TYNGSBORO -- Greater Lowell Technical High School hosted the recent SkillsUSA District IV Competition and fared well on its home turf.

Greater Lowell Tech received 68 medals -- the most in school history -- and 42 students will go on to represent the school at the state conference later this month.

Kenny Dela Cruz, a junior, qualified to campaign for the State Executive Council. In addition, Greater Lowell swept the competition in 3-D Visualization and Animation, Additive Manufacturing, Carpentry, Computer Programming, and Web Design.

SkillsUSA is a national student-leadership organization available to all career and technical students.
