“In Pursuit of Continued Excellence”

Like most institutions in the private sector of our educational system, Woodstock Academy cannot survive on tuition income alone; gifts by its alumni, parents and friends are necessary to permit capital improvements and supplement regular income to permit special educational projects and a competitive teacher salary program. To ensure survival of our old and distinguished academy, the Board of Trustees has created an office of Alumni Affairs which will be responsible for alumni records, bulletins and alumni and parent support. Woodstock Academy now joins other fine schools in benefiting from established philanthropic giving by its sons and daughters.

This announcement in the Gleaner will be followed by a personal appeal to the alumni and friends of the Academy for annual gifts. No gift will be too large or too small to help. In the new year the Trustees will also initiate a Bequest Program to encourage remembering the Academy in estate plans. You are urged to consider the future of our school and give it generous support; your continued help will insure its future.

Mrs. George White ('51) has been employed by the Trustees to manage the Alumni Office. A committee of the Board will direct the program. The Gleaner is now an annual publication, one that makes us all proud. It too helps to keep our Woodstock Academy Family informed and together.

Constance
HOLT - The Lady of Woodstock
Hill

by MRS. SUSAN SUMNER REYNOLDS

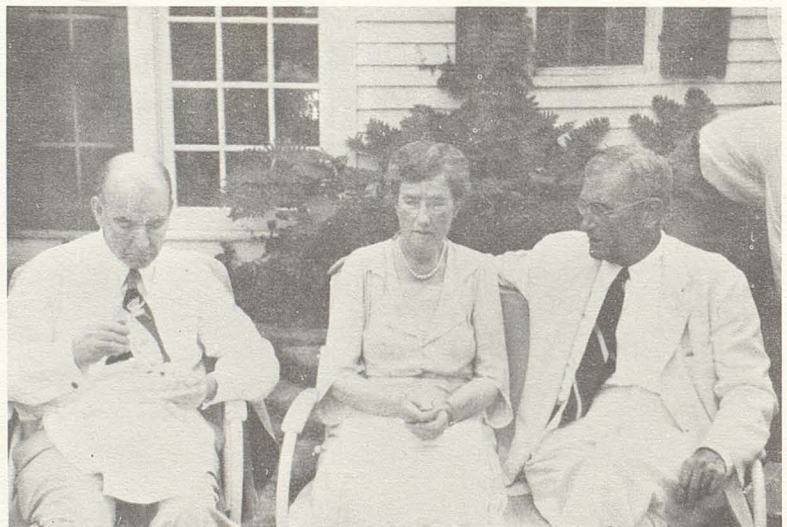

It was one of my happiest moments when I was asked to write something for "The Gleaner" about Miss Constance Holt and her connections with, and love and devotion for our Woodstock and its Academy.

"Miss Constance," as I have always known her, needs no formal introduction. We all know her and love her as a dear, dear lady.

She is a graduate of Woodstock Academy, a member of the class of 1897. It is interesting to know that she was one of four Holt children who attended the Academy. They were her brothers, Stuart, Hamilton and Henry. Stuart graduated in 1894, and Henry was in the class of '98. All were in school when Mr. Ely Hall was principal.

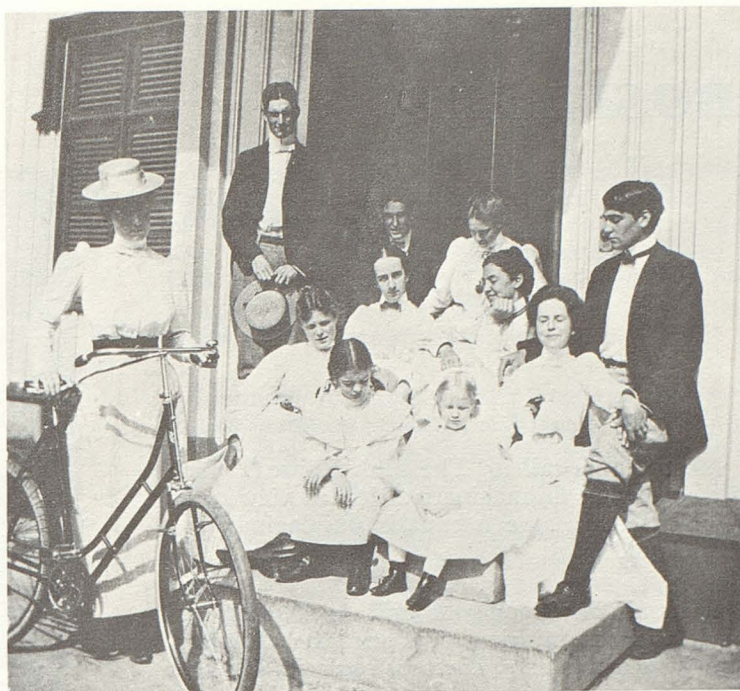

Woodstock Academy has for many years been associated with members of Miss Holt's family, whose generous aid and plans for the good of the school have always been gratefully accepted. It is well to be reminded that Miss Constance has followed in the family's footsteps.

There have been great changes at the Academy since Mr. Hall was principal. He taught Latin and Mathematics and in so doing was busy every period during the day. German, English, and History were taught by Miss Laura Williams. The third teacher, Miss Jessy McClellan, taught French one period each day. Latin was Miss Constance's favorite subject and for many years after her graduation, a prize was given by her to the best student of Latin. She now gives one to the student writing the best English essay.

Miss Constance herself was a good student, and it was during her Junior year that she attained the high average mark of 97.

Even in those days Academy reunions were popular, one being held every five years. For a period of twenty years, which included four reunions, Miss Constance and Miss Edith Hall, the principal's daughter, were in charge of the entertainment program.

One delightful custom which Miss Constance has observed nearly every year in June, is a tea at Roseland for members of the graduating class. This annual event is an occasion long remembered by the boys and girls of Woodstock Academy as they learn of the history of the "Pink House," the occupants of which have hosted many citizens of renown including several presidents of the United States.

Miss Constance was a trustee of the Academy from 1953 until 1958. It was in 1956, while Mr. Coffin was principal, that the National Honor Society was formed and named the "Constance Holt" Chapter. On July 18, 1959, Miss Holt held a very successful "open house" at Roseland, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of her Alma Mater.

Most of what is written here has been about the activities at Woodstock Academy and the important part Miss Constance has played in making this institution the highly accredited school it is today. It must be remembered, too, that she has ever been an active participant in all programs connected with the church and the Day Kimball Hospital. We are indeed grateful for the love and generosity of such a true and dear friend and may we, by this tribute, extend to her our warm and sincere "Thank You."

ROSELAND

Landmark of Woodstock

by GEORGE HOLT

Most people call it "The Pink House," which is a somewhat unimaginative title in view of its color. Its real name is equally unimaginative—"Roseland."

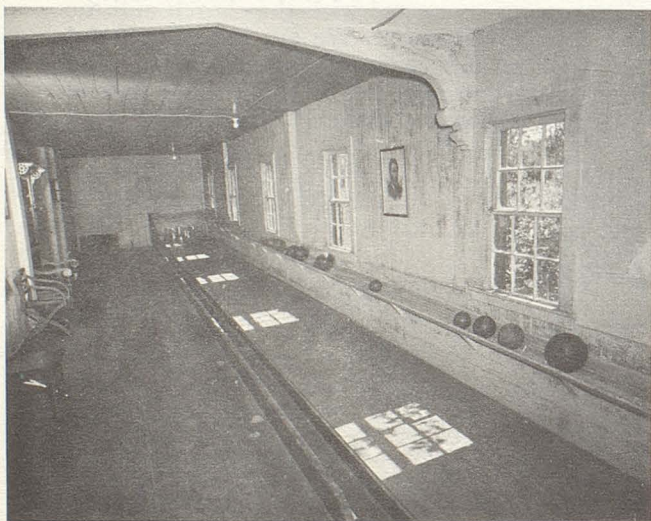

It stands on Woodstock Hill, large, many-gabled, with astonishing pink circular chimneys marching across its precipitous roofs, its windows stained glass, its doorknobs make of blue and white china.

It is surrounded by wide lawns and a formal garden. The view of it is unobstructed from the street. Unsuspecting passing motorists generally react with a double take. Some stop their cars, mesmerized, and gape with wonder at the sight.

Roseland was built in 1845 by Henry Chandler Bowen as his summer residence. It had fourteen bedrooms (two have now been turned into bathrooms). The first bathroom was installed about thirty years after the house was built. The architect, Mr. Joseph Wells of New York, a prominent architect of the period, painted a watercolor sketch of how he wanted the house to look. It hangs in the front hall today. The house is unchanged. Mr. Bowen and his descendants never permitted it to be altered in any basic detail. So it is still a bright pink with dark red trim and shutters of green—the primary colors of some roses, Mr. Bowen's favorite flower. One wonders why he ignored white and yellow roses. The color combination could really have been something!

Dining room. On sideboard are Limoges porcelain serving dishes with deep rose color borders and initials H C B in gold made in France for Henry Chandler Bowen.

Heads of museums of art schools come from afar to study the house for the purity of its nineteenth century American Gothic architecture. Feature articles in magazines and newspapers have poured praise upon it.

Double parlor with arched passageway topped by a gilded eagle. Furniture for the parlors was designed by the architect of the house.

The interior is as unique as the exterior. The walls are covered with Lincrusta-Walton—you cannot call it wallpaper. Its designs are raised in bold relief and emanate a somber, rich magnificence of an earlier and more sumptuous culture. The furniture was designed by the architect; the backs of the chairs are shaped like Gothic arches. The china in pink. The gig door leading from the parlor to the music room is a Gothic arch embellished with a huge golden American eagle.

