

TWISTER EIGHTY

Traveling Time's one-way road brings moments of joy, achievement and, most of all, togetherness.

There are so many changes taking place in our lives right now. We are stopping our daily routine and habit -- yet we are starting a brand new one. We cannot start all over again as a child. We must start our "new" life as an adult eager to learn, grow and share with others.

One last time, take a look back on this year. It went by quickly, didn't it? Remember Spirit Week, and how everyone looked so crazy? Remember all those pep assemblies that were bubbling over with that one and only 'Nado pride and spirit? It was a great year wasn't it?

We're all together now; but in a very short time we'll be spread so far apart. This school, and the people in it, have touched and influenced our lives to such a degree that we cannot even show how much we truly appreciate it.

We'll take this pride with us, as well as excitement and ambition for the years to follow - but we will always remember FKHS as our beginning to real growth and understanding.

Greasy Mighty Fast Food

(1) Students relax in the commons area during lunch. (2) Chipper Wells and Billy McClellan exchange conversation in the food center. (3) Kelle Kiser looks on as Mike Lee goes crackers. (4) It is third hour break period in the commons. (5) Kenny Crandell and Connie Ferguson partake of food center culinary delights. (6) Food center offers students a place to eat and talk about the day. (7) Denise Derryberry makes short business of Fritos.

There's food, conversation

We all know the old saying, "You are what you eat." Can you imagine what we would have had walking around in our halls this term if it really were true? To a fast food junkie it would have seemed like paradise. You could almost always catch someone chowing down in the commons area, or meet your friends on the weekends coming down with a "Big Mac Attack."

Then there were the dieters and all their diets. A favorite kind of diet for a lot of students was the "seafood diet." People on this diet saw food, and they ate. It was kind of each to his own when it came to dieting or not, but the eaters always had the most fun. When you think about it, though, the dieters usually had the best figures.

(1) Coach Bob Cole still wonders. (2) Hefty (Disco) Cotton and Debbie Keene. (3) FFA's Spirit Car Contest entry. (4) Beth Bartle hard at work. (5) Buddies Becca Barndollar and Mary Bumgarner. (6) Debbie Reynolds signs away. (7) Marc Kelso waters the 'Nado. (8) Some Chorale members choreograph their best. (9) 'Nado cheerleaders support the team.

What makes life fun are Spirit Week crazies

Football Homecoming was a real blowout over Labette County, but the game was only the climax of the Spirit Week festivities. The week began with an assembly on Monday, with Student Council members modeling outfits for the various days. At the assembly it was announced that a winner or winners would be chosen for the remaining days.

Tuesday, the fun began with Twin Day. Teachers were thrown into fits of hysteria from seeing twice as much of their favorite kids. The winners on Twin Day were seniors John Eli and Joey Vacca.

Wednesday, Gaudy Day was celebrated by students and teachers alike. Senior Mona Heasty took the prize on this day.

On Thursday, students put their thoughts into words on T-shirt, Hat and Button Day. Junior Lori Tate won.

 Friday the true spirited colors of Field Kindley were everywhere because it was Purple and Gold Day. Sophomore Pam Mangan painted herself purple and gold to win the honors.

(1) Dana Mayfield, Linda Spatz, Denise Wulf and Karen Oles are gaudy queens of FKHS. (2) Sherri Kirk and Carrie Pisanello show school spirit by dressing up for "Twin Day." (3) John Eli gives a sneak preview! (4) "Hey baby, like, I'm just makin' the scene." (5) A posed shot from "Twin Day!" (6) Dorothy Newton, and sister, Nancy, measure up to each other. (7) Senior spirit. . . it really shows! (8) A couple of "farmer" twins take time to pose for a shot! (9) "Yes, my name's Joetta. . . Want a date?" (10) "Midget Garrett" asks what's happening.

and Homecoming Queen

A pretty blonde, senior, Lisa Bartle, was chosen the 1979 Fall Sports Queen. She was chosen from ten candidates which were later narrowed to three finalists by a vote from the student body. The three finalists and their escorts were Bartle, escorted by senior Joey Vacca; senior Denise Derryberry, escorted by senior Hefty Cotton; and senior Betsy Hamm, escorted by junior David Bryce.

(1) Denise Derryberry and her escort Hefty Cotton. (2) Betsy Hamm and her escort David Bryce. (3) Queen Lisa Bartle. (4) The three finalists.

It's the seasonal highlight

Everyone watched with anxiety, as the announcement of the Winter Sports Queen was made.

Eight girls were nominated: Denise Derryberry, Timmie Knight, Mona Heasty, Kathy Folk, Paula Sherwood, Tasha Russell, Denise Wulf and Leslie Flanagan. Only three were finalists — Derryberry, Knight and Folk.

“The 1980 Winter Sports Queen is.....”

Who could it be?

A hush came over the gym....

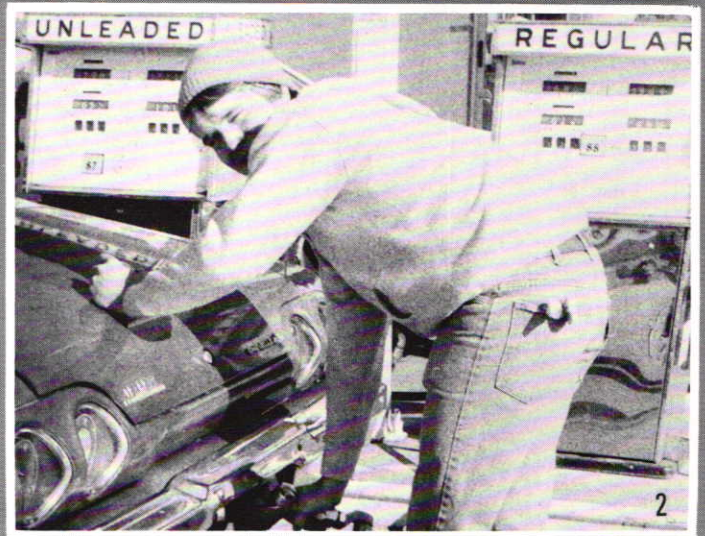

“Miss Kathy Folk!”

Ahhhhhhhh, those memories.

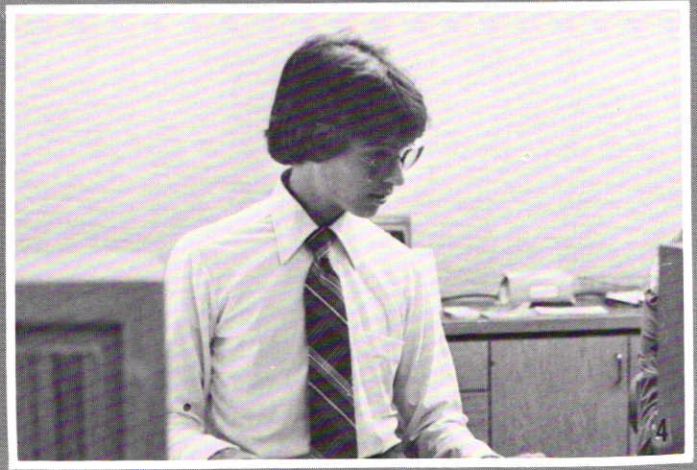

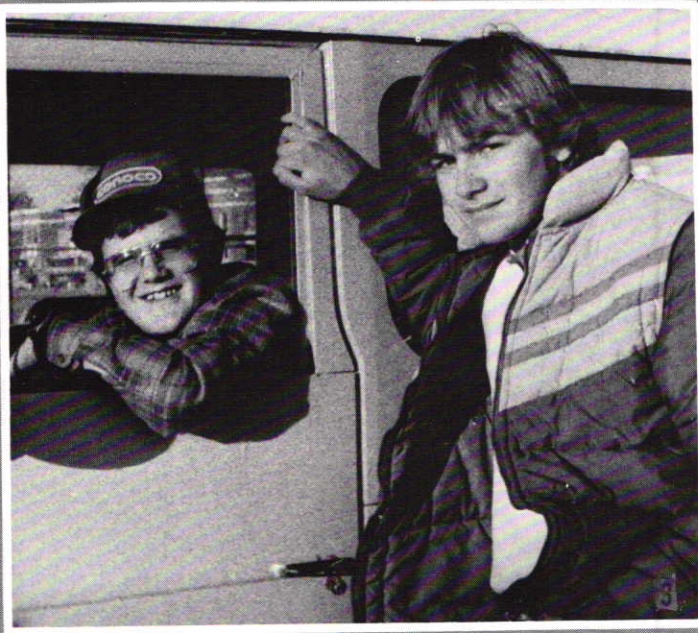

- (1) 1980 Winter Sports Queen, junior Kathy Folk. (2) Folk after being presented with traditional basketball and crown. (3) The three finalists and their escorts. (4) Seniors Timmie Knight with her escort, Nickie Marion. (5) Senior Denise Derryberry, escorted by Steve Locke.

