MOSTLY A ANSWERS: THE QUESTIONER

Questioners are curious and like to know how and why things happen. They tend to be logical, skeptical, deep-thinkers who always seek the truth when something doesn't seem quite right. Questioners may find it difficult to trust people and sometimes have a habit of interrupting others.

Pet peeves: not knowing what's going on, being told you ask too many questions, being told to mind your own business, the words "because I said so"

Genres for Questioners:

Mystery, detective stories, historical fiction, science fiction, dystopia

MOSTLY B ANSWERS: THE ESCAPIST

Escapists are interested in worlds that are very different from ours. They enjoy reading books in series with strong world-building, fantasy creatures, and well-developed characters. They especially love stories with a quest or journey! Escapists are often introverts and may prefer the company of books over people. They have perfected the art of reading while walking.

Pet peeves: Being interrupted while reading; books that are too short; living in the real world; boring chores; responsibility

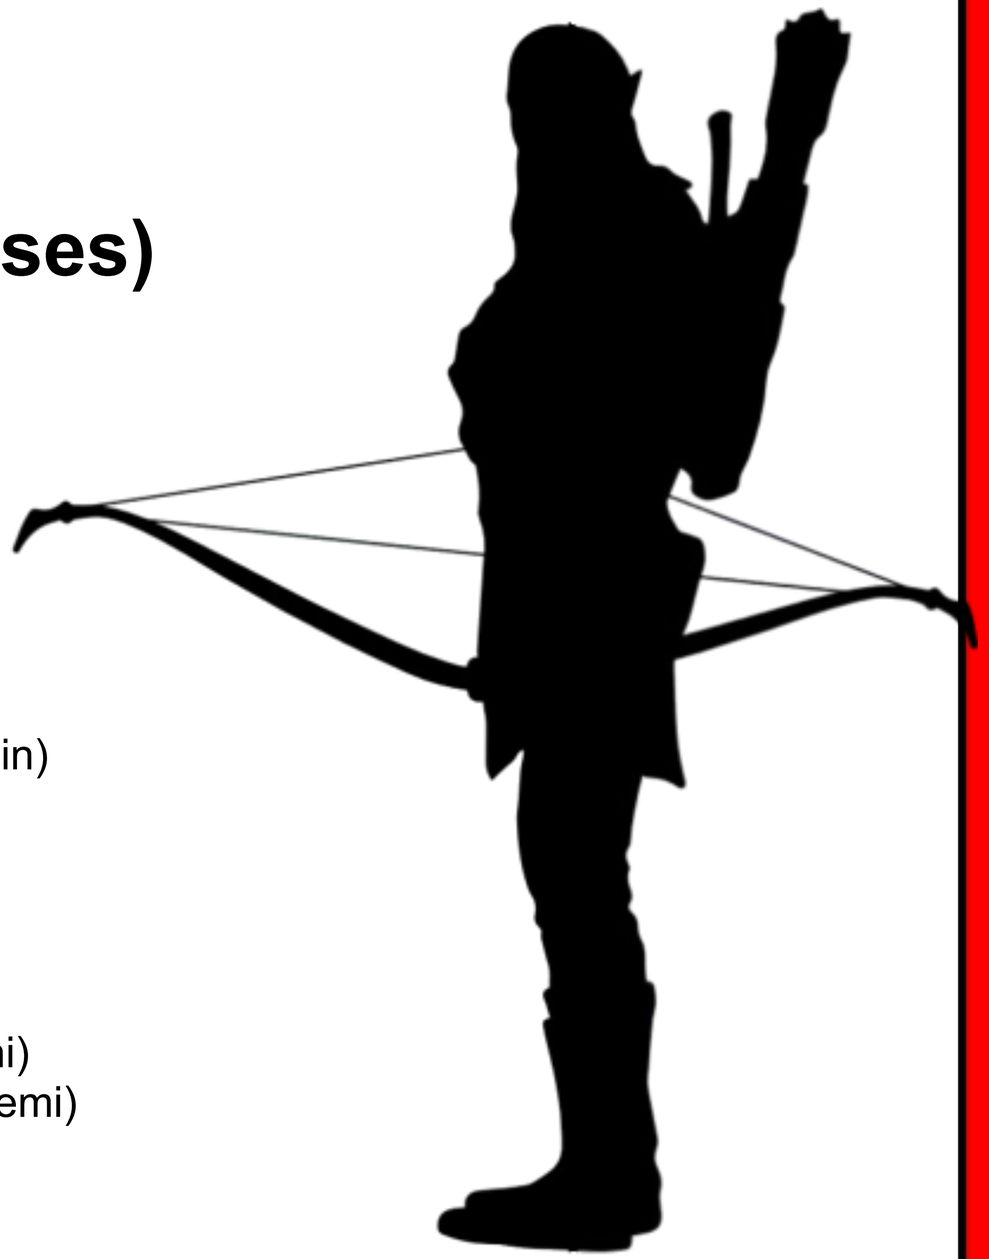

Genres for Escapists:

high fantasy, epic fantasy, animal fantasy, mythology, retellings, science fiction, dystopia, graphic novels

MOSTLY C ANSWERS: THE INNOVATOR

Innovators are good at many things, but they are superstars in subjects like science, technology, and math. Innovators are smart, creative, and like fixing things. They think outside the box and are great at repairing broken computers and electronics. Like Questioners, Innovators may find it difficult to trust others and may prefer to work alone instead of in a group.

Pet peeves: Working in a group, especially when you have a great idea that no one else likes; illogical solutions and ideas; shoddy work

Genres for Innovators:

Science fiction, action-adventure, survival, steampunk, dystopia

MOSTLY D ANSWERS: THE REALIST

Realists like books and movies about teens with real-world problems. They prefer unglamorous characters that feel like real people with real problems. They want books and movies that may end on a positive note but do not sugarcoat reality. Realists tend to choose books that deal with serious issues like mental illness, abuse, suicide, runaways, and discrimination. Realists do not mind sad stories and will sometimes even look for books that will make them cry.

Pet peeves: mean people; bullies; being lied to; people who are falsely positive or upbeat; fair weather friends; people who do not acknowledge serious problems

