DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI 2012-2013

DR. JAMES K. HAYES, CPA, CLASS OF 1979

Now assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, James Hayes holds an MBA in Finance and Accounting and an MPA in Economics and Policy in addition to a doctorate in management. He is also a CPA. He has been inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma, the international honor society for business, and recognized with the Educational Achievement award from the Pittsburgh chapter of the National Black MBA Association. He serves on the board of directors of the Central Virginia Opera and has taught as an adjunct professor at the Virginia Commonwealth University. He is also a member of the Pennsylvania Society.

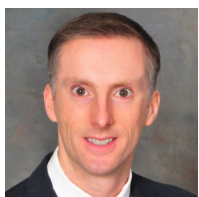

LT. COL. BRADLEY C. HILTON, CLASS OF 1987

Lt. Col. Brad Hilton continues a 27-year career in the Army and PA National Guard with whom he has served in the Balkans and Iraq. His leadership was recognized when the U.S. Cavalry Troop he commanded in Bosnia was named the top unit of its kind in the Army in 1999. After earning an MBA in Information Systems Management from Baylor University, Hilton volunteered to support the 1st Cavalry Division in Iraq, where the collaborative system he helped implement was officially recognized with saving soldiers' lives. He is now stationed in Kansas, where he is working to improve knowledge sharing across Army education organizations and working on a PhD.

MARGARET CONCANNON MILLER, CLASS OF 1980

Margaret Concannon Miller was elected in 2008 as just the third female judge in Lancaster County history. Now presiding in the Lancaster County Court of Common Pleas, she also heads the Mental Health Court, one of the first of its kind. Before joining the bench, Miller was a partner with the Lancaster firm Russell, Krafft & Gruber, LLP. A graduate of West Chester University and Dickinson School of Law, Miller has also been active in community service, including the Board of the Friends of the Railroad Museum (Strasburg) and the Board of Landis Valley Associates (Landis Valley Museum). She has also been active in Rotary and her church, St. Anthony of Padua.

DR. RANDALL T. MYERS, MD, CLASS OF 1994

Dr. Randall T. Myers is an emergency medicine physician at Inova Fairfax Hospital in Arlington, Va. He earned acclaim for his work as a hospital physician with Doctors without Borders in the Democratic Republic of Congo. Prior to that experience, he was an assistant professor in the department of emergency medicine at the University of New Mexico. Myers earned his medical doctorate from the University of Virginia—where he was class president of the medical school—a master's in biology from VCU and a bachelor's from the University of Richmond. An avid runner and triathlete, he continues to train for and compete in various regional and national endurance events.
