

Dr. Warnock has dedicated her entire educational career to public education in service to the students and families of Emanuel County. She previously served as the Assistant Superintendent for Teaching and Learning in Emanuel County Schools. Prior to that, she served as a high school principal for nine years.

Dr. Warnock received her Bachelor of Science, Master's, and Specialist's degrees in Education from Georgia Southern University. In 2015, she defended her dissertation, which focused on teacher and leader effectiveness and received her doctorate in Educational Administration from Georgia Southern University.

Dr. Warnock began her career in education as a middle school teacher, serving in several teacher leadership capacities. She moved from the classroom to support positions as graduation coach and school improvement before becoming an assistant principal at both the middle and high school levels. In 2012, she became a high school principal and remained in that position until moving to the Assistant Superintendent position in 2021. On April 1, 2024, she became Emanuel County School Superintendent.

Dr. Warnock is a member of the Professional Association of Georgia Educators (PAGE), the Georgia Association of Educational Leaders (GAEL), and the Georgia School Superintendent Association (GSSA). A previous Georgia Secondary School Principals (GASSP) member, she served on the GASSP Board of Directors for six years. She has served as a guest presenter for Georgia Institute for Educational Leaders and GASSP conferences, as well as a guest presenter and lecturer for Georgia Southern University's Masters of Arts in Teaching (MAT) program.

Dr. Warnock's husband Ken is a lifelong resident of Emanuel County. He serves as the CEO of the Swainsboro-Emanuel County Chamber of Commerce and the Emanuel County Joint Development Authority. Their son Cameron and daughter-in-law Megan reside in Woodstock, Georgia.
