Biology with Ms. Cesario

I have to say, my favorite class was definitely Biology with Ms. Cesario. I really enjoyed learning about the different parts of the animal kingdom, and how they all work together to keep the animal alive and functioning. What made it even more enjoyable was the hands-on learning experience. We got to dissect and explore the insides of animals, which was really cool! It was like being a real scientist, discovering new things and learning about the intricate details of the animal's body. And it was even more fun because we were learning alongside our friends, discussing our findings, and sharing our discoveries with each other. It was an amazing experience, and I'll always remember the excitement and curiosity we felt as we explored the different parts of the animals we were studying.

The Pillars of My High School Success

I think my success in high school was largely due to a combination of factors. My family, especially my mom, has been incredibly supportive throughout my educational journey. They've always encouraged me to pursue my passions and offered guidance when I needed it. My teachers, particularly Ms. Curtis, Ms. Ramirez, Ms. Camacho, and Ms. Romo, were also instrumental in my success. They provided me with mentorship and valuable feedback that helped me grow as a student. Additionally, my friends and classmates were a huge source of motivation for me. We studied together, supported each other through tough times, and celebrated each other's achievements.

Finding My Fit: Decision Day

I'm excited to attend Dominican University and study pre-dental! While I'm currently focusing on general pre-dental coursework, my ultimate goal is to specialize in pediatric dentistry. I'm fascinated by the idea of working with children and helping them develop healthy habits for a lifetime of good oral health.

Sisterhood and Support: A Journey of Learning

I'll always remember gaining new knowledge alongside my friends. It was a special experience that I'll always treasure - the thrill of discovery, the excitement of learning something new, and the joy of sharing it with those around me. But what really stands out is the sense of sisterhood that I felt at OLT. It was a place where we supported each other, lifted each other up, and celebrated each other's successes. It was a feeling of belonging that I'll always cherish, and I know that it will stay with me throughout my life.
