Public Comment:

Dave Lasky, 930 Crown Street – As OTA President, he thanked the Board of Education, Dr. Taggerty, and Kathy Elser for their efforts on the 2011-2012 budget. Mr. Lasky encouraged the Board, Administrators, OTA, OESPA, and the community to let the elected officials in Albany know the cuts to state aid are unacceptable and that the Olean City School District and other districts in Western New York have been affected the most. Let's all work together to get the message out.

Public Comment

Taylor Stephens, 122 York Street and Karalyn Anastasia, 123 N. 14th Street – realize that the non-mandated programs are generally the first to be cut. The encouraged the Board of Education not to eliminate the Elementary Art program as this could result in the loss of a HS Art teacher. If a HS Art teaching position would be cut, it would result in the loss of their 2012 Class Advisor as well. So many students would be affected.

Jan Rhody, 120 S. 8th Street – “The Musical Brain and the Budget Pain” presented to the Board of Education with gratitude for their dedication and perseverance to preserve a well-rounded education for students. Research shows that nothing activates as many areas of the brain as music. Alzheimer's patients often able to recognize a beloved song. Song is used to rehabilitate stroke victims. Exposure to music results in cognitive abilities, academic achievement, math proficiency, etc. As a taxpayer, parent, and educator, it is Jan's hope that we all work together to alleviate the budget pain by standing up for an education that our young people deserve.

Communications, Commendations:

The following students were named March's Harold Dutton Student Spotlight Award Recipients: Nick Rieller nominated by Mrs. Ventura – He performed very well on our recent practice Regents. Nick has become more conscientious about completing homework and more meticulous in his writing. His essays are both thoughtful and thorough, and they are a pleasure to read; Ashely Mallery and Abbie MacWilliams nominated by Mrs. Ventura – Both of these students have been working very hard at improving their writing skills and they are already seeing the positive results of their efforts; Amanda Bright nominated by Mrs. Ring – for doing a great job cleaning up the lab when Mrs. Ring was feeling overwhelmed and needed a helping hand; Logan Shearer and Brandon Middaugh nominated by Mrs. Clawson – These two students helped drivers who were stuck in the snow on 4th street side. The community members that called were very grateful for the help. The boys were soaked helping the drivers and did a good deed; Kody Putt, Kristin Brown and Jadelynn Ulmer nominated by Mrs. Peters – These three students are consistently helping out students in class, they each have a great sense of humor and know when it is appropriate to joke around with others in the class. They are leaders and their peers look up to them.
