

Start by clicking on the clock in the bottom right corner of the screen

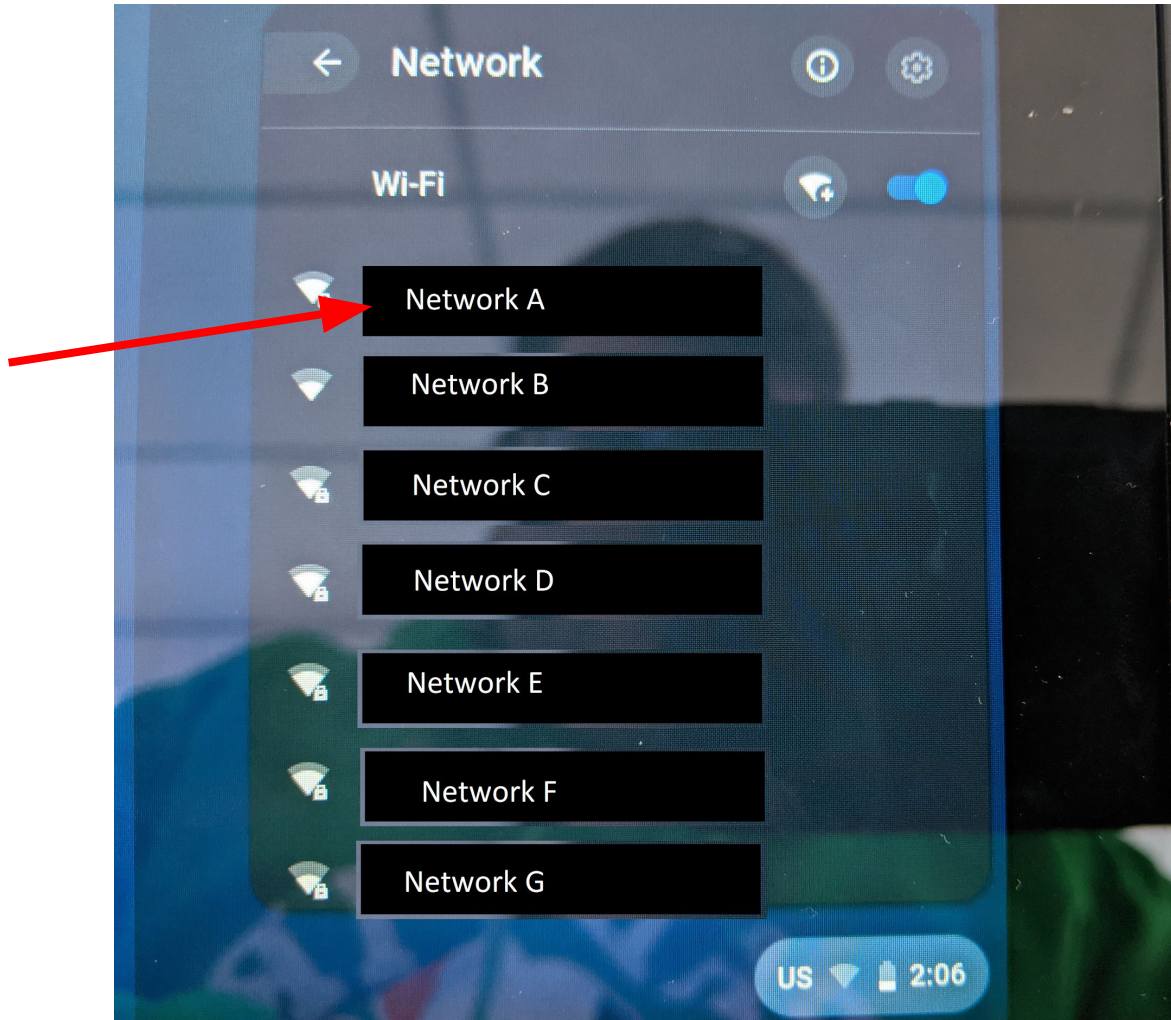

Click on the Network icon. If you're not connected, it will say so.

Choose your home network from the list of networks. Nobody at GICSD knows your network's name, that's something only your household knows.

If you don't know what it is, maybe have a look at somebody in your family's phone -- the odds are they're connected to your home network and you can find the answer there.

Enter your network's password. Nobody at GICSD knows your home network's password.

Finally, click connect in the bottom right corner.
