Overview of Your Rights

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (“FERPA”) gives each parent/guardian and eligible student the right to review the student’s education records, including recommendation letters and teacher evaluations that are associated with college applications. However, since colleges and universities generally prefer that recommendation letters and teacher evaluations remain confidential, it is recommended that parents/guardians and students waive this right. All parents and students who request letters of recommendation should complete the FERPA Waiver Form as set forth below.

Waiver of FERPA Rights of Access to Letters of Recommendation

I, (student) _____, authorize every school that I have attended to release all requested records and recommendations to colleges to which I apply for admission. I also authorize employees at these colleges to confidentially contact my current and former schools should they have questions about the information submitted on my behalf. I understand that this waiver pertains to any college to which I apply, regardless of whether such college participates in “The Common Application.”

I also authorize employees at these colleges to confidentially contact my child’s current and former schools should they have questions about the information submitted on my child’s behalf. I understand that this waiver pertains to any college to which my child applies, regardless of whether such college participates in “The Common Application.”
