Graduation Edition of “Faces of Fresno Unified” Digital Magazine Highlights the Class of 2024

The graduation edition of Fresno Unified’s digital magazine, “Faces of Fresno Unified,” is now available. This latest edition of the magazine celebrates the achievements of the Class of 2024, recognizing valedictorians and Fresno Unified Scholarship recipients from all of the district’s high schools. In the pages of the magazine get to know a little bit about:

- Roosevelt High School scholarship recipient Allannah Everk, whose chaotic home life often kept her from attending school and caused her to struggle early on, has since blossomed into an excellent student, musician, and leader. She will attend Fresno State to become a teacher so she can assist students who face challenges with reading and math, just as she once did.
- Duncan Polytechnical High School valedictorian Bryan Flores, whose interest in the welding pathway at Duncan led him to pursue a degree in mechanical engineering at U.C. San Diego and a career in the manufacturing industry. His parents, immigrants from El Salvador, are his biggest cheerleaders.
- Sunnyside High School scholarship recipient Nancy Her wants to become a successful user experience website designer and improve the lives of her parents, refugees from Laos and Thailand. Additionally, she aims to create a safety and mental health support app for Fresno Unified students, parents, and staff. Nancy will attend UCLA to pursue her goals.

“This beautiful magazine has once again reminded me of the extraordinary abilities, resiliency and achievements of our students, and the role that our teachers and staff play in helping our students succeed,” said Interim Superintendent Misty Her.