(1) Crazy Key Club curb colorers. (2) Chris Jackson fills 'er up. (3) Rick Birdsong and John Glen discuss things in the parking lot. (4) Al Wilson works his weekends. (5) Rub-a-dub-dunk, three lunks in a trunk. (6) Their objective is to make people think that you just can't quite make it to the other side of the wall. (7) "Maybe if I smile, they'll tip me," says Venice Maples.

Love is in the air

Did you notice something going around this term? It was almost like a disease. It seemed to be everywhere. For many students there was no escaping it. It was love.

Love was highly contagious. It could catch even the most unlikely of people. Once it caught someone, you knew it. The symptoms were obvious—google eyes, constantly touching one's partner and the inability for only one person to open a locker.

There were many more symptoms, but not everyone always got the same symptoms. One thing about this "sickness", though, those that had it didn't even seem to mind.

Jazz...a new style

The sixteen-member Stage Band, a selected group of ninth through twelfth graders, performed at the Christmas concert, the Interstate Classic, the Pittsburg State University Jazz Festival, assemblies, for civic clubs as opportunities were available and on spring tour.

Director Robert Partridge stated, "Through jazz performances they develop individual leadership, confidence, and the ability to improvise," which he set as goals for his outstanding instrumentalists.

Choral Club presents music appreciation to the public

Juniors and seniors composed the forty member Choral Club under the direction of Steve Kimball. They were involved in many public performances, assemblies, and the spring tour. Choral Club was open to any junior or senior who wanted to sing, according to Kimball.

"The purpose of Choral Club is to give anyone who wants to sing an opportunity to appreciate the beauty of musical creation," Kimball said.

- (2) The 1979-'80 Sophomore Choir consisting of thirty members, under the direction of Kimball.
- (3) An enthused group of sophomores follow closely through a new chart.

Sophomores train for the future

The Sophomore Choir sang at numerous assemblies and concerts, Steve Kimball, director of the choir, said. "It's basically a training choir where we continue the development of singing techniques begun in grade school and junior high." He emphasized that the students only had the basics but hopefully developed into experienced and capable singers for Choral Club or Chorale.

(1) Choral Club members prepare for a performance. (2) Denise Ma-Carter uses creativity in projecting a sound. (3) The 1979-'80 choral Club, consisting of junior and senior members, and under the direction of Steve Kimball.

Chorale opens a new door

Chorale gives students a chance to experience the creating of beauty and an experience in the world of the artistic," according to sponsor Steve Kimball.

Chorale, consisted of eighteen instrumentalists and singers who performed at assemblies, concerts and the spring tour. They also did a special performance at former member Nancy Adam's wedding. Kimball added that the group was dedicated to excellence in musicianship and performance, including high quality literature.

(1) Chorale members sing at a music festival. (2) Steve Kimball, director, is pleased with what he sees. (3) Members harmonize with a beat. (4) The rhythm section tunes up a bit. to creativity.

NHS shows off honor students

National Honor Society consisted of about 80 of the most outstanding students in the school. Members were selected on the basis of grade point average and character. The group had an initiation for the new members. It consisted of a very hard test that the new members were given three minutes to complete. Afterwards, they were served doughnuts from NHS funds.

The president was Joey Vacca, and the group was sponsored by Griffin.

(1) President Joey Vacca addresses a meeting. (2) Richard Griffin, sponsor, flashes a grin. (3) Treasurer Kim Hocker, counts the funds. (4) NHS members taking time out. (5) Members show brains! (6) NHS group.

Gale support varsity and 'Nado!

The spirited squad of six headed up the super amount of sophomore spirit at the pep assemblies. They cheered at all Gale games, and worked all year on pyramids.

"It was fun this year," commented head cheerleader, Penny Taylor, "It really helped to have all that spirit backing us up!"

The group was sponsored by Shari Richards

(1) Taylor flashes a smile of victory. (2) The Gale Cheerleaders: Taylor, Paula Carter, Kim Thompson, Kristy Moore, Ginny Friar, and not pictured is Karla Sanders.

Chantleaders chosen at mid-term

Six girls were chosen to represent the spirit for all swimming and wrestling meets. The group traveled with the teams to regional and state competition. They were sponsored by Shari Richards.

"It was the best year I've ever had in chantleading," commented head chantleader Anne Flanagan, "when we all got together, it was a blast."

Pompon squad fires up school spirit!

If anyone showed a lot of rowdy 'Nado spirit there was no doubt who it was. The 17-member pompon squad (consisting of 16 regular members and one alternate) were supported the Golden Tornado through both the football and basketball seasons. The girls performed at all home games, and a number of pep assemblies.

"I may have been the 'meanest' sponsor the girls ever had," stated Rita Flanders, "but they learned a lot, and looked sharp. The crowd was very pleased from what I heard, and that's a very important aspect in a performance."

Stuco activates student body

Dances, government-oriented activities, doughnut breaks and fund-raising activities were all a part of Student Council. During Spirit Week, they sold 'Up with 'Nado' balloons and bumper stickers to raise money for the student body. They had a Stuco-faculty volleyball game and other fun things for FKHS.

Betsy Hamm, president, was also elected SEK League student council president. Vice-president was Mary Bumgarner, and Mary Kengle was the adviser.

Small staff works hard

The 1980 Twister staff, comprised of six members, worked hard all year to meet pressing deadlines. The staff consisted of seniors Lori Little, editor; Mark Buchele and Steve Dixon, sports; Melinda Jones, ads and panels; Kelle Kiser, student's life; and Kelli Starnes, organizations. They were advised by John Cambron.

Times writes off a fantastic year!

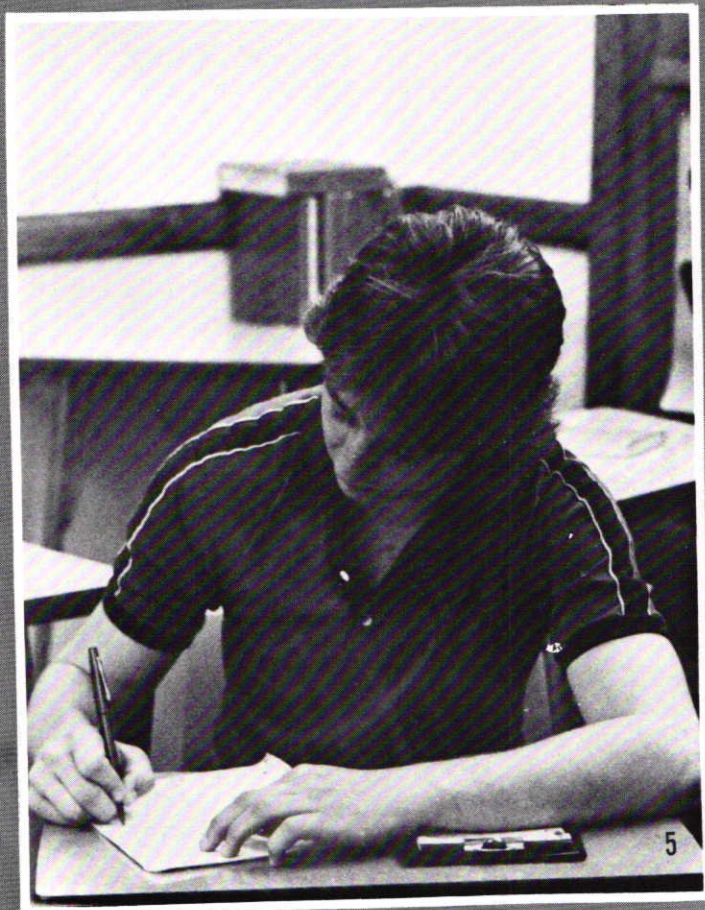

The thirteen-member staff worked well together. They met deadlines and worked on paste-up every other Monday night before the publication came out the following day.

"Overall" stated Melinda Jones, "this staff was one of the best staffs anyone could ask for. Everyone worked hard to meet their deadlines and the end result was a good paper."

The staff consisted of: Jones, editor; Kathy Webb, business manager; Denise Unruh, feature writer; Sherri Holliday, editorial writer; John Lechliter, science writer; Denise Derryberry, photographer; Barry Maxwell, Jeff Stockton and Steve McGinnis, sports writers; Sandy Standford, Becca Barn-dollar and Lori Little, reporters; John Eli, ad salesman; and John Cambron, adviser.

Thirty attend Key Club Convention

Key Club, one of the biggest groups in the school, consisted of 80 members. They had various fund raising activities, such as a pancake sale, bake sales, Kiwanis -vs- Key Club volleyball game and curb painting. These activities were a lot of hard work but they were worth it in the end, because nearly thirty members could be sent to Key Club Convention in Kansas City, on March 1 and 2.

President of the group was Steve Dixon. The vice-president was Marc Kelso, and secretary-treasurer was Mark Buchele. Preston Hadden was sponsor.

