given his family a vacation they can take over Spring Break. This year, they went to Italy.

While 11 hours in the air gave the Duchaines plenty of time to relax, once they got to Italy, the trip was all on foot.

"We walked so much that at the end of the day I thought my feet would fracture. Walking on cobblestone streets for six hours is not healthy," Lucian said. Out of the numerous places he went, one of his two favorites was the Roma-Lazio soccer game at the Olympic Stadium.

"The atmosphere and the noise was so intense and the match was very exciting to watch," Duchaine said. Another favorite adventure in Rome was getting to see the ceiling of Sistine Chapel in the Vatican. "I thought about how Michelangelo had spent four or five years of his life on this project, and it made me think: what have I been doing with my life these four years in high school?" Lucian said.

By: Eloise Tyner

FEELING SAINTLY. Lucian and Cope Duchaine visit Saint Peter's Basilica. Michelangelo built this dome in the late Renaissance.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW. Brothers Lucian and Cope visit Florence while in Italy. To get there from Rome, they took a train, then walked around the city.

Newspaper Staff Goes To SIPA

On the first weekend in March, the journalism staff traveled 12 hours to Columbia, South Carolina for the Southern Interscholastic Press Association conference and competition.

They came back with plenty of awards for their hard work during the year. The conference consisted of classes to enhance their skills in writing, photography and design. They also did many fun, exciting activities, such as the quiz bowl and the talent show.

"I enjoyed going to SIPA. The classes and activities were interesting. I had a lot of fun bonding with my staff and other journalism people." said Harleigh Huggins, a sophomore.
By: Kathy Nguyen

Margaux Miller

NEWSIES GOT TALENT! The journalism staff performed a dance number from the musical "Newsies" at the SIPA talent show. Unfortunately, they didn't win first place.

EDUCATING THE YOUNG: Joan Westmoreland's English class tells the Bramlett kids about medieval life. Senior Andrew Neal stands at the podium and talks about his medieval project that he did earlier in the year.

TESTING TIME! Coach Todd Lidell helps sophomore Malacia Coleman look for her Noel Walsh jumps in the air as testing classroom for the English State Test Writing portion.

DANCE, DANCE! Sophomore Noel Walsh jumps in the air as he performs in the talent show at SIPA.

QUIZ BOWL. Sophomores Sudu Upadhyay and Taide Ding, and juniors Andrew Mullen and Jack Schultz represent Oxford High School in the quiz bowl at SIPA. The team reached semifinals.

GETTIN' HITCHED! Every spring, Nicolette Pringle's personal development classes put on a wedding in the commons for a class project.

I FLY LIKE PAPER. Senior Kevin Clancy and sophomore Raphael Schoenball throw paper planes for their Physics project. To receive their grades, the planes had to fly a certain length.

Lagrone Takes Top Title

Exhilaration. Surprise. Relief.

Awesomeness. Twenty girls walked across the stage hoping to hear their names called so they could feel those feelings, but this year, the title of Most Beautiful went to sophomore Abbie Lagrone. For two rounds Lagrone used her previous pageant and modeling experience to sway the judges. Time seemed to go slowly as she heard all five beauties, Most Photogenic, and Miss Congeniality called out. Then the announcer, Steve Herring, called out the Most Beautiful, Abbie Lagrone. As she walked across the stage and hugged last year's queen, Madi Blocker, emotions poured out and feelings rushed in.

It was her night.

By Luke Jenkins

SMILE. Beaming with pride sophomore Abbie Lagrone is crowned as Oxford High School's Most Beautiful. Crowning her is last year's winner senior Madi Blocker.

ALL DOLLED UP. Allison Canale, sophomore, is all smiles as she puts on make-up. The contestants had tables set up to help get ready for each part of the event.

OPENING ACT. To start the pageant off, the contestants danced to Jackson 5's song "Blame It on the Boogie." Last year's most beautiful, senior Madi Blocker, led all of this year's hopefuls.

BEAUTIFUL. This year Beauties were sophomores Zoe Fitch and Evelyn Field, senior Theronica Woods, and freshman Katlyn Brassel. The Most Beautiful was sophomore Abbie Lagrone.

PREPPING. To ease her nerves, sophomore Katie Knight grabs a cough drop before going on stage. Each contestant was given a table in the cafeteria on which they could place their make-up and other belongings.

STUNNING. As freshman Isabella Moak walks around the stage, she is judged. Every contestant had time by herself on the stage.

PARADE OF BEAUTIES. The contestants walk onto the stage. This was the last look the judges had of them.

MOVING ON. The contestants hold hands as those moving to the next round are called out. The ten contestants with the highest scores advanced.

AMIAILITY. This year's Miss Congeniality is senior Erin Hamilton.

SAY CHEESE. This year's most photogenic is sophomore Breanna Black.

NAPPING. Sophomore Donya Alqasas relaxes during French class and listens to music. A lot of students use music to get through the day.

KINDLEMANIA. Sen Andrew Neal reads on his Kindle during activity period. he uses his Kindle for almost every class.

HIS ONE! Freshmen Dre Hearvey and LeAnthony Rog- look at pictures during activity period on the MAC Computers in the journalism room. Google Images was blocked the first half of the year for students.

Technology

Kindle Helps Neal In School Life

Senior Andrew Neal has made a significant change in his daily school life in his last year of high school. Since he bought a Kindle he brings it to school everyday. He uses it in almost every class and has various textbooks for school on it. In addition, he has 300 books to read on his Kindle.

Neal says he didn't enjoy reading before, but since he owns the Kindle he has read over 100 books. The Kindle has also improved his grades, he says, because he likes class more and it makes it easier to work because he can also take notes on it or highlight things. Neal's backback has become a lot lighter because he doesn't need so many books for class anymore. He says other students' grades improve as well, and people would enjoy class more if the school would have the Kindle or the iPad for everyone. He also thinks the cell phone restrictions would be easier to enforce.

"As school goes on, future technology will replace books and that's definitely a good thing," Neal said.

SATP: Let The Testing Begin

It was the most stressful time of the year...state testing time. The dreaded Subject Area Test Program hit full force at the end of the school year. Teachers in Biology I, Algebra I, English II, and U.S. History used those last days before the "big day" to make sure their students were well prepared.

David Rozier, a sophomore, took his English II state exam and said he was "well prepared" for it. The English II test included two parts: a multiple choice test and a writing test. Rozier said the multiple choice was much harder than the writing exam.

"I thought that it was hard because it took forever to finish," Rozier said.

How did he prepare? Rozier said that he really "just went over the test books" that his teacher, Sommer Husbands, gave him during the many days of review.

"By far I think the English II multiple choice test was the hardest state test I have ever taken," Rozier said, summing it up.

By Chad Knight

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT. In Sommer Husband's class, sophomore David Rozier takes a practice SATP English II test. Students did reviews like this for the whole month of April until their test.

PASS IT! Teacher Todd Liddell, sponsor of the Relay for Life, and several students sale baked goods as a fund-raiser during lunch. Students in his class were only allowed to eat the goods they buy that day.

JUST CHILL. Junior Scott Parkin, senior Ryan Rone, and junior Wade Lindley read the school newspaper in the midst of a real tornado warning. Sophomores were state testing at this time.

YOU'RE IN NOW! Junior Maia Catelo pins a ribbon on her fellow classmate, Marilyn Fillyaw, as a part of Anchor Club initiation. Every spring the club initiated the upcoming, female juniors who had the right GPA.