Portraits hang everywhere—Mr. Bowen, Dr. Hiram Holt, George Washington to name but a few. History surrounds the visitor. Four Presidents, Grant, Hayes, William Henry Harrison and McKinley slept here, and the sheets they wrinkled were made into prized garments for the grandchildren. Grant started to smoke a cigar. The Puritanical Mr. Bowen looked his President in the eye and banished him to the garden. He did not approve of tobacco.

Out back is an enormous barn and stables which contains, of all things, a bowling alley. This too is unique. It is about two-thirds the length of a modern alley. The pins have been chipped by 120 years of abuse and the somewhat less than round balls take unexpected hops as they bounce down the alley. But generations of children, and their elders, have spent countless hours enjoying it. All of which brings President

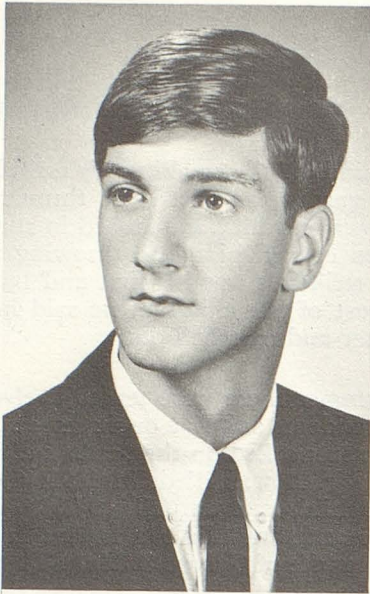

Grant again to mind. While smoking his forbidden cigar in the garden, he heard the thunder of balls rolling down the alley. He looked in curious. The children coaxed him into throwing a ball. He made a strike. It was his first and last roll. To the disgust of the children, he said he could not do better and marched out.

Normally in summer there were ten to twelve family members residents and five or six servants in the wing. Six men worked on the gardens and the farm. When Mr. Bowen died, in 1896, the house went to his children, eventually to his sons Edward Augustus and Franklin Davis, and his daughter Mary, the wife of George C. Holt. They left it to Henry Chandler Holt, and it is now the property of his widow who lives at Chandler Farms in Pomfret.

Miss Constance Holt, the granddaughter of Henry C. Bowen, is the present occupant. She keeps it as it has been—a massive structure dedicated to pure nineteenth century Gothic, rich in tradition, and full of history—a building made unforgettable to thousands of passers-by, to most of the people of Woodstock, and to generations of graduating seniors of the Academy, among whose fondest memories are the teas given them each spring by the very good, the very gracious and the very great lady of the house, Constance Holt.

Presidents Hayes, Harrison and McKinley were overnight guests at Roseland occupying the President's Red Room or Pink Room.

GERALD BAILEY

Perhaps one of the more conventional topics for a Class Night Speech would include the highlights of class activities from the freshman to the senior year. I would agree with this completely, and also with the idea that an author or speechwriter, as in my case, should write about something he knows and with which he is familiar. Therefore, I had considered as a topic The Philosophy of Higher Mathematics, but, unfortunately, Mr. D'Elia and I could not agree in determining exactly what higher mathematics was. Consequently, I have decided to sacrifice higher math for the sake of keeping unity in the Math Department, and, I might add, for the sake of keeping my own sanity, as well as Mr. D'Elia's.

Instead, I would like to talk about something which has involved many seniors during their entire four years at the Academy, and has had more than its share of humorous incidents. When I joined the Echo staff in 1963, I was a Class Reporter and sometime feature writer. I can remember that it was to my advantage to write an article using as many freshman names as possible, simply because kids love to see their name in print. Any time we had a dance, I could write an article afterwards and mention all of the freshman I had seen there. The more names I mentioned, the more popular my article became. I remember Barbara Nieminen's Freshman News that was submitted rather hastily at 2:35 on the deadline day of one issue. Scrawled on a half-sheet of math paper, and most poetically, were the words: "The Freshmen have no new, But please pay your dues!"

I can look back at the Staff Workshops provided by the Worcester Telegram & Gazette at Charlton High, St. Joseph's and Marian Hill in Southbridge, where Karen Plant and I got a ride in Mr. Juko's Riviera. What a ride! I also remember that before the Charlton Workshop, Mrs. Parkerton left Chris Gavitt and me in the dust as she peeled out of the Academy yard. As Chris and I had no idea of how to get to Charlton, we were quite lost.

Before turning it over to my younger sister, I was the author of the column "JAZZ NOOZ" in my sophomore and junior years. It was believed that the Top Twenty was the result of the gleanings of many different popular record lists. But I must confess that in actuality it made no difference to me what song was No. 1 in Boston; if I didn't like it, it didn't go in the Echo!

CLASS NIGHT

Addresses

1967

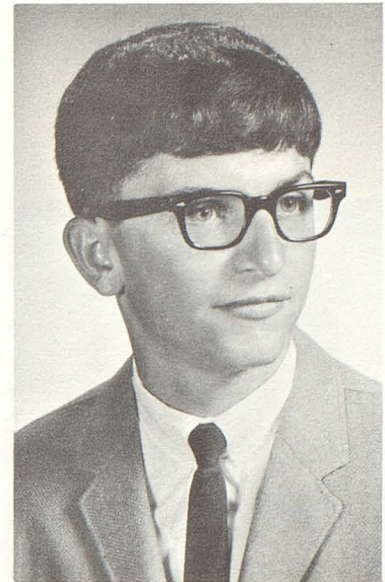

In my Senior year, I have had the most priceless experience of being Editor. I can honestly say that you can see right through a kid just by what he writes. As Editor you get to read everything that is submitted and in some instances you get a million laughs. By far, this year has been the greatest. I can remember the hectic week when Mrs. Parkerton was absent. We really found out how much of the work she was responsible for when it was all laid on our shoulders. On Monday the stack of un-proofread material lay at least a foot high on her desk. Tuesday and Wednesday slipped by and slowly the stencils were typed. By Thursday some of the pages had been mimeographed, like the front cover and the back cover, but there was still a tremendous amount of work to be done. By Friday at 2:35, 500 copies had been run off, stapled together, named and sent to the homerooms, in addition to the copies sent to the Trustees and the faculty. Certainly without girls like Lynda Rondeau, Susan Sheldon, Fran Champney, Joann MacFarlane, Shirley Plante, and Margaret Pekarovic, the work never would have been done.

In another isolated incident, I remember a certain Senior Editor who absentmindedly forgot to set the timer on the mimeographer and much to his dismay and his assistant Editor's delight, wound up with 200 extra copies of page 22!

I recall the beautiful artwork of Ann Pierce, Karen Plant and Curt Seifert. And also the countless number of times they forgot to title the front cover with the four small words, Blue and Gold Echo.

I think of the humor of Mr. Truman (and that's George, not Harry) and his numerous pages of jokes that would come back from Mr. Youman or Mrs. Parkerton with red lines and question marks drawn through them indicating that they were less than Christian and less than acceptable.

I look back at the poetry of Mr. Hansen, Gloria Kowal and Geoff Bartley, of whom Mr. Kernstock once said, "You're not in the paper, you are the paper!" Mr. Bartley is quite prolific, to say the least. And last, but not least, Jim Brown, the poet laureate of Woodstock Academy, for his brilliant work "Doctor Jaekel, You'd Better Hide."

JOHN GAUTHIER

Not to be outdone, Cindy Randall and Lynda Rondeau both wrote articles on the fashions at Woodstock Academy. Cindy's article appeared in 1963 and Lynda's article appeared in one of this year's issues. Both became so preoccupied with what was "In" that they came down with a bad case of Claustrophobia?

Sometimes little mistakes and typographical errors became quite funny when the reader stopped to think about what he had read. In one instance our front page story was about the four paintings which hang in the Auditorium. I believe the title of the article was "Who Is That Looking At Me?" Anyway, the article named the four paintings and gave a brief summary of the individual's life. One painting was of Henry Bowen and in the article following, it was explained that he had been born in 1813, and had founded the newspaper, The Independent, in 1848, becoming its Editor in 1961. This is very interesting because this would have made him 154 years old and obviously the oldest alumnus, if not the oldest Editor in history. I believe Miss Sheldon remembers that story quite well!

I remember articles by Mary Stalzer representing the F.F.A. and one day how she wistfully admitted that she would never make a good farmer simply because she had no feelings for udders.

This past month the Academy joined the Jet Set and had on trial a Xerox 2400 duplicating machine. And the teachers have really put it on trial! I believe Mr. Kernstock and Mrs. Markis have their final exams prepared for the next 12 years, or is it 25 years?

Naturally, we had to take advantage of the Xerox as well, so we ran off the last issue of the year the easy way. I recall that we got all sorts of numbers and equations on the back of one of the pages. Careful examination of the machine revealed one of Mrs. Noll's geometry tests caught in the roller. It was the first Echo to ever run a Geometry Test within its pages!

I have enjoyed working on the Echo and serving my school. And though I hope I have amused you, I also have a point which I would like to make. It's directed mainly at the underclassmen here tonight. The purpose of a high school newspaper is to serve the students. It's written by the students and therefore can only be what the students make it. It's your paper now. You are the ones who will take over. You must take the initiative and let your newspaper continue to serve the student body and your community.

Honored guest, faculty members, parents, classmates, it is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the class night exercises of the Class of 1967.

