

MOSCOW DECLARES HER INDEPENDENCE

Delegates of All Political Parties Agree to Unite and Establish a Government.

TO DISREGARD AUTHORITIES.

Wave of Revolution is Spreading All Over Russia and Engulfing the Country.

PANIC IN ST. PETERSBURG.

Armed Troops Throng the Streets and Bloodshed is Expected Before Long in the Capital.

Moscow, October 28.—At a meeting of delegates representing the different political parties it has been decided to unite in the establishment of a government to act independently of the imperial authorities.

Thirty thousand infantry and five thousand cavalry with ninety-eight guns have been collected in this city in readiness to stifle any disturbances.

The revolutionary leaders are reported to have distributed thousands of revolvers to the strikers.

The city is in darkness last night. To-day the shops, theaters and schools are closed and the streets are deserted save for the troops and streams of workmen.

Telegraphic communication with the interior is open, but the dispatches received are meager.

From all over the empire the strike is the same work stopped, no newspapers printed, schools closed, and the business life of the people suspended.

The Board of Trade has petitioned against the state-of-siege. Prices are very high. Water is 20 cents a pail.

The utmost alarm prevails owing to rumors that workmen are marching on the town from the factory district.

Eight banks have closed and the Bourse remains closed. The town council has decided to sit permanently.

St. Petersburg Cut Off.

St. Petersburg, October 28.—Telephonic communication in this city and with Moscow has ceased. St. Petersburg is entirely isolated from Moscow.

A meeting of the strikers called to take place in the Assize Courts at noon to-day, but it failed to assemble.

The strike committee, which is at the helm of the movement here, is well organized. Its directions are obeyed unhesitatingly by the workers.

The number of troops in the streets was increased as the day advanced. The Cossack, cavalry and infantry patrols were multiplied, but no violence was reported.

The foreign residents here are extremely nervous and have begun to beseege their embassies with inquiries as to what will be done to protect them in case the mob gets the upper hand.

FIGHT TO PLACE JEROME IN REPUBLICAN COLUMN

Board of Elections is Requested to Hold a Special Meeting This Afternoon.

MAY WAIT UNTIL TUESDAY.

Republican Managers Plan to Carry the Nomination Straight to the Court of Appeals.

The fight to get District Attorney Jerome's name under the Republican emblem began in earnest this afternoon when a committee from the Republican County Convention went before the Board of Elections in Manhattan and asked the certificate of nomination.

When the Board of Elections met this afternoon, it was asked to hold a special meeting to place Jerome's name in the Republican column, and it is thought it will be necessary to appeal to the courts.

The Board of Elections may not take any notice of the Jerome nomination until the regular meeting next Tuesday. Judge Voorhis, president of the Board of Elections, is a Democrat and not in sympathy with the Republican move.

Commissioner Page of the board is working hard to get the four commissioners together this afternoon at the city hall.

The certificate left county committee headquarters Chairman Halpin said he expected to get before some Supreme Court Justice this afternoon.

AFFIDAVITS ONLY APPEAR AGAINST SYRIANS

Alleged Conspirators Headed by Bishop Hawaweeny Gave Themselves Up.

HEARING PUT OFF TILL NOV. 10.

Idea of a Conspiracy to Kill Ridiculed. Bishop in Cross' Care.

There was an interesting parade of Syrians and detective sergeants from the local headquarters office on State street, this morning, to the Adams street court, for Bishop Hawaweeny and his followers had been arrested charged with the murder of a man in the latter street court yesterday.

The other prisoners were Issa Awad, George Shihri, Ameen Khatrala, Hassib Nahas, Ameen Khoury, Elias Srour, Nicola Dibb, Nicola Abo Saura, Elias Antoum, James Zraik, Najeb Diab, George Akury, Antonio Saba, and George Kassar. All of the men had been told that there were warrants out for them and they went to Captain Harkins' office in headquarters this morning en masse, and gave themselves up.

They had an interpreter and a representative of Lawyer James W. Osborne's office with them. Mr. Osborne is too busy running for District Attorney of Manhattan on the Tammany ticket to bother with his clients just now.

The story of the complaint was told with much completeness in the Eagle yesterday afternoon. It hinges on the affidavit of a man who attended a meeting at the bishop's church, at 229 Pacific street, on the 22d of August last, at which it was alleged the bishop and his friends had conspired.

And the affidavits also alleged that the sum of $1,300 had been paid to assassins for the lives of Najeb M. Madoor and Naboum Madoor. All of this story is scouted as ridiculous by the bishop and his followers.

"What do you think?" said one of the men to a reporter this morning. "Do you imagine that if there was any such conspiracy an outsider would have been let in at the meeting? Conspirators are not in the habit of doing such things. No, this is simply another plot to annoy the bishop and his friends."

The bishop did not seem to worry much, but in a gently episcopal way looked grieved that he should be brought into court again. He came under the escort of an officer detailed from Inspector Cross' office, for the inspector, fearing that some serious trouble might be stirred up by the bishop while in charge of the borough, prevention is better, I think, than explanation, and if anything should happen to the bishop I do not know what I would do. But he is safe."

There were no enemies of the bishop and his churchmen in court to-day for if any of the Syrians who are scrapping with the faction knew of the arrest they did not attend the proceedings in court. Indeed the complainants were not represented, except by affidavits, which the bishop will come up to defend.

MANIAC ON LA LORRAINE.

Michael Pugneto, of Butte, Montana, Attacked Steamship's Orderlies and Cut His Own Throat.

