Who turned out the lights?

If not for me, do it for the kids' sake.

Oh, that Lemon Lime!

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

We are seniors. Our class history is full of sad times and happy times. Let's pause a moment and look back.

The first day of kindergarten was filled with mixed emotions. On that sunny day in 1957 part of our group was happy to "get out from under Mom's wing." The rest of us bawled our heads off. Miss Disparti and Mrs. McDonell finally calmed down 44 lively children enough to teach them how to share toys. After all, what was school for?

Out of the original 44, half of us stuck it out for 12 years. This courageous band is Sharon Abbott, Jerry Austin, Joe Austin, Judy Baker, Kurt Doty, Roger Fanton, Ronnie Fanton, Tessie Francisco, Cathy Gilluly, Ric Hodge, Tom Kenyon, Ann MacMurray, David Mapes, Lonnie Miess, Sue Mulligan, Mike Osterhout, Donna Ross, Tom Schleigh, James Tucket, April Watson, and Neil Wesche.

After everyone learned to tie his own shoe, we progressed to first grade, where the big attractions were the desks and cubbyholes. Mrs. Hosmer and Mrs. Horner tried to teach the Robins and Bluebirds how to read the fascinating books about Dick and Jane. Barb Carpenter joined us that year.

As we entered second grade, Calvin Graham was added to our group. Mrs. Steenrod and Mrs. Francis taught us to add, a painful experience for many of us. A "fun" part of second grade was making bread. We all worried a little when we found we had to trust Cathy Gilluly to take the bread home to have her mother bake it. Would it get back in one piece? It did.

In third grade we added Becky Green to our tormenting corps. After much frustration, the entire class (except for Kurt Doty) learned to write legibly. Our teachers that year were Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Alexander.

Who will ever forget the Venus fly trap we had in fourth grade? The Fanton brothers found out that this fly trap accepted pencil lead for bait. Maybe that's why it died the next year. How Mrs. Boyer and Miss Rossney ever taught us to multiply that year is one of Belmont's mysteries. Rosie Bicklemen entered our ranks that year.

As we climbed the stairs to the fifth grade, John Butler, Deb Middaugh, and Tim Quaintance found our class irresistible. They joined us and haven't left yet. Mrs. Gilmore and Miss Hammond were our teachers that year. Does everyone remember English class? (Chuckle, Chuckle) Mr. Goodwin taught us geography, when he wasn't showing off his skill with the paddle.

We got the surprise of our lives in sixth grade when we found out that Mrs. Gilmore was still one of our homeroom teachers. The other brave soul presiding over us was Mrs. Tower. Many of us remember Mrs. Tower's baby bottle and bonnet with much more clarity. Deb Dawson, Deb Goodliff, and Bob Thomas got acquainted with us that year and decided to stay on.

Pud Barnes took one look at our crowd and decided to unpack her carpet bag. It's a good thing, because seventh grade was a real experience. Mr. Rose distracted math class by showing off his "sexy" legs. Mrs. Wells did succeed in teaching us some interesting history that year. That was also the year Deb Dawson had a fake friend, "Ralph". By the way, maybe the janitors ought to check the ceiling in the seventh grade room; there may still be some spit balls up there.

Iva Baker, Linda Bentley, Mary Hinman, and Laurel Grastorf helped make our eighth grade experience a little happier by joining us that year. We wore out one teacher, Mr. McMahon, and broke in a new one, Miss Dyke (Mrs. Heany). Mr. Boyer and his assistant, Mr. Gilmore, taught us all about Ivanhoe and his pals. Mr. Codispoti was our student history teacher, huh, Donna?

Ninth grade brought a new realm of experience, commonly called Freshman Initiation. Lonnie and April, need any more delicious food? Laurel and Tessie, how's the shaving cream business? The end of the year brought the first Regents Exams we had ever taken. Terror!

In the tenth grade, we got to "Lord it over" the freshmen. A man called Mr. Main was added to our educational experience that year. On field day that year we almost beat the seniors at their own game.

Theo Teribury and Deb Osgood arrived to share our last two years at Belmont. While many of us got acquainted with vocational school, others of us tried to struggle through the web of elementary chemistry. A few show-offs, like Sue Mulligan, tried to win the "Harass Campbell" award. Later on, eight of us were initiated into the National Honor Society. The highlight of the year was our junior prom. The theme was "Blue Midnight". The king and queen were Kurt Doty and Ann MacMurray. Included in their court were Neil Wesche, Roger Fanton, Ronnie Fanton, Judy Baker, Sue Mulligan, and Roberta Barnes. Another thing that meant a lot to us this year were our class rings. It is something we can take with us when we leave to recall our high school years. We had to wait a long time to get ours, but it was well worth it because they have stones.

It is now our last year here. Still we have lots to remember about this last year. Our senior trip was undoubtedly the zenith of our years together. It allowed us to get to know each other on a more personal basis. We each have beautiful memories of that trip, but a few stand out above the rest. Gettysburg, Arlington, the Washington Monument, and the Jefferson Memorial were among the favorites. The movie "Oliver" delighted us all. Tom Schleigh and Neil Wesche were saying, "You've got to pick a pocket or two," for days. One of the lead characters gave out this free advice.

