Sixth grade is an important milestone in your child's life. Your child is transitioning from an elementary scholar to a middle school scholar. This guide provides an overview of the academic standards and social-emotional milestones that your child will experience this year. Academic standards are important because they help ensure that all scholars are prepared for success. Your child understands more complex ideas. This guide is meant to support you in understanding what your child is learning, and provide ways you can speak with your child's teacher about their progress and growth over the year.

- Use the internet to locate, retrieve and organize information, recording sources.
- Use a variety of digital equipment effectively based on the learning and tools available.

Ways to talk with your child's teacher

- What is my child's reading level? Is that level below, on or above grade level? What specific skills are they working on?
- How is my child progressing in terms of meeting standards in reading, writing, speaking and listening? What are their strengths? What are areas to improve?

Ways to support your scholar at home

- Set aside time (20–30 minutes) for your child to read every day.
- Ask your scholar to share their student journal and/or readers notebook with you. Ask them questions like, "What text did you read and/or discuss in class today?" "How did what you read today connect to real life?" "What was challenging for you and how did you deal with that challenge?"
- Set aside time (15–20 minutes) for your child to work on ELA homework. Ask them questions like, "What is your homework tonight?" "How does your homework connect to today's learning, or how does it prepare you for tomorrow?"

Ways to talk with your child's teacher

- What is my child's progress on the priority standards?
- What are the best resources I can use to support my child at home?
- What are my child's strengths and weaknesses?

Ways to support your scholar at home

- Reinforce recall of multiplication and division facts by playing math games using flashcards. See how many facts your child knows from memory. Then, see if they can answer more questions the next time by playing again!
- Ask your child what they learned in school today and ask them to show you an example.
- Ask your child to explain the relationship between area, surface area and volume.

Ancient Civilizations

- The study of world civilizations allows scholars to deepen their understanding of the Earth and its peoples through the study of history, geography, politics, culture, and economic systems. Students develop higher levels of critical thinking by considering why ancient civilizations developed, where and when they did and why they declined. Scholars will also practice literacy standards as they use essential questions and inquiry to work on skills such as reading, writing, and thinking like a historian.
- Scholars evaluate the enduring contributions of ancient societies, recognizing the links between the historical and contemporary worlds.
- Scholars will consider multiple viewpoints and weigh the validity of those viewpoints by applying an analysis of evidence.
- Scholars will debate an issue using civil discourse backed with a range of credible sources.
- Scholars will use evidence to justify a claim.

- Generate simple rhythmic, melodic, and harmonic phrases within AB and ABA forms that convey expressive intent.
- Use standard and/or iconic notation and/or audio/video recording to document personal simple rhythmic phrases, melodic phrases, and two-chord harmonic musical ideas.
- When analyzing selected music, read and identify by name or function standard symbols for rhythm, pitch, articulation, and dynamics.
- Identify and apply teacher-provided criteria (such as correct interpretation of notation, technical accuracy, originality, and interest) to rehearse, refine, and determine when a piece is ready to perform.
- Have options to participate in band, orchestra, and choir.

- Demonstrate a variety of motor skills, apply knowledge related to movement and performance activities, and demonstrate skills needed to maintain a healthy level of physical activity and fitness.
- Learn to recognize the value of physical activity for health, enjoyment, challenge, self-expression, and social interaction.
- Access valid health information and use communication and decision-making skills to advocate for their own health.

SOCIAL & EMOTIONAL grade 6 milestones

- Often behave best when away from home
- Love challenge of competition; prefer team sports and getting better at playing as a team
- Need adult empathy, humor, and sensitivity to help them cope with changing minds and bodies
- Moody, self-absorbed, and sensitive
- Like to challenge rules, argue, and test limits; may be cruel; sometimes physically aggressive
- Desire to test limits and rules is important developmental milestone
- Worry more about who's "in" and who's "out" than when they were younger
- Need lots of time to talk with peers; heavy use of cell phone and social media
- Impulsive—often talk before thinking
- Have trouble making decisions
- "Saving face" is important; not necessary for adults to "win" arguments—giving children private, physical space to think things over helps resolve problems peacefully

OUR COMMITMENT TO SCHOLARS AND FAMILIES

All scholars learn best when they experience physical and emotional safety in classrooms and schools. Scholars and families should expect to see the following adult actions:

- Provide a welcoming environment to support building trusting, encouraging relationships with all families.
- Prioritize scholar voice and participation in shaping the learning and classroom culture.
- Teach for understanding to assure scholars have high expectations and academic supports to grow intellectually.
- Focus on scholar cooperation to encourage scholars to learn from and help others.
- Implement school-wide Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports so that all scholars and adults live out their shared beliefs and actions that make school a safe and fun place to learn.

QUESTION & ANSWER

Q: Who do I contact if I have a concern about my child?

A: First, always contact your scholar's teacher/s and discuss your concern. If your concern has not been fully addressed, you can contact the school counselor or principal.

Q: How do I stay informed about my child's progress in every class they take?

A: ParentVUE allows you to see all of your child's courses, assignments, and current grades. Social emotional learning skills are embedded throughout the school year. To learn more about CR-PBIS and social emotional learning at your school, contact your scholar's teacher or principal.