The biggest and most profitable project was the curb-painting, which the members worked on for five weekends. This project brought in close to 500 dollars. Part of the profit made was sent to the United Way Fund.

(1) AHhhhh, a finished product, (2) Betsy Hamm, Preston Hadden (sponsor), and Greg Lind discuss the next moves. (3) Working on the curb painting project that brought in most of the funds to send members to convention. (4) Rick Birdsong expresses his feeling about the whole ordeal. (5) This is the life! # VICA organized and on the upswing

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America was for students who showed interest in trade or health occupations. They worked individually and as teams in many different areas. They also attended a fall leadership conference and held other activities throughout the year.

(1) Beverly Lindensmith relates after a VICA meeting (2) The '79-'80 Vocational Industrial Club members.

Kayettes try luck at new forms of community service

Kayettes composed a 40-member group this year with many fund-raising community projects. They gave a Christmas party for needy children, sold suckers to raise money for the heart fund and had a caramel apple sale and many bake sales. On March 6, the group attended a Kayette Convention in Baxter Springs, where they learned different aspects of how to be a good leader. The group was sponsored by Lewark, and the president was Denise Miner.

"It was a blast this year," commented Miner, "I wasn't sure that I could handle the job of president, but once I really 'dug' it, and had the help of all of the Kayettes, I did it. We worked together as a team this year very well I thought."

(1) The '79-'80 Kayettes.

FHA holds fund raising projects

The Future Homemakers of America had a fun-filled year, according to president Candy Henry. They had various fund-raising activities throughout the year, including bake sales and a skating party. The only requirement for membership was to have one year of a home economics-related class. Their sponsor was Gayle Pierson.

(1) Sandy Standeford discusses upcoming projects. (2) The '79-'80 Future Homemakers of America: first two rows — Brenda Reed, Robin Brakhage, Carla DeCow, Standeford, Sherri Nalley, Jill Harvey; back row—Brenda Marshall, Kathy Reardon, Jana Oelkers, Suzanne Whitney, and sponsor Gayle Pierson.

French Club organizes activities

French Club, consisting of approximately sixty members, had a late start on organizing this year. The group met at every activity period, and discussed plans for various activities. They were sponsored by Debbie Shultz, who began teaching second semester.

(1) Seniors Michelle Wiebe, Sherri Kudrick, and two Roosevelt students pose for a shot. (2) The French Club.

Spanish Club has fun-filled year

Taco sales composed most of the fund raising activities for the 70-member Spanish Club. They have been very active with food fiestas monthly, skating parties, and a trip to a folk ballet at Tulsa, Okla.

The Spanish Club was sponsored by Alice Wolf.

(1) Members serve tacos to hungry students. (2) The Spanish Club.

Rodeo Club has successful beginning

Rodeo Club, in its first year, proved to be pretty successful. They club had a dance at the armory. They finished an arena where they had their showdeo. The showdeo is a type of junior rodeo. Some of the various events it contained were calf roping, barrel racing, bull riding, and bareback riding.

The group's officers were Steve Collins, president; Jeff Cook, vice-president; Tammy Newberry, treasurer; and Lisa Battitori, secretary. Deane Ziegler was sponsor.

Debaters compete in regionals in Chanute

Debate competition consisted of two teams with two people on each one. They took separate views called affirmative and negative. They then debated on the topic chosen nationwide for this term: 'Resolved that the U.S. should change their foreign trade policies.' This term the debate squad participated in 17 area tournaments, plus regionals. The group was sponsored by Darrel Harbaugh.

(1) Coach Darrel Harbaugh answers questions on the upcoming debate.

Forensics team attends area competition

Forensics provides competition in these nine speech categories: prose, poetry, dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, duet acting, improvised duet acting, extemporaneous speaking, original oration, informative speaking. Each member chose his or her own division, and then competed in to six tournaments, and regionals. Also, the forensics squad hosted a tournament at FKHS for area competing high schools on March 1, 1980.

The group was sponsored by Darrel Harbaugh.

Senior Prophecy

Melinda Jones predicts that Mike Lee will someday forget sports completely, and become a dedicated member of the pep band.

Nancy McBride predicts that in the year 1985, Robert Partridge will become a millionaire by selling the story of his life to the National Enquirer.

Al Purkey predicts that Mona Heasty will someday become a brain surgeon.

Dana Mayfield predicts that Denise Derryberry will someday be able to open a dress shop in her bedroom closet.

Pam Deacon predicts that Richard Andrews will someday give up whistling.

Lori Little predicts that Marsha Hall will marry someone 'just her size' and have seven little dwarfs. Mike Lee predicts that John Eli will graduate from FKHS and take up a permanent residency in Coffeyville Memorial Hospital.

Denise Miner predicts that Stanley Rexwinkle will become a mad scientist and destroy the earth.

Marc Wilburn predicts that Matt Sortore will someday get out of high school.

It is predicted that one day John Cambron will wake up, look in the mirror and go into severe convulsions when he realizes his hair is beginning to thin.

Debbie Reynolds predicts that someday Sonya Beals will have long hair.

Senior Will

Timmie Knight leaves to Phil Cagle her ability to eat all the time and never gain an ounce.

Kathy Beeson leaves half of her height to Kelle Kiser, so for once she can see more than just the part in her hair.

Casey Diver came up with the great idea that: For senior week activities we should take all the sophomores and juniors to the roof of FKHS and make them jump off.

Leslie Comstock leaves her ability to eat a seven-course meal to George's and be able to have a 'Big Mac Attack' on the way home to anyone who has the stomach for it.

Casey Diver thinks Shari Richards and Mary Kengle should spend more time teaching instead of eating doughnuts.

Lori Little and Melinda Jones leave to Catdaddy Cambron their "high" 20 average and broad knowledge of journalism.

(1) Denise Unruh clearly states that she is a senior, and will cheerfully beat anyone to a pulp that denies her statement! (2) Mary Rinkenbaugh whistles the 'Nado on. (3) Melinda Jones and Denise Derryberry make a very private phone call. (4) Casey Diver contemplates on which direction to turn after totally bombing one of Gene Neely's history tests. (5) Harry Gayton reveals his secret identity as Chief of the Cherokees!" (6) Steve Dixon (secretly known by his friends as "the monster of the dark lagoon") emerges from the depths for a quick glance at a sexy mermaid.

Senior clubs

Linda Adams

Linda plans to attend CCJC and study accounting. Her favorite classes were accounting and Algebra II, and she participated in the school fashion show.

Bart Allen

"Chubby" was involved in FFA and NHS. His favorite class was Chemistry II, and his favorite teacher was Frank Bobek.

Kris Argue

Kris was a member of Rodeo Club. Her most memorable moment was graduation night. Her two favorite teachers were Jim Owen and Phil Cagle. She could always be found wherever Jim was.

Mike Banta

Mike's favorite class was Mary Kengle's American History I. His future plans include becoming a navy pilot.

Lisa Bartle

"Lisa Jean" participated in Stuco, NHS, French Club, Wrestling Club, Kayettes, Greggettes, and the varsity tennis team. Her future plans include becoming an accountant or a certified public secretary. Lisa was found anywhere her friends were.

Lisa Battitori

Lisa's favorite class was Jim Owen's psychology. She was involved in Stuco, Drum Corps, and Rodeo Club. Her most memorable moment was graduation night.

Sonya Beals

Sonya's weirdest moment was her first day of school at FKHS. She was a member of Drum Corp, FHA, Spanish Club, and TWISTER. Her favorite teacher was Ron Childress.

Kathy Beeson

"You weirdo" was what Kathy liked to say. She was involved in Key Club, Spanish Club, NHS, and Kayettes. Her weirdest moment at FKHS was when it was "Ignore Kathy Beeson Day" in Richard Giffin's geometry class!

David Bidleman

"Bido's" future plans are to work in a car body shop. His favorite class was William Hamlin's auto mechanics. He was always heard saying "Where's the parties?"

Michael Blair

Underground Tunnel

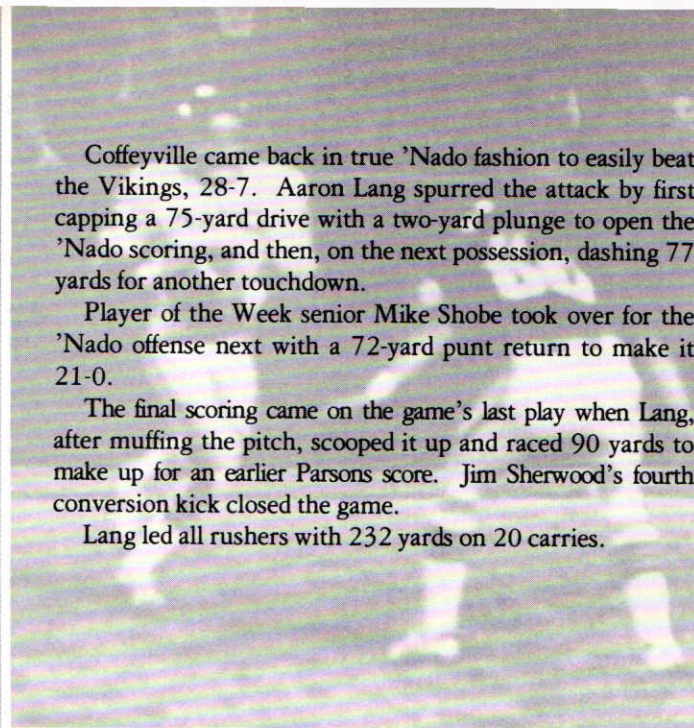

(1)Nado senior Kent Bastian blocks an opponent to clear the way for junior ball carrier Roger Williams. (2)Nado defense seems to be all over the Columbus Titans. (3)Coach Doug Lee looks determined to win this game! (4)Coach Lee gives instructions to senior captain Joey Vacca at at crucial moment. (5)Senior Barry Maxwell brings down Columbus quarterback.