BOOO! Sophomore Katie Cabrera and freshman Christian Sanchez were "ghosted out" by teacher Linda Coleman. Many students took part in this to show their support against drunk driving.

AND THE BAND PLAYS ON! Band students play diligently as they perform during their spring concert. The band does this every year.

TOO MUCH DRAMA! Freshman Conner Davis, sophomore Jake Robinson, juniors Sara Beth Childers and Martin Bodenheimer, and freshman Katie Margaret Doss perform in the theater production, "Firebugs." "Firebugs" was the 2010-2011 season closer.

ORDER'S UP! Ladies in nutrition and wellness class prepare a meal. Freshman Kayla Wells, sophomore Miranda Jones, freshman Tymonae Berry, and sophomore Ciara Thompson converse while they prepare omelets and toast for their class.

What's the hardest state test you have taken?

"U.S. History was kind of hard to keep up with all the dates."

-Cashara Perry, 12th

"Biology, because I'm not good at science."

-Austin Pugh, 11th

"English was to me because of all of the reading."

-Deun Coleman, 10th

"Algebra, because you actually have to know the stuff or else you will fail."

-Judson Watson, 11th

"Biology, because we went over a lot of information but we didn't need much of it on the test."

-Norah Daghestani, 9th

Double Decker Oxford Tradition Carries On

This year's Double Decker was held on April 29 and 30. Okkervil River, Black Joe Lewis and the Honeybears, and Old Crow Medicine Show were all featured on Friday night. For the first time, it cost $10 for the public to see if they bought tickets ahead of time, or $15 if they just showed up on the Square the night of Double Decker. Many people enjoyed the concert, however more people participated in the traditional side of the festival the next day by working the booths and stores around town.

"It was hectic. A lot of people love candy and ice cream in Mississippi because it's awesome...and because we are fat," said junior Judson Watson who worked at Holli's Sweet Tooth during the Double Decker Festival.

GOT RHYTHM?. During the last chorus concert of the year, senior Jonandrian Word, junior Joseph Reed, and sophomore Kevin Hill play the instruments. This was teacher Chris Brown's first year to teach chorus at OHS.

AWARD ME! Seniors, Terry Johnson and Nickia Johnson file into the auditorium decked out in their graduation caps and gowns to get their award(s). This year the seniors had to wear their caps and gowns to the awards night.

ISEF. Sophomore Taide Ding explains his research on modeling hurricane landfall decay to an observer at the International Science and Engineering Fair. Ding won third place in his category, Earth and Planetary Sciences, and won $1000.

ON THE CAMEL. On the second day of her trip to the International Science and Engineering Fair, sophomore Rosalie Doerksen texts her friend while sitting on a wax camel. Doerksen says she had "an awesome time" in the wax museum in California.

DANCE UNTIL YOU CAN'T! During activity period, sophomore Mac Hall performs his dance with teacher Nicole Roberts in the auditorium. While some of the classes knew about his performance, most of the classes did not.

ACHIEVED. Taking a chocolate milk from the pile, junior Sallie Barrow Fisher happily walks through the line to obtain her breakfast. Honor roll students got to celebrate their successes at the breakfast.

BRINGING IT IN. A few of the junior varsity team members come together after an important play. Each time the junior varsity girls scored or made a good move, they came together and said "Ace."

TAKING TIME TO STRETCH.

Before each game the team takes time to stretch to prevent injuries. However, senior Kathryn Stocks had a major ankle sprain toward the end of the season.

GOING FOR THE HIT. Junior Kristen Dickerson serves the ball to the opposing team during a game. Kristen also played basketball and ran track this year.

PREPARING FOR THE WAR! Before the beginning of each game, the teams spike the balls across the court at each other. The varsity team consisted of 11 girls this season.

IN AND OUT. Number three, Lucy Abruscato and number 12, Maggie Mitchell, both juniors, prepare to switch out. This was Lucy's first year playing for the varsity squad.

LISTEN UP! A few of the varsity players receive instructions from Coach Wendy Raby on what to do. Raby helped coach the team along with Tara Ross.

WAITING FOR THE PERFECT MOMENT. Varsity player Kathryn Stocks, a senior, watches for her time to hit the ball. Stocks was the only senior on the team this year.

Robinson Plays An Important Position On Volleyball Team

The player wearing a different color jersey hasn't lost her way, she's the libero. During the 2010 season, this position was played by sophomore Holly Robinson, who has played for Oxford since 7th grade, but this was her first year of playing varsity. She first came to liking the position of the libero after watching Ole Miss's libero.

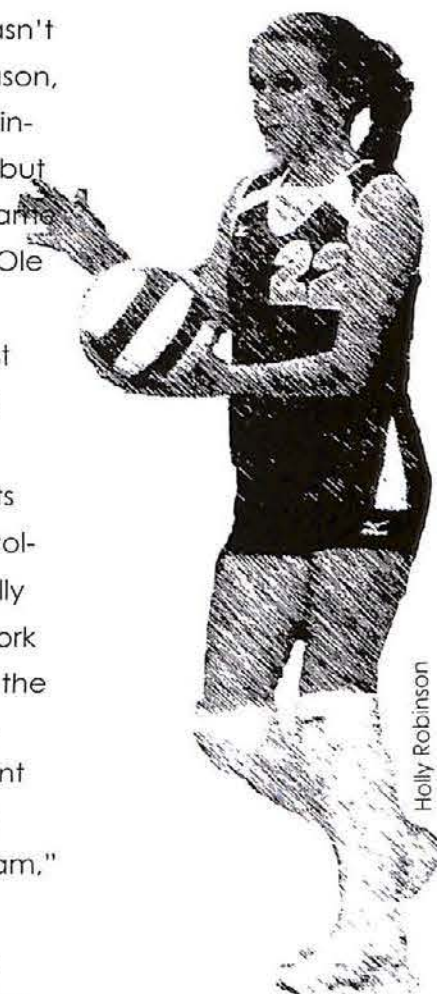

"I really liked her and I think passing is my best quality," Robinson said. "The libero is a defensive specialist and can only play the back row."

As athletes know balancing school and sports takes dedication and lots of time. Even though volleyball lasts only the first few weeks of school, Holly said she has to make time to get all her schoolwork done and still attend practice. However, with all the time and practice comes memorable moments.

"I remember when we played in a tournament in Jackson, and it was my first time to play varsity teams. It was really great when we beat a 6A team," Robinson said.

She plans to play next year and would like to improve moving her feet and getting in front of the ball.

Illegal Stunt Costs Team State Championship

After practicing every day during 7th period cheer and after school since August, the Charger competition cheer squad thought they had their routine for the state cheerleading competition down to a "T." It wasn't until after they performed their routine at the Mississippi High School Athletic Association's State Cheer/Dance Competition that they were informed that their routine included two illegal pyramids. Due to the deduction of points from the two pyramids the Chargers did not place in the competition. Even though the Chargers didn't place this year, that hasn't hindered their spirits for next year's competition according to junior Tal Toole.

"After not placing because of the deduction, it has motivated the returning cheerleaders to go all out and win it next year," Toole said.

STUNTING IS A HABIT. The cheerleaders wait for the football players to run onto the field. Senior Ann Crabtree, Kathy Nguyen and junior Sarah Beth Glaze stunt while waiting.

O-TOWN! Senior Alyson Blair paints a banner for the Cross Town Classic game against Lafayette.

