INFORMATION ITEMS

SOLON SCHOOLS' DISTRICT-PTA CALENDAR AVAILABLE ONLINE

Many Solon and Glenwillow "empty nesters" and community members without children in the schools want copies of our district calendar. A full-color version of our 2015-16 Solon Schools' calendar can be downloaded from the Solon Schools' web site at www.solonschools.org. Just click on the link in the News & Notes section on the right side of the district home page.

2015 SOLON HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE HELPS PROPEL U.S. PHYSICS TEAM TO A SECOND PLACE TIE AT INTERNATIONAL PHYSICS OLYMPIAD

Solon High School 2015 graduate Zach Bogorad earned a gold medal en route to helping the United States Physics Team to a tie for second place at the 46th International Physics Olympiad in Mumbai, India. Individually, Zach also earned a tie for fifth place on the rigorous experimental exam during the 10-day competition in July, which featured the world's top high school physics students.

Overall, the U.S. team won four gold and one silver medal, tying the team with Russia, Taiwan and Korea. Only the team from China earned five gold medals.

Zach qualified for the U.S. traveling team in May after a demanding study "boot camp" at the University of Maryland, where team members engaged in intense studying, labs and exams, and problem solving. The five-member traveling team then went to Thailand in late June to train with the Thai team.

This is the fifth Olympiad at which the U.S. team brought home four gold medals and a silver. Previously, the team earned this level of achievement in 1995 in Australia, 2006 in Singapore, 2008 in Vietnam and 2009 in Mexico. The U.S. Physics Team was launched by the American Association of Physics Teachers in 1986 to demonstrate and promote academic excellence in science.

"AAPT is proud to lead the selection process that identifies such exceptional student scholars," said Dr. Beth A. Cunningham, executive officer of the American Association of Physics Teachers. "Their outstanding performance in this international competition is a reflection of the work of their coaches, the entire 2015 Physics Team, the support of their families, and the best of physics education."

"Zach did amazingly well at the Olympiad competing against the absolute best physics students in the world," said Solon High School Principal Erin Short. "This is an exceptional accomplishment. Everyone at Solon High School and the Solon Schools is incredibly proud of his achievement and the exemplary way he has always furthered his learning, particularly in the area of physics. A casual conversation with Zach will routinely find him pondering physics problems. We wish him well and know he will accomplish a great deal as he continues his education at MIT."
