

GLTHS students rock in October

TYNGSBORO — Greater Lowell Technical high school has selected its October Students of the Month.

Daniel Ndungu of Lowell is the Senior of the Month. He is an honor-roll student in the Automotive Collision Repair and Refinishing program. He has been an active member of SKillsUSA, and competes for the soccer and spring track teams. He has volunteered at the Merrimack Valley Food Bank and Team Walk for Cancer Care.

Ndungu plans to join the Army and become a helicopter pilot. He was nominated for being a great student and an outstanding gentleman.

Ian Kirumira of Lowell is the Junior of the Month. He is in the Health Assisting program and competes for the soccer, basketball and volleyball teams, having received the Most Improved Player award for basketball. He has volunteered at the House of Hope, Merrimack Valley Food Bank, Lowell Folk Festival and BayState Marathon.

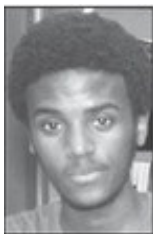

Ian plans to continue his education after graduation. He was nominated for being a great student who is always willing to help others.

Olivia Demers of Dracut is the Sophomore of the Month. She is an honor-roll student in the Medical Assisting program, and competes for the volleyball, basketball and lacrosse teams. She received the Coach's Award for volleyball, and volunteers as a coach and timekeeper for deck-hockey games.

Olivia hopes to attend college to become a physical therapist. She was nominated for her good grades and involvement in sports.

Emily Machado of Dracut is the Freshman of the Month. She entered GLTHS from the Richardson Middle School. She plays soccer and received that team's Sportsmanship Award. She hopes to become a member of the BPA Club. She has volunteered at the Campbell Elementary School in Dracut.

Emily plans to attend college after graduation. She was nominated for being a kind and enthusiastic student who is a role model to her classmates.
