Career Awareness & Bullying Prevention

What does Career Awareness have to do with Bullying Prevention?

Having a clear goal toward a specific career path may help students who are victimized by bullying behaviors. Through this goal-setting process, students can identify with a positive motivation toward school success. This helps students feel a certain sense of the reason that school is needed: to provide the opportunity for the student to attain a career of their choice.

This is the motivational factor behind the School Safety Team selecting January as "Career Awareness Month"

"Take a Stand ~ Lend a Hand" Days

The School Safety Team has selected the LAST Friday of each month to be designated as "Take a Stand ~ Lend a Hand" Day.

On these days we will ask students and staff to wear their t-shirts with the "Take a Stand ~ Lend a Hand" Slogan. Our School Safety Team will be planning activities for students to participate in on these days. Details to follow each month!

Classroom Lessons

Students will take part in grade-leveled class lessons with Jill Kuppel on Career Awareness during the whole month of January.

Thank you to all of the teachers for being so flexible with scheduling these lessons! It is greatly appreciated.

5th—8th Grade “Passport to Careers” Assembly

The upper grades will be taking part in a round robin career awareness program in the gymnasium. We have volunteers from local and state businesses & colleges who have offered to make mini-presentations to our students. Students will be given a “Passport to Careers” card to complete during the presentation. Students will be grouped in small groups and will spend about 5-10 minutes at each presenter’s table.

The “Passport to Careers” Program will be held on January 30th in the Gymnasium and will start at approximately 1:15

We ask that staff who are assigned to classes during this time, assist in the passing out of the “Passport to Careers” card and monitoring student behavior during the assembly.

More details to come...

3rd & 4th Grade Career Awareness Activity

A video presentation will take place for students in 3rd & 4th Grade on Friday, January 30th. The video is titled “Careers Video Tour”. This video is an entertaining presentation of a variety of careers including park ranger, meteorologist, dancer, physical therapist, geologist, and more. The video will live stream through “Wildcat TV” on Friday, January 30th at 2:00. The video is approximately 20 minutes. Jill Kuppel will also provide grade-leveled activity sheets for the students to complete after the video.

Kindergarten through 2nd Grade Career Awareness

A video presentation will be available in your EMS Network File. The video is titled “On the Job”. It is a Berenstain Bears presentation on a variety of careers. You will also receive grade-leveled activity packets. Feel free to view the video at your convenience. Students can work on their packets at your convenience as well. If you would like, you can hand in your packets to Jill Kuppel who will put stickers on them!

Morning Announcements

Monday, January 26th, 2015 ~ Self Awareness

“Career Awareness” Thought of the Day: “Find out who you are and do it on purpose.” This is a quote from the country singer, Dolly Parton. This means that you should take the time to develop your “self awareness” because that is such an important part of your career development. Did you know that the level of success in your future career depends a lot on your ability to recognize those special qualities in you that could help you have a successful career? So today’s reflection is for you to list your accomplishments. Brainstorm all of the things you have accomplished last year, large or small, that could help you in a future career. Ask friends and family members to help you. By doing this, you may discover something that could really help you find a future career!

Tuesday, January 27th, 2015 ~Personal Attributes & Preferences

“Career Awareness” Thought of the Day: Look at your strengths and weaknesses. Knowing what you are good at and what areas you need to improve upon can help you to develop qualities that will help you in a future job. Are you a really good soccer player, but could use some work on your sportsmanship? Maybe you could work on improving your team leadership skills. Are you an excellent student, but your locker and book bag are full of clutter? Maybe you could work on improving your organizational skills. Today’s reflection is for you to make a list of things you are good at (strengths) and things that you would like to improve about yourself (weaknesses). Then use this list to set goals for personal improvement in the new year. By doing this, you are working on improving your career path.

Wednesday, January 28th, 2014~Uniqueness

“Career Awareness” Thought of the Day: You are unique. There is no one in the world exactly like you. We all have different fingerprints and that shows us that we are all special and different in our own way. Learn to like the wonderful person you are and those things about you that help you bring wonderful gifts to the world. Today’s reflection activity is: Take a washable stamp pad. Use your thumb print to make a mark in the middle of the paper. Around your thumbprint, list all of those things that are unique to you: your hair color, your likes, your skills, your accomplishments and those things that are your strengths. Hang this in your locker or your bedroom at home. Use it as a way to greet yourself each morning with a positive feeling about how unique and special you are.

Thursday, January 29th, 2015 ~ Career Identification

“Career Awareness” Thought of the Day: Think about a career or job that you would like to do in the future. Look back on our activities from this week that would help you to be a good person for this job. Identifying the skills needed for a job will help you work on improving those areas as a student in school. Today’s activity is: look everywhere for career possibilities during the school day. Look at magazines, TV, radio. Look everywhere. Make a list of careers you are interested in and then research them. You may find a career possibility right next to you!

Friday, January 30th, 2014~ Goal Setting

“Career Awareness” Thought of the Day: We have been spending a lot of time learning about careers during the month of January. If you have an idea of the type of career you are interested in doing when you are older, why don’t you spend some time researching that career. You can talk to people you know who do this career and ask them about how important school is to being successful. Chances are, they will tell you that during your school years, you are learning many skills that you will use in your adult career! So every time you pick up that pencil during math class, anytime you read a book in Language Arts, anytime you exercise in P.E., you are learning valuable life skills that will help make you a healthy and successful adult!