PREP TIME. Before the first round of play-offs, Senior Emily Snellgrove performs a scorpion on the side lines. Snellgrove has been cheering since freshman year.

DON'T DROP ME. The 2010-2011 cheerleading team finished their routine with this ending pyramid. This wasn't the illegal stunt that cost them the competition. The cheerleaders practiced two hours every day.

What's your favorite part of a pep rally?

"The players walking in!"
-Sarah Beth Glaze, 11th

"The 'Hey Song' and when the boys walk out."
-Theronica Woods, 12th

"The dance."

TOSS MORE THAN FOOTBALLS. After the coin toss with Lafayette the JV players run back to tell their team mates the good news. They would have the ball first.

DON'T EVEN TRY! Freshman Conery Meagher runs in the game versus North Panola. Oxford won the game 26 to 16.

“We Are Not Second Choice!” JV Football Players Prove Their Skills

This year was another successful year for the junior varsity players. One of them, freshman Luke Leary, played well enough as a JV player to “finally get moved up” to the varsity team. Leary played his whole 9th grade year, starting as a junior varsity player in every game.

“Football this year was fun and I can’t wait for next season,” Leary said.

Of the junior varsity starters, 15 moved up to the varsity team the week after the regular season ended. Leary was one of those players. He not only moved up to the varsity team, but he played in two of the varsity games before the end of his 9th grade year.

What was the best game of the season?

Lafayette! Because we beat them. I could tackle once in that game.

- Antwane Carothers

Lafayette! We beat them by 44-12 and everybody played at their best. LeAnthony Rogers, Kevin Whitney, DJ Miller, Glen Gordon, Darius Liggins, Mark Regues and me, we all worked as a team and prayed for victory.

- Deundre Hearvy

Saltillo! I got in and could tackle three times. Moreover I could play during 3rd quarter.

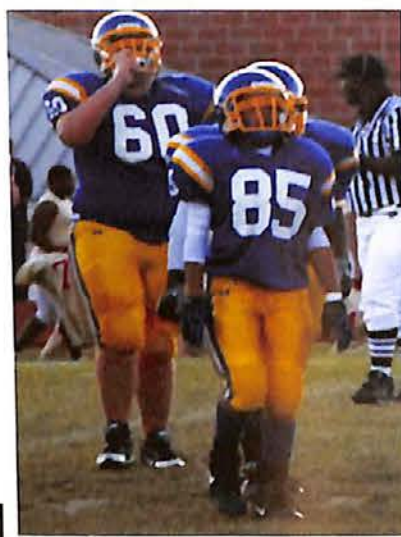

- Christian Sanchez

North Pontotoc. I made 5 or 6 tackles. But more importantly, I didn’t miss any of them. We won as a team and that’s what matters!

- Chadwick Lamar

TEAMWORK. Freshmen Glen Gordon and Que’Taurus Certion receive their warm up before the Lafayette Game. The warm up is one of the most important parts to succeed in the game.

MENTAL PREPARATION. Before every game players take a few deep breaths and get in the zone. Getting mentally prepared is important for every game.

WE RUN THIS! The JV football team runs through the big banner that the cheerleaders painted for them. The cheerleaders paint new banners every week during cheer practice.

PREPARING FOR THE GAME. Freshmen Darius Liggins and Jimmico Paine receive their warm up from one of the coaches before the game. Both of them were linemen.

WE PLAY TOGETHER! Freshman Luke Leary and freshman Brett Alderson exchange a few last words before the game while walking to the line of scrimmage. Leary and Alderson both moved up to the varsity team this season.

TEAMSPIRIT! The JV Football team watches their teammates play against Charleston. They won the game, contributing to a successful season.

Heading Down South

Johnson Goes To Mississippi All-Star Game In Alabama

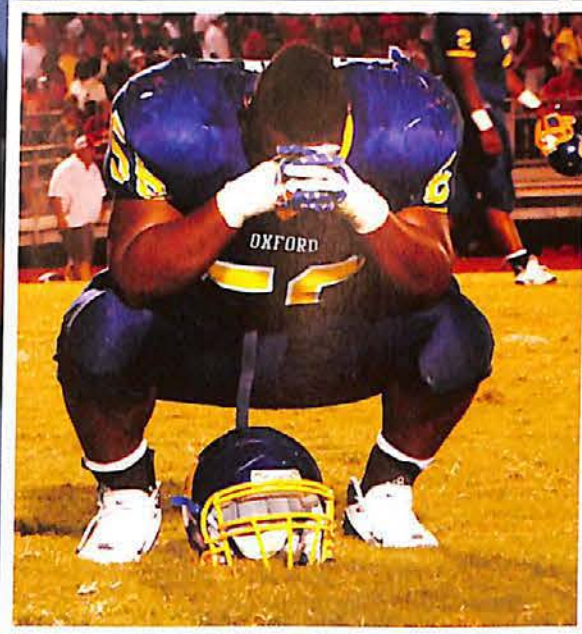

Students from across Mississippi were chosen to play in the state All-Star game. Oxford's own Terry Johnson was chosen to be a lineman on the team. Johnson was told about the invitation to play after Oxford's win against the Hernando Tigers. During the All-Star game, however, a direct handoff to Alabama's running back ended Johnson's hopes for a win. Nevertheless, Johnson says the time on the team was a good learning experience.

"This is my chance to show what I have. While you're there the guys you're going against are bigger and better and they push you to be better," Johnson said. The game marked Johnson's last game as a high school football player.

Far Left: HEARTBREAK. Despair takes over Jeremiah "Turtle" Gordon as he sinks to the ground after a close lost to Lafayette.

COOLING DOWN! At Cross Country practice sophomore Mary Sybil Byars cools off with a drink from the sprinklers. The sprinklers weren't light on the budget.

GETTING BACK IN THE GROOVE! After the summer break, sophomore Megan Young and freshman Mary Katherine Pearson warm up around the track. This was one of the first days back at school.

PREPARATION. Waiting to run, sophomore Audrey Dayan stretches before the Corinth meet while juniors Mary Helen Rychlak, Anna Brehm, freshman Grace Gillespie, and eighth grader Emily Hankins wait for their race. The girls team placed fourth overall.

HUGE HILL. This hill proved to be a difficult one to climb at the Saltillo meet. Junior Austin Super made his way up it.

Heat Takes Toll On Runners

Cool Water Provides Relief

This summer's temperatures set record highs for the cross country runners. Temperatures reached the upper 90s on a daily basis. The team changed practices to 7:30 p.m. at Pat Lamar Park to try to avoid harsh sun angles and to find shade. To try to help the runners, Coach Johnny Hill had two water systems made with colder temperatures than what they had been using, which was, according to Coach Scott Kendricks, "ideal for the body."

"The heat did affect the runners, but it affects everybody," Kendricks said. Despite the temperatures, both the girls and boys placed third at State.

By: Lynley-Love Jones

DIVING INTO THE POOL. Celebrating their season, the cross country team has a swim party at the Swim Club. Junior Mitch Hallam made a backwards dive into the water.

HEAD FIRST. By diving sideways, sophomores John David Hankins and Vic Bishop show off their skills. All eyes were on them as they dove in.

FINDING SOME SHADE. While sitting under the tent at Corinth, sophomore Baxter Elliott stares into space as Jimmy Pan, also a sophomore, tries to talk to him. They placed 77th and 134th.

AND THEY'RE OFF! Starting the race off strong, sophomore Wilson Gardner and senior Markis Barnes begin the meet at Corinth. They placed 38th and 26th.