Now, as many of us enter college and others go out into the world, we look back on our years here with fondness. We learned many things here, but perhaps the most valuable lesson we were taught was how to get along with fellow-men.

WASHINGTON TRIP— OCTOBER 1969

1. Who reads signs?
2. Don't just stand there, come in!
3. Oh! That drop was cold!
4. How sweet!
5. Sit-in on Jefferson Memorial.
6. Who me? I didn't do anything!
7. Sleeping Beauty.
8. Salute!
9. Now there's something you don't see every day.
10. I wish I could get my hands on that!
11. Oh, what a rotten joke!
12. The war's over!
13. Got 'cha!
14. Oh how I wish I was back in Belmont.
15. Now, Tom, just one at a time.
16. Get out of here, boys!

MICHAEL JAMES OSTERHOUT

"The man who removed the mountain was he who began carrying away the small stones."

TIMOTHY MARK QUAINANCE

"I grow old learning something new every day."

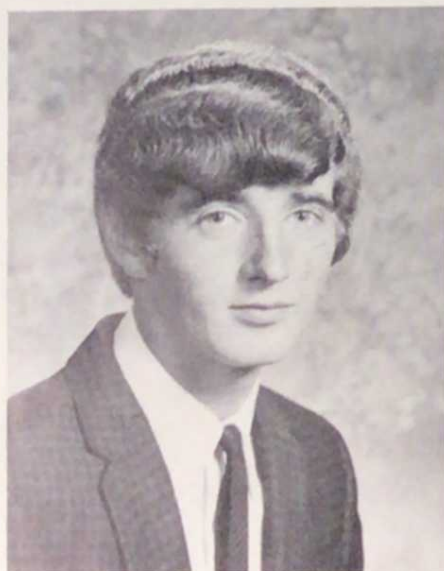

DONNA MARLENE ROSS

"The most utterly lost of all days is that in which you have not once laughed."

THOMAS ANDREW SCHLEIGH

"Wit is the only wall between us and the dark."

THEODORA TERIBURY

"We find it hard to believe that other people's thoughts are as silly as our own, but they probably are."

ROBERT DUANE THOMAS

"Strange drink is not only the devil's way into a man, but man's way to the devil."

ANN FRANCES MAC MURRAY

"Keep smiling! Then people will wonder what you are up to."

DAVID LEON MAPES

"The rest of your days depend upon the rest of your nights."

DEBORAH JOANNE MIDDAGH

"I'm not afraid of tomorrow, for I've seen yesterday, and love today."

LEONORA LOUISE MIESS

"It's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice."

SUSAN LOUISE MULLIGAN

"The future always holds something for the man who keeps his faith in it."

DEBRA JEAN OSGOOD

"Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you."

LAUREL JO GRASTORF

"None of us liveth to himself. Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace."

REBECCA JANE GREEN

"It matters not what you are thought to be, but what you are."

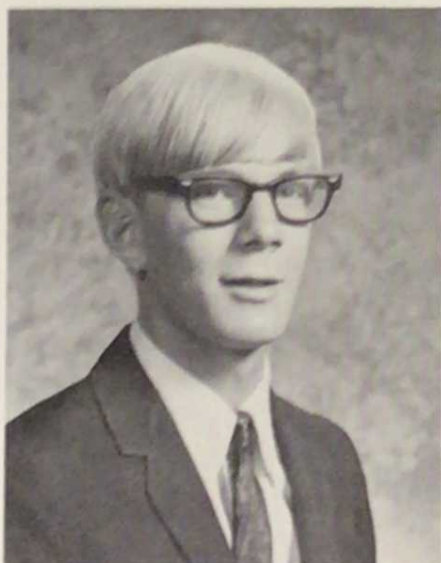

MARY JANET GRISEWOOD

"In the game of life it's good to have a few early losses, which relieves you of the pressure of trying to maintain an undefeated season."

MARY LOUISE HINMAN

"Let me have the strength to change what I can change, the courage to accept what I can not, and the wisdom to know the difference."

RICHARD CHARLES HODGE

"There are two days about which nobody should worry, and these are yesterday and tomorrow."

THOMAS JAMES KENYON

"Some men dream of things that are, and say, Why? While other men dream of things that aren't, and say, Why Not?"

SHARON LOUISE ABBOTT

"A pleasant memory is one of the most wonderful things in the world; if you have it, keep it."

JEROME LESLIE AUSTIN

"Why do today what doesn't need to be done until tomorrow?"

JOSEPH CHARLES AUSTIN

"They tell me an optimist laughs to forget, and a pessimist forgets to laugh."

IVA MADORA BAKER

"Sweet and fair, and always happy as a lark."

JUDY ANN BAKER

"She is prompt, no matter how long it takes."

ROBERTA ELLEN BARNES

"Heaven goes by favor; if it went by merit, I would stay out and my dog would go in."

DEDICATION

MRS. IRMA PRESUTTI

It is with pride and deep appreciation that the class of 1970 dedicates the REFLECTOR to Mrs. Irma Presutti.

Mrs. Presutti has taught mathematics a few years and business subjects for 27 years at Belmont Central School. She has served as advisor for the REFLECTOR, both the yearbook and the school paper for many years. She is also class advisor to the seniors this year.

Her energy, experience, and devotion to duty have made her service invaluable in all these roles.
