The background of the cover is a vibrant, abstract illustration. It features two stylized faces in profile, one on the left and one on the right, both with closed eyes and a serene expression. The faces are rendered in shades of green and yellow, with brown outlines. Below the faces, there are large, stylized flames in shades of orange and red, also with brown outlines. The overall style is reminiscent of mid-century modern graphic design.

The book cover features a stylized illustration. At the top, a large yellow circle, resembling a sun or moon, is set against a dark blue background. Inside this yellow circle are several smaller concentric circles of varying sizes, some solid and some dashed, creating a ripple effect. Below the yellow circle, a dark blue silhouette of a person stands on an orange, curved surface that represents the horizon. The person's right arm is raised, pointing towards the yellow circle. The background is divided into several triangular sections by thin white lines. The title 'The Aftermath of Human Impact' is written in white serif font across the middle section. The author's name 'Ramie Thompson' is at the bottom right in a smaller white serif font.