Fellow graduates, it is said that this is our day. The day we look back on four years of hard work and receive our diplomas. The day on which honors are heaped upon us for a job well done. But before these honors are bestowed on us, I would like to thank those who made it all possible. Without this help the path would have been much more difficult. I would like to thank the faculty of this institution whose patience and guidance have lead us to a better understanding of man and hopefully a better tomorrow. Their helping hand will never be forgotten.

Next, I would like to thank those who have sympathized with us so often and who have in their own way been a guiding light.

It is important to remember our parents in this list of gratitudes. For each one of the graduates this influence and aid has come in many forms from these sources. Though these forms vary, they all were vital to us. And finally, for the class of 1967, I like to thank the people of Woodstock and the other benefactors who have made possible the fine institution that is the Academy. These same people have given this school a fine future, a fact proven by our new classroom building and the plans for a new gymnasium and library. The future of the world is in the hands of young people and this modern institution will be extremely formative in these young lives. It has been in our lives, and it will be in Woodstock youths for years to come. This Academy is the best possible insurance any community could have in the future. Thank you for making it possible.

LAURA KAPLAN 1967

Commencement Addresses 1967

Members of the board of trustees, Mr. Walker, members of the faculty, parents, friends, and fellow members of the Class of 1967:

Each of us placed upon earth has a purpose. In this era of progress, many new fields have been opened for exploration above and beyond past advancements. Each generation feels that there is nothing left to discover. However, there are still many dreams which are yet not dreamed; and many unchallenged frontiers. Within us lies the ability to make life more meaningful both to ourselves and to mankind.

For our own benefit, we are supplied with the power of growth. As we mature, our minds grow and allow us to cope with greater problems. With this knowledge we are able to make decisions that will affect the future of the world. Our spiritual being consists of our character and our ethical or religious beliefs. When we have chosen a type of belief that best suits us, our character develops according to this philosophy. Our convictions help us to form our attitudes toward the tolerance of others, toward the equality of men, toward a moral code, and toward self-discipline. These are some of the basic factors in the make-up of a good character.

If we strive throughout life for satisfaction, the correct attitude toward work becomes very important. Without work there can be no pleasure. As Kahlil Gibran, the noted Lebanese poet, philosopher, and artist explained in The Prophets "Work is love made visible. And if you cannot work with love but only with distaste, it is better that you should leave your work and sit at the gate of the temple and take alms of those who work with joy." "You give but little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of yourself that you truly give."

Woodstock Academy has only succeeded because of a great many dedicated faculty members and students, devoted trustees, and townspeople. It would be gratifying to feel that all of us have contributed to the success of this institution. However, human nature being what it is, many lack the ability to give unselfishly to a cause.

Today's youth is willing — indeed anxious to express commitment. We are a generation of marchers and demonstrators on behalf of various causes. Some are obviously justified; others have dubious worth. Within ourselves we must determine what is most worthwhile for the common good. Commitment can also be expressed in daily living, by giving of ourselves, with the only reward being that of self-satisfaction. Quoting Elton Trueblood's The Life We Prize: "We must learn to care more for a cause than for our own existence."

While improving ourselves and seeking contentment, our main goal should be to better the world for those who will follow. Each of us has a different contribution which he can provide. All we need is the feeling of accomplishment. Perhaps, once again, Elton Trueblood has summarized best the attitudes which I have attempted to express. "A man has made at least a start on discovering the meaning of human life when he plants shade trees under which he knows full well he will never sit."

LINDA GAY BIXBY

Members of the board of trustees, Mr. Walker, faculty, parents, friends and class of '67: Many of the vital issues today revolve around the idea of freedom. In Vietnam we are fighting a war so that the South Vietnamese may have the freedom to choose the kind of government they want. In Latin America and Africa we are trying to explain to the people the meaning of freedom and to lead them down the democratic road toward its attainment.

But even more important are the problems of freedom that we are facing in our own country. Because of the misuse of freedom by pressure groups to attain their ends, we are forced either to allow freedom to become a shield for vandalism and uncontrolled mob action or to have our freedom restricted in order to keep such groups under control. We are faced with the problem of the welfare state, where for each benefit we are forced to give up a little of our freedom.

How much of our freedom are we willing to give up? How can we tell other nations to take the democratic road to freedom, when we are taking the democratic road away from it? Is there a limit to the amount of freedom we are willing to give away in return for security?

In order to answer these questions we must have a clear picture of what freedom really means. Freedom is a very elusive term. Its limits are not clearly visible and its limitations are generally ignored. How much freedom is healthy? What did our forefathers mean by freedom in the Constitution? Can we have limited freedom? Does freedom include the right to sell yourself into slavery? These are only a few of the questions that plague us in trying to define and understand freedom. Webster's New International Dictionary defines freedom as "exemption or liberation from slavery, imprisonment, restraint or from the power and control of another. It is liberty, independence, exemption from necessity in choice and action, and self-determination."

These definitions are too broad for our purposes today, but we can see that there are two kinds of freedom: physical and intellectual. In today's world where the population explosion is overcrowding our cities and overtaking our food supply, where industrialization and the present technological revolution have changed the types of jobs available and standardized the working hours and working conditions to a large degree, our physical freedom is disappearing rapidly. But physical freedom is not so important as intellectual freedom. The liberation from the control of others and the exemption from necessity in choice and action is the most important aspect of freedom, for even though some one can limit your physical mobility or choices, if you have the freedom of thought, no physical limitations matter. As the British poet Lovelace says "Stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage."

Defining freedom as the ability to make mental choices and to think as you please, let's look at our freedom today: how much we have, how much we want, and how much we are willing to fight for.

Our forefathers fought for their freedom. They prized it so highly that in all the great documents which established our nation they made sure that the preservation of our freedom was stressed. From the Declaration of Independence, which says, "All men have certain unalienable rights among them are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"; to the Constitution, which says, "We the People of the United States, in order to . . . secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity . . . establish this Constitution . . ." and finally, the first amendment which insures freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of speech and the right to assemble peaceably.

How much freedom do we still have today? Our freedom of choice is being swiftly curtailed. Today it is compulsory for school children to have polio vaccine and a smallpox vaccination even though it is injurious to some. Our water is already being fluorinated in many areas even though fluorine is poisonous and has been a proven cause of death. Freedom disappears in other ways, too. In every area which we allow the federal government to enter and control, we lose freedom. With the government's fingers into price controls, the entrepreneur loses his right to try to make a profit in his investments. With the National Labor Relations Board and other governmental machinery the employees lose their right to fight for higher wages if it might damage the economy too severely. The farmer has lost the right to decide what he will plant with the federal subsidies for not planting. The government is stepping into medicine with Medicare and into our schools with categorical aid which doesn't even benefit every American child.

How much freedom are we willing to sacrifice to have the security of governmental mediocrity? Are we willing to give up our right to free thought in exchange for the false happiness and security of Huxley's Brave New World? Are we willing to allow wire tapping and monitored classrooms to turn into the horrors of an Orwellian 1984? If the answer is yes, then there is nothing to do but sit back and wait. If the answer is no, then it is the duty of all of us to fight for the freedom we believe in, not with a sword perhaps, but at least with our pens. It is your job and it is our job to protect our freedom. I only hope that all of us, parents, friends, and students alike, have not become too complacent in our social security blankets to be willing to fight for freedom while we still have the freedom to fight.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

From the Headmaster's Desk

ALLAN D. WALKER

Many things are stirring at Woodstock Academy - many still in the planning stage, some already beginning to bear fruit. The decision to publish the Gleaner annually is, I think, indicative of the progress we are making in many fields. Many of us have long hoped that we could establish a regular channel of communications with alumni and area townspeople, and are delighted to have the Gleaner become an annual publication. We hope that you will help us to make this an exciting publication by sending us an abundance of material to be published therein.

Enrollment this year totals 367 with a faculty and staff totalling 33 (some on a part time basis). Our increasing size poses some problems. However, the opportunity to offer the students a more comprehensive curriculum and a larger and better faculty for the youngsters to work with make the attendant problems worth overcoming.

. . . . Plans for the Library addition seem to be materializing rapidly, and the Field House looms larger over the horizon.

. . . . The long process of preparing for re-evaluation by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which is scheduled for next October, is beginning to take up much of our time.

. . . . The faculty and Trustees have embarked on a thorough study of our curriculum in order to determine what must be done to better serve the many students who are not oriented toward colleges.

. . . . TV is coming to the classroom in a multitude of forms in the near future.

. . . . I would like to hear your reaction to the idea of running school year round.

. . . . Today's young people are the most alert, best informed, hardest working and best behaved we have ever had the pleasure of working with. Lest you think the younger generation has gone to wherever young people go, let me quote from the Harvard College Book of 1649—"Forasmuch as the wearing of long haire after the manner of Ruffians and barbarous Indians, hath begun to invade new England contrary to the rule of Gods word wch sayth it is a shame for a man to waer long hair, as also the Commendable Customs generally of all the Godly of our nation until within this few yeares Wee the magistrates who have subscribed this paper (for the clearing of our owne innoceny in this behalfe) doe declare & manifest our dislike & detestation against the wearing of such long haire, as against a thing uncivil and unmanly whereby men doe deforme themselves, and offend sober & modest men, & doe corrupt good manners."

. . . . Let us see more of you and hear more from you. We at the school solicit your support, understanding, encouragement and criticism. Let's keep our new alumni secretary busy with correspondence.

. . . . Best wishes to you all for an enjoyable, prosperous year.

Trustees' Report

by EINAR HANSEN

In relation to education standards existing generally throughout the country, the trustees of the Academy above all things consider our freedom of action as the main spring in accomplishing the educational goals set for our children. A concrete example of this is our Educational Growth Program. This is a capital development program, involving new buildings, introduction of new courses, and faculty development. This program was launched in the fall of 1964. It has been accomplished in part and definite strides are being taken toward the ultimate completion of this program.

