History of the Class of 1959

GRADE SCHOOL DAYS

One of the most memorable days in the life of the class of '59, as its members look back, was that sunny fall day in September of 1947, when we assembled for the first time as a class under the careful supervision of Miss Mary Disparti. It was on this day that we met those friends with whom we were to spend a large part of the next 12 years of our lives. Only 20 members of the original class are seniors this year at B. C. S. They are: Bernard Ackerman, Carol Baker, Tom Baxter, Felecia Biancuzzo, Barb Coleman, Bob Cronk, Don Grisewood, Cynthia Hanson, Linda Keenan, Susan Kyle, Jon Manning, Maureen McCaffrey, Gale McNinch, Linda Pierce, Dave Schwert, Andrea Stephens, Fred Tucker, Doug Walldorff, Leland Winchell, and Bill Winterhalter.

The first year of school was very different and exciting for all of us. One of the first things we remember that annoyed us at the time was the nap we would have to take each afternoon.

Having completed our first year of school, we confidently marched on to first grade where Sylvia Foote joined our ranks. Mrs. Virginia Horner and Miss Ruth Rossney were our teachers. We'll never forget those "candid" shots Dr. Schwert took of us with his movie camera.

In second grade, Mrs. Helen Steenrod amazed us with her great ability to add and subtract. (We wondered if we'd ever master it.)

In the third grade, our only newcomer, Jon Palmer, joined us. The thing we remember most about third grade was the rosy cheeks several members of the class acquired. (Remember how Mrs. Doris Ross would twitch our cheeks?)

In Miss Rossney's fourth grade, Delores Blackman and Decker Doggett arrived. It took us a week to discover there was a face beneath Decker's wavy hair. Miss Rossney knew most of us from first grade and we all were glad to be back with her again. It was then we learned our multiplication tables. Also, that year, Miss Rossney remembered everyone's birthday.

Fifth grade and we finally made it to the second floor. Did we think we were "big deals" climbing those stairs every morning! Most of our noon hours were spent in Miss Grace Hammond's room where we usually square danced. Surely some of us remember sitting in front of Mrs. Freda Tower's class with gum on our nose.

JUNIOR HIGH

The next year we had Mr. David Orr. Several times throughout the year he praised us for having such a spirited class and told us we could go far. Fred Tucker, Susan Kyle, and Doug Walldorff put a dent in the globe! Three new members: Marilyn Magee, Paul Hosmer and Richard Winterhalter joined us, and we all enjoyed the experience of hearing our own voices for the first time on a tape recorder. So ended our grade school days.

It was in the seventh grade that we first met Peggy Beabout who charmed us with her cute accent. Some of our activities that year were making a New York State booklet and poem booklets.

Eighth grade was an exciting year. Some of the girls were busy working in the Home Talent Show while the boys were playing seventh and eighth basketball, and this year we took our Regents (Were they rough!). The highlight of the year was our Moving-Up-Day party.

HIGH SCHOOL

After many years of looking forward to high school—here we were. Our activities started us off with a bang. We really had our memories tested trying to remember those ridiculous signs we had to wear. Everyone got his share of Mr. Strate's paddle and we were all impressed with that evening.

Most of our sophomore year was spent in anticipation of our junior year. The highlight of our sophomore year was our Sock Hop which we all enjoyed. In our sophomore year the class took the annual field pennant for which we worked very hard.

One of the first undertakings of our junior year was selecting our class ring, "The Golden Flare." They arrived in November. We also put on a Junior Play, "An Apple for the Teacher." Our next big project, the Junior Prom, was worked on for weeks in advance of the big day, April 25. The theme was Club 59; Art Dedrick supplied the music. We made $188. Sue Kyle and Decker Doggett reigned as queen and king. Their attendants were Gale McNinch, Linda Keenan, Dick Winterhalter, and Jon Manning.

We began the activities of the senior year with our senior play, "Come Out of the Closet." Our class was the first to experiment with putting the play on for two nights which proved very successful. Our next project was selling of magazine and "Dispatch" subscriptions. The proceeds were credited to our individual accounts. Our Senior Ball was held on February 13. The theme was "Winter Wonderland" and the music was supplied by Bob Easley.

