“This book is about a 12-year old girl who moved from Syria to America with her mother. The little girl’s name is Jude. Jude and her mother have been forced to move because of the war. After moving to America, she faced a lot of challenges, such as lifestyle, language, and meeting different people she didn’t know.

I like Jude because she is brave. Many students at Rectory are also from another country and set English as their second language. But most students already have a foundation of English. Jude is different; she had never been to America and she didn’t know even a little English. In this kind of situation, she still lives in America and tries her best.” Drawing and 120-word summary by Yuezhen (Nina) Zhuang ‘26; Your summary should be 150 words.