The hard-hitting 'Nado "Murder Incorporated" defense showed formidable prowess in the first half by shutting out a potent Miami offense, but the second half was a different story.

The Wardogs forced two turnovers that led to scores, and the loss of seniors Mike Lee, Chuck Phillips and Joey Vacca closed the door on the 'Nado chances, as the Oklahoma powerhouse untracked their offensive game to score 36 points while keeping the 'Nado scoreless in the second half.

Aaron Lang led 'Nado rushers with 61 yards on 13 carries. Junior Garold Beisly picked up Player of the Week honors for his secondary work and relief at quarterback.

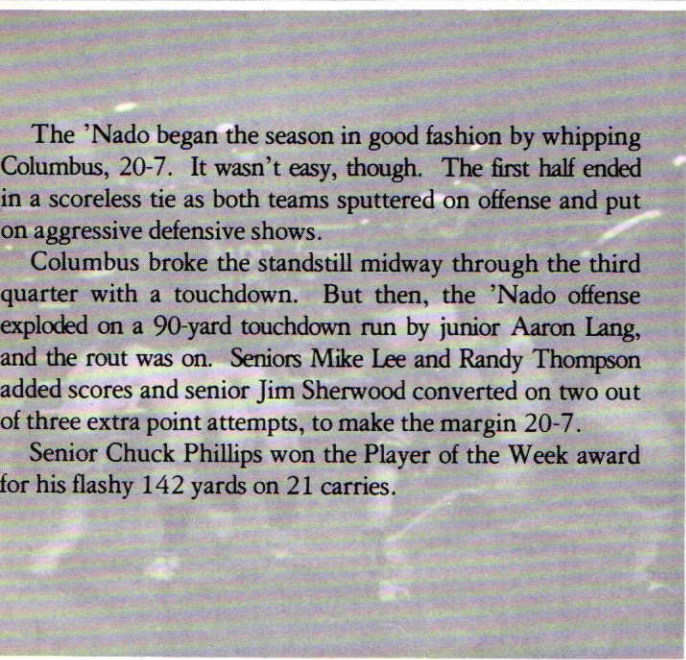

Coffeyville came back in true 'Nado fashion to easily beat the Vikings, 28-7. Aaron Lang spurred the attack by first capping a 75-yard drive with a two-yard plunge to open the 'Nado scoring, and then, on the next possession, dashing 77 yards for another touchdown.

Player of the Week senior Mike Shobe took over for the 'Nado offense next with a 72-yard punt return to make it 21-0.

The final scoring came on the game's last play when Lang, after muffing the pitch, scooped it up and raced 90 yards to make up for an earlier Parsons score. Jim Sherwood's fourth conversion kick closed the game.

Lang led all rushers with 232 yards on 20 carries.

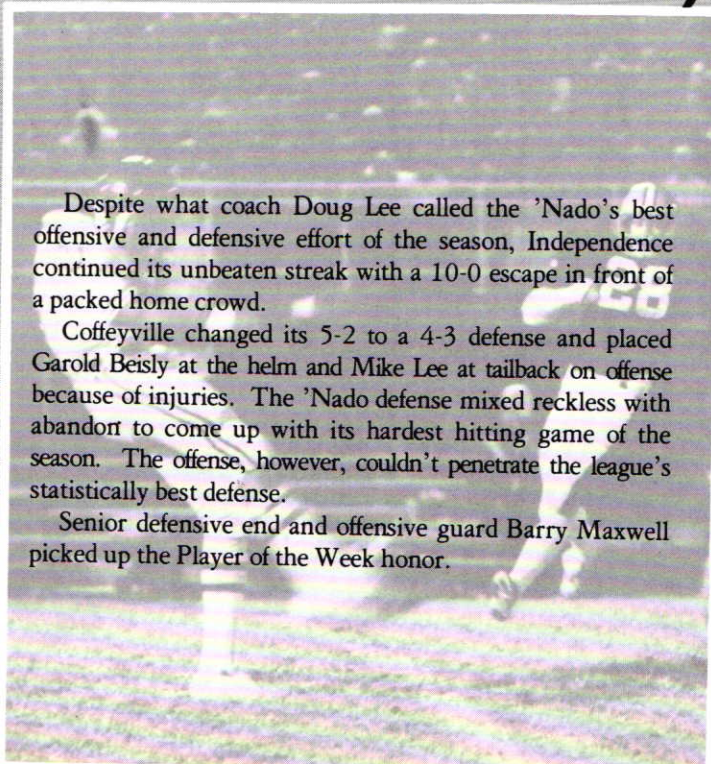

The 'Nado began the season in good fashion by whipping Columbus, 20-7. It wasn't easy, though. The first half ended in a scoreless tie as both teams sputtered on offense and put on aggressive defensive shows.

Columbus broke the standstill midway through the third quarter with a touchdown. But then, the 'Nado offense exploded on a 90-yard touchdown run by junior Aaron Lang, and the rout was on. Seniors Mike Lee and Randy Thompson added scores and senior Jim Sherwood converted on two out of three extra point attempts, to make the margin 20-7.

Senior Chuck Phillips won the Player of the Week award for his flashy 142 yards on 21 carries.

THE

Despite what coach Doug Lee called the 'Nado's best offensive and defensive effort of the season, Independence continued its unbeaten streak with a 10-0 escape in front of a packed home crowd.

Coffeyville changed its 5-2 to a 4-3 defense and placed Garold Beisly at the helm and Mike Lee at tailback on offense because of injuries. The 'Nado defense mixed reckless with abandon to come up with its hardest hitting game of the season. The offense, however, couldn't penetrate the league's statistically best defense.

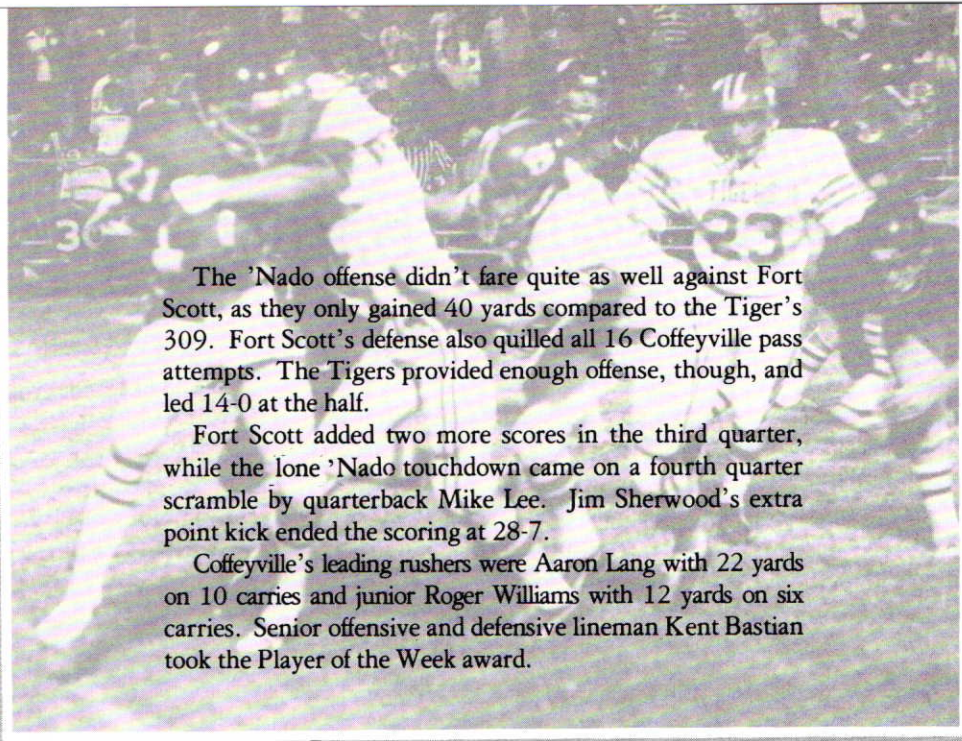

Senior defensive end and offensive guard Barry Maxwell picked up the Player of the Week honor.

