Mr. James Patterson

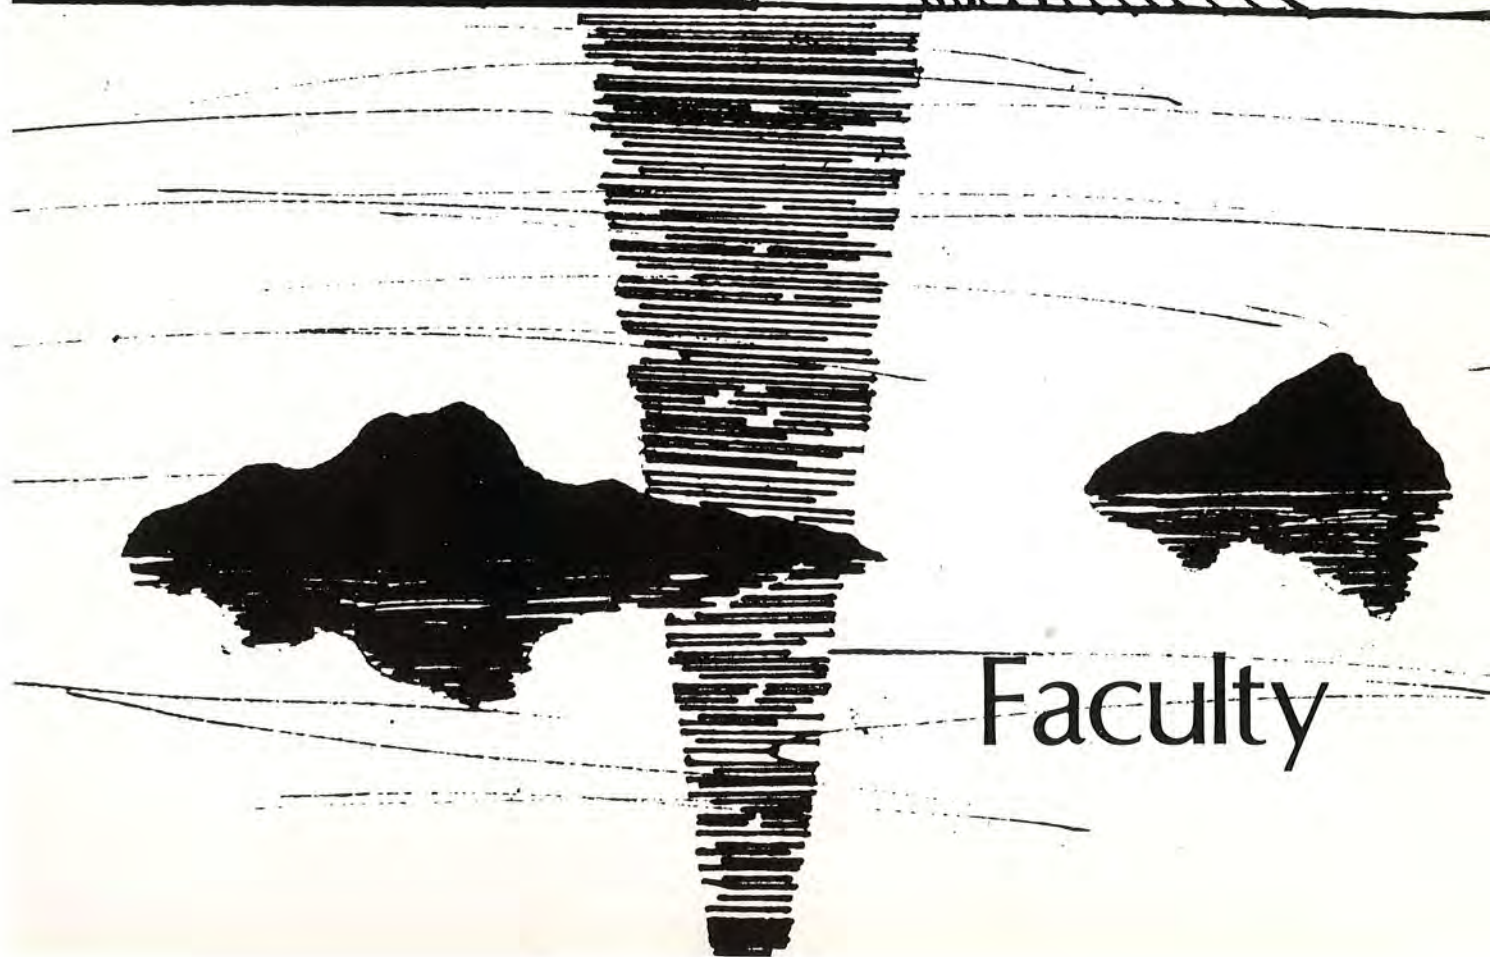

The class of 1981 would like to dedicate this year's issue of Genesis to Mr. James Patterson. He was a great inspiration to our class and we all enjoyed the classes that we had with him.

Mr. Patterson was born in Ithaca, New York. He then moved to Batavia where he attended grade school and high school. In September of 1940, he enrolled at Brockport State Teachers' College. In his Junior year at Brockport, he enlisted into Military Service. During World War II, he served two years overseas as an infantry sergeant in the 88th Infantry Division. After the war he returned to Brockport State to finish his senior year. Mr. Patterson then continued his education at the University of Buffalo where he earned his Masters' Degree in education. He was hired to teach science at Belmont Central in 1948. He taught for twenty-nine years and retired in June of 1976.

The class of 1981 is glad to say that Mr. Patterson is enjoying his retirement and his hobby is gardening. He also enjoys cross-country skiing in the winter and traveling south in the summer.

The class of 1981 would like to dedicate the following pages to him and thank him for the wonderful memories that he gave us when he taught us at Belmont Central.

The greatest glory of a freedom people is to transmit that freedom to their children.

The 1980 Junior Prom, May 23, 1980, featured "The New Beat" with the theme "Free Bird".

The color scheme, Blue and Silver, brought a seashore twilight to the gym. The lighthouse added an extra touch of the sea. The seagull symbolizing the Free Bird, sailed in front of the setting sun. The band, keeping with the oceanic effect, played on a decorated barge.

The purpose of B.O.C.E.S. or any other technical center is not only to give students an opportunity to learn a trade that they are particularly interested in, but also to teach them responsibility and to give them a sense of accomplishment and pride.

Our B.O.C.E.S. students help maintain the building, the land around it, and also serve the community with their newly found skills and aptitudes. Every year a group of seniors graduates from B.O.C.E.S. with better set goals for their futures. These students have the right to feel a great sense of personal accomplishment and the pride should be shared by all.

No man is free
who is not master of himself.

"Remember When . . . ?"