An exciting episode, which came near ending in a tragedy, marked the passage of the French Line steamship La Lorraine, which arrived this morning from Havre.

The passenger is entered on the liner's books as Michael Pugneto, 30 years old, of Butte, Montana. He is returning from a visit to his mother, who lives in Turin, Italy.

Although Pugneto has half a dozen wounds in his throat, he will recover, it is said. He left a note written in Italian, which reads, as translated: "Dear mother—They are trying to kill me. I am going to leave it all. Meet me in heaven."

But as a Result, Dean of Suffolk Bar Is Sued by His Wife—Son Mother's Counsel.

Riverhead, L. I., October 28.—An odd situation in the legal line here is a case wherein Mrs. Caroline P. Griffin is suing her husband, Timothy M. Griffin, the dean of the Suffolk County bar, and their son, Robert P. Griffin, appears as attorney for his mother.

The charges in the suit are technical ones. The defendants in the suit are Herbert C. Tutball and Timothy M. Griffin, an executor of the will of Hans J. Rosenberg, and Edwin George Rosenberg, the executor of the will of Hans J. Rosenberg, who is now being published against Mr. Benjamin.

$6,500 FIRE AT ROCKAWAY.

Four Buildings in Flames—Two Totally Destroyed—Horse Burned to Death.

Rockaway Beach, L. I., October 28.—Four buildings were wholly or partially destroyed, one horse was burned to death and a loss of $6,500 entailed in a fire which was discovered soon after 2 o'clock this morning.

Policeman Krebs was patrolling his post, when he saw flames shooting from the roof of a barn on Oceanus avenue near the railroad tracks. He turned in an alarm, and the firemen were promptly on the scene. They found the entire building in flames, and as there were half a dozen or more frame buildings adjoining, the firemen turned their attention to saving them, if possible.

The fire started from some unknown cause in George Cloos' stable, which was totally destroyed, together with one horse.

TRACKS DOWN SINCE 1863 REMOVED BY CITY TO-DAY

Old Canarsie Steam Railroad Rails Were Quickly Husted Out of the Way.

SOME FEAR OF AN INJUNCTION.

East New York People Watched the Work With Satisfaction—Owners Would Do Nothing.

Hundreds of East New Yorkers watched the removal to-day of the tracks of the Canarsie Steam Railroad from Atlantic avenue, at Manhattan avenue, to the historic Howard House, which was the terminal of the road during the Civil War.

The tracks were first laid in 1863 and were clipped up and moved to the south side of the avenue in 1878, remaining there until this morning, when 150 men under Assistant Engineer J. C. Sheridan of the Highway Department, tore them up.

The tracks were removed with ties and switches and thrown in a heap under the structures of the Long Island Railroad. The work was hurried for fear the owners of the road would get out an injunction restraining the workers and to this end there were enough men on hand so that the placing of the city department could not be frustrated.

From about 8 o'clock the men arrived, armed with picks and shovels, and fell to work, urged by the foreman, who was running about in dozens. At 10 o'clock most of the tracks stretching four blocks on the south side of Atlantic avenue to Georgia avenue were ready for removal.

Section after section began to fall away under the hands of the men. As soon as one length of rail was removed the ties would follow, and the average soon took on the appearance of a ploughed field.

As the news spread hundreds of men gathered about the roadbed speculating on the object of the work. Roundman Fitzgibbon, an policeman from the street, said the work was done to put down a disorder, but no one appeared to interfere.

The cause of the removal of the tracks was the work of the Atlantic avenue improvement which started three years ago. When this work was finished in East New York, on either side of the section untouched, the planks and when the asphalt contractor reached that section he asked the owners of the road to remove the tracks or to remove them. This was not until the improvement requests since met with no attention. Finally the city decided to act.

The removal of the tracks will open the street to traffic and is hailed with delight by the residents. The railroad is a landmark of East New York where it has been used for forty-two years. Some of the residents of the Twenty-sixth Ward obtained their first ride on a steam road when as boys they rode in the antiquated cars to Canarsie. The same cars are still used on the road which runs only in the summer from Decoration Day to Labor Day. The road is now in the hands of Receiver Henry J. Robinson.

SEALED VERDICT IN LEWIS CASE

Nassau Supreme Court Jury Wrestled Long With Case Involving Freeprot Contractor and Comely Widow.

Mincola, L. I., October 28.—In the case of Annie Louise Allen, a widow of Wantagh, against Stephen Lewis, of Freeprot, to recover $10,000 for his alleged failure to make good his promise to marry her, heard by Justice Dickey and a jury in the Supreme Court yesterday, no verdict was reached.

The time for adjournment arrived, and Judge Dickey directed the jurors to hand in a sealed verdict when one was arrived at.

The defendant is a well known contractor, and the case attracted much attention. Mrs. Allen, the plaintiff, charges that Lewis wronged her grievously. She is a comely English woman of 36 years, and appeared in court with an infant child in her arms.

She said on the stand that she had been a ship's stewardess and had traveled widely. She married Lewis twice, and was twice widowed. She was first married when she was 16 in England. Her husband was a man named Vincent, who left her to go to sea the same day he married her. She had not seen him since.

She had read in the newspapers that the ship he sailed on was wrecked and all hands lost.

Her second husband was Edward Allen, whom she married at 20, in Catsquaque, Pa. He died suddenly.

The defense of Lewis was a general denial. He swore that at the time he is said to have verbally proposed to Mrs. Allen he was in Paradise, N. C.
