Carl Herr was an instructor in Agricultural Studies at Lower Dauphin when the school opened its doors in 1960. He insisted on the highest levels of academic scholarship in agricultural studies and professionalism by those students enrolled in the Lower Dauphin agricultural program. His approach to learning was to insure materials had direct application to employment of his students. He (along with his wife Alma) continues to promote the careers and the agricultural interests of his students to this day and has retained the respect of his former students. He was nominated by his former students, Russel Cassel (LD 1965), President of the Lower Dauphin Alumni Association and Jay Kopp (LD 1962). Both Kopp and Cassel are well known as farmers in the school district and serve as spokesman for the agricultural industry in the county.