Much spade work has been done in all areas of this program and continues throughout the entire year in preparation for each successive stage of growth. The decisions to be reached are manifold and frequently have to be made almost on the spur of the moment to take the best advantage of existing circumstances. Hence, the importance of freedom of action.

Without this freedom of action an institution such as ours could very easily become just another High School whose actions and goals would follow a pattern that allows very little, if any, means for innovations and leadership beyond what is generally considered as normal. We have potential opportunities here at the Academy that are hardly tapped. These opportunities and responsibilities depend in large measure on those who have gone on before and are willing to reach back and help those who follow.

Unfortunately, so much of what we hope to accomplish for our children, based upon present standards of our society, is directly related to dollars and cents. Our whole educational structure today is becoming more and more sensitive to this condition, presenting programs and demands that a very few years ago were unthought of. The Trustees are well aware of this and are dedicated to overcome this obstacle, with a realization that it is not dollars and cents that make a school, but, nevertheless accept the fact that it is essential and where properly guided can help accomplish much of what our future needs require, particularly as outlined in our Educational Growth Program.

Alumni, friends of the Academy, and many of the residents of Woodstock and neighboring towns are also aware of all this and in turn have made possible the construction of our much needed Bowen Building for which our students and faculty are very grateful. Recent developments regarding the future construction of an addition to the Bracken Memorial Library are very encouraging, and it is our sincere hope that this phase of our Growth Program will be fulfilled this coming year. Our Physical Education phase of the Program is off to a good start in the acquisition of a full time Physical Education Director, namely Mr. Douglas Peck. This has been long overdue and we hope will soon be augmented by the construction of a new Field House. Much consideration and planning is presently going on regarding the latter. It has not reached a point where anyone can say for a certainty when this building may be built. However, the urgency of this project is becoming more pronounced and because of this the Trustees are doing all within their power to make this possible.

Much concern was given by the Academy Trustees this past year to students who are not academically motivated and ultimately drop out, never to become alumni. This is a situation that prevails in all secondary schools throughout the county and is met with many varied tactics, some of course are more successful than others. Because of the very nature of our school, we believe we can do much to overcome this problem. It is an area that requires much in the way of innovations and getting away from what is accepted as standard. We will continue to pursue this problem, which again unfortunately, is limited by the funds available for such projects.

As in the past we can only continue to stress our need for greater financial support. Many generous gifts and bequests continue to come to the Academy for which the trustees are ever grateful. With an Alumni body of well over one thousand we sincerely hope all will give serious consideration to the needs of their Alma Mater, which in turn continues to help mold the lives of hundreds of children who also hope to be Alumni someday.

In closing, the Trustees wish to thank all who have made possible the publication of the Gleaner on an annual basis. We consider this one of the greatest accomplishments the Academy has experienced in a long time, and we are looking forward to its success for many, many years to come. It is the one thing that will bring us all together in our striving to make the Academy the best that anyone can offer their children in the way of a secondary education.

News of Former Faculty Members

I am happy to report that we had a wonderful response from former faculty members, and only wish that we had more addresses available. Our first report goes back to 1900, and am sorry to say Mrs. FAITH SANBORN BRAINARD died on March 7, 1967. She had taught at the Academy for five years. Her married life had been spent in Hartford, Conn., where Mr. Brainard taught school until 1946, at which time they retired to Amherst, Mass.

MISS ETHEL E. UPHAM of East Woodstock, a former student as well as teacher (1918-25 and 1928-29) is now retired.

MR. WILLIAM P. DUTEMPLE, 44 Prospect St., Whitinsville, Mass. (1921-22) is a widower with two married daughters. The oldest was born at Woodstock and is married to a doctor. They have six children and are spending nine weeks in France this summer. His other daughter is married and has three children. Mr. Dutemple welcomes visits at his home and can be reached there or at Whitinsville Spinning Ring Co. where he is employed as assistant treasurer and sales manager.

MISS CONSTANCE E. GRIGG of Woburn, Mass. (1921-26) is now retired after teaching for thirty-seven years at Northbridge High School, Whitinsville, Mass.

MR. GEORGE BURTON WESTHAVER (1929-43) is married with one daughter. He retired in 1966 and now summers in Osterville, Mass. and winters in Boca Raton, Florida. He would welcome visits from former students either on Cape Cod or in Florida.

MR. RICHARD D. WILLIAMSON (1931-37) is married to the former Janet Winton and has three daughters. Mr. Williamson taught mathematics and coached football and track at New Milford High School for nineteen years. He has been principal at Torrington High School for eleven years. He is also treasurer of the Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference, a member of the Connecticut Association of Secondary Schools Board of Directors, and the Connecticut Secondary School Representative to the Teacher Certification Committee.

MR. WILLIAM A. SIMPSON (1932-44) is married to the former Elsie I. Moore and they have a son and a daughter. Mr. Simpson since June of 1961 has been enjoying retirement right here in Woodstock.

MRS. PHILIP W. RICHARDSON, the former Arleen Morse (1934-36), is married and the mother of three sons. She is now doing substitute teaching at Weston High School, Weston, Mass.

MR. LUCIUS STEBBINS (1934-37) is married and the father of a son and daughter. He also has a ten-year-old granddaughter. Mr. Stebbins is the psychological examiner at Andrew Warde High School in Fairfield, Conn.

MRS. MARION SPRING GRIFFIN (1936-38) has one son and is teaching homemaking and nutrition education at the Frederick R. Noble School, a practice school for the Eastern Conn. State College in Willimantic.

MR. ROGER L. WARNER (1937-39) is living in Fairfield, Conn. He is married and the father of two sons and one daughter. His elder son and daughter were both married in July of 1967. Mr. Warner is now principal of Roger Ludlowe High School and was very sorry he could not come to alumni day this year.

MRS. MILDRED KEIRNS BEEBE (1938-42) is now retired and living in Englewood, Florida. Her husband has two daughters and four grandchildren. Their life in Florida is a round of pleasant activities with an interesting and social group.

MISS PRISCILLA DRAKE was at Woodstock Academy for two years and is now retired from teaching at Weaver High School in Hartford. She is living in Wethersfield, Conn., and just returned from a glorious trip to the Orient including Hong Kong, Thailand, Taiwan and Japan.

MISS EUNICE L. THOMPSON of Malden, Mass. (1940-43) is now teaching English and is school librarian at Lincoln Jr. High School, Malden, Mass. Miss Thompson still cherishes fond memories of her happy years in the beautiful town of Woodstock and of her many friends here.

MISS JANE H. PERKINS, who taught Latin and History from 1940 to 1949, is now retired and living in a retirement community in Carmel, California. There are 230 residents from all over the country who enjoy many interesting activities. All year long she is able to enjoy flowers and wide lawns enfolding the Santa Lucia Mountains. She manages to keep quite busy with current events, the medical center, flower arrangements, committees, reading clubs, reviews, etc. Miss Perkins extends congratulations to Woodstock Academy for its growth and says that she will be grateful to Woodstock all her life for the strong and precious memories she has.

MRS. RALPH L. MILLER, the former Joyce Lindsey (1944-45), is living in North Troy, Vermont, where she keeps busy as a housewife and insurance agent.

MRS. DOROTHY ERNST MCWILLIAM taught four years at Woodstock Academy and still resides in Woodstock. She is active as a wife, mother and real estate broker.

MISS HAZEL LORSON (1948-49) is living in Branford, Conn., where she teaches English at the local high school. She is sponsor of the Oxford Club and involved with the Branford High School Hornet.

MR. SEAVEY D. MORSE, Headmaster at W. A. from 1944-53, is superintendent of schools in Hackettstown, N. J. His home address is now 409 Sharp St., Hackettstown, which town is noted for M & M candies and Centenary College for Women. Seavey and Jane are looking forward to the Gleaner news as they have so many pleasant and lasting memories of W. A., Woodstock, and the fine people living here.

MR. GEORGE C. SAUNDERS (1949-53) is married and the father of two boys and one girl. They are living in Phelps, N. Y., where Mr. Saunders is a District Principal—similar to a superintendent in New England.

MISS ELEANOR MAHAR, Home Economics teacher from 1952-55, is now at Rocky Hill High School in Rocky Hill, Conn., where she is Freshman Counselor and teacher of Home Economics.

MR. EDGAR CRAVER (1954-60) is now principal at Longmeadow High School in Mass. He is also teaching graduate studies in Secondary School Administration at Springfield College. The Cravers have three sons and one daughter aged 14, 12, 11, and 8.

MRS. DOROTHY CURRAN, who spent seven years at W. A. in the Latin Department, is now retired and spends her winters in Putnam, and summers in Saco, Maine. She is happy to have had the opportunity to become well acquainted with the faculty, pupils, and parents in the town among whom she has made many friends.

MR. ROBERT MOONEY left W. A. in 1966 to attend the University of Southwestern Louisiana where he and his wife Lorraine and three children are now living. He suggests all us "Yankees" visit Louisiana and sample some crawfish gumbo, shrimp jambalaya, creole coffee, sea food gumbo, stuffed red snapper, and crawfish etouffee.

MRS. EDMOND L. SENEY, the former Margaret A. Howe, (1955-63) is very active in Woodstock activities including Home Economics group, 4-H Camp Committee, 4-H Leader, and Square Dance activities. Her husband is Principal of the Woodstock Junior High School. They are the parents of a girl, Monique Elaine, born August 30, 1967.