The senior themes were due March 6, and everyone worked hard on them. Finally in April we left for Washington, D. C., and had a wonderful time.

Now as we leave Belmont Central we want to thank all the people that made our last twelve years so pleasant and humbly hope that in the future we can repay them with our success.

Senior Play

"Come Out of the Closet"

"Miss Abby's fainted"

"You're perfectly safe, Jenny"

"Hurry, Mr. Cutter"

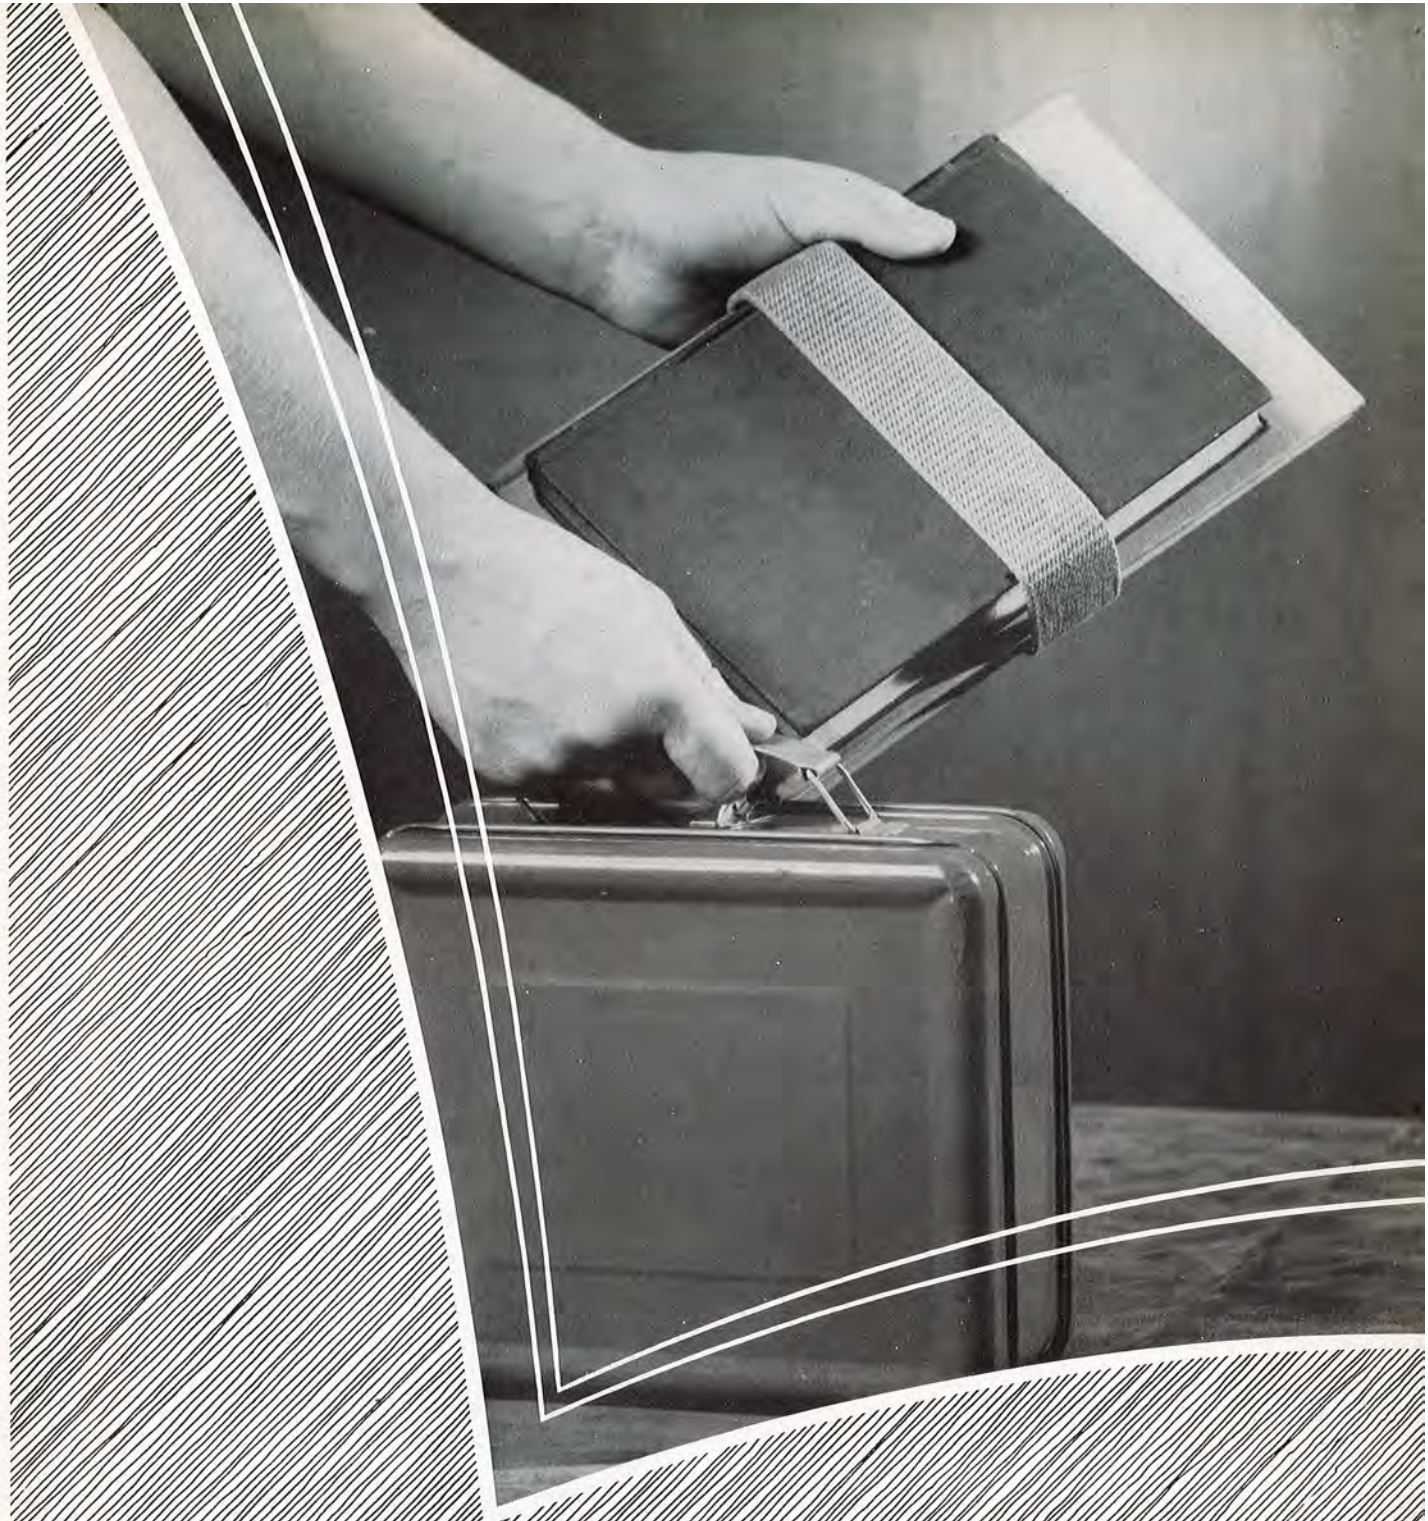

"Good night, sweetheart"

"Stick 'em up"

"Is he alive?"

The Golden Bears of Belmont clawed their way to new fame this year by entering the Section V finals in soccer. The Bears again were crowned Allegany County champions this year for the second time in three years.

WRESTLING

This is the first year that Belmont has had a complete wrestling team. In other years the school has been wrestling but not with a full team. Being the first year with a full team, the squad has done an excellent job. Most of the fellows on the squad are green and have little, if any, experience. Much improvement can be seen in the new members of the team this year. All members have worked hard, but each one knows that there is still much to be learned about wrestling.

The team today has a 4 and 1 record. Tom Tucker and Don Grisewood possess an unbeaten record for the season.
