

The government course provides students with a background in the philosophy, functions, and structure of the United States government. Students examine the philosophical foundations of the United States government and how that philosophy developed. Students also examine the structure and function of the United States government and its relationship to states and citizens.

Social Studies standards integrate four dimensions of study throughout the curriculum: Information Processing Skills (IPs), Map and Globe Skills (MGSs), Disciplinary Domains (DDs), and the Reading Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies (RHSS) and the Writing Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects (WHST). These four dimensions provide a comprehensive framework that emphasizes active engagement, interdisciplinary connections, and K-12 Connecting Themes and Enduring Understandings. Together, they show how social studies standards engage students in obtaining, evaluating, and communicating information.

Information Processing Skills	Map and Globe Skills	Disciplinary Domains	Reading and Writing Standards
IPS. 1: Compare similarities and differences (A)	MGS.1: Introduce the use of a compass rose to successfully identify cardinal directions (north, south, east, west). IPS.17: Interpret political cartoons. (A)

The goal of the Information Processing Skills (IPS) is for a student to be able to locate, analyze, and synthesize information related to social studies topics and apply this information to solve problems and/or make decisions. Students are working to master these skills over multiple grade levels. Map and Globe Skills (MGS) are the expected skills that a student should successfully use to retrieve social studies information from maps. The expected level of mastery for IPS and MGS are indicated by one of the following letters in parentheses: Introduced (I), Developing (D), Mastery (M), and Application (A). Disciplinary Domains are the four areas of fundamental concepts that students need to understand to develop a deep knowledge of social studies. The Reading Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies (RHSS) and the Writing Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects (WHST) emphasize the importance of content literacy in the social studies classroom.
