

Tamalpais High School

From the Principal's Perch

Thank you to Mother Earth for welcoming us into the month of November with much needed rain. With daylight savings time ending on Sunday, we have definitely moved into the next phase of the school year also representing the end of R2 grading period (November 4th). That is a sign that it is time to pick up the academic pace and halt the practice of procrastination that may have left us trying to play catch up. Make the commitment to tackle that project, reinforce the positive habits that lead to success, and dedicate the next six weeks to doing the best work you can. We can do this Tam, if we prioritize giving our best efforts and working vigorously to reach our potential.

Last Thursday we hosted an informational evening for parents to share information on how the district and specifically Tam responds to sexual assault. We were able to provide attendants with information to share with students, and inform families that affirmative consent lessons will be taught in social studies class so that students will be armed with information to make good choices. The passionate gathering illuminated several challenges that we face at Tam, as well as the need to have open spaces where we can dialogue as a community in support of our students. We will continue to create opportunities to share perspectives and collectively problem solve so that Tam reaches the goals we have created, an inclusive environment where all students feel safe, valued, and welcomed. We have work to do to as a community to accomplish our goals and we look forward to continuing to partner with students, families, and caregivers in this shared endeavor.

Counseling Corner

In November, college applications are the focus for our seniors. The California public universities have an application deadline of November 30th; counselors are meeting with many seniors individually to help with the application process and are supporting College App workshops during Wednesday & Friday Tutorials in the CCC.

Last week, counselors hosted a Resource Hunt for the 9th graders, giving them the opportunity to explore the Main office, College Career Center, Wellness, and Counseling Center; some of the campus locations where they may find available resources and support. Counselor Meet and Greet with 9th graders are ongoing.
