REAL CONTROL OF RATES URGED BY PRESIDENT AT RALEIGH

In Speech at Capital of North Carolina Roosevelt Hopes Congress Will Give Effective Power to an Administrative Body, Not Necessarily the Interstate Commerce Commission—Should Be Able to Enforce Its Findings Until Reversed by the Courts—Does Not Want a Sham Law—Present Statutes Defective and Badly Need Amendment—Chief Executive Accorded Cordial Reception Everywhere on His Trip.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 19.—The keynote of President Roosevelt's address today was the imperative need which exists for Congress to enact a law which shall confer upon an administrative body, not necessarily the Interstate Commerce Commission, the power to control freight rates, and whose decisions shall become immediately effective until overturned by the courts. He demanded a real law, not a sham one, and said that the present statutes were defective and needed amendment.

President Roosevelt reached this city at 9 o'clock this morning. His train reached a point six miles from the city at 1 o'clock A. M., where it was sidetracked. A few country people gathered about the train and the President. He occasionally raised a cheer for the President. At 8 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt appeared on the rear platform of his private car and said "Good morning" to the little gathering. He then had breakfast with Secretary Loeb, Dr. Rixey, Mr. McHenry and Dr. Greenway.

When the train reached Raleigh the Lieutenant-Governor and the Reception Committee boarded it and were introduced to the President and his party, whom they escorted to the Capitol. From here the President went to the Fair grounds, where he made his address to a large and enthusiastic crowd. He was cheered wherever he went, and was greatly pleased at the cordiality of his reception. The President spoke as follows: "I am glad here at the capital of North Carolina to have a chance to greet so many of the sons and daughters of your great State. North Carolina's part in our history has ever been high and honorable. It was in North Carolina that the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence overshadowed the course taken in a few short months by the representatives of the thirteen colonies assembled in Philadelphia. North Carolina can rightfully say that she pointed the way which led to the formation of our new nation. In the Revolution she did many memorable deeds; and the battle of King's Mountain marked the turning point of the Revolutionary War in the South. But I congratulate you not only upon your part, but upon your present, congratulate you upon the great industrial activity which is your own, and which, I mention but one thing, has placed his State second only to one other in the number of its textile factories. "You are showing in practical fashion

OUT RE FOR WOMAN FLOREST

Veterinary Surgeon Goes to Jail Because He Can't Pay Spouse $10 a Week.

SAYS THAT'S ALL HE MAKES.

Woman Druggist Denounces Him in Court at Loss of Trade.

Magistrate O'Reilly, in the Gates avenue court to-day, ordered Charles Scattee, a veterinary surgeon, to pay his wife, Henrietta, $10 a week. In default of that Scattee went to jail.

The Scattees have been married thirteen years and lived at 8 Pleasant place July 27 last, when the doctor deserted his wife and went to live at 1739 Fulton street. It is alleged, with a woman said to be Mrs. Annie McKinley, Druggist, florist store at the Fulton street address.

In her complaint Mrs. Scattee alleges that her husband consorted with a woman who he loved the McKinley woman and would not live apart from her. She further stated in court to-day that when her husband left her in July, he told her he was going to Mrs. McKinley's home to live with her. Mrs. Scattee explained to Magistrate O'Reilly that her husband was earning $200 a month, but as failed to support her.

One of the witnesses for Mrs. Scattee, Mrs. K. Dahlberg, who with her husband conducts a drug store at 1294 Fulton street, testified that Scattee had his prescriptions filled at her store, she brought to court the record, which showed that his practice was pretty good. "I know I am losing all this man's urine trade by coming here and testifying against him," said Mrs. Dahlberg, but a man who treats a faithful wife as he has treated his is so mean and contemptible that I would not want his money or his trade. Scattee appeared to treat the matter as an immense joke. He admitted abandoning his wife, but said he had sent her the rent regularly until the last of this month, when he decided to quit because he alleges that his wife had gone about the section in which he resided and claimed that he had left her destitute, and that he had neglected to pay his bills. He denied that he was making $200 a month. In fact he stated that he thought himself fortunate when he made $10 a week, and he added he had an expelled to borrow money to pay his wife's rent. He said that when he was asked for the Nassau Brewing Company as a veterinary he earned $21 a week, but since he began to practice medicine he has rarely made over $10 a week. He added that throughout the your realization of the truth that there must be a foundation of material well-being in order that any community may make real and rapid progress. And I am happy to say that you are in addition showing in practical fashion your understanding of the great truth that this material well-being, though necessary as a foundation, can only be the foundation, and that upon it must be raised the superstructure of a higher life, if the commonwealth is to stand as it should stand. More and more you are giving care and attention to education; and education means the promotion not only of industry, but of that good citizenship which rests upon individual rights and upon the recognition by each individual that he has duties as well as rights—in other words, of that good citizenship which rests upon moral integrity and intellectual freedom. The man must be decent in his home life, his private life, of course; but this is not by itself enough. A man who fails to be honest and brave both in his political franchise and in his private business contributes to political and social anarchy. So governments are not carried on by good intentions, but by the fit in which the average individual practices the virtue of self-command, of self-restraint, of wise self-interest, of unblinded with wise self-interest where the individual possesses common sense, honesty and courage.

