

Unit 4: Rights for All

6th Grade Honors Humanities

14 Class Meetings

Created May 2024

Essential Questions

- What does it mean to have equality and justice in a society?
- How have civil rights movements shaped the world we live in today?

Enduring Understandings with Unit Goals

EU 1: Civil rights are fundamental rights that belong to every person, ensuring equality and freedom from discrimination.

- Understand that civil rights help us appreciate the importance of equality, justice, and human dignity in society.
- Examine what are civil rights, and why they are important as well as what it means to have equality and justice in a society.

EU 2: The Civil Rights Movement in the United States, as well as other global civil rights movements, played crucial roles in challenging and changing unjust laws and practices.

- Investigate key figures and events from civil rights movements and how they have left a lasting impact on laws, societal norms, and the fight for equality.
- Determine how the Civil Rights Movement of the 1960s built on earlier struggles for freedom and equality.
- Assess in what ways other countries have experienced their own civil rights movements, and how they compare to the U.S. Civil Rights Movement.

EU 3: The struggle for civil rights is ongoing, as many groups continue to fight for recognition, equality, and justice.

- Examine how modern civil rights issues often mirror past struggles, showing the need for continued vigilance and activism.
- Determine what civil rights issues are still being addressed today and how we can recognize and combat discrimination in our own communities.
- Assess what role do young people and students play in the ongoing fight for civil rights

- Unit Exam: Historical relevance of civil rights (EU2 and EU3)
- Unit Task: “Powerful Words” Written Expression Analysis (EU1, EU2 and EU3)

Unit Task

Unit Task Name: “Powerful Words” Written Expression Analysis

Description: Students will choose and analyze a song and poem that were written during or in response to civil rights movements. They will explore literary devices as well as the mood and tone of each piece as well as how it conveys struggles of equality, justice, and dignity (EU1). Students will then write a piece explaining how the song and poem of their choice are connected to past, present, or future civil rights movements (EU2 and EU3). Finally, students will take part in a Socratic Circle to discuss their findings and connections.