Three In Four Girls Win State Again

This year was a significant year for the swim team. Yes, 2010 marked the third time the girls have won first place at the state meet in the last four years.

"Since I've been here we have won three times in four years which is a big deal," senior Alma Burwell said.

Even though she's graduating, Burwell will continue her swimming career next year at college.

"I'll be at Northern Michigan next year for college on their swim team," Burwell said. "It's definitely a big step up."

In addition to Burwell, two other girls swim team members, Jilly Rippon and Nicole Robinson, plan to continue their swimming at the next level.

By: Margeaux Miller

WE GOT THIS. After watching the team swim warm-ups, Coach Rebecca VanOostendorp gives the team tips on swimming. During this practice she gave tips on where to position their hands while swimming freestyle.

OVERCOMING. Sophomore Dora Chen is a strong swimmer. Despite having an injured leg for part of the season she was still able to compete in several meets.

SIDE TO SIDE. Having practice at the Turner Center is a real treat because the high school swim team gets to use the same pool the college students use. Freshman Renee Sullivan-Gonzalez swam freestyle at practice during warm-ups.

WE BREAK RECORDS. This year senior Matthew Nichols broke the state record for the 100 yard breast stroke. His record was 58.12 seconds beating the previous record of just over one minute.

JUST KEEP BREATHING. Senior Jason Freeland takes a huge gulp of air after coming up from underwater for such a long time. Freeland swam the breaststroke at most swim meets.

The Only Senior Player

Murphy Says She'll Miss Team Next Year

Megan Murphy started playing soccer when she was in kindergarten, about 12 years ago. This year she played the goalie on the high school team. She was also the only senior member of the team.

"I never scored a goal because I tried to prevent them," senior Murphy said. Her greatest challenge was to maintain a good and positive attitude on and off the field.

"It's just kinda sad because I won't be there next year, and I'll miss the girls," Murphy said. Being the only senior member on her team did not affect Murphy by any way, she says. She still worked as hard as she could for her team.

By: Joanna Wu

MINE. MINE. Fighting for the ball against a Lafayette player, junior Maggie Mitchell manages to take the ball away from her opponent. The girls won this game against Lafayette.

BLOCKED. With five Horn Lake players standing in front of the goal, junior Maia Cotelo is about to kick the ball as her right foot is in the air. Cotelo's kick did make it into the goal.

SENIOR NIGHT! Coach Josh Townsend hands a yellow rose to senior Megan Murphy. Since there was only one girl senior they celebrated boys and girls on the same senior night.

GOT IT! An opponent stands in the way of sophomore Eden Sandlin as she tries to escape to the other side of the field. It was a very windy evening, and every player had to wear something warm.

WATCH OUT! Protecting the ball, senior Megan Murphy ducks to avoid a Hernando player leaping over her head. Murphy did not get hurt even though it was close.

BLUR. Junior Mary Helen Rychlak runs past her opponent to get the ball in her possession. The girls won this game.

AND THERE SHE GOES. Junior Cari Hansen swooshes past her opponent as the player comes up close to her. Her teammates on the other side of the field came to help her.

HEAD BUTT. As the ball is about to hit the ground, junior Chase Caldwell looks above to find the right time to head the ball. She managed to hit it and pass the ball to teammate Allison Lyon.

Soccer Terms

Clear: to kick the ball away from one's goal.

Hacking: kicking an opponent's legs

Steal: when a player takes the ball away from an opposing player

Volley: any ball kicked by a player when it is off the ground

COMING CLOSE. Junior Meredith Sanford steals the ball from her opponent while two other opponents gain up on her. Sanford manages to get away from the rushing girls.

Winning Season

Chargers Conquer Callaway

No one thought the soccer team could top their season from last year, but the team knew they could. "They really believed in themselves and winning the state championship," Coach Jamie Perkins said. Perkins can definitely see an improvement from last year. "We played with more heart," he said. One team that attempted to intervene on their dream was the Callaway Chargers. Callaway had beaten the boys the previous year, kicking them out of the playoffs and calling themselves the "real Chargers." "They were sure that they were going to beat us," said Laura Barber, mother of one of the Oxford players. "Even the referees seemed like they were on their side. Most parents thought the game was over, there was no possible way." Perkins had been scouting Callaway, and the boys obviously wanted it more. Perkins said that Ian Rone was a key player who really contributed to the win.

"Rone stopped and made a penalty kick that really helped us," Perkins said. The boys played their hearts out and won the game, but sadly lost to the Pearl Pirates at North Half.

By: Ali McGee

HEADER! During the Saltillo game sophomore Noland Parham jumps for control of the ball. Parham helped his team to many wins during the season.

KICKIN' IT! Junior James Lear picks up speed as he dribbles the ball. Perkins saw James as a key player for the season.

FIRST TOUCH. Preparing to maneuver around a Horn Lake player, senior Tom Kendricks traps a ball in the air. Tom helped his team easily beat the Eagles at Bobby Holcomb field.

Above: IN CONTROL. While dribbling the ball down the field, junior Wade Lindley passes a Horn Lake player. Lindley proceeded to advance toward the opposing goal.
Below: MAKING PACE. As he gets a shove from a Saltillo player, junior Lucian DuChaine takes the ball down the field. DuChaine contributed to the 11-1 win over the Tigers.

Above: AUTOGRAPHS. While on the sidelines, junior Blake Hembree signs a frame for a senior. They played Saltillo for senior night.
Below: TUNNEL! On senior night, senior Wade Costley runs through teammates to congratulate his season. There were 9 seniors on the team this year.

MAKING MEMORIES. Signing a picture frame, sophomore Edward Terry takes a break at half time. The frames were given as a gift to the seniors.

RECOGNIZED. Running through the tunnel of teammates, senior Sam Webb gets many high fives. This was Webb's first year on the team.

COACHING FROM THE SIDELINES. Coach Linzy and assistant Coach Malone stare and anticipate the game. Coach Linzy has been the girls' coach for two years.

24 Wins, 4 Losses Losses Don't Distract

The girls basketball team started off the season with a long winning streak. The girls finally toppled down with a loss against Grenada. Even with the loss, the girls kept their heads up and let their confidence and abilities carry them to the 5A North Half Championship. "It was a good season for us; it was tough, but it was worth it," sophomore Quavia Smith said. The girls team was ranked 23rd in the state of Mississippi after an overall record of 24-4-0. The girls reached Callaway in Jackson, Miss. on February 18th, hoping to win to go onto State, but they came home with a loss of 69-57.

By: Chase Caldwell

CHECKING OUT THE COMPETITION. Before the game, junior Moneika Pegues glances at the competition. Oxford beat Senatobia 48 to 41.

DEFENSE. Sophomore Keuntray Tubbs slides side to side to defend her woman. Tubbs about two steals per game.

CONCENTRATING. Looking for a team mate to pass to, junior Kristen Dickerson decides on whether to shoot or not. Dickerson participated in a basketball camp over the summer.

GETTING FOCUSED.

Senior Taylor Pugh focuses on her free throw. Pugh was the only senior on the team this year.

HANDS UP! Sophomores Amber Sisk and Alexis Malone line up for Potts Camp's free throw. Malone jumped for the rebound.

SWOOSH. Junior Lameisha Gillom takes a free throw shot. Gillom usually got about seven rebounds per game.

