LISD Redirection Program

Redirection is a campus behavior support program for students who qualify for special education services. Redirection is designed to support students who have demonstrated difficulty maintaining expected behaviors in the school environment over time, despite classroom interventions, accommodations and a behavior intervention plan. The goal of Redirection is to help support students in situational problem-solving, teaching appropriate social skills, and to help support de-escalation strategies.

Redirection is designed to:

- Keep students in their scheduled classes
- Equip students with behavioral, social, and/or emotional skills needed to be successful in the school environment
- Build self esteem
- Provide students with the skills to cope with stressful/negative situations in the current setting
- Provide students the opportunity to learn alongside their peers while practicing appropriate social skills
- Allow access to a student's least restrictive environment with access to programs such as Art, Band, Athletics, etc.
- Prepare students to function independently in society

REDIRECTION IS...

- In the mainstream setting
- A Positive Behavior Support
- Restorative
- Non-Confrontational
- A way to learn replacement behaviors in the least restrictive environment
- A safe place for students to regain emotional/behavioral control

REDIRECTION IS NOT...

- A Punishment
- Confrontational
- In School Suspension (ISS)
- Disciplinary Alternative Education Program (DAEP)

Students can receive Redirection Support in the following environments:

- Regular Education Classes
- Special Education Classes
- Unstructured Times
 - Lunch
 - Transitions in between classes
 - Before and After School
 - Pep Rallies, School Assemblies

A monitoring schedule is based on individual student needs. Some will require more frequent check-ins than others.

Considerations for Student Participation in Redirection

- The student is eligible for special education services
 - If a student is receiving services through 504 or Multi-Tiered Systems of Support (MTSS Behavior), Redirection Program can be considered if the behavior is keeping the individual out of placement or an individual evaluation has been requested and more intensive support is needed during that evaluation period.
 - The Student is transitioning back to school from a more restrictive environment (psychiatric hospitalization, residential...etc.) as part of the transition plan back to campus
- The student exhibits significant behavioral problems which result in difficulty focusing on and engaging in activities in a productive manner, persistent classroom disruption, or other significant behavioral/social-emotional difficulties.
- The student exhibits social skill deficits that consistently result in maintaining appropriate behaviors in the classroom setting.
- The student must have a behavior intervention plan that addresses the current behavioral concerns.

Redirection Support System

The purpose of the Redirection Support System is to take a restorative approach to behavior based on the student's individual need. Student's will be monitored daily on a various schedule depending on individual need, daily progress and data collection will be documented based on student's individual need and will have access to social, emotional and behavioral supports to help build social, emotional and learning skills.

Criteria for Redirection Support:

- The student qualifies for special education services (or is part of 504, MTSS)
- There is a Functional Behavior Assessment (FBA) that addresses the current behavioral concerns.

- A Behavior Intervention Plan (BIP) has been implemented with fidelity for 4-6 weeks.
- Data shows a prolonged time for the student to redirect after an emotional or behavioral outburst
- The student requires more targeted “check in/check out” times in order to make progress on skills in the school environment.
- The student requires more direct instruction to learn appropriate social and behavioral skills.
- The student needs access to a higher rate of positive reinforcement and rewards (1-3 times per day or more) based on FBA and BIP.

If there is a student identified as a candidate for Redirection support, campus staff should communicate with the lead special education teacher, Redirection teacher, diagnostician or 504 coordinator to review the student information and determine if the above criteria have been met. If so, an ARD meeting or 504 meeting must be held in order to address behavioral needs and supports in the Behavior Intervention Plan before a student can access the Redirection Program.

Potential Redirection Supports:

- Daily Check-ins/check outs (2 times per day...up to every hour/period)
- Monitor daily behavior report
- Deliver positive reinforcement and rewards based on criteria and BIP (could be 1 time daily...up to every hour/period)
- Student could receive direct instruction on social, emotional and behavioral skills from Redirection Staff.
- Students can use “Redirection Pass” as determined on individual need to access Redirection staff and room throughout the day if support is needed.
- Refocus time: Redirection staff can pull student from class or LRE in order to help refocus, redirect or provide support in a private location.
 - Level 1: if Redirection Staff is called, the student can be removed in a private location or Redirection room for a refocus/redirection for 15-20 minutes and quickly returned to class.
 - Level 2: If the behavior(s) occur a 2nd time after the initial refocus/redirection, the student will go to Redirection for a direct refocus time with a guided intervention (problem solving form, social skills lesson ...etc.). This time could be up to 1 hour. During this time the student can also complete assignment(s) from class.
 - Level 3: If the behavior(s) occur a 3rd time after (level 1 and level 2 intervention), the student COULD be removed to the Redirection room for an hour or up to the remainder of the day AFTER consultation with the behavior support team and/or campus administration. During this time the student will continue to receive intensive remediation of social, emotional skills while completing school work. If the student ends the day on a level 3, the following school day the student will meet with redirection staff before starting the regular classroom schedule in order to problem solve any potential problems and give reminders of skills.

Student Monitoring System

The student monitoring system is a way for teachers in the classroom to identify and document the level of the student’s current behavioral performance during class periods. This “non-verbal” monitoring system is used in order to minimize disruption of classroom instruction while effectively communicating to Redirection staff the current performance of student’s targeted behavior through the use of technology. Data sheets are used daily through google in order to effectively document daily behavior performance in each class period.

Green	Student is performing at expected behavior level
Yellow	Warning: Teacher implemented behavior response plan in BIP and behavior redirected. The student did not escalate in further the remainder of the class period
Red	Redirection Needed: behavior continues to occur even after the private discussion and with reasonable time to change behavior

If a student is on red, teacher will contact Redirection support. Redirection staff will enter the classroom and attempt to provide support or pull the student to the hallway to assess the situation in an attempt to redirect the behavior, de-escalate the behavior or problem solve the situation. Redirection staff will follow through with a “refocus time” based on current behavioral data for the day. Refocus time is either a level 1, level 2 or level 3 (see above Redirection Supports).

Alternative Interim Educational Placement (AIEP):

The Redirection Program can be used as an “Alternative Interim Educational Placement” if the ARD committee or 504 committee determine the behavior that was under disciplinary review IS a manifestation of the individual’s disability and the student needs a restorative/temporary placement to work on behavior and social/emotional skills in a more intense setting. This placement should be no longer than 10 school days, a transition plan must be included and the transition to integrate back into the least restrictive environment begins within 3-5 school days. This placement must be agreed upon by the ARD committee or 504 committee.