MISS ROSEMARIE CELLUCCI is now living in Brookline, Mass. and working in Boston, Mass. as advertising manager for G. K. Hall and Co.

news

In 1966 the GLEANER returned to annual publication and the alumni news editors announced that news of reunion classes would be reported as fully as possible — e.g., fifth, tenth, fifteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, thirtieth — reunion class secretaries would make every effort to report news of each class member. Also the class editors announced that they would be pleased to report news sent in between reunion years. We have followed that plan in printing news items. Some class secretaries have been more successful than others in reaching all members of their reunion class. We urge each alumnus to help us by sending in news promptly when it is requested, remembering that what may seem uninteresting about your activities to you, is most welcome news to your former schoolmates.—ED.

MRS. RUTH WILLIAMSON GALLUP, '97

1888-1919

Secretary, MRS. BARUYR PESHMAYLAN
South Woodstock, Conn. 06267

1897

In planning this GLEANER the editors, as always, have studied volumes of previous years and in reading them we have noted the number of issues of which Ruth Williamson Gallup was editor. Mrs. Gallup and members of the class of 1897 in June marked the 70th anniversary year of their graduation from Woodstock Academy. When we wrote to Mrs. Gallup at her Newport, R. I. address and asked her for her picture and comments on her years as GLEANER editor, we received this reply.

"It came as a surprise to me and I am most honored that the editors of the GLEANER would like to include my picture with a short article in the next edition.

"For several years (1917-1934), with some help from my good husband William, I edited the GLEANER. Although it was exacting work, I did truly enjoy the contacts with the older alumni and the opportunity to know and keep in touch with the younger graduates. Also it kept me abreast of current activities at Woodstock Academy.

"For the past three years, I have been living in the Baptist Home of R. I. located at 2 Shepard Ave., Newport, R. I. It is a pleasant place and I have a comfortable room with nice surroundings as well as congenial friends. The staff here makes life interesting by supplying entertainment and activities along with the religious services.

"While life at 89 is not that of the 'in crowd,' I am enjoying better than average good health and my friends and family visit me often. We go for rides, out to dinner, and to visit friends, and for shopping trips. While at home I keep busy with letter writing, knitting and other handiwork. Then in the evenings I can enjoy TV.

"In mid 1966, I had a rather exciting experience. An advertising agency came here to the home and selected me to pose with a young man and a little girl. One of these pictures was used by Polaroid and it appeared in the November 11th edition of Life magazine. Just imagine — a model at 88 years and being paid for the posing. It was a thrill of a lifetime I could never have anticipated, and in imagination permitted me to travel all over the world and into peoples' homes at no expense. Being selected not only made me feel honored but also gives meaning and excitement to life through a feeling of being needed.

"To the present editors of the GLEANER my thanks and a hope that they may find the work as rewarding as I did. To my many friends I convey best wishes."

1888

80th REUNION — June 22, 1968

GRACE CARR CHILD, 98 years young, sends greetings to her Woodstock friends through her relatives who visit her at the Methodist Church Home in West Haven, Conn.

75th REUNION — June 22, 1968

FLORENCE MORSE DARTT enjoyed last winter in Florida and is at home in Quinebaug this summer. Mrs. Dartt attended the Fourth of July Jamboree in East Woodstock. Another very interested participant in the Independence Day events was her friend MYRTIE CHAFFEE JORDAN who has been a prime mover in the effort to replace the spire on the East Woodstock Congregational Church. Mrs. Jordan is eagerly awaiting the arrival of a new spire to take the place of the one lost in the 1938 hurricane. It is mainly through the effort and interest of Mrs. Jordan that the decision to restore the church spire has been made and the necessary funds raised.

MARY BOWEN KEITH lives on South Main Street in Putnam and reports that she has experienced both joy and sorrow in recent years. In June of '66 she and her husband Edward enjoyed their 60th wedding anniversary and in February of '67 her husband died suddenly. Her son Lawrence, his wife, and three children live in West Hartford, Conn.

1897

EDNA CLARK BRADFORD and ADA CLARK LYON visit each other frequently. They say their way of life has not changed greatly since last year and that they are always interested in GLEANER news.

FRED J. FITTS is a very helpful alumnus to the GLEANER news editor. He has helped locate alumni with whom we have lost touch and he maintains a very active interest in both the GLEANER and Woodstock Academy from his Coral Gables home in Florida.

RUTH WILLIAMSON GALLUP writes, "I am well and comfortable here at the Baptist Home of Rhode Island in Newport. I have three great-grandsons and a one-year-old great granddaughter.

EDNA CLARK BRADFORD in Putnam enjoys visits with her sister ADA CLARK LYON of Warwick, R. I. Mrs. Lyon has a beautiful flower garden much of the care of which she does herself. Passers-by admire the beauty of her roses and chrysanthemums and the flower committee of Mrs. Lyon's church are fortunate in being able to gather flowers all summer for use in the church.

CONSTANCE HOLT

70th REUNION — June 22, 1968

HENRY J. POTTER is another alumnus who gives much welcome help to the GLEANER news editor. Mr. Potter, through his correspondence, has found Alumni who have moved and whose addresses have changed, and we thank him for his help. Mr. Potter is living with his daughter and her family, the Rev. and Mrs. Douglas F. Dorchester, and their five children during the winter months, and in July and August he enjoys beautiful Martha's Vineyard.

We are happy to have a message from LESLIE P. HARRIS this year. He reports that he and his wife live in Virginia in the summertime and during the winter are in New Port Richey, Florida. They hope to visit their daughter in California and their three granddaughters, two great-granddaughters and four great-grandsons.

FLORA STEERE WETHERELL was grateful to the Fourth of July Jamboree Committee for inviting her to be the "honored guest" for the Independence Day celebration in East Woodstock in 1966. This summer she is impatiently waiting to walk again after suffering a hip injury in May.

1899

Last summer BESSIE BARBER WILLIAMS, WILLIAM C. CHILD, and RUBY SANBORN held a class reunion at Ruby's home in Amherst, Mass. When the class president, Miss Sanborn, called the roll there were three who answered from the original class of seven. William Child reports this spring that he and Mrs. Child have spent a pleasant winter in his Dunedin, Florida, home and are at Martha's Vineyard for the summer. Bessie Williams and her sister visit with friends at the Woodstock Academy Music Festival concerts. We send our sympathy to Ruby Sanborn in the loss of her sister, Faith Sanborn Brainard.

1900

BERTRAM BUGBEE is living at the Trull Nursing Home in Biddeford, Maine.

Local friends report their last news from the FREDERICK ROCKWELLS was from Orleans, Mass.

1901

OLIVE PAINE writes frequently to her relatives in Woodstock. She and her brother Ellery Paine live in Urbana, Illinois.

ETHEL SPALDING SILVERBERG and her husband Leon live in Ipswich, Mass. She writes of her family: son George lives in California; daughter Josephine will spend the year in England, Japan and Australia; daughter Julia is studying for her Masters at Washington State; and daughters Ethel and Olivia are freelancing in music in the Boston area. Ethel herself is working in oil painting.

ERNEST WILLIAMSON lives in Providence, Rhode Island.

GARDNER RICHARDSON continues to run the old family farm "Plaine Hill" which has been continuously in the family since 1686. He is president of the Board of Trustees of Roseland Park.

FLORENCE BARBER WASHBURN writes: "This will be our 65th anniversary. We were a large class for those days—fifteen. After 53 years as a pastor, my husband retired four years ago and we have been living in Worcester. Our five children are widely scattered and we enjoy occasional visits in their homes. My years at W. A. were among the very happiest of my life. What an inspiration Prof. E. R. Hall was to us! I would love to attend the Alumni Reunion, but I am not sure I shall be able to do so. Please give greetings to all who may remember me. I read and enjoyed the last GLEANER very much, and shall look forward to the next."

MARY FROST ROSS has recovered beautifully from an injury to her hip and is as active as ever in her garden as is evidenced by her colorful blooms.

JAMES V. PERRIN, retired and living in Quebec, Canada, has been awarded Honorary Life Membership in the Canadian Red Cross Society.

HELEN CHANDLER WALLACE enjoys life very much in a retirement home in Ventura, California. In August and September of 1966 she toured Europe.

FLORENCE HIBBARD LOCKWOOD attended the Fourth of July Jamboree in East Woodstock and enjoyed visiting with her friends.

FRANK ROCKWELL wrote that he had no news of himself, but added that his grandson was to be married on June 10.

ALICE STEERE FARIS enjoys her home in Scott City, Kansas.

ALAN UPHAM attends the Woodstock Academy Summer Music Festival concerts with his sister Ethel.

1903

65th REUNION - June 22, 1968

1906

LOTTIE HOWARD SPALDING, ETHEL E. UPHAM and MAUDE E. HEALEY attended the Alumni Banquet. Lottie Spalding told about her trip to California and reported having a great-grandson and a great-granddaughter.

ELIZABETH CARR GROSJEAN

MARY RANDALL STRONG sent us a message thanking us for the GLEANER and reported that she was recovering from a cataract operation.

1907

MARY MYERS PECK writes that she enjoys the GLEANER news. Her home is in East Haddam, Conn. and she visits friends in Woodstock occasionally.

MARIE NELSON GOSS returned with her sister to attend the Alumni Banquet and her 60th REUNION. Since her retirement she plans to enjoy a few weeks in Florida during the winters. She continues her church and community work in Hartford.

60th REUNION - June 22, 1968

HARRIET NELSON JONES returned to the Alumni Banquet with her sister Marie Nelson Goss, '07.