JUMP. Point Guard junior Erika Sisk jumps high to block number 20. Sisk averages 20 points per game. Oxford girls won their first game of the season against Potts Camp on November 8th.

INTENSELY WATCHING. The girls cheer on their team and encourage them to keep their heads up. The Lady Chargers played a hard and close game against Lafayette.

Get Pumped Boys Make It To North Half

Each season, basketball has its new games and excitements. This year was full of excitements for the 2010-2011 Oxford Charger basketball team. This year, the team won 18 games and lost 11. The games that they won were tremendous wins. The team was in ecstasy after winning district champions and making it to North Half.

On February 18, the boys' team was pumped to play their North Half game at 12. Losing North Half was disappointing for the boys but the players, like junior Luke Gibbs, say that it was the most exciting end to the season.

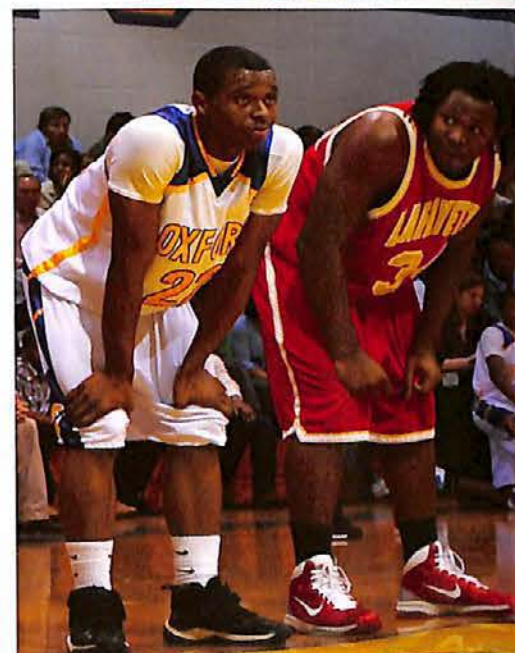

"The most exciting was playing Provine in Gentry for North Half," Gibbs said.

By: Grace Orman

REBOUND. Anticipating the rebound after the freethrow, junior Justin Fondren waits for the shot. The break of shooting a freethrow gave the players a little break during the game.

SCHOOL SPIRIT. Students including sophomores William Elliott, Parker Adamson, senior Guy Billups, and freshman Michael Bianco cheer on their Chargers. The students cheered them to victory.

DRIBBLE TO THE GOAL. Dribbling at midcourt is sophomore Nick Brown. He took his time to find someone to pass the ball to.

GOING FOR IT. Attempting to dunk, sophomore Justin Hill makes a basket in the first home game of the season.

TAKE YOUR TIME. Gathering his thoughts on how to take out the play is freshman Darryl King. Darryl played guard for JV.

MAKE A BASKET. Shooting a free throw, senior Deshaun McNeal concentrates on making the basket. Making this shot earned him an extra point for the team.

DOWN THE COURT. Dribbling the ball, junior Luke Gibbs goes for a basket. Luke was able to make the all-area team this year.

WAITING. Expecting the ball to come her way, junior Moneika Pegues focuses. Pegues also played basketball.

GREAT CATCH. Dominating the outfield, junior Allison Lyon picks up the ball. She immediately threw it to second base.

BEFORE THE GAME. Warming up is key to a successful game. Senior Kathryn Stocks prepared herself for pitching an excellent game.

UP TO BAT. Hoping for a good hit, sophomore Nikki Grilllette takes a swing. She ran safely to first base.

How did it feel playing on your own field?

"I like that we actually had our own field and it didn't feel like a stupid sport. We were actually part of the school."

Courtney Grace

"I think it gives us more confidence."

Kara Williams

"It felt nice to have a home."

Nikki Grilllette

"We actually had a home crowd."

Kaitlyn Jamison

GROUND BALL. While playing center field, freshman Aulysia Booker slides to reach the ball. She made a clean catch.

LOOKING FOR AN OUT. Sophomore Alyssa Zuniga fields the ball. Her goal was to get the second baseman out.

PERFECT THROW. Playing in the outfield requires consistency in throwing the ball. Sophomore Sara Mims was a pro at this, helping the team.

TO STEAL OR NOT TO STEAL? That's the question going through sophomore Amber Sisk's head. She succeeded in making it to third base.

New Softball Field

Finally A Place To Call Their Own

February 25 proved to be a happy day for Oxford High School softball players. The 2nd Annual Charger Classic was opening day of their brand new field.

"The field is in tip top shape, and we are very excited to finally have a place to call home," Coach Lauren Hill said.

Although the new field wasn't an inexpensive investment, it was less than the projected 1.2 million. The field includes several fun features.

"We have an air conditioned and heated press box that shows a great view of the field. I love the concession stand which has a lot of storage and many appliances. We also have two storage units on the ends of the dugouts that are great," Hill said.

The girls pitch in to help maintain the field.

"We cut the grass weekly and drag and edge the field daily. The girls each have a chore to do on the field after each game or practice," Hill said.

By: Lynley-Love Jones

NICE TAKE. Taking one for the team, senior Zac Barber gets hit in the back with a ball which advances him to first base.

SWEET CATCH! Making a nice dive backward, freshman Michael Bianco catches a foul ball for an out. This was Bianco's first year with the high school team but he has years of experience playing baseball.

CATCH AND THROW. Fielding a routine ball, sophomore Henry Webb prepares to throw the ball to second to get the runner out. Even though Webb is a sophomore, he is still one of the starting catchers for the Chargers.

NICE SNAG. Showing a teammate his position, senior Chase Watts catches a ball. Watts helped coach sophomore Henry Webb at the catcher's mound.

GO CHARGERS! Supporting the baseball team, upperclassmen bring lawn chairs and blankets and join in what's known as right field. It is an Oxford High School tradition to cheer on the baseball players in right field. This year right field grew and was bigger than it ever has been. They cheered the boys on all the way to North Half this season.

Tee-Ball to North Half

Growing Up On The Diamond

Four seniors on this year's baseball team have grown up together here in Oxford. Zac Barber, Hunt Halford, Chase Watts and Dustin Williams have been playing baseball with each other since they were 3 years old.

"Keeping the same teammates throughout the years made us a closer team as far as a team unity standpoint goes, Barber said. "It also helped our actual performance because of the comfort level we had with one another." This has proven to be true this year because these seniors led the team to the North Half Championship game. This was the farthest the Chargers have made it in the playoffs in five years.

By: Nicole Robinson

What's your favorite memory with the coaches?

Chase Watts

"Playing two ball with all the coaches."

Guy Billups

"Coach Baughman's speech after our mid-night practice."

Pittman Phillips

"Watching Coach Baughman's face the first time he drank Peach Crush."

Ethan Holmes

"Why are the pants on the floor??!" Coach Parrish

Parker Adamson

"Do it in groups!!!" Tyler Goolsby

Zac Barber

"When I was struggling pitching in the last inning of the Neshoba Central game, Coach Baughman came out to talk to me and had enough faith to leave me in the game."

ROUTINE PLAY. While making an easy ground ball play, senior Dustin Williams throws the ball to the first baseman, Avery Norris. Williams plans on going to Mississippi State University after graduating at Oxford.

EASY OUT. Shortstop, junior James Lear makes an easy out with a ground ball play to first during a game versus New Hope.

GET LOW. Bending down, senior Avery Norris reaches low to catch a ball at first and get the out. Norris is attending the University of Mississippi once he graduates. He also plans on being an Ole Miss Cheerleader.

