I. Opening of Meeting

President Golle called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m.

II. President's Report

President Golle began her report by advising the community that the district makes clear and consistent communication a priority. A new website and Mass Communications platform was launched last year, and the website is updated frequently with up-to-date information, calendar changes, event details, upcoming parent meetings and other notifications. Additionally, a new section has been added to the website dedicated to pictures from events that take place.

President Golle stated that our principals began using Smore for their weekly newsletters. This program allows them to send important information, links and updates in a manner consistent across all the schools. The program syncs to Mass Notifications so the newsletters are embedded into emails, and they are also posted on the school's website.

Next, she noted that the district is mindful of how many emails families receive from our schools throughout the week. To reduce an influx of emails on a given day, administrators use a communications calendar to schedule when emails are being sent, the content of the email, and to whom they're being sent.

Finally, President Golle reminded the community of the many ways to communicate with the Board.

III. Superintendent's Report

Dr. Lutinski advised that Daniel Warren Principal Tara Goldberg will be reporting on the district's DEI activity, the principles of which are compatible with Rye Neck's mission statement. A specific aspect of DEI involves the adults in the school buildings and their relationships with students. The district works hard to put the best educators in classrooms and puts a premium on instructional skill, work ethic, and personality, but would also like the staff to reflect the cultural diversity we have in the student population. In this regard, the district has become part of the Lower Hudson Council of School Personnel Administrators. The LHCSA is hosting a virtual diversity job fair in March which Rye Neck will be participating in. Last year's job fair had 6,000 participants who will also attend career growth workshops and panel discussions.

Finally, Dr. Lutinski advised that the district will begin the transition to budget season. He and the Assistant Superintendent for Business, Carolyn Mahar, will be working with the Board on the planning and presentation of the 2023-24 school budget in preparation for the budget and trustee vote which is scheduled for on May 16th

IX. Curriculum Presentation - Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

Daniel Warren Principal Tara Goldberg addressed the community regarding DEI. Mrs. Goldberg reviewed Rye Neck's mission statement which is to provide a strong curriculum that emphasizes opportunities and advancement, offer abundant opportunities for involvement, ensure a supportive learning environment, and develop active, critical-thinking, creative, responsible citizens. This pertains to all students that walk through our doors. She defined what DEI means in Rye Neck. Rye Neck values diversity as the individual identities in our school community; it values equity as the process that provides all students with what they need to succeed; and it values inclusion as a community where all students feel accepted and have a sense of belonging.

Next, Mrs. Goldberg explained that the framework was introduced at a Board meeting in October of 2021, the DEI committee was established and a charter was shared with the community on October 25. The Committee was formed on November 1; the first two meetings were led by Dr. Wilson; and they began to prepare for data collection. This led them into a series of meetings where they looked at data for the district, and had focused conversations which allowed them to interpret the data with a deeper understanding. They reviewed the results of the Middle/High School climate survey and participated in equity walks where they visited the different schools. In June, they shared their findings with the community which now guide their work for this year. The data analysis was used to answer the questions: Do all students feel welcome and supported? Do all students have fair access to programs, classes and needed supports? If equity means fair treatment and opportunity for all, does the data reflect that? The data provided a foundation for where we are and how we can grow.

Additionally, Mrs. Goldberg stated that NYSED provided districts with a roadmap which consists of 3 phases. Phase 3 is defined as full implementation. The work is more ongoing at that point. We are currently between phase 1 and phase 2 - looking at the framework to see what we've done and what we should consider doing. The DEI Committee findings continue to be a resource as we look at the suggested recommendations provided and incorporate them. Some of the suggestions are looking at the language on our forms that go out; participating in diversity job fairs; and providing more professional development on culturally responsive practices. We are addressing this through our participation with Southern Westchester BOCES DEI Leaders Network. We launched the school year with a keynote speaker, Dr. Ghodly Muhammad, whose book, Cultivating Genius, introduces equity framework efforts. Finally, Mrs. Goldberg announced an upcoming community event on March 14th - a movie night featuring the movie Wonder. The purpose is to provide the community with the opportunity to explore a film that empowers us to engage in and learn from diverse voices and to empower students with critical thinking, social emotional learning and empathy building.

Booster Club

President Patrick West reported that the Booster Club is producing custom signs for each senior to help celebrate the Senior Days which are taking place now. The scholarship program is fully funded, with scholarships set for seniors in both athletics and in theater. The application process will start in the spring. The High School theater program will be performing Anastasia in early March. The Booster Club will be providing several meals for the cast and crew between now and when the performances take place. Finally, March Madness parents-night-out has been scheduled for March 24th.
