CCSD partners with Guthridge for parliamentarian services

Charleston, SC – Charleston County School District (CCSD) is delighted to announce it is partnering with Liz Guthridge to offer parliamentarian services to the Board of Trustees.

Guthridge is a Professional Registered Parliamentarian, certified by the National Association of Parliamentarians (NAP), who resides locally in Charleston with her husband and therapy dog, Marcel. She is a classically trained parliamentarian with a practical orientation who strives to help individuals and organizations solve their parliamentary procedure and related meeting/organizational challenges.

In addition to her work as a parliamentarian, Guthridge is a senior leadership and organizational coach with extensive experience and demonstrated success. Specifically, she has successfully worked with boards of directors and executive teams to improve their performance; coached leaders one-on-one for continuous improvement; and built constituent commitment. Guthridge provides services for a range of non-profit organizations and for-profit companies around the United States. She also has served on boards and acted as a presiding officer.

“Thanks to my public high school in Sand Springs, OK,” Guthridge says, “I got a head start on learning parliamentary procedure. As a member of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America), I competed in parliamentary procedure team contests on the state and national level. These experiences showed me the value of deliberative meeting practices.”

“Years later, I remain committed to applying the principles of Robert’s Rules of Order to conduct meetings openly, efficiently, and fairly,” Guthridge continued.

“I’m looking forward to working with the Board of Trustees, especially in support of public education and the schools in Charleston County.”

Guthridge is a graduate of Northwestern University (BSJ), University of Connecticut (MBA), and the University of Southern California (MA). She has an Executive Masters from the NeuroLeadership Institute and has studied habits and behavior design with Dr. BJ Fogg of Stanford University. She also serves as a volunteer coach for the College of Charleston MBA Women of Impact Program.
