WARRANTY, MAINTENANCE AND TROUBLE SHOOTING – LENOVO COMPUTERS PURCHASED FROM HELIX

- Current students who purchase the laptop through the school program run by Helix may approach the IT Department Staff for trouble shooting. Once a student leaves the school they need to contact Helix or Lenovo directly for warranty issues.
- When a student brings in their laptop an IT Technician will investigate the case and see if the issue can be resolved onsite without placing a service call to Helix or Lenovo. If the laptop can be repaired the Technician will assist and the student can take the laptop back to class. If the laptop cannot be fixed on site or, if there is physical damage/hardware malfunction, the IT Technician and student will complete a maintenance form. A copy of the form will be given to the student. The student will, at the same time, be allowed to borrow one of the School's laptops to use while waiting for his or her unit to be repaired.
- A service call will be placed to Helix / Lenovo and they will come to the School to fix the laptop. When the laptop has been repaired the student will be notified by email to come to the IT Department to collect the laptop and return the loaned unit. Students will only be able to collect the laptop by submitting the loan unit if a loan unit was signed out.
