

Inspiring the next generation— all in a day's work.

A Kelly® Education Company

Continue teaching in your retirement— become a substitute!

Make your retirement more meaningful, while earning some extra income. As a valued former educator, you can bring your skills and experience back to the classroom in a way that works for you. Working as a substitute after retirement allows you to keep enjoying everything you love about teaching—with total control over your schedule. That means you pick the days you work and which schools and grade levels you work with, while leaving plenty of time for the vacations and personal time that matter most to you. Bring your passion back to the classroom (with a little more time for recess).