SAFE! Beating out the throw, sophomore Parker Adamson slides safely into home and scores a run for the Chargers.

SLIDE! Sliding head first, freshman Ty Barber is safe at second. Barber is following the family tradition of playing baseball for the Chargers.

Golf Tradition

Sport Passed From Father To Son

Throughout the years, fathers have given sons gifts: the forbidden Lone Ranger air rifle, the dad's hand-me-down worn-out baseball mitt, an inflatable 4-foot tall Godzilla.

In 7th grade, Sam Guest's father gave him his first set of golf clubs. His father, also a golf player, not only gave him the clubs, but taught him the sport.

When Guest got to high school, he says golf helped him. It taught him patience, but his favorite part was being outside on the course.

Guest is now a senior and a leader on the golf team. "It has really helped me be a leader in life," Guest said.

BREAKIN' A SWEAT.

Junior Clark Tyner practices his swing in his backyard. Tyner inherited his passion for golf from his father's parents.

EAGLE EYE. On a bright, crisp, April day, Ryan Smith eyes the green for the best way to hit the ball. During his senior year, Smith was not only involved in golf, but also in Young Life.

TEE UP! Wearing sunglasses to protect her eyes from the bright sun, junior Sallie Barrow Fisher preps for a shot. The tournament was on April 5, and she was on hole 17.

LINE IT UP. Senior Erin Hamilton looks out over the "green" as she lines up her shot. Hamilton was playing in a tournament against 9 different women golf teams.

PRETTY IN PINK. Junior Julia Watt hits her pink golf ball off the tee and watches it fly. It was the junior's second year on the team.

SAND PIT. During a tournament, senior Sam Guest finds himself in a sandy situation. Guest ended up using his skills to drive the ball out of the sand.

HAVING A ROUGH TIME. After hitting a wayward golf ball into the rough, sophomore Turner Arnold looks for his ball. The men's golf team placed 3rd in the Oxford Invitational meet.

GOOD HIT. Sophomore Ward Toler concentrates on driving the ball toward the hole. He moved from Jackson to Oxford in time for his freshman year.

- TEE-OFF: to strike the ball from a tee
- ROUGH: any part of the course bordering the fairway on which the grass or weeds are not trimmed
- FAIRWAY: the mowed part of any hole between the tee and the green

Far Left: WOUND UP. With an eye on the ball, sophomore Plicca Watt swings her club. She and her sister picked up golf when they lived in Scotland for a semester.

SWING! Freshman Mary Randall Ivy hits the golf ball across the course. This is her first year at OHS.

UP TO PAR. Senior Dallas Nutt watches her golf ball zip through the air. She was playing on the Oxford Country club golf course at Grand Oaks.

BACKHAND.

In order to get the point, junior Judson Watson reaches for a backhand. He won his doubles game.

STROKE!

With power, sophomore Baxter Elliott hits the ball back to his opponent. The Chargers beat the Lafayette Commodores to continue their winning streak.

Below: NICE BALL. Getting low, junior Andrew Mullen tries to catch the ball before it reaches the ground. Mullen returned the ball, which resulted in a point for him and partner Erin Dyer.

FOREHAND. While playing Lafayette, senior Zach Wilder returns the ball to his opposer. Wilder played doubles with Robert Nance, and came out with an easy victory.

Ole Miss Bound Wilder Commits To UM Tennis

Serve. Backhand. Love. Ace. Senior Zach Wilder has heard these tennis terms since he was a little boy. He grew up playing with his father and in tournaments. To play college tennis, however, was his ultimate goal.

"I have always wanted to play in college since I was a little kid. I guess since I starting playing in tournaments at 9," Wilder said.

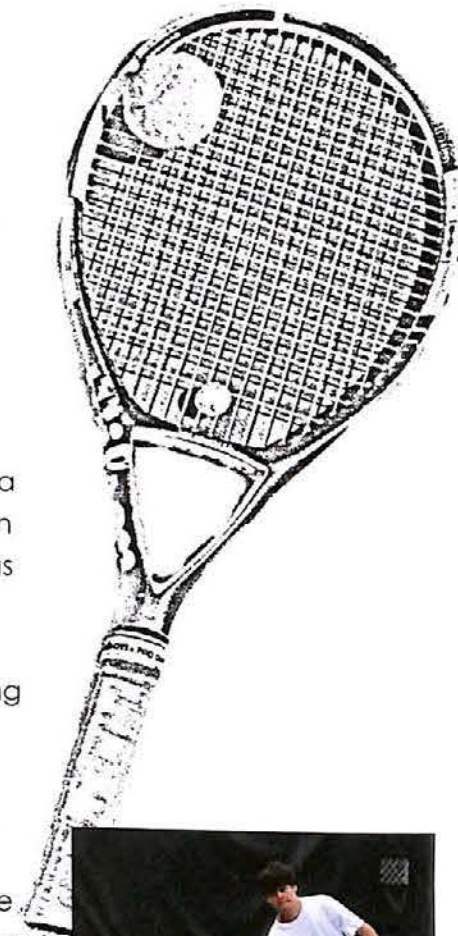

Coming to high school and making the varsity team was just a step closer to that college goal. Wilder believes that practicing all the time really helped him prepare for college tennis. In the latter part of his senior year, a junior college in Texas showed interest in Wilder, but he knew it wasn't the best option. He talked to the Ole Miss tennis coach and he offered him a spot.

"I was really excited and I felt relief. I knew it was the best option for me," Wilder said.

Even though Wilder thinks next year will be challenging, he thinks it will also be worth it.

"I think it will be really tough and we will be working out all the time," Wilder said, "but I'm looking forward to it."

Above: REACH! In order to return the ball, sophomore Robert Nance reaches down low. He was able to beat the Lafayette Commodores.

The Perfect Serve

SLAM SERVE. Along with Andrew Mullen, senior Erin Dyer reaches for a serve. Dyer and Mullen helped their Chargers with a win.

ACE! Jumping to deliver her serve, junior Cari Hansen sends the ball to her opponents. She played with fellow teammate Katie Krouse.

RAISING THE BAR. Starting strong, junior Devin Blackmon takes a leap for the high jump. His best jump is 6'2" placing him 12th in the state.

HOP TILL YOU DROP. Leading the girl's hurdle pack is junior Avery Harris. Harris finished first in this heat.

UP AROUND THE BEND. With a fast take off, freshman Glen Gordon races around the first curve. He ran the first leg in his relay team.

OVER THE EDGE. Caught in mid-jump, sophomore Robbie Brown hurdles in the 110 meter. Brown is considered one of the most promising sophomores out of the hurdlers this year.

FAST AS LIGHTENING. Long jumper sophomore Ann Houston speeds down her lane to get a good start on her jump. A speedy start is essential to get the best leap off the line.

IN THE AIR. Going over the bungee, junior Mollie Beth Ott takes her warm up jumps before her event. Ott coached Ann Crabtree in pole vault at the State meet.

Kathleen Lovelace

UP IN THE AIR. Triple jumper junior Isiah Pegues bounds into the sand pit. Distance jumpers concentrate on their feet because the jump is marked according to the heel.

HIGHER. Raising the bar past 6', junior Justin Fondren pushes for 7'2". Fondren is ranked first in the nation for high jump and will be attending Nationals in France this summer.

Going The Distance

Track and Field Stars Earn National Ranks

This season in track and field, two athletes have stood out, both landing a national top five rank. They were junior high jumper Justin Fondren and senior pole vaulter Sam Kendricks.

