

Greater Lowell Tech announces December Students of the Month

PUBLISHED: February 17, 2022 at 7:25 p.m.

TYNGSBORO — Superintendent Jill Davis and Assistant Superintendent/Principal Michael Barton have announced four Greater Lowell Technical High School students were selected as Students of the Month for December.

For each month, a student from each grade is selected for academic achievement and displaying the school's core values of respect, effort, accountability, commitment and honesty.

Arianna Huertas, a senior Health Assisting/Pre-Nursing student from Lowell, maintains honor roll/high honor roll grades in all classes and has received awards for perfect attendance. Her schedule includes several honors-level and college preparatory classes and she is employed through the cooperative education program as a certified nursing assistant at Home Away From Home Adult Day Health Center in Lowell.

A member of the varsity cheer team for four years, Arianna serves as team captain and has received the Most Valuable Player award. Outside of school, Arianna is employed at Marshalls in Tewksbury. After graduation, she plans to attend UMass Boston and pursue a career in nursing.

Inalyce Reyes, a junior Medical Laboratory and Assisting student from Lowell, maintains high honor roll grades with an overall 4.07 GPA. She has received academic and perfect attendance awards, and pursues a challenging schedule with honors courses.

An active member of SkillsUSA, Inalyce placed third in the District 4 Technical Competition for Medical Terminology last year and the Schoolwide In-house Competition for Medical Math this year. Outside of school, she works at Dunkin Donuts in Lowell and enjoys volunteering and fostering pets in need of homes. After graduation, she plans to pursue a nursing degree and continue her career in the healthcare industry.

Camren Carson, a sophomore Culinary Arts student from Tyngsboro, is an honor roll student and his schedule includes college preparatory coursework. He participated in the Gryphon Athletic Program through the indoor track and lacrosse teams, receiving the Most Improved Player award for the 2020-2021 lacrosse season.

Camren has also been a member of the Math Club, and he participates in CrossFit at CK's Transformation Center in Dracut outside of school. After graduation, Camren plans to study geology and use his technical skills and experience to pay his way through college.

Soreyboth Eang, a freshman from Lowell, has had a strong start to the year and is maintaining honor roll grades in all of his courses. He is currently in the process of previewing the technical areas through the Exploratory Program and has completed precoursework in HVAC-R, Graphic Arts, Electronics, Marketing and Computer Aided Drafting Design. He is particularly interested in the automotive field and may pursue Automotive Repair Technology. Outside of school, He enjoys playing soccer. Following graduation, he hopes to continue his education before beginning a career.