HAZEL DAVENPORT LEWIS reports that her way of life has not changed much in the last year. She enjoys her family living close by her home in Harrisburg, Pa.

ELSIE L. BARBER visits with Woodstock friends when she attends the Woodstock Academy Music Festival with her sister Bessie Barber Williams, '97.

LYLE W. TURNER has moved to Rossmoor, Maryland, where she hopes to spend the rest of her life in this nearness to her brother's family who are all in northeast Virginia.

MARION SMITH STONE

LOUIS MILLER lives in Westboro, Mass. and visits his friends and relatives in Woodstock.

Two events were celebrated by BERNICE BATES MARSHALL this spring. "Albert and I celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary on April 7, and our oldest granddaughter graduated from high school in June."

1910-1914

Secretary, Miss RILLA CHILD
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

1910

WALLACE ARMSTRONG reports that he has been retired from the Vermont Highway Department since 1961 and plans to remain in Waterville, Vt.

MARY FLYNN BLAKESLEE writes from Indianapolis, Ind., "Nothing new to report."

1911

BLANCHE PERRY BOSWORTH attended the Alumni Banquet in June. We sympathize with Blanche for the loss of her husband this past year. She is active in town and church activities in Pomfret.

1912

GLADYS SHELDON PRESCOTT writes from Durham, N. H., that she recently has enjoyed a delightful day with Woodstock Academy friends at the home of GRACE HAWKINS HEALEY in Woodstock.

HELEN PERLEY CORNELL and RILLA CHILD attended the Alumni Banquet and represented the class of 1912 at its 55th reunion. Helen continues her efficient work as Town Clerk and Treasurer. Rilla has helped the class news editor by acting as secretary for the news sent in by the classes 1910 through 1914.

55th REUNION - June 22, 1968

WILLIAM RICHARDSON writes that there is nothing new to report except the fact that he is a year older.

GRACE HAWKINS HEALEY plans to remain in Woodstock. We extend our sympathy to Grace for the death of her husband, John, this past winter.

AGNES WHITE STONE visited in Woodstock during the early spring and told us that she is developing a real "green thumb" along with lots of freckles as she raises camellias and gardenias in their garden in Tarpon Springs, Fla. While here in the North, she visited her six great-grandchildren.

ROLFE NELSON LYON lives in Pomfret where he enjoys probing into the whereabouts of early Woodstock families. His grandchildren now number five — two of whom live in Alaska.

1915-1919

Secretary, Mrs. DAVID PITT
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

ESTELLA FRINK BARRETT writes, "I have kept busy with my young folks and the grandchildren. I went with Barbara in January to Las Vegas where she attended the National Hairdressers Convention. We also visited Houston, Texas, and New Orleans, La., before returning home."

"I spent the winter quietly in my home in Gilbertville," RUTH BATES KEITH tells us, "reliving my student and my teaching days in my grandchildren. Now I am spending June to September in my second home, Rustic Ridge, East Northfield. I love to see and hear from old friends."

MARY CHAMBERLAIN welcomes visits from friends who are able to call on her at Westview Manor Convalescent Hospital in Attawaugan, Conn.

GRETCHEN RUTISHAUSER MCKAY spent two months in Florida with friends from Port Clinton and also took a cruise to Nassau. She is now planning to spend the Christmas holiday in California with her son Dick. She adds, "I have sold my home to my youngest son who has been out of the Navy about a year after being in twenty years. I am in an apartment and love it."

"Heaven is no larger than Connecticut." HARRIET SAMPSON PITT does not remember who wrote the poem that begins with this line, but she wishes she had as it so perfectly expresses her sentiments. It concludes, "And there is time enough for spring's return; And the eternal welfare of the heart."

1917

OWEN WHITE and TED PERKINS were introduced at the Alumni Banquet as the two members of the 50th REUNION class. Ted tells us that he is a year older — "otherwise nothing has changed." Owen sends congratulations on the excellent issue of the GLEANER which he has read and reread from cover to cover numerous times.

1918

50th REUNION - June 22, 1968

CAROLYN COX FOSTER writes that she lives quietly in Manchester, and has no definite plans for anything else.

OTTO L. PIKE is planning to see Woodstock next year on his 50th anniversary. He confesses to having "gotten grayer" but claims that his 1917 Connecticut State Guard uniform still fits.

1920-1929

Secretary, Mrs. C. LEONARD ANDERSON
R.R. No. 2
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

1920

HAROLD JOHNSON writes that he has been retired from the Scovill Manufacturing Co., and that he plans to catch up on many of the things he wanted to do years ago. He says they have three grandchildren to make their lives more interesting. Harold lives in Waterbury, Conn.

1922

Attending her 45th reunion in June, BEATRICE HEALEY WHAPLES had the distinction of being the member of the Alumni Association having traveled the furthest to attend the Alumni

Banquet and meeting. She came from Uganda, East Africa, with her husband who is Rural Youth Advisor to the government of Uganda. Beatrice said she much enjoyed the 1966 GLEANER. While at home they visited with their three sons and twelve grandchildren.

1923

45th REUNION - June 22, 1968

ALICE CROSS HEMINGWAY, who lives in Concord, Mass., says she is still keeping house for her husband and carrying on as secretary-bookkeeper for the Concord Animal Hospital.

Another member of the class of '23, LESTER GALLUP, writes from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, "No change."

1924

ELIZABETH ROLLINS ANDERSON with husband Leonard and daughter Margaret flew to Oregon in June and spent a week visiting their daughter Dorothy and seeing some of the beauty of that state. Dorothy received her M.A. in Specialized Education from the University of Oregon in August 1967.

VERNON T. WETHERELL completed his term as President of the Board of Trustees of Woodstock Academy in August '66 and is now a member of the Executive and Finance Committees.

LAURA CROSS PRINGLE from Lake Wales, Florida, writes that she is taking life easy and enjoying it. Laura writes, "The Academy, classmates and teachers, is one of my fondest memories. Most children and young people seem to consider school a necessary evil. I enjoyed every minute of it. The association with good teachers who taught us many things that were not in the textbooks, as well as friends whom I shall never forget, is indeed something to be cherished."

1927

EINAR HANSEN, now President of the Woodstock Academy Board of Trustees, is still employed at the American Optical Company in Southbridge, and lives in East Woodstock. His son Mark graduated from the Academy this year, exactly forty years after his Dad.

1928

40th REUNION - June 22, 1968

CONSTANCE WETHERELL PESHMALYAN is active with the interesting work of publishing the GLEANER again. It is both challenging and rewarding to try to goad alumni into sending news, and most rewarding to read the replies as they are received in the Alumni Office.

Secretary, MISS ELEANOR PERRIN
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

ROXANNA CHILD WILLIAMS lives in Sewanne, Tennessee. Her son Peter is married and is with the Shawmut Bank in Boston. Her son Richard is married and lives in Parsons, Kansas. Her daughter Carol is living in Sewanne with her parents.

ELSIE HIBBARD ALLEN writes from Saxonville, Mass., "I continue my work with the Roxbury Carpet Company and my hobby of baby sitting. I fly to my daughter's in Indiana in June for the arrival of a grandchild and fly to Expo '67 in July. I pursue another hobby as a "shutter-bug" for which my son's twins are lively subjects."

EUGENE HIBBARD is busy in East Woodstock with the care of his many little Christmas trees.

MARGARET SCRANTON APTE is a volunteer worker at Harrington Hospital in Southbridge, Mass. She enjoys their small boat which they moor in Mystic, Conn. She is happy to report that she is a grandmother. The Aptes are looking forward to another trip to California as their 1965 visit left many places still to be seen.

1932

Secretary, MRS. ELMER WHITE
Box 16
Thompson, Conn. 06277

This was the 35th reunion of the Class of '32 and the three members who attended the banquet were disappointed not to see more members of their class.

DORCAS JOHNSON MORRISON, of 310 May St., Worcester, had planned to attend, but having a doctor husband, her plans were upset at the last minute.

EVELYN MORGAN WEIMANN of Senexet Road, Woodstock, was there. One of our most faithful members, she is still interested in sports, and very seldom misses a local game. She is right there cheering, and all the young people love her.

JAMES CHILD of South Woodstock attended the reunion. He has been taking courses to assist him in his position with the Danielson Manufacturing Co. in Putnam, Conn.

GENEVA CROSS WHITE was the third member at the reunion. She is still at the Town and Country Shoe Store on Route 171 near South Woodstock.

FLORENCE NEELEY MULLIGAN wrote from Phoenix, Arizona, where she was visiting her son Terrence now stationed at the Lake Air Force Base, and her brand new granddaughter, Shannon Mary. Her arrival makes a total of three grandchildren for Florence. She is now employed at the A. O., and makes her home at 45 Coombs St., Southbridge.

FREDA KUPER NISI of 85 Wyoming Dr., Holden, Mass., writes that her son Terry is serving with the Air Force in Vietnam, stationed in Saigon as an air policeman. Her daughter Joanne has graduated from Wachusett Regional High and will attend Clark University this fall.

Your secretary wishes that other members had taken a few minutes to fill in and mail the pink information cards; hoping that we will have a more complete report next time!

JULIETTE COLLINS

JULIETTE COLLINS has done OB Nursing since she graduated from Worcester Hahnemann Hospital in 1946. During that time she has cared for approximately 12,000 babies.

EVA BROUGHTON DINSDALE and husband Kenneth live in their new home in Putnam where Kenneth has a successful plumbing and heating business. They have one daughter Pamela who will be a junior at Putnam High in the fall. Summers you can find the Dinsdales at their cottage on Quad-dick Lake.

