TYNGSBORO -- Greater Lowell Technical High School has selected its February Students of the Month.

Alyssa Beaulieu of Lowell is the Senior of the Month. She is an honors student enrolled in Cosmetology and has been recognized in Greater Lowell Tech's "Caught Doing Good" program. She plays volleyball and volunteers for Comcast Cares Day. She plans to obtain her cosmetology license and work in a salon. She would also like to become a special-effects makeup artist.

Alyssa was nominated for displaying leadership qualities and for being committed to excellence in her technical area.

Semy Nguyen of Lowell is the Junior of the Month. He is an honors student enrolled in the Culinary program and has been working in the new school cafe. He plays basketball and volleyball, and has been recognized in the school's "Caught Doing Good" program. He plans to work with his father in the machine-technology industry.

Semy was nominated for working hard in the cafe, being the go-to guy for the instructors and classmates, and always having a positive attitude.

Malinda Ngin of Lowell is the Sophomore of the Month. She is an honors student enrolled in the Carpentry program. She plays lacrosse, basketball and soccer for the Gryphons. She is a member of NESP personal training and is dedicated to her health and fitness. She volunteers for the Lowell General Walk for CancerCare and the Merrimack Valley Food Bank. She plans to join the military and attend college after graduation.

Malinda was nominated for her leadership qualities and wonderful attitude toward learning.

Isaiah Carrasquillo of Lowell is the Freshman of the Month. He entered Greater Lowell Tech from the Wang Middle School, and has made the honor roll his first two terms. He plays basketball and football team, and volunteers at his church. He plans to become a master electrician and run his own business.

Isaiah was nominated for being a respectful student who always gives 100 percent effort.