Fondren's best jump was 7' 2.25" which placed him number one in the nation and the number two jumper in the history of Mississippi high school track.

Fondren's success was due in part to the workout he got in other sports, mainly basketball. It helped, he says, to never let the other competitors get into his head. Kendricks' best vault was 16' 6" making him the number five vaulter in the nation and number one in the history of Mississippi high school track.

"Being top five elite is great," Kendricks said. "Let's see if we can't do better."

Kendricks plans not to stop with high school events; he is signing with Ole Miss.

Both Kendricks and Fondren continued with their team to the state meet where the team placed second overall.

By Haley Hembree

FOCUSING. Before his next event, sophomore J.P. Bruscato takes a breather. Bruscato ended up placing 3rd in the state.

PREPARING TO LIFT. Senior Terry Johnson gets a grip on the bar before curling. Johnson was 1st in state for his weight class.

PUSHING UP. (below) Struggling to stick the lift, junior Monte Dean squats the heavy bar. There are three lifts in which the members may compete: squat, dead lift, and bench press.

FINISHED. After successfully squatting the weight, junior Zaakeylia Lockhart sets the bar back onto the stand. This was her second year on the team.

AT THE BOTTOM OF SQUAT. During her first year of powerlifting, freshman Paige Owens eases the bar back up. Competing in her weight class, Owens was able to make second in North Half and compete in State Championship.

Powerlifting

Gives Self-Confidence

Powerlifting may be considered an intimidating sport, but that is exactly what the team-mates find appealing in participating in it.

Powerlifting "makes you feel better about what you can do," according to sophomore Nikki Grilliette. Grilliette loves the adrenaline rush she gets for a meet and is proud of the girls' improvement this year. Zaakeylia Lockhart is also proud of the improved girls' team and says she loves to "intimidate teams who underestimate them."

Coach Jason Russell encourages powerlifting because there's a place for every person.

"Athletes of any shape and size get a fair opportunity," Russell said.

Freshmen

Rebecca Sanders: "We've been friends forever."
Coleman Dixon: "We will be the first ones to graduate from the new school."
Amzie Williams: "We are very diverse and accepting."
Allison Able: "Being such a small class makes us all really close."
Sims Cauthen: "We are going to be the people filling the record books one day, and compared to all the other classes...That just makes us look better."

Seniors
Kimberly Waller and Jasmine Wilkinson

Sophomores

Rosalie Doerksen: "It's made of really highly motivated students. We are competitive but can still work together."
Taide Ding: "Because there's so many different kinds of people. Not one day passes without something interesting happening."
Mary Bailey Linton: "We are the last class to graduate from the old high school."
Noel Walsh: "The high level of competition in the classroom and on the field is why I like my class."

One Student Works To Graduate Early

A challenge. This is how junior Talley Diggs would describe her junior year. It all started at the start of her sophomore year when she decided she wanted to graduate early.

"I doubled up on my core classes for two years so that I'd be able to skip senior year and go straight to college," Diggs said. Although Diggs went above and beyond in her studies at Oxford High School, she is not allowed to participate in activities with the rest of the graduates of the senior class.

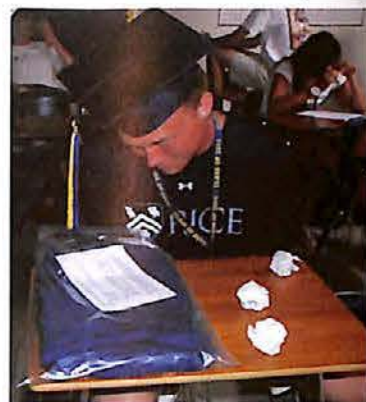

"I disagree with this because there is no reason I should be punished for my achievements," Diggs said.

Next year Diggs will be attending Bennington college in Vermont.

"I've always wanted to go to a small school in the Northeast," Diggs said.

By Margeaux Miller

SO EXCITED. Excited for graduation, Senior Guy Billups reads over his Cap and Gown instructions. Billups was awarded a football scholarship from Rice.

LET'S PLAY! During lunchtime several seniors get together and play Frisbee every day. Senior Frank Odom will be attending Sewanee next year.

WHAT, WORK? After the AP exam is over seniors Kaylee Saunders and Jilly Rippon are still doing work in Calculus. Kaylee will be at Ole Miss next year, and Jilly will be at the University of Tampa.

STILL WORKING. Attending Mississippi State next year, Torian Carothers and Harris Brown read out of their Literature books in Mr. Pinnow's class.

ONE LAST THING. With only three days left of school Senior Alyson Blair, who is attending Alabama next year, fills out a survey for counselor Dr. Mike McLarty with her scholarship information.

MY SCHOOL IS BETTER. Taking a break from economics, seniors Abdul Hamid, Matthew Nichols, Joseph Kelly and William Stacy argue over whose school is better. Hamid and Kelly will be attending Ole Miss, while Nichols will be at Drury, and Stacy will be at State.

Senior Field Day

Cooler Weather Does Not Dampen Students' Spirits

The morning of the senior field day and parade dawned damp and cool, but it did not keep the spirits chilled. The sun hid behind the clouds and the wind blew as seniors met at Avent park. They pulled jackets on over tie dye t-shirts. Under their crazy variety of shorts, girls and guys sported leggings and tights to keep out the cold wind. But, the weather was no match against the excitement and drive to have fun. The seniors would not allow anything to ruin their merriment, not even a cool morning. The traditional ride on the Shiver's big yellow tow truck was no less thrilling than it would have been with the sun shining. Kickballers kicked and ran the bases. Water gun wars continued. Ultimate frisbee carried on. All-in-all, senior field day was "hot" despite the cool temperatures.

By Haley Hembree

RUN! Dodging his other senior friends is Jesse Abbott. Football was a popular game to most all the guys.

HAVE A BALL. With help from his friends, Hunter Fitch and Steven Grace, Daniel Wolfe tries to roll a basketball around his arms.

WAVE ON BY. Those bidding farewell to underclassmen are Erin Dyer, Sami Thomason and Molly Neff. Most of the underclassmen stood outside to cheer on the seniors as they walked around the school.

ON TOP OF THE WORLD. A group of seniors cheer on top of the Shiver's tow truck. The tow truck has been part of the parade since 2004.

HOLD ON. Swinging on the zip line upside down is fun for Sam Kendricks. He is pushed down the line between two friends.

Senior's Last Day

Passing On The Tradition Dr. Lacy Prepares To Step Aside

24 years. That is how long science teacher Dr. Sarah Lacy has been in charge of graduation. But this year, she is retiring. Not only is she in charge of graduation, but she also teaches A&P, AP Bio and helps with the baseball team.

"I really don't know how I find time," Lacy said. "I'm just one of those people that if something is asked of me I'll do it."

A lot of work goes in to preparing graduation, from measuring students for caps and gowns to getting the correct names on the diplomas.

"You do not want to be around me the week before graduation, and I worry about things not going as planned," Lacy said. "But this year was one of the best." However, Lacy says her most memorable graduations were in 1990 and 1994 when her two sons graduated. Next year biology teachers Nicole Roberson and Marni Herrington will take over the job of overseeing graduation, with some help from Lacy.

By: Tory Dixon

SEARCHING. Dr. Lacy looks for a student's diploma after his gown was returned. The seniors were able to keep their caps and tassels.

