Mother's Day message from Mr. O'Sullivan

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

Mr. Peter O'Sullivan and his beautiful mother!

Mothers....

After 21 years of marriage, my wife wanted me to take another woman out to dinner and a movie. She said "I love you but I know this other woman loves you and would love to spend some time with you."

The other woman that my wife wanted me to visit was my MOTHER, who has been a widow for 19 years, but the demands of my work and my three children had made it possible to visit her only occasionally. That night I called to invite her to go out for dinner and a movie. "What's wrong, are you well?" she asked. My mother is the type of woman who suspects that a late night call or a surprise invitation is a sign of bad news. "I thought that it would be pleasant to spend some time with you," I responded. "Just the two of us. "She thought about it for a moment, and then said, "I would like that very much. "That Friday after work, as I drove over to pick her up I was a bit nervous. When I arrived at her house, I noticed that she, too, seemed to be nervous about our date. She waited in the door with her coat on. She had curled her hair and was wearing the dress that she had worn to celebrate her last wedding anniversary.

She smiled from a face that was as radiant as an angel's.

"I told my friends that I was going to go out with my son and they were impressed," she said, as she got into the car. "They can't wait to hear about our meeting". We went to a restaurant that, although not elegant, was very nice and cosy. My mother took my arm as if she were the Queen. After we sat down, I had to read the menu. Her eyes could only read large print. Half way through the entrees, I lifted my eyes and saw Mum sitting there staring at me.

A nostalgic smile was on her lips. "It was I who used to have to read the menu when you were small," she said. "Then it's time that you relax and let me return the favour," I responded.

During the dinner, we had an agreeable conversation – nothing extraordinary - but catching up on recent events of each other's life. We talked so much that we missed the movie. As we arrived at her house later, she said, "I'll go out with you again, but only if you let me invite you."

I agreed. "How was your dinner date?" asked my wife when I got home. "Very nice. Much more so than I could have imagined," I answered.

A few days later, my mother died of a massive heart attack. It happened so suddenly that I didn't have a chance to do anything for her. Sometime later, I received an envelope with a copy of a restaurant receipt from the same place mother and I had dined. An attached note said: "I paid this bill in advance. I wasn't sure that I could be there; but nevertheless, I paid for two plates - one for you and the other for your wife. You will never know what that night meant for me. I love you, son."

At that moment, I understood the importance of saying in time: "I LOVE YOU" and to give our loved ones the time that they deserve. Nothing in life is more important than your family. Give them the time they deserve, because these things cannot be put off till "some other time."

(Author unknown - Story passed on to me by a very good friend – my wife, Maggie)

Kindy LH

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

In the Early Learning Village, we have a Health and Wellness program that runs over two weeks. Within the range of the two weeks, we focus on a colour which derives our activities in the different continuous provision learning areas apart from catering for student's interests.

In weeks 1 and 2, Kindy LH class had the opportunity to learn about the colour yellow. Very interesting to see, hear and observe how the littlies can use their prior knowledge to make connections to what they know about the colour yellow. Furthermore, to consolidate their knowledge of the colour yellow, exposure to the online vides through singing, dancing, listening to stories and fact shows were effective tools to use. The highlight of the two weeks was the celebration of the Yellow Colour Day on Friday of Week 2. All in yellow clothing, lunches with yellow colours and of course the outdoor games.

Celebrating the Endless Power of a Mother's Love

Do you know why moms are so special? It's because they have supper –duper love! This love is supper strong and supper warm, like a cozy blanket on a chilly day, but mums' love isn't just for when we are little, it's forever and ever! They help us learn new things, like tying shoes or reading a book. They cheer us on when we try our best, even if we make mistakes. On Mother's Day, we get to celebrate how awesome mums are! We give them cards, flowers and big hugs to say thank you for all the love they give us every single day so today we are doing activities in relation to Mother's Day as you can see the children busy at work.

To all the mothers, grandmothers, stepmothers, fathers who play the mother's role and mother figures out there, "Thank you for your immeasurable love, your unwavering support and your tireless dedication. Your love is the heartbeat of humanity, the bedrock upon which the future is built. Today and everyday may you be celebrated, cherished and honoured for the incredible beings that you are.

GRADE 3RR NEWS ARTICLE

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

Hello everyone and welcome to our first News Article Edition. So far this term, our learning has been exciting but challenging at times. We were always encouraged to take ownership of our learning and to learn to always take risks in class. In this edition, we are going to give a brief insight how the use of hands on resources have impacted our learning in class every day.

Marvellous Mathematics

In Maths, we are on numbers and place value. We investigated Place values using a variety of hands on resources to develop a better understanding of numbers and their place values. It was challenging at the beginning trying to grasp the concept and understand Place value of numbers, but then at the end it was amazing, because we had to use concrete materials to establish basic understanding.

Using arrow cards to help them expand numbers.

The pictures explain the importance of using hands on resources to assist students learn a concept and also fosters the development of problem solving and critical thinking. We had to revisit the basics before learning how to add and subtract numbers mentally.

Using place value chart to identify the place value of numbers.

Using place value counters to help them read numbers up to 10,000.

Using MAB blocks to represent numbers– Ms Lakir is assisting the group.
