- Notify teachers of 5 days of isolation and ask for assignments, if available.

→ Please note:

- a. Return-to-school date is based on improvement of symptoms and being fever free for 24 hours
- b. If your symptoms have not improved, stay home until you are well enough to return to school.
- c. If a doctor or physician recommends your quarantine be longer than 5 days, you must have a note from the doctor with specific dates to receive Quarantine absences from the attendance office.

2. Do I need a negative test result to return to school?

- a. No. You do not need a negative test result to return to school after an isolation or quarantine period. Please do not stay home until you test negative. Absences will only be excused for 5 days.

3. Do I need to bring my positive test result to school?
