

JUNE

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
ANIMALS: Ask someone about their favorite animal. How you're interested with your eyes. Don't stare or look away for too long.	Describe your favorite animal. Watch your listener's face to see what they think (do they also like that animal, does it scare them, etc.) See if you can guess!	Ask someone about their pets. Show you're listening and interested by sitting up straight and facing your body to them.	If you could be any animal, what would you be and why? Tell someone about it and watch their eyes to tell if they are listening.	Say "That animal is my favorite" once seriously (like you mean it) and once sarcastically (like you're joking). See if anyone can guess which way you said it.
FOOD: During dinner tonight, make good eye contact with the speaker. Don't stare or look away for too long.	Try a new food today. Use your face (no words) to say if you like it or not.	Ask your mom or dad what their favorite meal would be. Face your body toward them and lean forward slightly to show them that you are interested.	During dinner tonight, make sure you make eye contact with a person before you begin talking to them.	Give a compliment to whoever prepared dinner. Remember to use a polite voice and look them in the eyes!
BOOKS: Ask someone about a book they read recently. Ask what they liked about it. Look at their eyes when you ask them!	Describe your favorite character in your favorite book. Tell how the character feels when certain things happen. Show it with your face.	Listen to someone read you a book. Make sure you are sitting up straight, with your body still to listen.	If you wrote a book, what would it be called and what would it be about? Tell someone about it and watch their eyes to see if they're interested.	Read a short book (or part of a book) to your mom or dad. Try to use different voices for each character that talks!
PERSPECTIVE: Think of 5 things you like to talk about. Think of 5 things your mom or dad likes to talk about.	What is something you like to watch on TV? Do the other people in your family like that show too?	Give someone a compliment on something they did today. Be specific with your words.	Think of 3 gifts someone in your family would like. What are that person's interests?	If you were going to make dinner for your parents, what would you make? Remember to think about what they would want to eat!

July

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
OUTSIDE: Sit outside with your mom or dad. Describe anything you see while pointing to it and looking at the person you are talking to.	Go for a walk outside today with your mom or dad. Smile while you are talking with them to show you are enjoying time with them.	Talk with someone about your favorite things to do outside. Face your body toward the person you are talking to.	Play a game with someone where you try to guess what they are looking at outside. Take turns and see who can get closest!	If you go somewhere in the car today, make sure to use a pleasant tone of voice while talking since the driver can't see your face!
YOUR HOUSE: Every time you are in the kitchen today, make sure to look at the person you are talking to before starting to talk.	Play a game with someone where you think of a room and they guess room names until your face tells them they are right. Take turns!	Find 3 pictures in your house. Talk with someone about who is in the pictures and when they were taken. Make sure to sit up straight and keep your body still!	If you designed a house, what would it look like? What rooms would be in it? Tell someone about it and watch their eyes to see if they are interested.	Today, every time you go into a room that someone else is already in, give them a compliment or say something nice to them.
YOUR FAMILY: Tell your parents something you like about them. Look at their eyes when you tell them so they know you are being honest.	Look in the mirror and show 5 different emotions with your face.	Have a conversation with two other people. Turn your head or body to face whoever is talking. Make sure everyone gets a turn.	Play a game with your family. Look at the person whose turn it is and show them with your eyes that you are waiting.	Talk with someone about some family traditions you have or wish you had. Use a calm, quiet, indoor voice. Take turns talking.
VACATION: Ask someone what their favorite part of summer vacation is. Use your eyes to tell them you are interested in what they have to say.	Write down 5 places to go on vacation. Tell someone whether you would want to go to each place or not by using your face (no talking).	Tell your mom or dad what you did or want to do on vacation. Sit up straight and keep your body facing them.	Think of 5 things to do on vacation. Ask someone if they would like to do these things and look at their face to guess what they think.	Pretend you forgot to pack your swimsuit for vacation. What would your voice sound like if you were going to the beach? What about if you were going skiing?

August

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
TV/MOVIES: Ask someone what their favorite movie or TV show is. Look at their eyes and say their name when you ask them.	What is a movie you've seen recently? Tell your mom or dad what it was and whether you liked it. Use your face to help tell whether you liked it or not.	Play charades with movies! Have someone guess which movie you are acting out and vice versa. Take turns!	If you watch a TV show or movie today, pay attention to where the characters look with their eyes when someone is talking to them.	Make a list of 10 movies. Have someone read the 10 movie names and use their voice to tell you if they've seen them or not. See if you can figure it out!
SPORTS: Do you like to watch sports or play sports better? Why? Tell someone about it and look at their eyes when you talk to them.	Describe how to play your favorite sport. Watch your listener's face to see if they understand or if they are confused.	Tell someone about a time you played a sport. Face your body toward them and watch their body to see if they are facing you.	Ask someone about their favorite sport. Show you are listening by looking at them while they speak.	Make a list of 3 sports. Use the sentence "I love to play ___" for each one, using a sarcastic (joking) voice or serious (real) voice. See if someone can guess which!