GEORGE BARRETT remains a successful, modern dairy farmer at Fairholm Farm in East Woodstock where he lives with his wife Celia and their three children.

Another successful dairy farm, Look Away Farm in North Woodstock is the home of PHYLLIS RACINE KUPER and her husband Arthur and their four children. Phyllis also keeps busy in church activities and in Home Economics.

LAURA REYNOLDS DELAURA

DAVID JOY lives in East Windsor Hill and also spends much of his time in Woodstock.

OLIVA ROY and his wife Joyce are residing in Columbia. They are the proud parents of two children.

LAURA REYNOLDS DELAURA has just completed a very busy year in West Willington where she has been a substitute Organist in the Federated Church of Willington, President of the Home Economics Club, and a Brownie Leader. She and her husband Gil and their two daughters, Nancy (9) and Betsy (4) are now contemplating moving to Benson, Arizona, before the first of August. Gill will have work near Tucson and will attend night school to obtain his degree in Civil Engineering.

EILEEN MARCY GARDNER and her husband Marcy keep busy on Red-head Hill Farm where they are now raising beef cattle. They also have 200 laying hens and 100 pullets, many fruit trees, and cultivated blueberries.

GEORGE WILLIS has followed in his father's footsteps and is a Game Warden in the Bridgeport area, residing with his wife Mae in Shelton, Conn.

INA WITTER PASAY has her home in East Woodstock with her son Gregory who will be a senior at W. A. this fall. Her daughter Lynda is married to Robert Higgins, has a son, and also lives in East Woodstock. All our thoughts were with Ina when her husband, Keaton, passed away in 1965. As always, she keeps busy at the A. O. in Southbridge, and has been an active worker in both church and community activities.

DOROTHY PLACE GUERTIN tells us her year was highlighted when she and her husband became grandparents of a bouncy baby boy born to their son James and his wife of Putnam. Dorothy and Bob also have two daughters; Susan, who will become a junior at Putnam High in the fall, and Sandra, entering second grade.

Karen was married last year. Both versatile, Nonie and Al are active in their community and church in Granby. We miss them in Woodstock.

EWALD RATASEP has his home in Chaplin. His wife tells us he is an engineer working as a civilian for the Navy and is now on his way to Vietnam.

THURSTON EDDY soon will start on his fifteenth year with P. Wajer and Sons Express Co. of Dudley, Mass. He is currently driving in the Hartford area. His wife, EVELYN JOHNSON EDDY, has for the past four years been working in the school office as secretary for the Woodstock Elementary School. The Eddys have two sons and a daughter. Ralph will be a junior at Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine; Steven, who graduated in June from the Academy, will attend UConn in the fall; and Kathryn, who will enter sixth grade.

We regret not having heard from BEATRICE TOWNSEND SOLOMKIN of Hartford or GEORGE HOWLETT of West Palm Beach, Florida.

25th REUNION - June 22, 1968

HESTER CARPENTER GREEN has taken on two extra jobs since last year. She is now a Sunday School teacher and a 4-H leader. Joey, her eldest, has joined the Army. Alfred and Melvin have each won trips to the FFA National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. The Greens also have three busy little girls.

At last, news from HELEN RATASEP LUCHUCK, now living in Tullahoma, Tenn. Helen and her husband Wallace have two sons — Steven (13) and Alan (5). She writes, "I guess I'm just a professional student because I love going to school — have taken all sorts of adult education courses from upholstery, furniture refinishing, rug hooking, to oil painting and ceramics." When she was in New York she earned 31 graduate credits, wrote her "research paper," and did substitute teaching. She was just short of getting a Master's degree in education when she had to quit. She would like very much to go back to school to study interior decorating and to work toward an A.I.D. card.

"It looks as though we have found our retirement spot," writes Helen, "as we both love Tennessee. Say 'hello' to all the Class of '43, and tell them I expect anyone who gets to Tennessee to look me up."

RUTH SUNSTROM HAY and family live on Rock Avenue in Danielson. She is presently working in the office of the Day Kimball Hospital.

What has happened to the eighteen hale and hearty red-cheeked teen-agers who graduated in 1945? All must be feeling smug and living within the law, as only ONE classmate returned the questionnaire. Never fear, we know where you are, and we read the newspapers. Was that not CHARLES HARRISON CADY shaking hands with some dignitary from the Postal Department in a recent Observer?

Rumors are that CARL ODEN JOHNSON (the bathtub Admiral) has a large boat which he is making sea worthy. Could this be another Ark?

MARTHA WITTER ZALESKI, our own Twiggy, still likes to sew. Her husband is Advertising and Sales Promotion Manager for the Ingraham Watch Co. She has kept in touch with MAE KILLIAN ECKLER.

GLORIA DUMAS FISHER on a leave of absence from teaching last spring. She hopes to teach in the Danvers, Mass. area this fall.

JOAN AURILIO MERRILL, her husband and two sons are living in Eastford. Bob works as Parts-man for Pakulis Equipment in Willimantic. Joan keeps busy with part-time work at Tatem's in Eastford Center.

DORIS BARRETT is I.B.M. supervisor at Hyde Manufacturing in Southbridge, Mass. She keeps busy with two sheep 4-H Clubs, a nature 4-H Club, and is treasurer of the 4-H County Club Committee.

BYRON EDDY and his wife MURIEL DURRIN EDDY were the only two members of our class to represent us at the Alumni Banquet.

THERESA ERICKSON JOHNSON is living in Maita, New York with her husband, Millard, and four children. She has a fascinating hobby of driving in the Lady's Demolition Derby at Albany Saratoga and Utica-Rome Speedways.

CATHERINE LYON LONDON and husband Harrison are living on Center Cemetery Road in North Woodstock with their two little girls. She and her husband have bought a farm in Nova Scotia and plan to vacation in Canada during the summers and hunting season.

GRACE LYON BOWEN lives in Toland, Conn. She has five children: Clifton, Kim, Nicholas, Natasha and Grace-Marie — whom she keeps "hop-pin" (not the other way around). She trains and works with the children a great deal. She and her family returned to California (to make a total of five years living in the West) for the school year of 1964-65, when her husband left Hartford to teach in Los Angeles for an educational and climatic change. In California, Grace returned to her painting — took a course in oils, followed by another in Rockville this last fall. Reading and gardening are her other important activities.

GALE MAASS RUDOLPH and husband Robert plan to build a new home in Georgetown, Mass. Gale has added a daughter, Lucy Ann, born January 5, 1967, to her family. Gale has started a group, The New Essex Players, which will do a musical in the fall.

Secretary, MRS. GEORGE WHITE
R.R. No. 1
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

The Class of '51 received four replies from the pink cards we sent out.

One of our classmates who left us in our sophomore year, RITA BRUNEAU DUFFANY leads a very busy life with her husband Al in Punta Gorda, Fla. Besides their own three daughters, they have raised foster twin boys for eight years now. Five years ago they adopted two children, Robert (3) and Lori (2). A week's vacation and rest is planned at Key West and then a quiet (?) summer at home. She hopes to see some of us in Woodstock two years from now.

DOROTHY NORMAN reports she has now moved to New Jersey and is the Child Evangelism Fellowship Director for Passaic County. In November 1966 she graduated from the Child Evangelism Fellowship Institute in Muskegon, Mich.

RONALD ESTABROOKS is planning to attend the University of San Francisco this summer under the N.S.F. program. He is then headed for Pakistan for two years.

JOYCE BROLIN WHITE is still here in Woodstock and busy as mother, homemaker, and as of the first of July, the Secretary of your Alumni Office.

Secretary, MRS. DONALD BROWN
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

Our classmates seem to be going about their everyday lives with nothing too eventful to report since the 1966 issue of the GLEANER.

We hope everyone saw KEN ANDREW's picture in the Observer. Ken has been promoted to Major and expects to be in the Far East soon. Congratulations, Ken! The newspaper reports that he is a Senior Pilot, navigator and a bombardier. He is flying the Boeing KC-135. Ken, his wife Joanne and two children presently make their home in Columbus, Mississippi.

Your secretary PATRICIA CONVERSE BROWN has been busy plotting the landscaping around the pond that Don and she have had dug. It has been a project that has kept us busy since last Fall. Our youngest daughter, Karen, enters kindergarten this year.

Woodstock, Conn. 06281

It was nice to hear from a few of the members of the class of '55 during the past year, but we'd like to hear from more of you. How about sending along those pink post cards next year?

DAVID LAURENS, our last bachelor, has given up his independence since the last GLEANER to marry the former Louise Bonin. They now live in Putnam and Dave continues to work at A&M Tool & Dye Co. in Southbridge. Future plans include a new house in Woodstock Valley, Dave's pilot's license, and a baby in the fall!

BEVERLY ARMSTRONG HAMLIN has become a mother during the past year. Mark was born in December of 1966, and somehow Bev finds time to continue with her nursing at Milo Community Hospital, Milo, Maine.

MARILYN MARCY is still teaching in Chicago and during this past school year has acted as a counselor in the Chicago Public Schools in an Upper-Grade Center on the West Side. She is now attending summer school at the University of Michigan.

ANN REYNOLDS CAMPBELL's husband Fred was ordained into the ministry on June 15, 1967, in his home church, All Souls Unitarian Church in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The Campbells have a new home in Little Rock, Arkansas, where Fred is associated with the Unitarian Church.

The ALBERT PETERSEN family has grown since the last GLEANER. Paula (7) and Sam (6) have been joined by Matthew, born in March of 1967.

FRANCES CARTIER GEER, with her husband and their three daughters, have moved into their new home in Putnam.

