TYNGSBORO – Greater Lowell Technical High School has selected its January Students of the Month, based on the characteristics of respect, effort, accountability, commitment and honesty in their classes and among their peers. All four live in Lowell.

Angel Rivera is the Senior of the Month. He is in the Design and Visual Communications program and is taking Advanced Placement courses in English, Calculus and Environmental Science. He has also completed course work with local colleges through Greater Lowell Tech’s Dual Enrollment program. He is a member of the National Technical Honor Society and is a member of the yearbook staff.

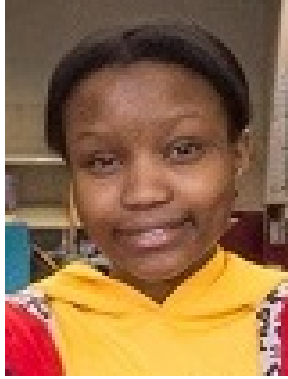

Angel is frequently assigned “live work,” or jobs that will be used in the community, and has received praise for the quality, promptness and accuracy of his work. After graduation, he plans to continue his education with postsecondary studies in Animal Behavior and Sociology. He was nominated for embodying the core values of accountability, effort, and honesty through his leadership in his technical area.

Devyn Phomveha is the Junior of the Month. He is in the Medical Assisting program and has maintained honor-roll grades since entering Greater Lowell Tech. Devyn is a member of the National Technical Honor Society and the Environmental Club. He also competes for the SkillsUSA team and will represent the school in the upcoming District Competition in the category Medical Math.

Devyn was nominated for his commitment, effort and accountability on a daily basis, as well perfect attendance, kindness to others and his ability to negotiate complex situations in both clinical and academic settings. After graduation, he hopes to attend Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences to pursue a career in pharmacology.

Brigette Ikaidu is the Sophomore of the Month. She is in the Programming and Web Development program and takes Advanced Placement Computer Science. She maintains honor-roll grades in all other academic and technical course work. She speaks six languages and has received awards outside of school for her mastery of languages and language translation. Brigette has participated in numerous community-service activities and has also completed an internship at the Lowell Community Health Center. She is a member of SkillsUSA, the choreographer for the Greater Lowell Dance Club, and competes for the spring track team. She was selected for reflecting the values of commitment, honesty and effort through her willingness to learn and her desire to help. She plans to become the first in her family to attend college.

Airam Moquete Valerio is the Freshman of the Month. She entered Greater Lowell Tech from the Wang Middle School. She is a member of the Anime Club and Media Club, and of SkillsUSA, participating in the SkillsUSA Freshman Achievement Program. Airam is hoping to enter the Design & Visual Communications program to pursue her love of art, drawing and photography. She was selected for demonstrating the core values of respect, accountability and commitment through her positive attitude, love of learning, consistent effort and contributions to the school community. She hopes to pursue a career in art and visual communications.