PRESERVATION OF THE FORESTS. "And now I want to say a word to you on a special subject in which all the country is concerned, but in which North Carolina has a special concern. The preservation of the forests is vital to the welfare of every country. China and the Mediterranean countries offer examples of the terrible effect of deforestation upon the physical geography, and therefore ultimately upon the national well-being of the nations. One of the most obvious duties which our generation owes to the generations that are to come after us is to preserve the existing forests. The prime difference between civilized and uncivilized peoples is that in civilized peoples each generation has the duty of leaving to the next generation a heritage diminished in value, we thereby prove our unfitness to stand in the forefront of civilized peoples." (Continued on 5th Page—1st Column.)

thirteen years that he had been married to his wife his life was one continual round of torture, because, as he alleged, his wife was jealous and quarrelsome. Scattee appeared greatly surprised when ordered to pay $10 a week or go to jail. He said he was unable to guarantee this amount, and in consequence he will spend six months in the penitentiary.

THOUSANDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO GREAT ACTOR.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The casket containing the ashes of Sir Henry Irving today was placed on public view, lying in state, in the drawing rooms of the mansion of Baroness Burdett-Coutts, on Stratton street, and an endless procession of admirers of the great actor, flanking these were the painting of Irving as Hamlet. The pall was made entirely of laurel leaves supplied by Irving's son, H. J. Irving. All ranks were represented in the long line of mourners that came to pay this last tribute of respect to the memory of the man they think an admirer. The floral offerings came from all parts of the civilized world.

DANISH PRINCE ACCEPTS THE THRONE OF NORWAY

LONDON, Oct. 19.—A dispatch from Copenhagen, Denmark, says that during the night important messages were received in the capital from Premier Michelsen, of Norway, at Christiania. All the members of the ministry were once aroused, and a council meeting, under the presidency of the Crown Prince, which lasted for two hours, was held at the Amalienborg Castle. It is known that the dispatch from Premier Michelsen referred to the candidacy of Prince Charles of a narrow way the Norwegian crown, and it is believed a formal tender of the crown to that Prince was contained in the message. The answer was sent at the conclusion of the meeting, and it is understood that the offer was accepted.

BURIED IN SHIP'S BUNKER UNDER MOUNTAIN OF COAL.

James Richmond, a coal passer on the steamer Eckford, now lying at the dock of the Havemeyer Sugar Refinery, at South Third street, had a narrow escape from death this morning when he was buried beneath a large amount of coal in one of the bunkers. He had been sent down to see that the bunker and while so engaged a load of coal was dumped down the chute. Richmond's cries for help were heard by his companions on the deck and he was quickly dug from beneath the coal. He was removed to the Eastern District Hospital by Ambulance surgeon Precht, who found that Richmond was bruised and out about the body and head.

HELPED ANOTHER FIGHT OFFICERS

Owens and Archbold Had Hot Time Arresting Little May Minnet.

SHE WON'T GO TO SCHOOL. Ignored Summons, So Warrant Was Issued.

Officers Owens and Archbold, of the Children's Court, had the fight of their career as policemen to-day, and the battle was waged against them by a woman and her twelve-year-old daughter, May Minnet, of 162 Wallabout street, who has been an object of interest to the officials of the Board of Education for some time past. She has attended her class in Public School 71 but twice since the fall term opened. Efforts to compel her to go to school, in conformity with the compulsory educational law, have proved futile. The matter was finally taken to the Children's Court, where a summons was issued for the girl's appearance. She did not respond. A second summons, this time a personal one, was likewise ignored. Justice Wilkin then issued bench warrant. Officers Owens and Archbold were sent this morning to the girl's home, 162 Wallabout street, to make the service. They were met at the door by an irate mother, who began to abuse them with loud voice. She used hands and feet and an object that looked very much like a poker, to belabor the policemen. Her daughter, May, joined in, and the officers had their hands full for at least five minutes. They finally got a secure hold on the girl and hustled her to a car. In the Children's Court the girl was paroled until Oct. 23. If she does not in the meantime attend school, she will be dealt with according to law.

