Essential Questions

- How do people survive great atrocities?
- To what extent do people have control over their lives?

Enduring Understandings with Unit Goals

EU 1: The resilience displayed by those who lived through the Nazi’s brutal reign shows the strength of the human spirit. Those who escaped the Holocaust did so through cunning, daring, and the sheer unwillingness to give in to the evil around them.

- Interpret first person accounts of the Holocaust.
- Connect the lessons of the Holocaust to contemporary global situations.

EU 2: We can control our actions and our reactions, but we cannot control what happens in the world around us or the people that may walk in and out of our lives. All of these factors affect who we are, so in essence, we are constantly changing based on the environment, which surrounds us.

- Analyze how ideas and events influence individuals.
- Connect the events in The Diary of Anne Frank to the themes of tolerance, acceptance, and inclusion.

EU 3: Narratives provide a way to share real or imagined experiences and/or events in writing.

- Engage in the writing process to write a story which retells a Holocaust survivor’s experience before, during, and after the war.

Unit Task

Unit Task Name: Holocaust Survivor Butterfly Project

Description: Through a study of survivor testimony, students will learn about the experience of a Holocaust survivor. (EU1) Students will choose a survivor to research using an online data bank to collect details about the survivor, their family, and their life before, during and after the Holocaust. Students will try to answer the question: What were the factors that led to their survival? (EU2) Students will then take that information and design a butterfly to represent that person and their legacy through the use of symbols, images, words and color. Students will also write an explanation to accompany the butterfly that details the survivor’s story and the decisions behind their design choices. (EU3) Butterflies will be presented orally to keep the memories of those who survived the Holocaust alive, as well as foster tolerance and appreciation of cultural differences throughout the world.
