Charleston, SC – Statistics and data are presently scarce for human trafficking at both the national and state level, due in large part to the underground nature of the crime. But SC Attorney General Alan Wilson is dedicated to bringing prevention awareness to students across the state. He visited West Ashley High School in Charleston Monday, September 30, 2019 to talk about human trafficking and online safety.

“Preventing Human Trafficking in South Carolina is a main focus area within the State’s plan to address the crime,” said Wilson. “Prevention is one of the most important tasks of our collective. The more educated our communities, the closer we become in preventing individuals from being victimized.”

About the Charleston County School District

Charleston County School District (CCSD), a nationally-accredited school district, is the second largest school system in South Carolina representing a unique blend of urban, suburban, and rural schools spanning 1,300 square miles along the coast. CCSD serves more than 50,000 students in 87 schools and specialized programs. With approximately 6,100 employees district-wide, CCSD is the fourth largest employer in the region.

CCSD offers a diverse, expanding portfolio of options and specialized programs, delivered through neighborhood, charter, magnet, IB (International baccalaureate), and Montessori schools, and is divided into three Learning Communities. Options include specialized programs in science, engineering and mathematics; liberal arts; music and other creative and performing arts; career and technical preparation programs; and military and other public service enterprises.