THIEF OF $101,000 CASH ARRESTED IN BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 19.—Edward George Cunliffe, for whom scores of detectives have been touring the country, was arrested in this city to-day in front of the Tremont Hotel at 10 o'clock this morning. He has been in Bridgeport since Tuesday, Oct. 10, the day after his theft of $101,000 from the Adams Express Company. Cunliffe admits his guilt, saying that he was seized with a sudden impulse and took the money out of the office under his arm. Only about $200 was found in his possession. The money he claims is in safe hands and can be produced when he wants it. He refuses to disclose its whereabouts. Cunliffe has been boarding at a cheap hotel during his stay here and has been haunting drinking resorts. Murray admitted to the magistrate that he had been in the company of a common-law wife, and that he had been living with her for fourteen years. He denied, however, that he was guilty of bigamy as the first wife has no claim on him except for support. The magistrate, however, decided that the charge of bigamy would stand, and instructed Mrs. McManus to make an affidavit. This she did, and Murray was held in $1,500 bail for examination.

CLARKE APOLOGIZES FOR ROY'S LANGUAGE.

Judge Fitzgerald states that District Attorney Clarke to-day called upon the judges of the Court of Special Sessions to express regret that in a recent case tried in the County Court, one of the assistants in his office, according to reports in the newspapers, used language reflecting upon the Court of Special Sessions. The District Attorney disavowed upon the part of his office any intention of reflecting in any way the action of the court in any case tried before it, and he expressed the opinion that the language attributed to his assistant must have been greatly exaggerated in some of the newspapers.

CRAZY NEGRO SLASHER FIGHTS THE POLICE

Several policemen had a hard job this afternoon subduing a rum-crazed negro who had assaulted and nearly killed Samuel Wachtel, a bartender in a saloon at 62 DeKalb avenue. Wachtel has a deep cut on his forehead and a slanted line of blood made by a knife or razor in the hands of the negro. The negro went into the saloon about 10 o'clock and bought a pint of gin. About an hour later he returned and demanded his money, saying he had not got what he had ordered. The negro pulled something from his pocket and made a lunge at the bartender. The proprietor and some persons in the barroom tried to seize the negro, but he fought them off. Policeman McCree, of the Adams street station, had to use his club to subdue him. He fought like a demon all the way to the station house, where they put straps on him and the ambulance surgeon gave him a hypodermic injection. The surgeon said he was suffering from acute mania.

STOLE ROLL OF CARPET, HE SAYS, FOR A JOKE.

Charged with larceny of a roll of carpet valued at $12, Edward Woods, 43 years old, of 673 Driggs avenue, was held for examination by Magistrate Steers in the Lee avenue police court this morning. The complainant was Robert Whalen, a member of a firm of furniture dealers, whose store is at Driggs avenue and Grand street. Last night, Whalen alleges, he saw Woods take the roll of carpet, which was laying on a table in front of the store, and start to walk away with it. Whalen called a policeman who placed Woods under arrest. Woods said he took the carpet for a joke.

MURRAY SAYS HE ISN'T A BIGAMIST

Declares the Woman He Is Living With Is His Common-Law Wife.

COURT DECIDES TO HOLD HIM. Wealthy Plumber's Widow Makes the Charge.

A charge of bigamy was preferred against John Murray, a mechanic employed by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, in the Lee avenue police court to-day by Mrs. Mary McManus, the widow of a wealthy plumber, who lives at 55 DeKalb avenue, and says she was married to Murray on Sept. 17. Murray was arrested last night at 140 Wyckoff avenue, where he was found living with a woman, who is known as Mrs. Jennie Murray, and who, he says is his common-law wife. Mrs. McManus went to the Vernon avenue police station last night and told the sergeant that she wanted Murray arrested on a charge of bigamy, but when Detective Willigan went to the Wyckoff avenue address with her and learned that the woman with whom he was living was only Murray's common-law wife, it was decided to hold him on a charge of vagrancy until this morning. There is to be a meeting of the Campaign Committee at Republican headquarters in Joralemon street this afternoon, at which a lot of campaign plans will be talked over. The majority of the county candidates were at Republican headquarters this morning. Major Ebstein said he was going to make a whirlwind trip to-night, and would try to speak at five meetings in the Eastern and South Brooklyn districts. The Conell forces down in the Seventh Assembly District are to hold a big meeting at their headquarters, Fourth avenue and Fifty-third street, to-night. This is the home section of Edmund W. Voorhies, the candidate for Register, and the major wants to help the Seventh warders get their campaign started in a record way. The major opened headquarters in the Clarendon Hotel this afternoon.

