TYNGSBORO -- Greater Lowell Technical High School has announced its January Students of the Month, each of whom displays the characteristics of the school's core values -- respect, effort, accountability, commitment and honesty -- in their classes and among their peers.

Rosario Lawrence Puleo of Lowell is the Senior of the Month. He is enrolled in the Machine Technology program, and participates in the Music Club, Environmental Club and SkillsUSA, for which he won a gold medal last year in CNC Turning Specialist. He works at Spartan Technology Corporation as part of the Cooperative Education program and volunteers at St. Michael School in Lowell.

Rosario was the top-ranking student his first three years and has had perfect attendance during that time. He received the Top Machine Technology Award the last two years as well as the World History and U.S History awards all three years. He plans to join the U.S. Coast Guard Academy and be a commissioned officer after graduation.

Michaela Kelly of Dracut is the Junior of the Month. She is enrolled in the Marketing program and is an honor-roll student. Michaela competes for the cross-country, basketball and spring track teams. She is also a member of the National Technical Honor Society.

Michaela volunteers to train younger children in basketball and for the Special Olympics. She has qualified for the John & Abigail Adams Scholarship for outstanding MCAS scores. She plans to go to college, major in business and play basketball.

Allison Silva of Lowell is the Sophomore of the Month. She is in the Health Assisting program and is an honor-roll student. Allison volunteers at her church. She plays softball for the Gryphons and received the Most Improved Player award.

Allison plans to attend college to study Nursing and pursue a career as a pediatric nurse. She was nominated for her hard work and willingness to help students and teachers.

Lexi Cotto of Lowell is the Freshman of the Month. She entered Greater Lowell Tech from the Lowell Community Charter School, where she was the valedictorian of her class. She received high honors the first two terms, and assists with the morning announcements. She competes for the volleyball and Indoor track teams and received the Coaches Award for volleyball.

Lexi has volunteered her time at Helping Hands for Thanksgiving services and at a local soup kitchen. She is interested in pursuing a career as a physical therapist. She was nominated for consistently showing respect towards her peers and staff, putting forth excellent effort in every task she takes on, keeping herself accountable for all assignments, and being a positive role model for her peers.