Genres for Realists:

Realistic fiction, problem fiction, sports stories, romance, diaries and journals, free verse, historical fiction

MOSTLY G ANSWERS: THE COMEDIAN

Comedians are easy-going and take each day as it comes. They love a good laugh! Comedians tend to be well-liked among their peers and teachers. They may be disorganized or lose things easily. Comedians may say they "don't like to read," but often, they have only been reading books that are too serious, too difficult, or assigned for school.

Pet peeves: Stress, anxiety, worrying, feeling like they can't do something, being compared to others, feeling pressured to do something they don't want to do, too many details

Genres for Comedians:

Humor, diaries and journals, graphic novels, funny poetry, comics, joke books; relax with How-To-Draw, craft, or origami books

MOSTLY I ANSWERS: THE ACTIVIST

When something morally wrong occurs, Activists are the first people to step up to fix it. Activists are passionate about protecting the rights of people and animals. They take action to protect the earth. Activists don't just sit there; they work hard to make change happen. Activists are more likely than other Genre Personalities to stand up to bullies, serve on student council, and start new clubs and activities at school.

Pet peeves: ignorance; closed-mindedness; people who are "always right" and will never be convinced otherwise; people who do not respect the rights and feelings of others; people who do not understand how their actions affect others

Genres for Activists:

Realistic fiction, narrative nonfiction, historical fiction, biography, documentary (film)

MOSTLY J ANSWERS: THE ARTIST

Artists march to the beat of their own drum. They are creative and express themselves freely through fashion, art, music, photography, writing, and/or performance arts. Artists are strongly self-aware, individualistic, sensitive, and caring. They accept themselves and others for who they are inside and do not try to change themselves or other people into something they are not.

Pet peeves: conformity, following the crowd, superficiality, materialism, fakes, being forced to complete tasks that are uninteresting, unimportant, or meaningless

Genres for Artists:

Poetry, realistic fiction that relates to the arts, craft books and magazines, biography, picture books for older readers, graphic novels with strong artwork, music lyrics