PLANNING FOR BIG RINK RALLY

Chairman Brenner Goes to Manhattan to Confer With Mr. Ivins.

HOBLEY MAKING LIVELY FIGHT. Ebstein Opens Headquarters—Quiet in Manhattan.

Kings County Republican campaigners were making preparations to-day for the big rally to be held at the Clermont Avenue Rink next Monday. The announcement of the rally was made yesterday, and this morning the first demands for tickets were made. Some of the campaigners thought this good evidence of the interest Brooklyn Republicans are taking in the canvass. At Mr. Ivins' invitation, Chairman Jacob Brenner of the Executive Committee went over campaign plans with the Republican city standard bearer. The Executive chairman has mapped out a programme which was printed in yesterday's Standard, but after their talk to-day it is expected that Mr. Ivins will decide to make more speeches in Brooklyn.

There is to be a meeting of the Campaign Committee at Republican headquarters in Joralemon street this afternoon, at which a lot of campaign plans will be talked over. The majority of the county candidates were at Republican headquarters this morning. Major Ebstein said he was going to make a whirlwind trip to-night, and would try to speak at five meetings in the Eastern and South Brooklyn districts. The Conell forces down in the Seventh Assembly District are to hold a big meeting at their headquarters, Fourth avenue and Fifty-third street, to-night. This is the home section of Edmund W. Voorhies, the candidate for Register, and the major wants to help the Seventh warders get their campaign started in a record way. The major opened headquarters in the Clarendon Hotel this afternoon.

HOBLEY'S CAMPAIGN.

Alfred T. Hobley, the Republican candidate for Sheriff, was another caller. Mr. Hobley has opened his headquarters at 413 Bedford avenue. The candidate, who is the Republican leader of the Fifth Assembly District, is conducting an aggressive personal canvass. His nomination came as a reward for many years of work for the Republican party in this county. During that time Mr. Hobley has been a State Senator, and has been a member of the town and is well known to nearly every Republican district captain in the county. They are all working for Mr. Hobley and he expects to poll a large vote. Within the past several days he has received a number of letters from prominent Brooklynites pledging support.

OWENS IS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Ex-Senator George Owens, the Republican leader of the Fourteenth Ward, Mr. Owens' home is at 100 West 10th street, among the enthusiastic callers at headquarters to-day. "We're going to poll a vote for Mr. Ivins in our section," said the ex-Senator, "that is going to be the sensation of the town. Our organization is in fine shape. In fact we never had such an enthusiastic lot of workers in this county. I'm going over to see Mr. Ivins to-day and invite him to speak in our section."

BANNER IN POSITION.

The campaign banner of the Executive Committee was placed in position to-day in Joralemon street, near Court, facing Republican headquarters. IVINS' PLANS. William M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for Mayor, came down to his headquarters in the Hotel Breslin this morning in order to hold a conference with Senator Nathaniel A. Elsborg, who is in charge. Mr. Ivins had nothing to say in public, but he is pleading a measure of business to-day. He said that he might issue a statement some time this afternoon.

DEE, 'S GOOD TELLS OF HIS HOLDINGS IN TRUST COMPANY

In Reply to Questions He States That Morrilstown Institution Has Capital Stock of $600,000, of Which the Mutual Owns $175,000—Hughes Probes Into Formation of Brooklyn Wharf and Warehouse Company—Proceedings at To-day's Session Prove Rather Dry.

Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life, gave further testimony to-day before the Legislative Insurance Investigating Committee regarding the assets, as well as the financial operations, of the company. Mr. McCurdy said that the Mutual found it was of greater advantage to the company to have its funds placed by a subsidiary company than by the Mutual direct. Asked why it was that the Mutual did not have complete ownership of its subsidiary companies, instead of sharing the profits with others, Mr. McCurdy said that it was for the best interest of the Mutual to have others identified with the subsidiary companies. The United States Mortgage and Trust Company is one of the principal subsidiary companies of the Mutual. "Is not there danger that the large interests in these subsidiary companies may lead to speculation and bad enterprises?" Mr. McCurdy replied that he did not think so.