ALL SMILES. Torian Carothers proudly displays her diploma after officially graduating from Oxford High School.

PROUD DAD. Director of Curriculum and Instruction for secondary education Bill Hamilton hugs his daughter Erin Hamilton and gives her her diploma.

Far Left: ALMOST THERE! Katie Top talks to Kim Polk before the ceremony. The seniors had to arrive at the Tad Pad at 1 p.m.

TIME FOR PRACTICE. Seniors listen for their name as U.S. History teacher John Mistilis calls them out. The students had to line up in alphabetical order and were assigned to a row.

WATCHING AND WAITING. A group of seniors stand as they watch others from their row graduate. They had to keep standing until the last person on their row made it to his or her seat.

Graduation: Beginning to End

Practice- 8:15 a.m.

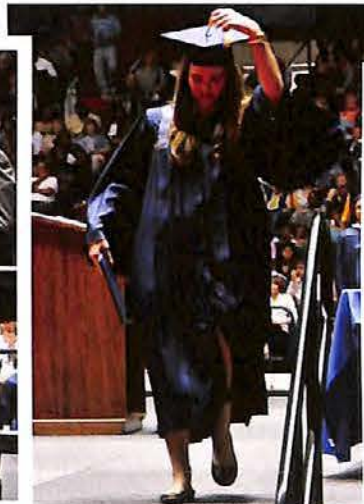

Commencement Ceremony- 2 p.m.

Hat throwing- 3:25 p.m.

NEXT ONE. As Jonathon Redding walks across the stage after receiving his diploma, Mr. Roberson passes the next diploma to Mr. Martin.

GRADUATED! After receiving her diploma, Rebekah Turner moves her tassel to the left side to signify that she has graduated. Before walking off the stage each senior had his or her tassel on the left.

A LITTLE HELP. Twin sisters Sammy and Jilly Rippon help each other with last minute prepping before lining up for graduation. They both graduated with honors.

How much do you love your faculty and how did it feel to be awarded Teacher of the Year?

"Simply said, the staff members at Oxford High School are among the most supportive, finest educators a person could know. I am not sure how to describe the feelings I felt when I heard my name called as Oxford High School's Teacher of the Year; it was incredible!"

-Todd Liddell

Teacher's Academy

Center For Applied Tech Applies For New Program

Changes are coming to the Center for Applied Technology. The school currently consists of seven classes whose curriculums range from automobile repair to health sciences to agricultural power mechanics. This coming fall they are hoping to add one more class to their curriculum. The new course, Teacher's Academy, would be for students who are interested in going into the teaching profession or education field. The administration has been searching among the student body to see if there's an interest for this new program. If all goes accordingly, the School of Applied Technology will gain acceptance from the State Department of Education in June and start offering the program in the upcoming school year.

TUNING UP. Senior Vincent Echevarria works on an antique car during Automotive Tech. Students learned basic automotive service, and brake and electrical system service as well as other automotive skills.

LENDING A HAND. Holding a light up, junior Scott Vaughn helps senior Marvin Smith to see the inside of a truck. Smith and Vaughn worked on the car in Automotive Technology.

HANDY MAN. While working on cars in Automotive Technology, senior Terrence Ivy searches for a tool. Automotive Tech prepares students for entry-level employment in semi-skilled positions in the automotive repair industry.

TECH SAVVY. Playing with a handheld gadget in Business and Computer Technology, junior Montiyana Sisk learns about the new electronic device. The Tech Center offers entry and advanced courses in Business and Computer Technology.

SURFING THE WEB. Junior Breanna Rollen does research on the computer during Business Technology. Business and Computer Technology gain skills related to the work environment such as desktop publishing and document processing.

WORKMEN. Tightening nuts and bolts on a car's engine in Automotive Technology, juniors Mitch Clark and Chris Martin work together to repair the engine. Both Clark and Martin take Automotive Technology during 6th and 7th periods. Technology.

WALK IT OUT. Demonstrating how to use a walker, junior Lateea Williams walks across the classroom. Williams is in Allied Health II, which exposes students to advanced skills in the various health occupations.

Scott Center Powell More Than A Teacher

Pick out a dress, schedule hair appointment, take Homecoming pictures— that's the kind of things that mothers help their daughters do to get ready for Homecoming. Unfortunately, Mary Micheal Hardwick's mother was unable to do any of these things, but luckily, Minnie Gates-Powell, Hardwick's teacher stepped in.

"Her mother was out of town but I still wanted her to participate in Homecoming particularly with this being her senior year." gates-Powell said.

So Hardwick started the morning with Gates-Powell and stayed the night with her. Gates-Powell helped her roll her hair, do her make up, and helped her get dressed for the pep rally and Homecoming itself.

"I enjoyed being Mary's personal chauffeur, make-up artist, hair stylist, and a proud mom for the evening." Gates-Powell said.

Hardwick claims Ms. Minnie gates-Powell is her adopted mom and that she wants to live with her.

"We are preparing to build a home and Mary wanted to know if her room would be upstairs or downstairs," Gates Powell said.

"Mary's not kidding," her mother, Deb said.

"I told Deb, 'I know' and that there's only one thing for Mary and me to do," Gates Powell said, "and that is to go shopping for draperies."

By: Kathy Nguyen

DECISIONS, DECISIONS! Ms. Minnie gates-Powell shows Mary Hardwick some possible dresses for Homecoming.

GIRLS' DAY OUT! While shopping for Mary Micheal Hardwick's homecoming dress, she and Ms. Minnie Gates-Powell play around with the dresses in the store. They went to Thomas Brothers Formal Wear.

GETTING READY. Minnie Gates-Powell helps Mary Hardwick curl her hair for her upcoming eventful evening. They tried the hot rollers for the very first time.

DIGGING! The students are placing handmade pavers in the botanical garden. Mr John provided the students with the tools for digging.

YAYA'S TIME! Nick Jenkins gets toppings for his frozen yogurt at Yaya's. His favorite topping was the gummi worms.

PUMP IT UP! The students experience pumping water from the ground. The Pre-Voc class took a trip to the Fiddlin' Rooster Farm.

A DAY AT THE PUMPKIN PATCH! Grant Ruscoe examines a small pumpkin at the pumpkin patch at Blue Mountain. The students had a difficult time deciding what shape and type of pumpkin to chose.

SNO BIZ! On a hot summer day, the students are treated to a nice cold, delicious snow cone. While sitting outside they had a wonderful chat.

To the Senior Class

The Central days have come and gone
 Now we're singing a grown up song
 The times we spent have been so dear
 I've been so blessed to share these years
 You'll all do well, that is my wish
 Just know that you'll be always missed

--Kathy Burnham Howington

Colophon

And so the sketch is complete. The whole picture is finished. The school year of 2010-2011 is, as they say, in the book. To accomplish this compilation of sketches, 16 yearbook staff members worked 180 school days and countless weekends and nights. We used seven Dell computers and Adobe Creative Suite 3 software along with plug-ins from Walsworth Publishing, our publisher, to create this book. We took the pictures using Nikon D70, D80, and sometimes when we could swipe it from the newspaper staff, the D90. We had 450 yearbooks printed using white linen on the cover with black silk-screen on the cover sketch, which was created by senior, Clara Kinney (thank-you, Clara!). The theme, "Sketch" was picked so that we could give you a clear picture, or "sketch" of the year. Our fonts this year are AWPJ Jasper, AWPJ Garamond, and a little Century Gothic for a punch every now and then.
