TYNGSBORO - Greater Lowell Technical High School has announced its Students of the Month for December. Each of these students displays Greater Lowell Tech's core values of respect, effort, accountability, commitment and honesty.

Bell

Jonathan Bell of Lowell is the Senior of the Month. He is an honor-roll student enrolled in the CADD program and is president of the National Technical Honor Society and vice president of the senior class's planning committee. He has participated in the Anime Club and is a member of the swim and dive team. Jonathan works at Granite State Glass as part of the school's Cooperative Education program. He recently enlisted in the Army and received the Army Service Medal. Jonathan plans to attend college to become an urban planner or themepark engineer. He was nominated for his commitment to the school.

Alcantara

Ashley Alcantara of Lowell is the Junior of the Month. She is an honor-roll student enrolled in the Medical Assisting program. She plays tennis and is a member of SkillsUSA, participating in the recent SkillsUSACookies and Cards community- service event, sending holiday cards to service members overseas. Ashley has plans to attend college and study either Biology, Pre-med or Nursing, then become a pediatric nurse practitioner. She was nominated for always being respectful and showing great effort in her classes.

Waiganjo

Kenneth Waiganjo of Dracut is the Sophomore of the Month. He is an honorroll student in the Culinary program and currently works in the school café.

Kenneth is active at his church, participating in a number of church benefits. He would like to become a basketball coach. He was nominated for being a kind and caring student.

Crowley

Julia Crowley of Dracut is the Freshman of the Month. She entered Greater Lowell Tech from Richardson Middle School. She plays volleyball and basketball, and received the Academic Achievement Award. Julia is a Girl Scout and is interested in pursuing a career in nursing. She was nominated for being a hard-working and motivated student who always shows effort.