DEBBIE CHILD SHERMAN, Ken and their three children have moved into the big farmhouse at the Sherman farm in North Woodstock. Debbie reports that the children love the farm, enjoy their pet calves, a pony, and helping Daddy.

RUSSELL HICKS and his family have recently moved into their new summer cottage on Alexander's Lake in Dayville. Russ can tell all sorts of fish stories about the ones that got away!

RONALD RHODES, his wife Pat, and their two girls continue to live in Eastford. Ronnie is now meat manager at the Super-Saver Market in Putnam and Pat is a postal clerk at the Eastford Post Office.

The CARL BROLINS have bought an old house in East Killingly which they plan to remodel and redecorate.

CLAUDETTE BEAUDOIN AMES and her husband Steven and their family are now living in New Milford, Conn. The Ames family enjoy camping and when not at home are enjoying their Apache Trailer.

CARLENE BOLANDER HANSEN has a new daughter, Joy Ellen, born January 17, 1967. Carlene and Bruce expect to be in their new home on Joy Road in Woodstock by September 1, 1967.

RICHARD GARCEAU has changed his style. Dick gave up his Barber Shop position for a new job with the Good-year Tire and Rubber Co. Perhaps his feet like the change, too!

RICHARD MAGNAN has a new son, Michael Raymond, born January 3, 1967. Dick resides in Putnam.

Part-time work in the Eastford Post Office keeps NANCY LEWIS MAYHEW busy along with caring for their three children. Nancy and Russell recently moved into an apartment on John Perry Road in Eastford.

CAROL SHIPPEE MOLNAR and her husband have established a small nursery. Their thoughts and hard work may someday become a fruitful business.

Pratt and Whitney is still the stamping ground for CRAIG SALTONSTALL. He is now a foreman. Craig and Sally (Fitts) have added a pet skunk to their menagerie. Recently their Morgan horse, Hi-Vale Mr. Showman, was entered in a Morgan horse show.

LYOYD WALLING is now working as a groundman at C.L. & P. Lloyd and his wife have a new son, Mark Reed, born February 25, 1967.

RICHARD G. CHAMBERS was ordained at Christ Church Cathedral in Hartford on June 13, 1967. He previously attended the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida, for his A.B. and the General Theological Seminary in Ridgefield, Conn. He was married to the former Martha L. Simmons, '62, on August 12, 1967, at Christ Church in Pomfret, Conn.

DAVID H. ETCHELLS is still a Navy man. He is now stationed in San Diego, California, where he will complete his training. Dave will then be sent with his family to the state of Washington. Sometime in the future, Dave will be sent to Vietnam. From all of us, Dave, a safe journey.

DAVID OSIER and his wife Margaret Young Osier, '64 are the proud parents of a daughter, Heather Anne, who arrived on December 21. Quite a Christmas present!

GAIL EISENHauer GARCEAU was elected secretary of the Alumni Association at the 1967 Banquet.

1960

Secretary, Mrs. DAVID BOYD
R.R. No. 2
Woodstock, Conn. 06281

Several members of the Class of 1960 have made their homes in Woodstock and see each other occasionally at Academy functions.

CORINNE MARCY is living with her family and will be teaching in the Mansfield Elementary School this fall. She still delights everyone with her organ performances and finds time to lead the Woodstock Coronet Band as well.

Caring for new calves keeps MARGARET CHASE DEXTER busy at her newly purchased home on the corner of Old Hall and Meehan Roads. Bob is helping to build homes in the area with contractor Paul Arsenault. Their sons, Robert, Allen, and Mark, also occupy much of Peggy's time.

Alumni who had the pleasure of seeing PAUL PAQUETTE's paintings at the recent Putnam Arts Festival will be happy to learn that he has opened a studio called South Wind Studio at his home in Woodstock. Paul has shown his work at several art shows in the area and has received much favorable criticism.

CECILE PATENAUE DUCHARME spends much time working with Fresh Air Fund children from New York City and surrounding areas. She recently made a trip to New York to escort those children who stayed in this area. This is the third summer a small girl from the city has visited her and her family. Gerald and Cecile are also enthusiastic members of the local square dancing club.

GEORGE DAVIS, JR. lives in Stafford Springs with his wife Jeannette and daughter Christine Marie. George was married at St. Mary's Church in Putnam in 1961. He is employed at Guber Scientific Instrument Co. in Wapping, Conn.

PAULINE SALVAS MIOUR and her husband Robert live in Putnam where Pauline is employed at Church Clothing Co.

JEAN KOSA is an Educational Representative for IBM. She instructs new owners of IBM machines in their use. Jean had a delightful time on an early July Windjammer cruise out of Maine. She has become an enthusiastic skier and spends every available moment of the winter on the slopes. Jean's address is 82 Macri Ave., White Plains, New York 10604.

Florida was the scene of a three-week vacation for NORA HALL HOPKINS and her husband Dennis who is employed by the Submarine Division of the Navy. Nora and Dennis live in their newly built home on Darby Road in Brooklyn with their son, Scott and their daughter, Amber Lee.

GEORGE C. SMITH, JR., lives in Southbridge on Bowlen Avenue. His wife's name is Judy and he has a son, Kyle and step-son, Roger.

Last fall BARBARA and STEWART MORSE vacationed in Jamaica. They have purchased a home on Virginia Beach and are frequently visited by Academy Alumni. Stewart sells Carrier air conditioners and Barbara is a social worker for the state of Virginia.

HEIDI NEUMANN TROMBERT is living in Philadelphia where her husband Pierre is working with an architectural firm. Pierre graduated this spring from Parsons School of Design in New York. This year Heidi was employed by the Department of Oral History at Columbia University and also found time to do graduate study in French at New York University.

PHYLLIS WILLIAMS GUERRIER and her husband David live on Railroad Avenue in Dudley.

A new Volkswagen bus was a handy vehicle for DORINDA DODGE LUNDIN and her husband Emil when they vacationed at Arcadia National Park this year. Dorinda is a Home Economist with Conn. Light and Power Co. in Danielson, and Emil is studying biology at Willimantic State College. The Lundins live in Coventry.

ASA ROBERT SCRANTON IV lives in Eastford with his wife GAIL SPINK SCRANTON, '61 and their children A. Robert V and Elizabeth Jane.

5th REUNION - June 22, 1968

This is not our reunion year, but I felt that many would be interested to hear of some of the Class of '63's activities. Many have graduated recently and decisions about futures have been made.

The Far East is attracting many of our classmates for various reasons. One determining factor was the armed forces which sent BRAD CHILD, COLIN HALLQUEST and TOM FLURKEY to Vietnam. Tom will be home soon and will join his wife and daughter in Willimantic.

And speaking of the armed forces, PETER LORENTZEN and family are in Turkey. Peter is in the Army, working as an interpreter.

Other members are journeying for other reasons. RICHARD HOBBY, recently graduated from Oberlin, has received a fellowship to teach in Taiwan for 1967-69. Dick majored in government.

BARBARA HIBBARD graduated from Willimantic State College with a major in Elementary Education. She has been chosen as a representative for the 4-H International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program and will be in Japan from June to December.

TOM DINWOODIE and JOHN PEPLER (BARBER) are representing us in still other ways. Tom graduated from Southern Connecticut State College in June, is working for the Connecticut State Park and Forest Commission for the summer at Mashamoquet. He leaves in mid-September for his two-year post in the Peace Corps in Malaysia. John was discharged from the Army in December. While in the Army he was trained as a radio micro-wave repairman. He has recently been negotiating for a position with Philco-Ford and expects to be working in this field in Thailand.

RICHARD JOHNSON and NEAL FREUDEN were both graduated recently. Dick graduated from Wheaton and is continuing his education at the University of South Dakota where he will enter medical school. Neal graduated from the University of Virginia with honors and will continue his education.

MARGARET McGRATH graduated from Northwestern in June. Peg is teach-

LAUREN ANDERSON will teach Physical Education this fall in North Haven Senior High School. She graduated from Southern Connecticut State College, receiving a special award for the most outstanding woman's physical education major. She was co-ordinator of the recreation program in Willimantic this summer.

MARY KING received a Bachelor of Science, majoring in intermediate-upper education from Southern Conn.

ANN MEIER transferred from Trinity College in Burlington, Vermont, to Annhurst College and will graduate in January 1968. She is working at the Northeast Regional Center for the summer.

MARGARET ANDERSON is back at Drew University.

Many of our girls are housewives with children. AVIS WALKER NORMAN has two daughters. She and RICHARD recently completed building a beautiful home on County Road.

KIRSTEN OKESON FORRESTER has one girl and resides in Quinebaug.

MARGARET YOUNG OSIER has a daughter named Heather and lives in the Prato Apartments in South Woodstock.

Two boys, Brian and Scott, keep JERI LEE CARPENTER MUSUMECI running all the time. Jeri's husband Tom is purchasing agent for Belding Heminway in Putnam. The Musumeci's are remodeling a house on Mechanics Street in Putnam.

PAUL MILLER has been rewarded for his many years in FFA. He is owner of Fairview Farm in South Woodstock. He is married and has a little girl, Barbara.

JOANNE REICH has completed School of Business and is working in Worcester.

PATTY BELLERIVE has been nursing at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and taking courses at Boston University. This fall she will accept the position as assistant head nurse at Brookline Hospital in Brookline, Mass.

JOHN ALBRECHT lives in Woodstock Valley with his wife Cynthia and his son Steven, one year old.

JOANN BREWSTER has completed training and is a Service Representative in Willimantic for the Southern New England Telephone Company. She will continue with part-time study at Willimantic State College.

Since next year will be our first reunion, please let your secretary know where you are and what you are doing.