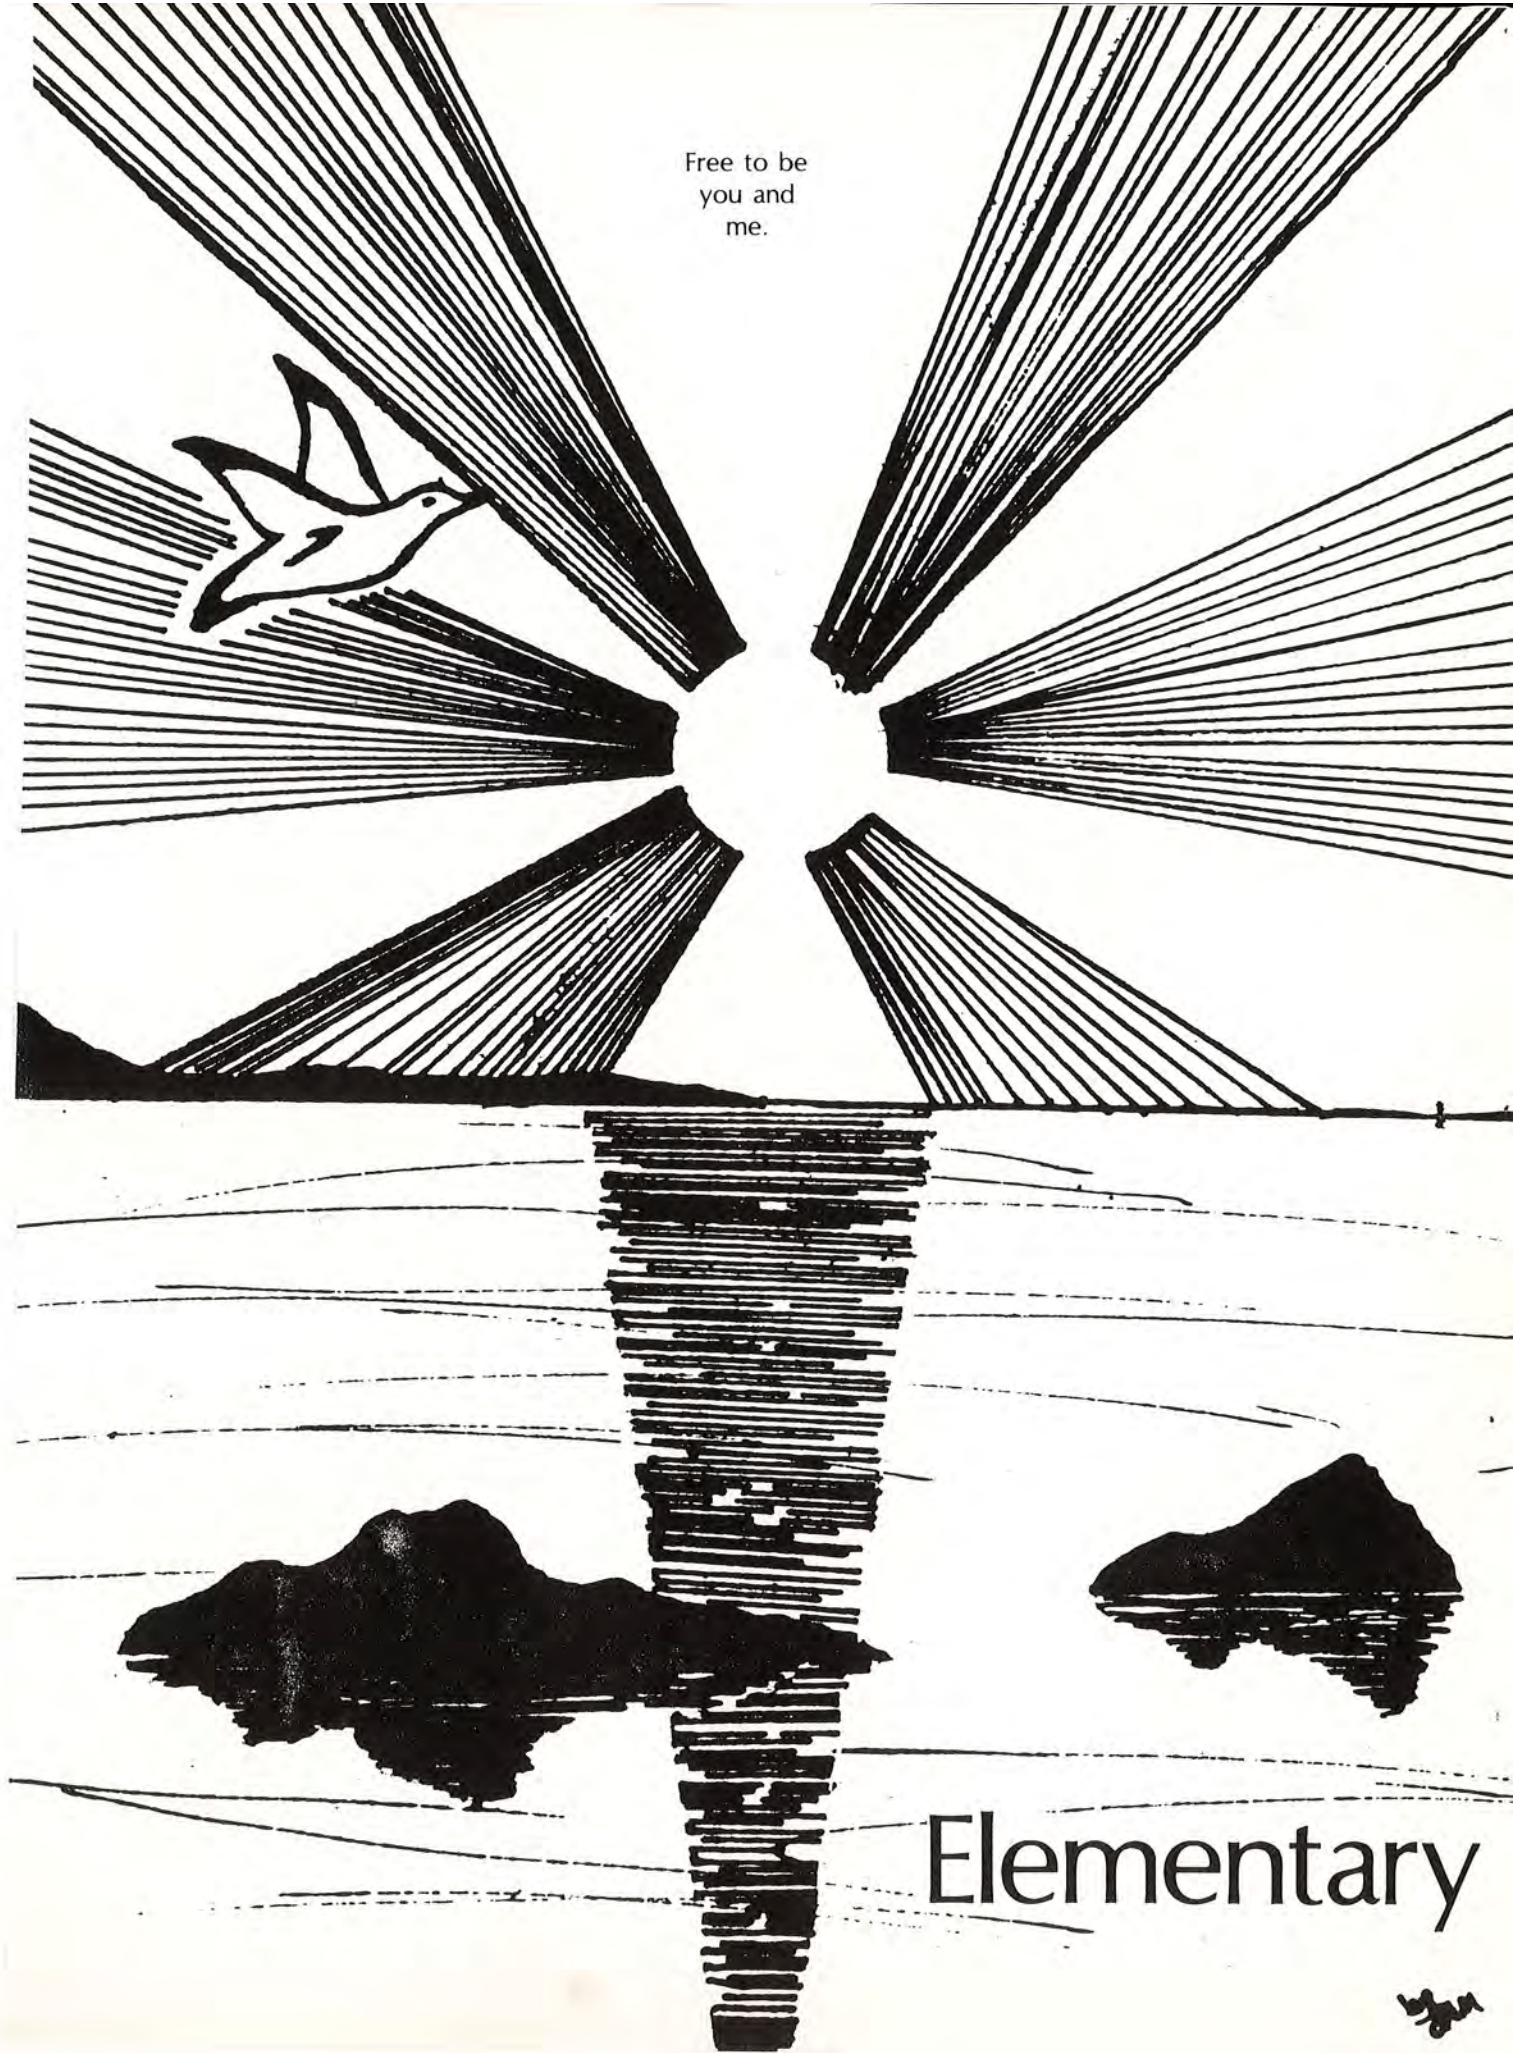

This is one of the crazy things we did over our years at B.C.S.!

Here is some more that is guaranteed to send your mind Back in Time.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Tom Z. ran into the swing set on his first day here?
Janette fell asleep in the 8th grade and slept for 2 periods?
The Journalism class locked Tom Z. in the closet?
When Eric wore a cowboy hat, work boots, and shorts on Field Day?
When we forgot the Crowns for the Prom?
Laura had pointed cowboy boots?
Becky and Lance's run in, in the 6th grade?
Lance's embarrassing health questions?
All of our fights about the prom?
All of our fights in Journalism?
Our class meetings where we get everything done!?
Our great skip day Party?
Betsy taking pictures during Lunch hour?
Becky's lecture on the sex life of the marble?
All our visits to Papa Bear's Den?
GOOD LUCK TO THE SENIORS!!!

Free to be you and me.

Journalism Staff

1981 marks the third year of the existence of the Journalism Class. It began in September of 1978 as an experimental class, producing the yearbook and Reflector newspaper. This was a new experience for most of the people involved, and it gave us a chance to learn that there is more to a publication than words and pictures.

