GIRL PAYS CASH FOR "MAGNETISM"

Money Under False Pretences.

never did like men with long hair, Magistrate Cornell to Max Weinberg, an Street Court before, Magistrate Tighe jured to-day in a collision of his buggy has, through the aid of a little mixture of palmistry, insurance and supposedly

The story told was that last March M ss Fray went to Weinberg's home, No. 16 East One Hundred and Twentyfifth street, to have her palm read. It seems that Weinberg, in spite of his title "Dr." uses fortune teling to support himself, his wife and seven chil-dren. Miss Fray said that Weinberg read a very rosy fortune for her, but added that she had no magnetism. For $10, he said, he could give her a charm which would ward off til luck and make her magnetic. Emma wished to be ther magnetic. Emma wished to be magnetic, and gave up $1 on account, bringing $3 the next day. In return she treceived a mysterious chamois bag, which contained the magnetic charm. Miss Fray said that when she opened the bag last week she found it filled with brass filings.

But, said Lawyer Israel, the "doctor" wasn't satished when h came so easily. He made love to Emma. Also on that occasion borrowed $18. Weinberg is alteged to have followed this up by making $25 worth of love. Then he is charged with having urged that, as a token of her love, Miss Fray take out an insurance policy with him as beneficiary. The policy was produced to-day, showing that the girl paid the first premium on a $2.000 policy with the American Temperance Life Insurance Association, of No. 253 Broadway. In one corner is the name, "M. D. Weinberg, Agent."

Temperance Life Insurance Association, of No. 253 Broadway. In one corner is the name, "M. D. Weinberg, Agent." It cost Miss Fray $51.88, but Dr. Max's gazelielike eyes and irresistible whiskers were too strong for her.

But in September she said she called on the loving "doctor," when they were interrupted by Mrs. Weinberg, who accused Thuma of allenation and soared her cut with threats. Her counsel says this is the regular game when all the her cut with threats. Her counsel says this is the regular game when all the stoney has been obtained. But Miss Fray held her ground until she got $14 back. Then she had Max arrested. Israel gave the names of Madeine Werner, No. 124 East Seventy-eighth street, and Ernestine Beck, same address, as two other victims.

CHILDREN'S FRIEND DEAD.

Patrick Keahon, a veteran of the Civil War and a noted story teller among the chlidren of the Bronx, dropued dead to-day in front of his boarding house at No. 191 Beach avenue. He was seventy five years old, but despite was seventy-five years old, but despite his advanced age he was employed as a wax-hman up to las. Monday. School children flecked to him in droves every afternoon to hear his wonderful recitals of the doings of fairles in Ireland. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. Delany, of No. 774 Epring street.

THE ADVENT OF LOHSE

The Inventor of the Famous Berlin Perfume, "Eau de Lys de Lohse," to Visit America.

Eau de Lys de Lohse (O-delese-del-

To those familiar with this fragrant production of the superb perfumer and soap nanufacturer from Berlin-on-the Spree, nothing need be explained. Gustav Lohse, the celebrated per-fumer, purveyor to the Court of the German Emperor, to the Court of Austria-Hungary and many other courts in Europe, comes to court and cater to the discriminating taste of perfumeloving America and to conquer our markets for the toilet articles so highly appreciated abroad.

This enterprising perfumer from Ber-lin has already placed on the American market the trinity of beautifiers, which bear the name of Lohse in the boudoirs of Berlin, Vienna and Paris. They are Eau de Lys de Lohse, Lilienmilch Seife (Milk of Lily Soap) and Maigloeckchen Parfum (Extract of Maybells). Lohse's toilet preparations are firmly established in all European countries, and the celebrated perfumer has determined that this country, America, which expends so much for things beaustiful, and for articles which add to the physical charm, shall know and benefit

With this end in view arrangement as been made with the Manhattan Laboratories Company, No. 249 West Seventeenth street, to act as representatives of the Lohse's preparations in

It is the intention of Herr Lohse to introduce all his preparations in the New York market. The articles mentioned are the three which have made him famous abroad.

For sixty years Eau de Lys de Lohse has been a refreshing requisite on every uropean lady's dresser, and O-delese dellose has become a catchy phrase. With confidence it is now introduced to the people of America. Lohse claims his Milk Lily Soap removes all redness from the skin, and although a detergent, it leaves the skin in a soft, velvety, trans-lucent condition, conforming with beauty and health. As to Extract of Maybells, whoever approaches Lohse's palatial new business nows, Unter den Linden, the apand grander than those of any other house of its kind in Europe, or who-ever nears the old establishment at Nos. 45 and 46 Jaeger Strasse, well knows the delightful perfume with which the air is charged. No country in the world pays more attention to the preservation of female beauty than America, and more especially with the aid of toilet preparations. Lohse's preparations are not con-fined to the privileged few, but are with-in the reach of all.

Exhibition of the Stransky Steel Ware-"a Sale

Every woman who finds personal use for enamelled cooking utensils has come to appreciate how difficult it is to get satisfactory service out of them-for any length of time. Either the white coating would chip off, or it would turn dark-some of it would apparently burn-and the utensil was no longer new.

Stransky Steel Ware has overcome all these troubles. It is quadruple-coated with Enamel that is abically jure; what's more to the point-it cannot be oftened by the heat.

The Stransky people want to get this famous Steel Ware into every home in Greater New York; for once in, they know it'll stay there. They realize that no factor of advertising is so good as an article itself—at the right price—so