The consistent 'Nado defense came through again to shut out the Mustangs, while the offense eeked in a touchdown to insure the 6-0 victory on a two-yard plunge by Aaron Lang after a 55-yard drive in the second quarter. The defense maintained its fervor to the end including a goalline stand inside the ten in the second half.

Fullback Roger Williams scathed for 103 yards on 15 carries to lead all rushers, while Lang added 63 yards on 20 carries. Also putting the pain on Iola was Player of the Week senior offensive and defensive lineman David Hughes.

Although they couldn't score, the Mustangs kicked hard enough to put senior lineman Roger Powell and tailback Lang out of action for the season's last game.

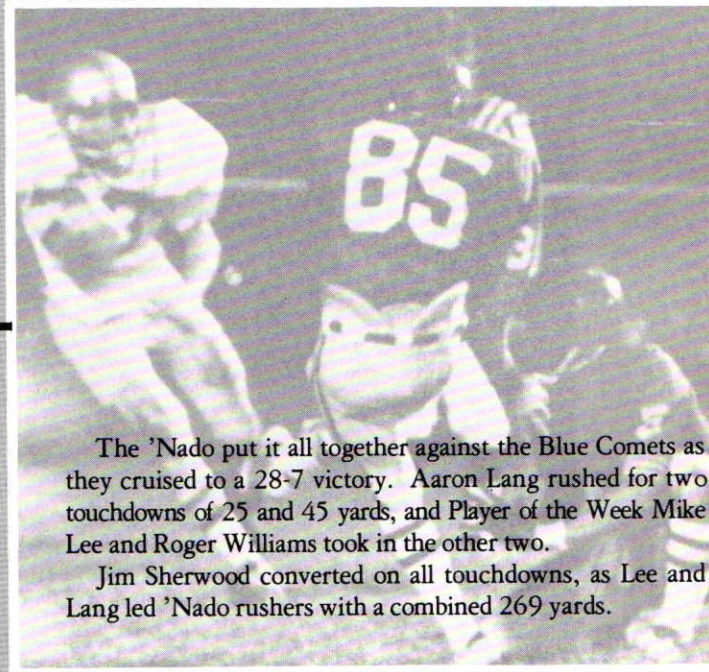

The 'Nado offense didn't fare quite as well against Fort Scott, as they only gained 40 yards compared to the Tiger's 309. Fort Scott's defense also quilled all 16 Coffeyville pass attempts. The Tigers provided enough offense, though, and led 14-0 at the half.

Fort Scott added two more scores in the third quarter, while the lone 'Nado touchdown came on a fourth quarter scramble by quarterback Mike Lee. Jim Sherwood's extra point kick ended the scoring at 28-7.

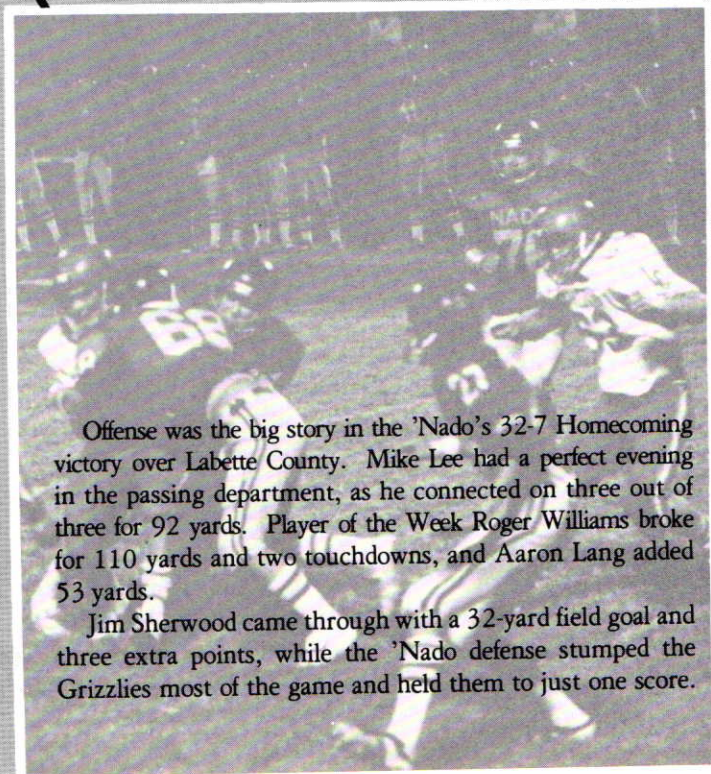

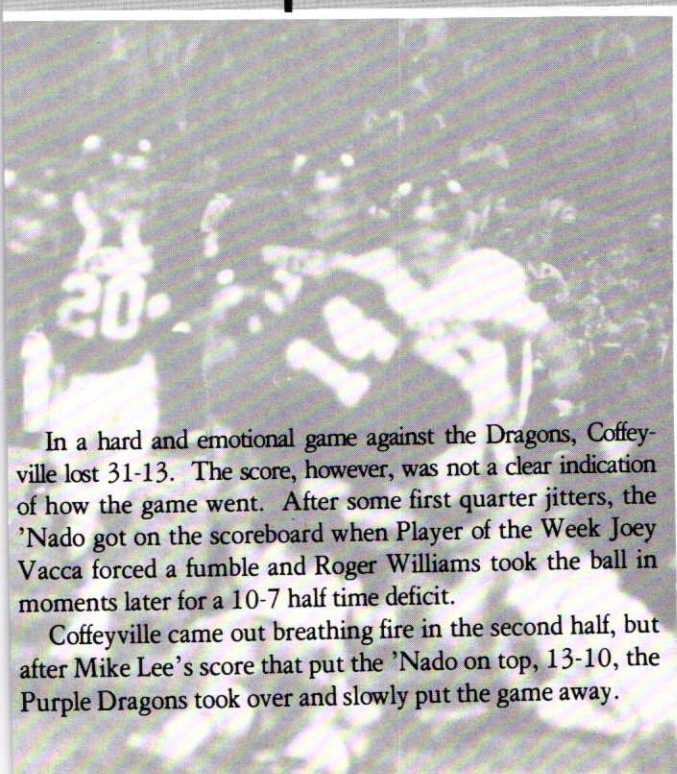

Coffeyville's leading rushers were Aaron Lang with 22 yards on 10 carries and junior Roger Williams with 12 yards on six carries. Senior offensive and defensive lineman Kent Bastian took the Player of the Week award.

GAMES

The 'Nado put it all together against the Blue Comets as they cruised to a 28-7 victory. Aaron Lang rushed for two touchdowns of 25 and 45 yards, and Player of the Week Mike Lee and Roger Williams took in the other two.

Jim Sherwood converted on all touchdowns, as Lee and Lang led 'Nado rushers with a combined 269 yards.

Offense was the big story in the 'Nado's 32-7 Homecoming victory over Labette County. Mike Lee had a perfect evening in the passing department, as he connected on three out of three for 92 yards. Player of the Week Roger Williams broke for 110 yards and two touchdowns, and Aaron Lang added 53 yards.

Jim Sherwood came through with a 32-yard field goal and three extra points, while the 'Nado defense stumped the Grizzlies most of the game and held them to just one score.

In a hard and emotional game against the Dragons, Coffeyville lost 31-13. The score, however, was not a clear indication of how the game went. After some first quarter jitters, the 'Nado got on the scoreboard when Player of the Week Joey Vacca forced a fumble and Roger Williams took the ball in moments later for a 10-7 half time deficit.

Coffeyville came out breathing fire in the second half, but after Mike Lee's score that put the 'Nado on top, 13-10, the Purple Dragons took over and slowly put the game away.

Girls tennis team smashes to

Gene Brownlee's girl's tennis team finished the season with a 7-2 dual match record.

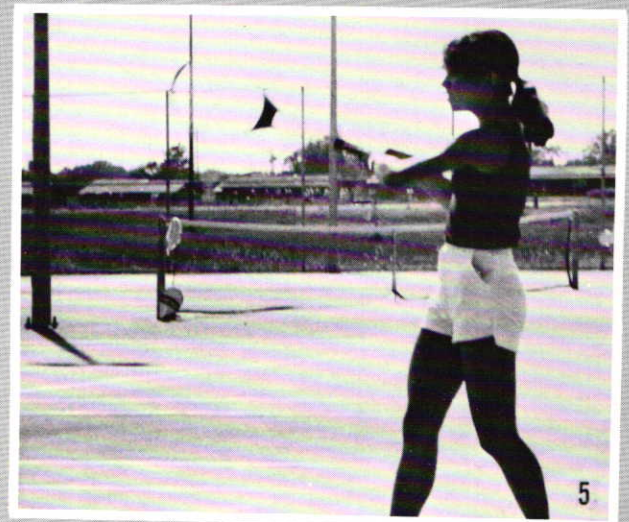

The season began with a triangular match against Chanute and Columbus. Marsha Hall and Liz Levy set the pace for their spectacular season by winning their doubles competition against both teams. Teresa Wilson and Levy were also undefeated in singles. The 'Nado won both matches, 6-3 over Chanute and 7-2 over Columbus.