Mr. Hughes asked about the formation of the Brooklyn Wharf and Warehouse Company, which was formed and financed by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company. It was developed that bonds were issued against the mortgage, and the Mutual took a substantial participation in the company. "Would the Mutual have invested in these bonds if the United States Mortgage and Trust Company had not been formed?" Mr. McCurdy replied that the Mutual made an investigation of the bonds of the warehouse company and believed them to be excellent investments. "What other securities of the Mutual Life become interested in through the United States Mortgage and Trust Company?" "The Washington Traction and Electric Company."

Mr. McCurdy was able to give little information regarding the purchase of the securities of the Washington Traction Company. INTERESTED IN TRUST COMPANY. Mr. Hughes asked about the formation of the Morrilstown Trust Company. Mr. McCurdy said that the Morrilstown Trust Company was formed in 1891 with $100,000 capital stock, which was later increased to $600,000. He said he owned some shares in the company, and that he had a large interest in 1897. Previous to 1898 Mr. McCurdy said he was in no way controlled by the company. He had entered stock to the amount of $600,000, and the Mutual owns $175,000 par value? "Yes."

Mr. McCurdy was asked the amount of the holdings of the McCurdy family in the Morrilstown Trust Company, but replied that he did not have the figures. He said that he thought his son-in-law, Mr. Trebbad, had stock, but he did not know. Asked what rate of interest the company paid to the Mutual, Mr. McCurdy replied that the Mutual received two per cent. for two or three years previous to last September. Since then, the witness said, the Mutual has received a bonus of preferred stock of the company, which has recently been sold in the market.

WON'T CALL HYDE THIS WEEK.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for James Hazen Hyde, came into the Alderman's chamber while Mr. Thompson was testifying. Mr. Untermyer said that it was not likely that the committee would conclude with Mr. McCurdy to-day, and that Mr. Hyde would not probably be called until next week. Mr. McCurdy resumed the stand, and a list of trust companies in which he owned stock were offered in evidence. It was inferred that most of the companies were formed in part by the Mutual. Mr. McCurdy said he derived no profit from any syndicate that had sold stocks of the Mutual to-day. Recuse was then taken.

BURGLARS AT WORK AGAIN IN BROWNSVILLE.

Isaac Spiro reported to the police of the Liberty avenue station to-day that burglars had entered his apartment at 270 Liberty avenue some time after 1 o'clock this morning and stolen valuables and cash amounting to $518. Upon investigation detectives found that the only way the intruders could have entered was through a window, which was partly open in the kitchen.

LAWYER FIGHTS TO KEEP DZALYNSKY OUT OF JAIL.

Lawyer Meier Sternbrink asked Justice Maddox in the Special Term of the Supreme Court to-day for a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case of Harry Dzalynsky, who was sentenced by Judge Denham to serve six months in the penitentiary for keeping a disorderly house at 63 Flatbush avenue. Owing to the fact that District Attorney Hoy being absent elsewhere, the matter was postponed until to-morrow.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF STEALING IN BIG STORE.

Mrs. Julia Kavanagh was charged in the Adams street court to-day by May Dunlop, a store detective, with stealing a coat and five lace collars from a Fulton street department store. She was held for examination.

SAILOR BEATEN AND ROBBED IN HOTEL

Flees Brooklyn and Meets Pid Man Who Wants to Steer Him Up Park Row. While He Fights Baker Jack Tar Gets Away.

A crowd blocked traffic to-day at the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge when Policeman Patrick Mulvehill, of the Adams street station, tried to arrest Frederick Stien, 32 years old, who said he was a pie baker living at 700 Park avenue, Brooklyn. In the Centre street court, Manhattan, the policeman told Magistrate Pitin a story of robbery in a Brooklyn hotel. He said that he saw a sailor from the Brooklyn Navy Yard get off a bridge-train in a battered condition. The sailor said he had been robbed of a large sum of money in a Brooklyn hotel after being brutally beaten. The thieves, the sailor said, had got all his money except $20, for which he made a fight and finally escaped.

On the bridge train the sailor told the policeman, Stien had sympathized with him, and offered to take him to another hotel in Park Row, where he would be safe from thieves. When Mulvehill saw the solicitude of Stien for his new acquaintance, he became suspicious and told Stien to mind his own business. When Stien insisted on shadowing the sailor, Mulvehill arrested the pie baker, a powerful fellow, who made a fight to get away. Two other policemen came up and finally subdued him. In the meantime the sailor disappeared, and when Mulvehill returned to the court he had no complaint, and was roundly scolded for letting the sailor get away. Stien fought on the bridge after he had been fined $2 and it took several policemen to take him away. He was locked up in the Tombs in default of payment of the fine.
