Define prejudice, discrimination, anti-Semitism, racism, and sexism. 2. Give examples of prejudice against individuals and groups. 3. Explain how prejudice hurts everyone and the ways we all suffer because of it. 4. Demonstrate an understanding that prejudice and the hurtful actions to which it leads can affect any person or any group at any time. 5. Demonstrate an understanding that when prejudice and persecution hurt people, that we each have a choice about how we react - to help those being hurt, to turn away and pretend that we do not see, to stand and watch, or to join the bullies who are hurting others. 6. Give examples of times that prejudice has led to the persecution and killing of groups of people, such as in the Holocaust. 7. Demonstrate that s/he recognizes that each person is responsible for his/her own actions. 8. Analyze ways in which people can stand up for what they believe is right and good. 9. Discuss things that a person can say and do to be more thoughtful, caring, and trusting of others. 10. Discuss the importance of being honest and truthful. 11. Demonstrate that s/he recognizes that each of us has traits and attributes in which we take pride and that make us special. 12. Demonstrate that s/he recognizes the values that influence each of us. 13.