In the next dual, the 'Nado netters were not so lucky, as they played a tough Indy squad and lost 7-2. Levy and the doubles team of Lezlie Williamson and Kim Thompson were the only victorious 'Nado netters, both winning their matches 8-5. The Parson's matches were a different story, though. The 'Nado blew them away 8-1.

The third match pitted the 'Nado against LCHS and Iola. Brownlee's bomber's came through twice more, winning both duals by the score of 7-2. Wilson led the way against LCHS, as she blasted her opponent 8-0.

The Iola Mustangs proved to be slow runners as all FKHS

state, as Wilson leads five

singles players and one of three doubles teams were victorious.

In the next dual against Pittsburg and Fort Scott, the 'Nado again showed their prowess, winning 7-2 and 8-1, respectively. Against Pittsburg, the singles winners were Wilson, Hall, Levy, and Lisa Bartle. In doubles competition, the girls really showed their dominance as they swept all three matches.

The 'Nado outvolleyed Fort Scott in all but one match.

The final dual was against Independence, who had already beaten the 'Nado once. They did it again, beating the girls 10-2. It was a long day, as the only winners were Hall and Levy.

Needless to say, the team had high hopes entering the state meet, having won regionals. In the first round, however, the doubles team of Hall and Levy were forced to play the team that eventually won first at state, and lost narrowly in a tie breaker. Wilson played a tough match but was knocked out, as were the doubles team of Bartle and Unruh.

In tournament action, the 'Nado placed second in the Parsons Invitational, first in the Chanute Invitational, second at SEK, and first at regionals.

(5) 'Nado runners, Thornton and Senior Ralph Rauch, stretch out before a meet.

The 1979 'Nado cross country team finished the season, according to Coach Jess Moorman, as well as could be expected. "Considering that we only had seven runners this term, and only two of those were back from the previous team, we had a good season," said Moorman.

In the Coffeyville Invitational at Hillcrest, senior Ralph Rauch led 'Nado runners with a seventh place finish out of 57 runners. Overall, the team placed ninth out of ten teams. The next 'Nado runner behind Rauch was junior Rick Thornton, who came in 30th, followed by Dean Blanton in 33rd. Junior Chuck Atkinson was 44th, and sophomore Alan Buchele was 55th.

In the Ark City Invitational the top finisher for the 'Nado was again Rauch, who placed fourth. The rest of the team, however, did not fare as well as they placed far back to put the 'Nado fourth out of eight teams.

Sherri Holliday, the lone girl runner on the team, capped a fine year with a trip to the state cross country meet. Holliday was the first female athlete in FKHS history to qualify for a state meet. She responded by placing eighth out of 117 girls.

Bouncing 'Nado has up and

The 'Nado basketball squad opened the season with a 54-57 victory over Iola. The high scorer for Coffeyville was senior, Mike Shobe, who pumped in 22 points. Coach Bob Cole was pleased with the victory, calling it one of the best opening games he had seen in Coffeyville. Senior Steve Locke contributed greatly to the victory with 13 assists.

The 'Nado roundballers opened at home against Chanute in their next game. Coffeyville, led by junior David Alston with 22 points, bounced the Blue Devils, 73-66. Senior guard Mike Lee poured in a career high 17 points to add fuel to the fire.

The next contest for the 2-0 'Nado resulted in the first set back of the season at the hands of Pittsburg. The final score, 74-53, was the result of a cold 29 percent 'Nado night from the floor. Junior Greg Livingston led all scorers as he socked in 18 points.

After they picked up wins over Labette County and Columbus, flu invaded the 'Nado basketball team. That was at least part of the reason for a 74-65 loss to the Fort Scott Tigers. Playing with six ailing players, the 'Nado still came away with 42 percent floor shooting, but lost the game at the charity stripe where they made five of nine compared to 24 of 33 for the Tigers.

The 'Nado was led in scoring by Alston, who canned 18 points. Also in double figures for Coffeyville were Livingston with 13, Shobe with 12, and Gilbert Scourten with 10.

Coffeyville won by one over Parsons but lost to Independence.

The Interstate Classic was another disappointing outing for the Golden Tornado, as they finished eighth. Faced with opening against an awesome Wichita West squad, the 'Nado could only manage a 67-54 loss. They played one of their best games of the season, according to Coach Cole, but were simply out-sized. Livingston led the 'Nado attack with 18 points.

In the second round the Carthage Tigers were victorious over FKHS, 69-57.

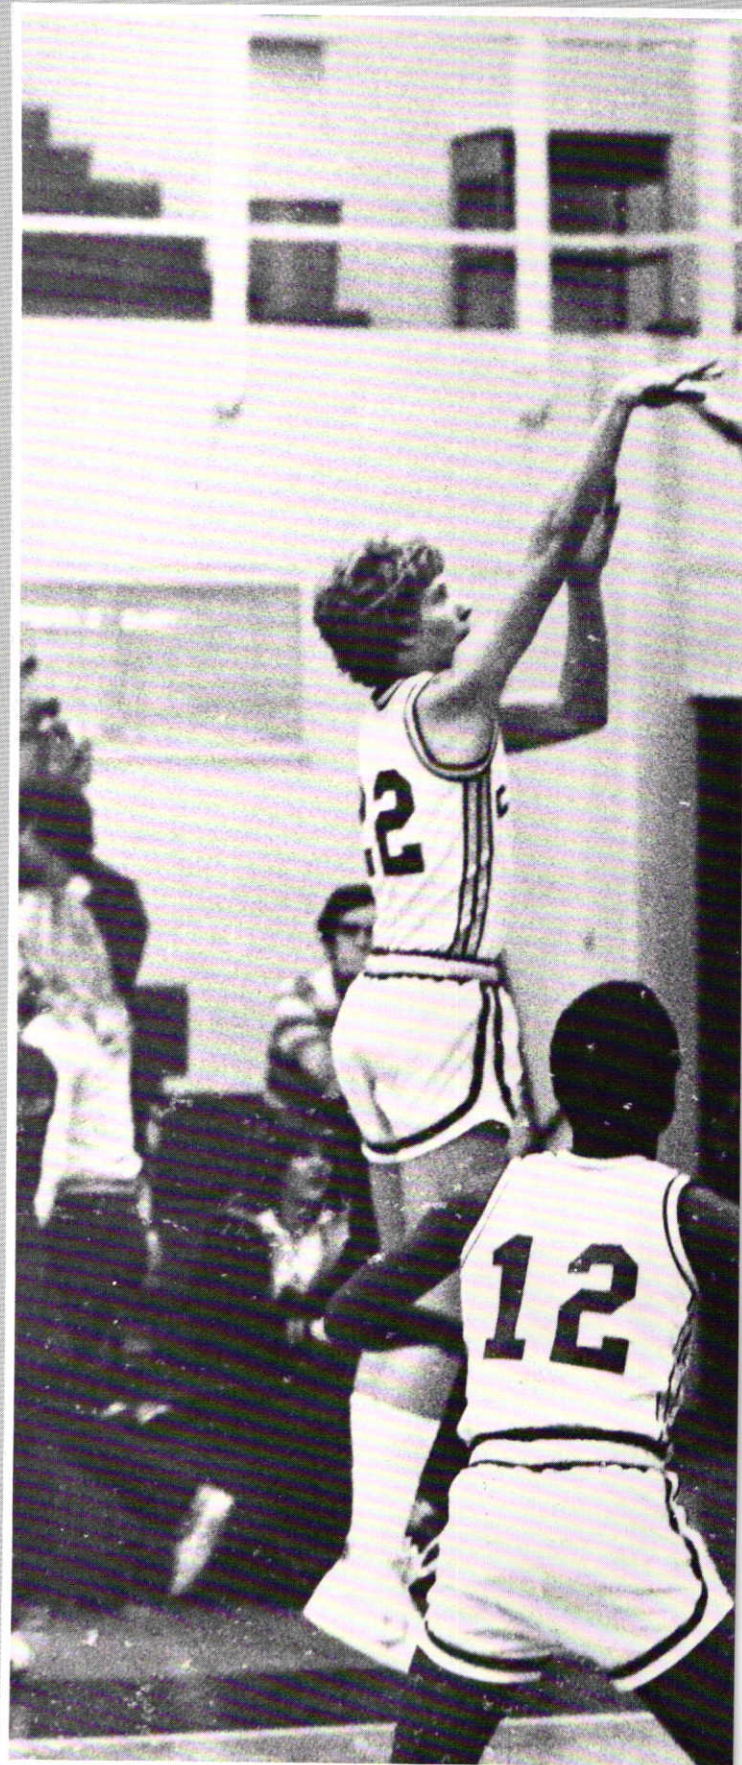

The third round of competition saw the 'Nado fighting but losing in a battle of respectability to Manhattan. The Indians employed a balanced attack in the 64-55 victory, as four players scored in double figures. Alston led Coffeyville with 19 points.