From the beginning, the Journalism class hoped to expand the range of the Reflector. This meant going beyond the school, into the community. We wanted to open the lines of communication, tie up the loose ends between the Village of Belmont and Belmont Central School. We reached out to the people, asking for opinions and criticisms. We were able to get the help we needed, and with the aid of the P.T.S.A., the Reflector grew into a community newsletter instead of a school newspaper.

The yearbook, too, has undergone changes since '78. First of all, the name was changed from Reflector to Genesis last year in order to get a fresh start on the new decade. A new format is being used, also, in which we lay out the page and send it to the company, leaving them the task of mounting the pictures. In the past, we had to do this, resulting in crooked pictures. At first this proved difficult, but in the end it will be best for the appearance of the book.

The most frustrating job of producing a yearbook is in the photography. This year was plagued with problems involving the production of pictures. Without pictures, it becomes quite hard to put out a successful yearbook.

There is a great deal of waste due to the inexperience of new photography students. Film gets exposed, lost or otherwise misplaced. Lines of communication are broken down somewhere between the darkroom and the Journalism room.

Nevertheless, the task of putting together this yearbook has been a learning process. Some have learned that there is more to taking pictures than snapping the camera! Others have learned the beauty of beating a deadline. And most have discovered the exhilarating feeling of accepting responsibility.

We would like to thank the following people for their help: The Amity Press, P.T.S.A. and community writers, Laura McNinch, Charley Bessette, Terry Simmons, Dan Hand, Brian Chilson, Gary Nevinger and Miscellaneous Graphics Students.

In order to define the word "free," a person must not turn to a dictionary for the meaning. Freedom exists not only in our civil rights, but in our minds, and our hearts as well. Surely it is possible for a person to be bound in chains and denied his rights, yet feel free, just as it is possible for a being rich in wealth and liberties. No one can tell another whether he is free or not, for it is all left simply to that individual. We are all free if we so desire to be, and only one person can take that away from us . . . ourselves.
