Sullivan's Island Elementary provides a safe, caring, and academically challenging learning environment with the guidance of our school vision: To grow inquiry-based learners equipped with the skills to explore and contribute as stewards of our world and environment. Nestled behind a maritime forest and directly adjacent to the Atlantic Ocean, our school is a Constituent Magnet with the school-wide theme of Coastal Environment Studies.

Students engage in authentic math and science experiences in two specialized wet labs, explore the adjoining nature trail/beach, and develop a sense of independence and responsibility in our school garden. Our coastal environment teachers work closely with classroom teachers to focus on cross-disciplinary science instruction. Special Area classes at Sullivan's Island Elementary include a Spanish Exposure program, art, music, physical education, coastal environment, and technology.