The 'Nado was hit for losses against Iola, Chanute and Pittsburg.

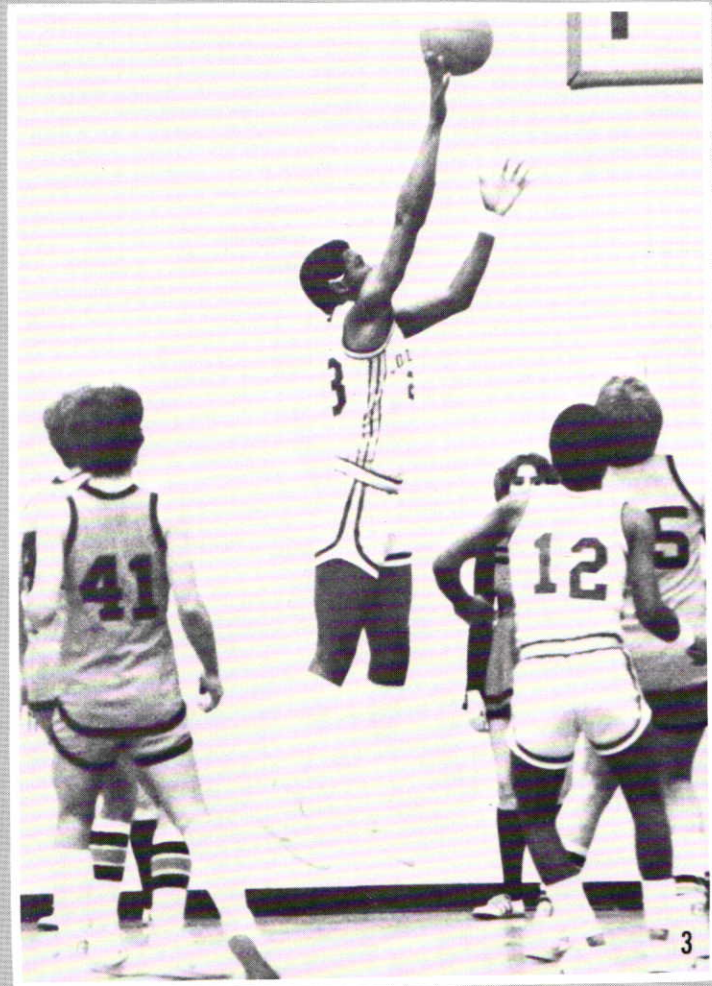

The 'Nado finally snapped the losing streak at Fort Scott. The matchup's outcome was in question down to the last seconds. With six ticks left, Lee sank two free throws to ice the game at 50-46. The one-two junior scoring tandem of Livingston and Alston led the way for Coffeyville. Livingston scored 24 and Alston added 19.

Coffeyville dropped three more outings to Labette County, Independence and Pittsburg.

In sub-state action, the 'Nado came back in the most emotional game of the season to roll over Independence, 65-59, before bowing to a strong Ark City squad, 64-50.

Five wrestlers defend state title

Coach Doug Lunt, who received 5A Coach of the Year honors last season, watched his squad go on to repeat as SEK Champions, take third at regionals and with five grapplers at state to defend that championship, manage a sixth place finish.

At the first of the season, though, the 'Nado looked the champion. They began with a 48-18 roll over Independence's Bulldogs in dual action.

The next match on tap for the 'Nado wrestlers was a triple dual against Joplin Parkwood and Columbus. The 'Nado was very powerful in winning both ends of the dual, whipping Joplin Parkwood 45-0, and crushing Columbus 51-3.

After cruising to an impressive victory over Chanute by a score of 62-3, on Dec. 13, the 'Nado matmen met their match two days later against mighty Emporia. Although the 'Nado smashed Goddard, 45-6, in the triple dual, they fell to Emporia, 35-11.

Sophomore Chris Sterk and freshmen Steve Loomis led the way against Goddard, as they pinned their opponents. Sophomore Marty Vargas (119) and senior Barry Maxwell (167) scored superior decisions in their matches, as did senior heavyweight David Hughes.

The 'Nado didn't fare as well in the match against Emporia, however, as they could only manage three victories and a draw. Sophomore Ed Battitori (155) edged his opponent 13-12, freshmen Toby Kirk won a tough 3-1 decision over his counterpart, and senior Jim Fisher (145) won in the last minute with a 7-3 score. Maxwell pulled out a draw, 6-6.

At Kansas City Schlagle's tournament Coffeyville could only take third. First place winners were junior Aaron Fry (145), senior Joey Vacca (185) and Hughes. Sterk and Battitori took seconds and Loomis finished fourth.

Another major event was the Newton Invitational. The two-day event saw the 'Nado start strong but finish weak and end up placing sixth. Things looked good the first night as 'Nado wrestlers in the 155, 167, 185 and heavyweight divisions were in a position to finish high. They did almost as well as expected, with Maxwell winning and Battitori, Vacca and Hughes second in their divisions.

Maxwell began his outstanding performance with an 11-1 decision over Ted Mora of Hutchinson and followed that up with a tough victory over Mark Phillips of Concordia, 4-3. He then won in the finals over Kurt Hafelden of Wichita.

Battitori wrestled a good tournament and made his presence felt when he pinned Scott Reginer of Concordia. He then victimized Oscar Huskey of Liberal, 6-2, to advance to the finals. There Battitori wrestled aggressively but lost to defending state champion Lonnie Dobin of Dodge City.

Vacca rumbled into the finals but fell a little short in his bid for a title, losing a very tough one to Cliff Abbot of Liberal, 1-0.

Hughes ravaged his first two opponents, winning over Phil Morford of Newton and Greg Blackman of Wichita South, only to be pinned in the finals by Bill Lingenfelter of Hutchinson.

The 'Nado wrestling machine was in top form. After burying Labette County they hammered Seneca, Mo., 38-14. The grapplers took eight matches from Seneca, with just one tie and three losses.

Kirk came away with a 7-5 decision over his foe. Vargas excelled in his match as he wrestled what Coach Lunt called, "Marty's best match of the season," to win 9-0.

Cranor, filling in for Graham, rambled to an 8-1 victory. Fry came from behind to pin his opponent. Battitori wrestled exceptionally well to win, 7-0. Fisher decked Doug Landford in the third period. Vacca popped his helpless opponent, 21-2. Hughes won by forfeit.

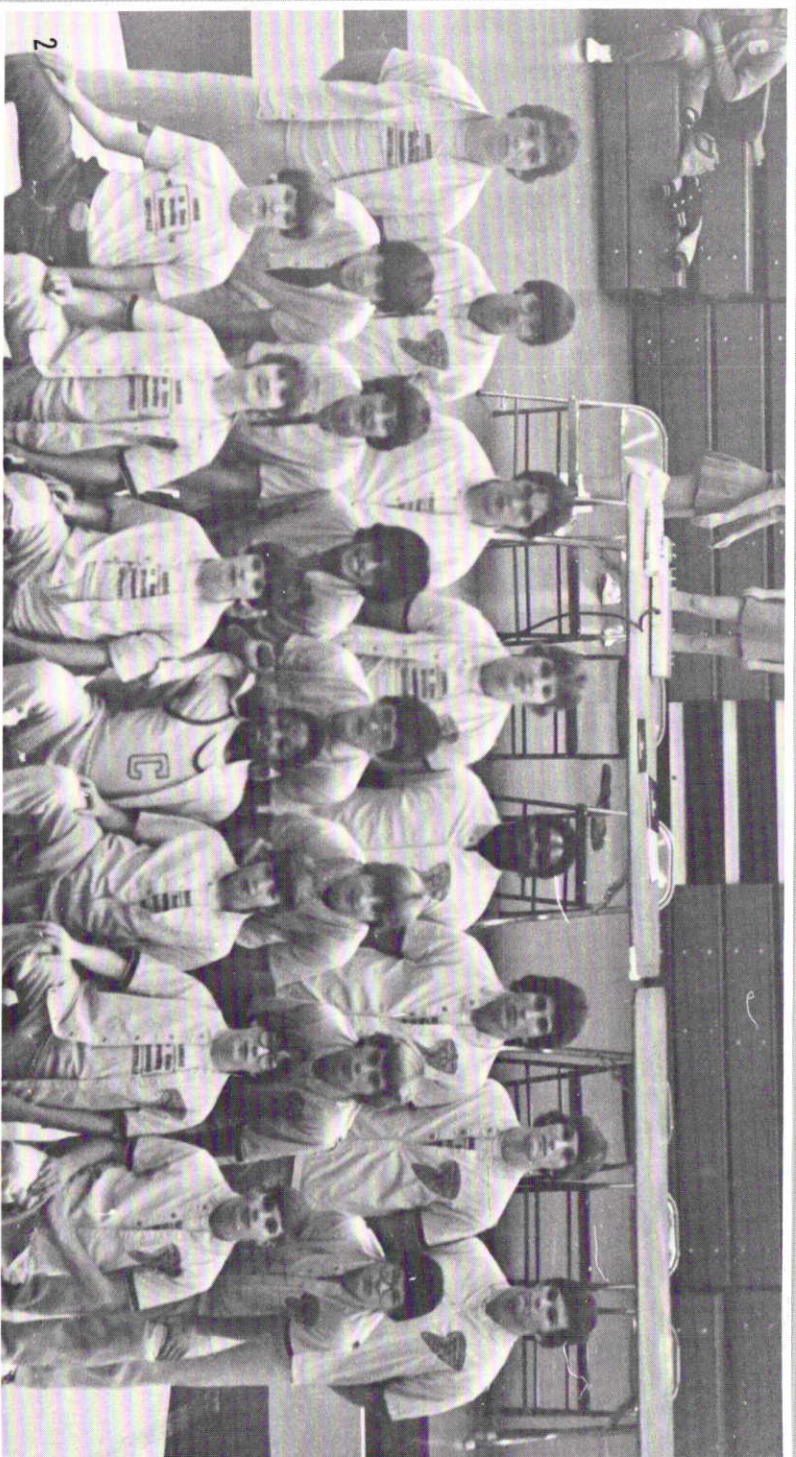

FKHS really took the lumps against Bartlesville College, 35-11. Loo... Battitori and Hughes were the only winners.

In the State tournament at Fort Scott Coffeyville slapped down the rest of the league with 181½ points to the nearest competitor's 119 points.

Sterk, junior Brent Medley and Fry took seconds. Fisher and Loomis placed fourth.

state, the Nado grabbed their third place at Ark City. Twelve grapplers made the trip, and 10 of those wrestled well enough to qualify for sub-state. Coffeyville had no individual champion but did have four second-place finishers in Buchanan, Battitori, Fry and Hughes. Taking thirds were Steck, Vargas, Medley and Vacca.

At the season-ending state meet at Newton, Vacca led the Nado with a second place finish. Also scoring high were Hughes and Battitori, who placed third. Others qualifying but not placing at state were Fry and Buchanan. The team finished in the sixth position among 5A schools.

Lunt was proud of his wrestlers, commenting that every wrestler gave it all he had, which is all he could hope for.

Swimmers do well, despite number

The Tornado tankers opened this season with three seniors, two juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen. It was the smallest swim team Field Kindley has had for at least twenty years.

Undaunted by that, Coach Jess Moorman started his squad on a rigorous workout schedule complete with 6:00 a.m. practices, weight workouts, and after school workouts every day.

The finmen saw their first action of the year in the Coffeyville Invitational. They won nine medals and kept a trophy for their efforts.

They then met Wichita North where they tallied a 97-72 win. The squad took all but one first place in the meet along with many personal career best records.

The swimmers then bowed to Emporia, 69-51, despite still more personal records and first places.

"There just didn't seem to be enough depth here and all season," said senior Steve Fischer. "We could have done a lot better if we could have swam more people and got some extra points from third and fourth places."

Even so, the 'Nado came back in fine form to dominate two powerhouses from Missouri, Springfield Central and Hillcrest, with scores of 52-31 and 63-16, respectively.

The 'Nado grabbed all but three first places and raised their dual record to 3-2.

They took on Bartlesville College and Sooner at John Charlesworth pool. But, with the team down to six and without senior Chris Jackson, they lost to both teams.

"We swam our best times and had many career bests. They are among the top five teams in Oklahoma. With as few as we had, we did extremely well," commented Moorman.

The 'Nado then lost to Haysville Campus in a tough weekday meet, but the team got up psychologically for the invitational at Salina that weekend.

"We had our best performances of the season so far," said a jubilant Moorman. "Everyone put out a lot of effort, and we emerged very well with a seventh place finish out of 16 teams, only being beat by the 6-A schools."

Senior Chris Jackson got a 3rd in the 100 butterfly and a fourth in the 200 freestyle. All swimmers made the finals but nobody else received a medal though the 400 free relay of Buchele, Birdsong, Fischer, and Jackson had a 5th.

The tankers took on Emporia and Lawrence but again lost.

"We didn't do too badly there," said senior captain Mark Buchele. "Emporia got fifth in the state and they only beat us by a few points. Against Lawrence the dual came down to the last 400 free relay. We swam it half-stacked and only lost it by a couple of seconds. The meet was exciting, though, and we pretty much felt we had done our best with what we had," Buchele added.

Finishing out the season with three dual wins, the 'Nado sent four swimmers to Grand State. They were senior captains Buchele, Jackson, Fischer, and junior Rick Birdsong.

Jackson recorded a third place in the 100 butterfly and a fifth in the 200 freestyle. The 400 freestyle, composed of all four, missed making the finals despite their best time ever, by two seconds.

With 22 points, the 'Nado grabbed a fifteenth place finish out of 32 teams. That was the best Coffeyville placement in a decade.

Coach Moorman felt the team had done very well. "Considering the disadvantage of the small numbers, we did excellent," said a jubilant Moorman after the season was over. "I just hope more kids take an interest and come out next year."

There were many improvements through the season. Sophomore Chad Roberts missed qualifying his 50 freestyle in state by only two seconds. Juniors Tim Osborn and Birdsong are expected to qualify the breast stroke and butterfly, respectively. Diver Barry Blevins could also go to state.

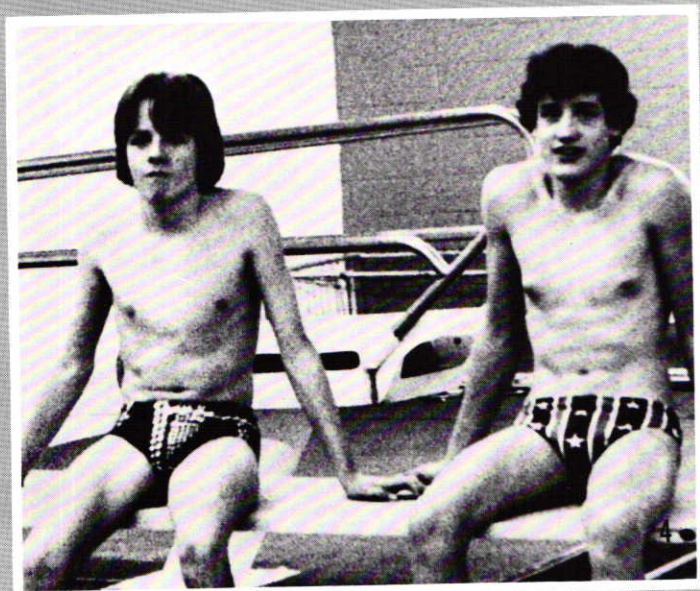

"If everybody works hard, and we get some more out, we can hopefully do as well next year and possibly better," commented Osborn.

Girls improve with new coach

Coach Ron Childress began his first year of running the girls basketball team with a good outlook. He knew what needed to be done from watching them in past seasons and set out to do it.

"I worked the girls on their fundamentals, basics and techniques. They needed to improve those before learning anything else. They also needed self-discipline that would allow them to work on those," Childress commented, "I was pleased with their 10 or under point spread."

The girls got off to a good start when they beat Iola, ending an eighteen-game losing streak, carried over from last year. Senior Myrtle Shobe was the high scorer with 16 points.

The cagers then dropped a string of nine games before coming back with a win over Carl Junction, 65-51. That victory gave the team a third place finish at the Columbus Invitational, again improving on their last term's cellar finish.

After six more winless outings the roundballers met Parsons in a revenge match-up. FKHS stormed past the Vikings, 52-38.

With the feel of a win under their belts, the girls played a vigorous game but lost to Independence by seven points in overtime.

In the season finale, a make-up game against Pittsburg, the 'Nado went into another overtime but again lost.

"The team is only losing one starter, Myrtle Shobe, and will be right in the middle of it if everybody comes back. The girls improve every game, and I've enjoyed seeing that happen," Childress added.

Which road do I take?

Seniors of '80...it looks as though we've finally made it! Through the joys, disappointments, smiles, tears, anxieties, pressures and just plain crazy times; we're finally at the top! We have reached that seemingly endless goal. We find ourselves ending a very important time that was filled with meaning and excitement; only to begin fresh and ambitious...ready to face the world! We can look back at all the accomplishments we made, and the milestones we have reached. But, we can also look ahead at the goals and decisions that have to be met. We will always look back at the year 1980--remembering how special it was; the events, the people, the changes. And remembering once again the Class of '80--the hardships we faced together, the tears we shed together, the smiles we shared together. We had a very special closeness among us--a feeling we can hold onto for years and years...those years filled with decisions. Which road do I take? No one else can answer that for you. It is a decision that you, and you alone must make.
